Economy meals for good eating

No matter what the family's taste in cheese may be, this is one food that appeals to young and old alike. We are a great cheese consuming and producing nation.

According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service, Americans eat an average over 9½ pounds of cheese a year, not counting cottage cheese. The heart of the U.S. Cheese industry is Wisconsin, which produces 25 percent of the world's cheese supply. Next largest U. S. producers are New York and Illinois.

• • •

YOU'LL FIND many cheese varieties at the store so be sure to select those most pleasing to family tastes and your intended uses. Cottage cheese appeals especially to weight watchers. Like Cream cheese and Neufchatel, it is an unripened, soft cheese that tastes best wherf fresh. Buy just enough cottage cheese to use within a few days.

Among the best liked aged cheeses is Cheddar, often called "American" cheese, which is variously labeled mild, mellow or sharp, depending on the degree of aging. This country's leading cheese. Cheddar is frequently used for cooking and eating as is, and is one of the most versatile of cheeses.

• • •

AMONG OTHER favorites are Blue Cheese, a semi-hard, mold - ripened cheese; Swiss and Parmesan, hard, ripened cheeses, the latter often grated and used in different cooked preparations.

When cooking cheese, remember to use low heat, so your cheese won't get tough and stringy. To speed up melting and blending, cut the cheese into small pieces before heating. Whenever possible, mix the cheese into small pieces before adding to other ingredients.

Here's a memo for a day's good eating using foods that are plentiful and reasonably priced:

BREAKFAST
Orange Juice
Pancakes with Syrup or Jelly
Milk
Coffee or Tea

LUNCH
Cheese - Rice Timbales
Fresh Grapes
Milk

DINNER
Roast Chicken
Baked Potato
Glazed Carrots
Tossed Salad
Pear Custard Tart
Milk
Coffee or Tea

THIS RECIPE for Cheese-Rice Timbales is for the main dish of the luncheon meal:

One - fourth cup finely chopped green pepper, one tbsp. finely chopped onion, two tbsps., melted fat or oil, one tbsp. flour, three-fourth cup milk, one - half tsp. salt, one - half tsp. dry mustard, one - fourth lb. cheese shredded (about 1 cup), two eggs, beaten; 1 cup cooked rice.

• • •

TO PREPARE: Cook green pepper and onion in the fat until tender. Blend in flour; add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add the salt and mustard. Remove from heat. Add cheese and stir until it is melted.

If necessary, place pan over very low heat to melt cheese. Stir sauce into eggs; add rice. Turn into greased custard cups. Bake at 350 degrees F. (moderate oven) 35 minutes or until firm. Unmold and serve plain or with tomato sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Macaroni Salad Deviled Eggs

Because it is as necessary to please the eye as the taste, Macaroni Salad with Deviled Eggs offers an ideal main dish for the buffet when the hostess has to feed a crowd.

A bit of mustard in the sour cream dressing adds flavor and color. Fresh green of parsley and red of pimiento are color accents for the deviled eggs. The whole dish can be made up, set in the refrigerator to keep chilled until serving time.

• • •

THE SALAD might be served with cups of hot consomme, a platter of cold meats and a relish tray.

Fresh fruit could be arranged as a center piece to be later enjoyed as dessert with coffee.

Easy to do, it is a menu plan designed to let the hostess be as relaxed and to enjoy the party as much as her guests.
