MISS DRUSCILLA MAE DYSON, daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. William W. Dyson, became the bride of Francis O. Dickerson, Saturday.

Miss Dyson married to Francis Dickerson

Miss Drusilla Mae Dyson, daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. William W. Dyson, became the bride of Francis Oscar Dickerson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Dickerson of Washington, D.C. on Saturday.

The double-ring candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. James Murchison of Baltimore, took place at the Mt. Olive AME Church, Annapolis, Md.

The altar was beautifully, but simply decorated with white gladiolas, tulips and chrysanthemums, flanked on each side by large candelbras containing pink, green and white tall tapers.

Bridal airs and the Mendelssohn and Wagner Wedding marches were played on the organ by Mrs. William H. Richardson, who also accompanied the soloist, Raymond MacDonald.

* * *

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a white gown of poi peau de soir, fashioned with an Empire waist line and serene neckline. There were appliques of lace on the bodice and the long sleeves tapered down over the hands.

The A-line skirt fell into a cathedral train edged with angel skin lace. Her shoulder length illusion veil was caught at the front with seed pearls, and she wore a single strand of pearls with tiny earrings. She carried a white Bible covered with white orchids and white satin streamers.

* * *

BRIDESMAIDS WERE Misses Darlene and Wisonia Dyson, sisters of the bride, Misses Deborah Dickerson of Washington and Pearl Turner. The maid of honor was another sister of the bride, Miss Deborah Ann Dyson.

Their long gowns were designed in peau de soir with Empire waistlines, accompanied by long straight coats in colors of shocking pink and apple green. Their matching headpieces were made of net caught by seed pearls.

* * *

THE MAID of honor wore a hot pink gown designed similar to the others. Her headpiece was a coronet of pearls with matching net. All attendants wore satin slippers tinted to match their gowns, and single strands of pearls and tiny earrings. They carried large white pom pons arranged with white satin streamers.

The flower girl, Kokita Chambers, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Caroll Chambers, was in pink sheer cotton with a headpiece of net to match trimmed in pink and green satin bows.

* * *

MRS. DYSON chose for her daughter's wedding, a beige nylon lace sheath and a beige turban. Her jewelry consisted of frappe beige simulated pearls with bag and slippers to match. Her corsage was made up of yellow rosebuds.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in an aqua blue jacket costume and a small matching hat designed with lace, and matching tinted slippers. Her corsage was made up of pink rosebuds.

The best man was Michael Dickerson of Washington, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Messrs. Robert C. and Alphonso Cottrell of Philadelphia, Kenneth Dickerson, brother of the bridegroom, Dennis Atkinson, cousin, both of Washington, and William Dyson, brother of the bride, the bride's father and all men attendants wore full dress.

* * *

IMMEDIATELY FOLLOWING the ceremony an informal reception was held. Hostesses were Mesdames Hannah Chambers, Delores Chambers, Henrietta Hawkins, Lureaner Toogood, Martha Golson of Richmond, Va. and the Rev. Mrs. Lillian Smith of Baltimore. Miss Joyce Phelps was in charge of the bride's book and gifts.

The bride, a graduate of Annapolis High School, attended Virginia Union University and was employed as a clerk-stenographer in the Administrative Division of the Public Works Departments, U.S. Naval Academy.

The bridegroom, a graduate of the Spingarn High School in Washington, is in the U.S. Military Service. The couple left on Tuesday for Las Vagas, Nev., where the bridegroom will be stationed at Nellis Air Force Base. The bride will be employed in a department of the Air Force and further her college studies. The couple will be at home to friends at 2412 Sunrise Avenue.

* * *

OUT-OF-TOWN relatives of the bride who attended the wedding were Mrs. Linwood Newman, Mrs. Charles Singleton and Corporal and Mrs. Charles Williams, all of Baltimore and Mrs. Samuel Golson of Richmond, Va.

Out-of-town relatives of the bridegroom who attended the wedding were Messrs. and Mesdames John Kenny, Curtis Atkinson, Robert Atkinson, Harry Taylor and James Taylor, Mrs. Barbara L. Brady and Miss Constance Bradshaw, all of Washington.

Among other out-of-town guests were:

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Caulter, godparents of the bridegroom; Messrs. and Mesdames Trim Carroll, Frank Barnes and Roy White, and Mrs. William Robinson and daughter, all of Washington;

James Sexton, attorney; and Mrs. Sexton, Messrs. and Mesdames Robert Evans and Edward Pauls and Mrs. Kelly Terry and Reverend Rebecca Murchison and Edith Brown, all of Baltimore.

Prior to the wedding Mrs. Caroll Chambers and Mrs. Douglas R. Lacey hosted a shower and bridal tea in honor of the bride.

MRS. CHARLOTTE JOHNSON entertained at her Pulaski St. home, on Sunday evening.

Occasion was the regular meeting of her club — the Bonne Coeurs, of which she is president. It was also her 26th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Johnson (Teddy), fixed a variety of dishes for the occasion. . . . he is, you know, the proprietor of that new restaurant, Riggs Cafe, which specializes in the 'soul' food guests sampled.

Club members present were Mesdames Natalie Phelps vice president; Alverta Lee, and Mrs. Geneva Bell, secretaries; Susie Moore, treasurer; Zelma Parker, financial secretary; Helen Hopkins, business manager; Leona Felton, Susie Graham and Viola Randolph.

Guests included: Melvin Randolph, James Phelps, Joseph Felton, Linzey Hopkins, Messrs. and Mesdames Douglass Scott, William Ross, A. Paul Moss, Paul Scott, Lonnie Sprulll, James Wright and Leroy Gibson.

Assisting the hostess were Marie, Benjamin and Rachael Phillips.
