FIRST TIME away from their native Baltimore at Christmas is the story of the E. Lloyd Davis family, now en route to Ghana for his new assignment. The children are Lloyd Jr., 12; Howard, 11; and Kathleen, 8.

Davis family to observe Christmas in Ghana home

"This is the first Christmas we shall ever have spent away from Baltimore. But as long as the five of us are together, we won't miss a thing."

Mrs. E. Lloyd Davis Sr. was speaking for her husband and family as they prepared to board a plane that would take the Davises on a 12-day journey to Ghana.

It is there they will settle, at least for the next two years, while Mr. Davis, who has college business manager and comptroller, serves his first term of foreign service for the State Department.

By Dec. 8, the home of the Davises at 2020 Bryant Ave. was nearly empty except for luggage.

Goodbyes had already been said in the neighborhood, the house sold.

"This has been such a closely-knit block," Mrs. Davis said. "The neighbors are wonderful. I think we are the first ones to move from this block.

"That is the hardest thing about going—leaving the people, the friends. This is what makes me sad about leaving Baltimore."

"Of course," she added, "the challenge of meeting new faces will help compensate for the sadness."

MRS. DAVIS explained how excited her husband is about his new job by observing, "He was always interested in a foreign service career work."

The family will spend Christmas in Ghana.

The holiday season will be spent in Europe, where the family will see London, Paris and Rome.

Mr. Davis is also scheduled to attend school at the Regional Finance Center in Paris before moving on to Ghana.

"It is kind of h
