AFRO goes to testimonial for outgoing Gov. Tawes

Dear Boss:

My assignment Monday night to cover the testimonial dinner honoring Gov. J. Millard Tawes was an eye opener to say the least.

Your table was No. 15, next to the head table. My pleasant seat mates were Frederick Invonizzi of the Municipal Court, William Boucher III, executive secretary of the Greater Baltimore Committee; Eugene Petty, Ralph Shure, Grinn Ovens, editorial writer for WJZ and Mrs. Anne Barley Everline, secretary to Ed Mesher, the Governor's Aide.

* * *

THE AFFAIR started with a refreshment hour from 6:45 to 7:45 p.m. where the 1832 guests roamed the outer halls of the Civic Center.

By the time we got there, the caterer had run out of glasses . . . so the game at this point was finding a glass while shaking hands with the power structure.

Seen about were:

Dr. Martin Jenkins, president of Morgan State College, who served on the invitation committee for the testimonial; State Senator Verda Welcome, Supreme Bench Judge and Mrs. George L. Russell, William and Delegate Victorine Adams, Moose Dorsey, liquor inspector; the Lloyd Randolphs, he's acting chief clerk; Supervisor of Elections; Dave Mason, asst. attorney general; City Councilman Henry Parks, Abner Lee, liquor inspector; and president of the 4th District Democratic Club; Dr. George Phillips, head of Crownsville State Hospital; S. Edward Smith, deputy director OEO; and the new delegate from the 2nd District, Floyd Adams.

ALSO MILLING in the hall were Milton Kronheim Sr. from Washington . . . looking in the best of health . . . we received an old friendship of 15 years ago—when I called on him every week. He advised his assistant Doc Cohen is over his heart attack and married again.

Also, Ralph Dulaney from Wicomico County . . . the frozen food magnate he's chairman of the Economic Development Commission; State of Md. sent greetings to you . . . also from his wife).

Also Dr. and Mrs. Isadore Tuerk, commissioner, Department of Mental Hygiene; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boswell, former director, Md. OEO; Herbert R. O'Conor Jr., banking commissioner; Sen. Daniel Brewster (who thanked us for clipping sent from Bettye Moss' column about his program in D.C.); George Hocker and his daughter Miriam, Odell Smith, press secretary to the Governor, and George Huebley, State of Md. Economic Development Commission.

Later got a chance to speak to Governor and Mrs. Tawes, the said you his best regards (and Governor-elect and Mrs. Agnew said for me to give you his regards.)

The dinner itself was short and sweet. C. Elmer Nolte Jr., who owns a chain of theatres was general chairman and toastmaster. Each guest sitting in the right chair, got the opportunity to take home the metal Md. Flag as a souvenir, the vase with Chrysenthemums and ribbons of yellow and black.

The national anthem was sung by Joseph S. Eubanks, professor, Morgan State College.

The B and O Glee Club sang the favorites of Governor Tawes, "This is My Country", "Give Me Your Tired and Poor" and "Alice Blue Gown".

* * *

GUEST SPEAKERS at the head table included Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, who gave his usual witty tribute. Governor Spiro T. Agnew, who hoped that when Gov. Tawes retires to Crisfield they will be greater friends and have a closer relationship.

Louis L. Goldstein, comptroller of Md., recalled his 8 years association with Gov. Tawes and pointed out that there were 1,832 people in the audience.

Also speaking were Governor Charles L. Terry of Delaware and Archbishop Lawrence Cardinal Sheehan who praised the 36 years of faithful service Gov. Tawes has given the State of Md.

Associate Judge of the Md. Court of Appeals Thomas B. Finan introduced the Governor. He pointed out that history will show that Governor Tawes as 38th governor has been a fine governor for 8 years in a time of transition in the state and nation. He read a telegram of commendation from President Lyndon B. Johnson.

* * *

GOVERNOR TAWES' speech was quite informal. He said the dinner was a surprise to him . . . when he heard it was to be held in the Civic Center . . . he didn't think there were that many friends . . . his rule was to always have these affairs in a small place . . . so it would look crowded . . . he was overwhelmed he still had this many friends.

The committee presented him a 32-ft. Chris Craft Cruiser and his wife with a Jade necklace—her birthstone. He thanked the group for this and quipped it would make it easier, at his age, to go home with his wife to Annapolis.

He told the group, this is not his swan song and he expects to be quite active in Maryland Affairs for some time.

* * *

THIS SENT me to reading "The Governor's Report to the People" placed on each chair and, it is must reading for all those interested in good government.

As the dinner broke up a lot of talk at the tables were, don't forget, Governor Tawes still has some juicy plums to give out as presents in his next 44 days as Governor . . . and Governor Agnew will also have from 500 to 3,000 new jobs, depending on how you look at it.

Your man,
IMS

Penningtons hold house warming

By PINNIE L. ROSS

A house warming was given recently by Mr. and Mrs. Margaret James R. Pennington at their fieldstone split level house at 5915 Old Frederick Road. Fabulous is the only word for it.

The double-door entrance leads to a paneled foyer at the entrance level which leads you to a paneled family room and office.

The living level contains a spacious living room, dining room and the new L shaped kitchen. This modern home has four bedrooms, three bath rooms. The family room has a cozy fireplace.

The Rev. and Mrs. Johnson blessed the home at 12 noon. Other guests arrived at 3 p.m.

Their guest list included Colonel and Mrs. Merle Smith, Robert Sneed, Mrs. Rhona Markoff, Ted McRae, Mr. and Mrs. Conway Johnson, Miss Roslyn Berdiansky, Mrs. Ralph Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Armond Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Parham, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coe, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Boone, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Richardson, Clarence Sinclair.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sands, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Adams, Miss Diane Memphis, John Wallace, Mrs. Walter Ennals, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Pennington, Mr. and Mrs. William Ross, Thomas Johnson, Mrs. Emma Holley, John Vaughn, Miss Minnie Dorsey, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Harris, Mrs. Liston George, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Matthews, Sgt. James Miller, Jules Blitz and Mrs. Cornelia Dawson.

Guests were entertained by modern music played through a luxurious and modern intercom that could be heard in each room. Sounds, sounds, sounds. Believe me the music was really jumping.

IN THE mail bag a few days ago came a special note from an old pal of ours (glamorous) Edith S. Clement, a Catonsville Elementary School reading specialist. The note reads: Dear Pinnie and Ambrose, flew out by whisper (Jet) yesterday morning to visit Myrna and Butch (1st Lt. and Mrs. Andrew Jackson). This is a beautiful post with every service imaginable at your finger tip. The housing is considered the best in the Army. I can see why. Will see the school Myrna teaches in this afternoon. You would appreciate the menu. The decorations were the most beautiful I've ever seen for Thanksgiving.

By the way, Myrna is the cute daughter of Edith, and a Morgan State graduate, so is hubby Butch a Morgan State graduate.

The famous home product company is having its annual dinner and fashion show Sunday at the Holiday Inn downtown. The Pinnie Ross Models will do the show. Mrs. Mattie Harris is the chairman.
