so.

"I don't think I ever heard her sing that way. She had dedicated the last song ("I Believe") to me and they wouldn't let her go.

"When they calmed down she came out to do 'When the Saints Go Marching in,' the song she was converted to and always closes with.

"She got out just four words, 'When the Saints go,' before she slumped to the stage."

MRS. WARD said the world-famed artist was reported some better on Thursday but it still would be a few days before physicians decided if an operation would be necessary.

She is not having visitors but calls and telegrams have been pouring in from around the nation.

"I don't know how the word could spread so fast," Mrs. Ward said.

She asked prayers for Miss Ward by her followers everywhere.

THE WARD Singers, out of Philadelphia, appeared in Baltimore once or twice a year, usually at the Gillis Memorial Community Church and Mrs. Ward mentioned the church's pastor, the Rev. Theodore C. Jackson Sr.

The singer last appeared at Gillis on January 1966, according to the associate pastor, the Rev. Theodore C. Jackson Jr.

She now records on the Verve Label and her latest release is, "Mother's Eyes," backed up by "America," a patriotic number.

The Ward Singers [illegible] close out a fourweek stand at the motel next Thursday. The group is staying at the Sir John Hotel.

In 1933 she made her debut to Baltimore society at the Half-Century Cotillion.

She and Mr. Oliver, grandson of the AFRO founder and son of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Oliver of Brazil, Ind., were married at the Madison Avenue Church June 26, 1937.

Mrs. Oliver was a member of the Phi Delta Kappa Sorority, Jack and Jill Clubs of America, a founder of the Stork Club and the leader of a Girl Scout troop.

In addition to her husband, children, brother and sisters, Mrs. Oliver is survived by six nieces and two nephews.

Douglass Memorial Lecture to be given by Quarles

The Frederick Douglass Memorial Lecture will be given by Dr. Benjamin Quarles, Douglass scholar and biographer, 11 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 15 in the Murphy Fine Arts Center, South Campus, Morgan State College.

The Memorial Lecture, sponsored by the Centennial Class of 1967, will Commemorate the 150th anniversary of the birth of Frederick Douglass, the great 19th century leader and abolitionist-statesman.

Dr. Quarles, professor and chairman of the Department of History at Morgan has written numerous articles and books.

A native of Boston, Mass. Dr. Quarles is a graduate of Shaw University and received his M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin. Dr. Quarles will deliver the first lecture in the University of Rochester's Frederick Douglass Sesquicentennial on Feb. 16.

A WREATH will be placed by Senior Class President, David Burton, on the Bronze statue of Frederick Douglass on Morgan's north campus, after the lecture.

The statue, the first erected in Douglass' native state of Maryland, was dedicated by the then Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin in 1956.

The $22,000 statue, executed by Morgan's own art department chairman James Lewis, was a culmination of a 13-year project by the old Maryland Education Association.

The project was financed primarily by the pennies, nickels and dimes of Maryland school children.

NEW POST — Sandy Crank, a disability consultant with the Bureau of Disability Insurance, Social Security Administration, in Baltimoe, will leave for Boston this week to assume his new duties as staff assistant with the Boston Regional Office.

Ping Pong meet

The Gilmor-McAbee Recreation Center at 1515 Vincent Ct., will sponsor a Ping pong tournament February 9 for boys under 15.

Winners will compete in the city-wide ping pong tournament to be held at a later date.

$100 CASH AWARD sustained superior performance in her duties at Fort Meade is presented to Mrs. Portia B. Johnson, 3001-E Cherryland Rd., by Col. C. B. Frank, chief of the veterinary unit. A graduate of Douglass High and Cortez Peters Business School, she has been in federal service since December 1951.

Tax office to open Saturday to help you

For the convenience of Baltimore and Washington, D.C. taxpayers, the Internal Revenue Service will provide taxpayer assistance services on Saturdays as well as weekdays from now until the deadline for filing 1966 tax returns.

The IRS office at 707 N. Calvert St., Baltimore, and 1201 E St., N.W. Washington, D.C., will be kept open Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. to answer questions by phone and in person that local residents have on their federal tax returns. Based on previous experience, most questions can be answered over the phone.

District Director Machiz said the above offices will also scheduled appointments for those who find it difficult to come in during the week for an examination of their returns or to pay bills.

The telephone number to call for assistance is—Baltimore—837-1040 and Washington — Republic 7-8750. This is the same number taxpayers should use during the week Mr. Machiz said.

The Saturday hours are being offered this year as part of the IRS program to improve its services to the public. The extra hours program was tested in several locations last year to determine the nature and the extent of the services to be offered, Mr. Machiz said.

Singer jailed by Viets may be released soon

U.S. Rep. Clarence D. Long has asked the State Department for an immediate investigation into the arrest and jailing by South Vietnam of an American singer who had been entertaining American troops there.

The singer, Mildred Harrison, faces a possible jail sentence of 5 years on customs charges but reliable sources have indicated to the AFRO South Vietnamese officials will be "lenient" and may just impose a "small fine."

Mrs. Harrison has been in a Saigon hospital where she underwent surgery Jan. 16 for appendicitis. The U.S. Embassy has requested Saigon officials to release Mrs. Harrison when she is dismissed from the hospital.

"On the basis of news reports," Long said, "this strikes me as an outrageous arrest based on a technicality."

Long said that Mrs. Harrison's attempt to take checks out of the country and not declare them as currency was an honest mistake and exhibited no trace of fraud.

"Since checks are not usually regarded as currency," he said, "her failure to declare them seems to have been in good faith."

Mrs. Harrison had offered to fill out the necessary customs forms again but customs officials had her jailed for a time in a rat-infested jail occupied by a number of prostitutes, the AFRO learned.

NAACP to cite membership chief

The Baltimore Chapter of the NAACP will mark the end of its annual membership drive 7 to 9 p.m. tonight with a reception in honor of Mrs. Gertrude Gorman.

Mrs. Gorman of the national office, conducted the local drive and Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, president, reported that she was responsible for registering nearly a 1,000 new memberships in the month of January.

"We are just short of 1,000 and we are asking all members to attend the reception and bring a friend so we can reach the 1,000 mark," Dr. Jackson said.

Installation services for the 1967 slates of NAACP officers will be held 11 a.m. Feb. 12, at Bethel AME Church, with the pastor, the Rev. Frank M. Reid presiding, Dr. Jackson also announced.

TOP AWARD — George Larkins Jr., (C) of 2817 Norfolk Avenue receives the 1966 Sealtest Foods' "Salesman of the Year" AWARD. The award, a silver mug, was presented by Pat Junkin, (L) and plant manager Ernie Drohan, (R). Larkins was among five winners selected from Sealtest's Eastern Division which operates in five districts and the District of Columbia.

Teens to discuss evening curfew

The concept of an evening curfew for young people will be examined on To Promote Good Will on Monday, Feb. 6, at 7:30 p.m., in color, on WBAL-TV 11.

A panel of students from Patapsco High School will question whether curfews for young people should be under parental supervision or controlled by laws established by the government. Under the precept that today's world is constantly threatened by the possibility of atomic war, the students will question the probability of attaining "universal peace."

U-JOIN to aid workers to get due pay raises

Walter Lively of U-JOIN announced this week that his organization is prepared to offer assistance to anyone who feels he is not being paid what the federal government scale calls for.

A new pay scale went into effect this week that upgrades some workers to $1.40 an hour and covers some who were not protected before.

Mr. Lively said such workers as those in the hospital, hotel, laundry and building trades will be affected by the new rates. His office can be reached by calling 276-3006.
