Clippers hoping to break out of tie over weekend

Locked in a three-way battle with the Quebec Aces and the Springfield Indians for second place in the American Hockey League's Eastern Division race, the Baltimore Clippers face a rough three-game, weekend beginning with tonight's (Friday) game here at the Civic Center against Quebec .

Following tonight's clash with the Aces, the Clippers travel to Cleveland on Saturday night and move on to Rochester for a Sunday night engagement. Considering the recent plight of the Clippers, all three of these games loom as tough obstacles to hurdle.

TUESDAY night will long be remembered by Clipper fans. Aided by a special Kids Night promotion along with the 3rd annual K. of C. turnout, a Baltimore home hockey crowd record was set when 11,209 witnessed the 8-3 loss to the Cleveland Barons. The crowd mark surpassed the former local high of 10,750 which saw the Clippers - Buffalo game of March 29, 1963.

Unfortunately for all hands the final outcome became a nightmare when Cleveland scored six goals in the last 15 minutes of play to change a tight 2-2 game into the 5-3 finale. This marked the Clippers fourth straight setback and kept them in third place, one point back of Quebec.

Dunbar ready for unbeaten Loyola quint

"There's nothing we'd like better — the boys and I — than to knock them off."

It was Dunbar coach Sugar Cain discussing his team's upcoming (Tuesday) game with undefeated Loyola, currently leading Division 2, of the Maryland Scholastic Association basketball race.

LOYOLA, 11 - 0 on the season, holds a 2-game edge on second place Mt. St. Joe, and an insurmountable advantage over Dunbar and Poly, both of whom are eliminated from the title chase. In addition to the Poets, coach Ed Hargaden's youngsters must face Poly and St. Joe.

"You can be sure," said Cain Thursday, "we're going to be ready — ready with everything we've got. I think the kids are fired up for this one, too, because that's just about the only thing left to bring satisfaction this season."

Should Dunbar succeed in upending Loyola, it will give St. Joe an opportunity to snarl the standings when the two leaders meet in the final game of the schedule.

WHILE THIS situation of relative uncertainty prevails in Division 2, City continues its high-flying, uninterrupted pace in Division 1. And nothing appears likely to halt the Collegian drive to a second straight title.

With a string of 33 victories in a row — 13 this year — coach Gerry Phipps' aggregation could roll over Calvert Hall, Gibbons, Towson Catholic and Patterson to go all the way without mishap . . . LACY

MSA PROFILES

Dunbar High School's leading scorer, Robert Shilkins, is a self-made youngster who reportedly wants to go to college "in the worst way."

And, if his basketball coach Sugar Cain, Dunbar athletic director, has anything to say about it, Shilkins will get his wish.

"HE IS a fine boy who works hard at anything he attempts," says Cain. "He's not possessed of a lot of natural speed, for one example, but he puts himself to work mastering everything that helps compensate for the shortcoming."

According to the veteran Poet mentor, who has had an opportunity to evaluate hundreds of boys during his long term at Dunbar, Shilkins is average in the classroom.

"However, I know for a fact he studies diligently and is definitely college material. Moreover, I can assure "he wants to go in the worst way."

SHILKINS is an 18-year-old senior who leads the Dunbar squad in rebounding. As well as scoring. He is the team co-captain.

"We named him one of our

captains because we found him a most cooperative youngster and one whom the boys respect. He does an excellent job of trying to fill the role of leader," his coach adds.

AN ONLY child, Robert is the son of Mrs. Leanna Shilkins of 4614 Pimlico Road.—

Aside from being a member of the varsity cage squad, he had a brief filing at cross-country running. But the sport he is fond is track. The family attends the Cherry Hill Baptist Church. . . . SAM LACY

Baier holds lead, chased by City's Lenny Hamm

Calvert Hall's prolific scorer, Mike Baier, continues to set the pace among point getters in the Maryland Scholastic Association's Division 2 race, but Lenny Hamm of defending champion City, is giving him a merry chase.

Going into today's (Friday) schedule, Baier shows a total of 332 points, enough to place him second in scoring among MSA athletes. Hamm has 241 markers.

However, the City College star has played in 5 fewer games than his Calvert Hall rival and, as a consequence, boasts a better average by one-tenth of a point. Baier has scored at a clip of 18.4 points per game, while Hamm has hit for an 18.5 average.

MEANWHILE, Tim Nordbrook of undefeated Loyola, and Bob Conner of Mt. St. Joe, are continuing at a terrific clip in Division 1 play.

Nordbrook has banged in 522 points in 22 games, and Connor has hit for 434.

These two are making a shambles of the point parade in their division. Otherwise, Douglass High's Steve Allison and Dunbar's Robert Shilkins might be regarded as challengers.

ALLISON rang in 17 points in Tuesday's 71 - 52 Duck victory over Poly, to bring his season output to 301 tallies. The effort gave Steve an average of 23 points per contest, normally enough to be out in front of the scoring chase.

As it is, though, Allison is seven-tenths of a point behind Southern High's Don Russell in addition to being distanced by Nordbrook and Connor.

Shilkins, Dunbar's top pointmaker, has 231 points for 11 outings and a mark of 21 points a game.

FOLLOWING the Mike Baier-Lenny Hamm race in Division 2, are Calvert Hall's Harry Lee, and City's Sam Brown and Gerry Owens in that order.

Lee's average for that season is at 17.7. Brown shows a 16.5 mean and Owens 15.6. . . . LACY

UCLA star Lew Alcindor target of crank threats

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Lew Alcindor, the towering star of UCLA, the nation's No. 1 ranked college basketball team, had a police bodyguard while in Chicago, it has been revealed.

However , UCLA coach John Wooden told United Press International. "I'm pretty sure Lew didn't know about it."

But if Alcindor — who stands better than 7-feet-1 — did know he was being protected last weekend in the Windy City as the result of crank letters he received, it didn't affect his game. He scored 25 points to lead the Bruins to a 15-point victory over Loyola Saturday night and 45 points Sunday in helping UCLA beat Illinois by 38 points.

CHICAGO police disclosed Tuesday that they had assigned a bodyguard to protect Alcindor while the Bruins were in Chicago.

"He (Alcindor) did receive what I would call crank letters," Wooden said. "Two were quite vicious. Our director of athletics (J. D. Morgan) just felt he would be derelict in his duty if he did not notify people back there.

"He (Morgan) notified Mr. (Arthur) Morse, who arranged these games. I guess he, in turn, thought it wise to notify the police," Wooden

"I DON'T think Alcindor even knew. They (police) just had a man assigned who stayed with the team. We didn't say anything about it at all. I'm pretty sure Lew didn't know about it."

Wooden added that the typewritten letters were postmarked Chicago and were received in Los Angeles. He said they were "vicious crank letters."

The coach said that to the best of his knowledge the letters were the first of their nature received by Alcindor.

John Ward to Poly as vice principal

John Ward, vice principal at Edmondson High School, was transferred to the vice principalship at Baltimore Polytechnic Institute after School Board action yesterday.

The change is effective immediately.

School Superintendent Laurence G. Paquin recommended the move to the newly - added third vice principalship at Poly as a step toward integration of the school's administrative staff.

In other personnel action taken by the Board:

Joseph Stein, special assistant at School 80, assumes his same duties at Poly.

Milton Goldberg, special assistant at School 75, becomes vice principal — School 453.

The following persons were appointed special assistants: Leroy Carroll, at School 75; Rudolph Depaola, at School 80 and Miss Lee Etta Powell, at School 90.

Mrs. Mary Louise Robb, teacher at Eastern High School, was named specialist in Foreign Languages in the Division of Secondary Education.

CYRUS W. MARSHALL JR., vice principal at School 181, assumes temporarily the same duties at Carver High School.

Leigh Martinet, teacher at Northern High, was appointed specialist in Instrumental Music in the Division of Music Education.

Gerald F. Doyle, associate in instructional materials, to audiovisual specialist in the Division of Instructional Materials.

40 Congressmen protest carrier visit to S. Africa

More than 40 congressmen, opposed to Southern Africa's official policy of segregation, protested to President Johnson Thursday against the scheduled weekend visit of the Aircraft Carrier USS Franklin D. Roosevelt to Capetown.

The Navy, confirming that the stopover still was scheduled for Friday, said Thursday that South Africa had set no racial restrictions on members of the Roosevelt's crew while ashore on official business.

In the House, 38 congressmen wrote Johnson urging him to cancel plans for the Capetown visit and seek alternate fueling and liberty arrangements for the carrier.

IN THE Senate, Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., fired off a telegram to Johnson protesting the port call. And Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., sent a telegram to Navy Secretary Paul H. Nitze saying that the visit would subject American servicemen to "the despicable racist practice of apartheid."

All of the lawmakers claimed the stopover at Cape town would reverse a U.S. policy which prohibited visits by U.. ships and aircraft to South Africa as long as American personnel were required to follow that country's policy of segregation.

A SCHEDULED port call of the carrier independence to Capetown in 1965 was canceled when South Africa said members of its crew would have to observe the nation's apartheid laws even while on official business.

Chairman Barratt O'Hara, D-Ill., of the House African Affairs subcommittee, said the State Department would cancel the visit immediately.

Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., said the visit would "outrage the American people."

JAVITS SAID the visit was "particularly disturbing in light of the fact that it will apply to armed forces personnel returning from combat in Vietnam."

Although colored crew members on official business would be exempt from the apartheid laws, colored sailors on leave woud be expected to observe local racial restrictions.

MEANWHILE IN New York, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, said "the NAACP believes our country should have no dealings with South Africa whatsoever and the visit of this carrier, although not a goodwill stop, should never have been scheduled.

"The terms of the visit are humiliating and insulting to every colored crew member of the Carrier USS Roosevelt."

Congressmen Augusta F. Hawkins, D., Calif., Charles C. Diggs Jr., D., Mich., John Conyers Jr., D. Mich., and Robert N. C. Nix, D., Pa., were included in the 38 Representatives who sent the protest letter to Mr. Johnson.

The lone Maryland congressman in the group was Rep. Clarence D. Long, Democrat from Baltimore.

MOMENTS MUSICAL:

Intercultural chorus combine for historic 'Requiem Mass'

By ADAH K. JENKINS

The Berlioz "Requiem Mass" which was performed at the Lyric last week is one of the monumental musical works that ranks for difficulty with the Bach "B Minor Mass," the complete Handel's "Messiah" and Wagner's opera "Parsifal."

They involve so many difficulties of various kinds that they are seldom produced. We are fortunate in having Dr. Eli Wolf. D. Galkin, scholar, musician and head of Goucher College music department, who applied his extensive knowledge and experience to the stupendous task of organizing and conducting the Berlioz "Requiem."

This highly difficult and intricate work was performed by the Baltimore Symphony with the Peabody Conservatory Brass Ensemble, Richard Higgins, director; Douglass High School Community Chorus, Marion Smith, director; Goucher College Glee Club, George Woodhead, director; Peabody Chorus, Norman Johnson, director; and St. Mary's Seminary Chorus (Rosalie Bella, Father James Burns, director; A. William Brown, tenor, was guest soloist.

The intercultural chorus of over 200 filled the rear of the stage and the brass ensemble occupied the orchestra pit and two boxes on either side of the auditorium.

It was evident that Dr. Galkin has a deep understanding of the spiritual significance as well as the grandeur of the mass — the penitence and grief, its profound exaltation and hope.

WITH authoritative gesture he achieved a remarkable response from the instrumentalists and the chorus, with a male section that was a tower of strength.

The clearness of the focal passages and antiphonal choruses (answering each other) showed well disciplined preparation by the various directors.

Mr. Brown displayed in the "Sanctus" an excellently-supported voice of resonance and beauty in the bel canto tradition, combined with an impressive stage presence.

The prolonged applause from a near - capacity audience indicated the appreciation of this history - making occasion.

STANDING room only was available at the concert by the Peabody Orchestra on a recent Sunday afternoon.

Conducted the occasion was Lewis Hoy, professor of piano at Andrews Presbyterian College, N.C.) and currently doctorate student with Hautzig at the Peabody.

Winner of a 1966 Federation of Music Club Award and with extensive concert touring experience, Mr. Hoy brought to the "Emperor Concerto" (Beethoven) ample technical and artistic resources.

He seemed well aware of the strength of this arresting work and the "give and take" with the orchestra that preserved its balance and unity.

Leo Mueller, Viennese head of the orchestra and conducting departments at Peabody, conducted with discerning authority.

In the Bach Brandenburg Concerto, No. 4 the capable soloists were Irving Becker, doctoral student; Phyllis Hepner and Henry Hoffman, flutists and students of Britten John son. The harpsichord score was played effectively by Hugh O'Meagher of the conservatory faculty.

In accordance with the program planning for the Peabody Orchestra this season, of presenting works by contemporary American composers, "Spectrum" by Benjamin Lees, visiting professor of composition, was played.

It opened with a bell - like theme on the glockenspiel and a trumpet fanfare against a somber background. The composition then moves to a shattering climax ushered in by strings and woodwinds; all developed in the modern idiom with overtones of Debussy - like impressionism.

The orchestra gave a thoughtful, well contrasting reading of the Haydn Symphony No. 86, with due attention to phrasing, rhythmic patterns as well as to the vitality of the entire work.

DR. PETER HERMAN ADLER has been appointed music director of the Baltimore Symphony for the 1967-68 season, after which he will leave the position he has held since 1959 in order to "make himself available for more diversified interests."

During the season, Dr. Adler will conduct the first two concerts, one week in mid - winter and the last two concerts. The final performance will be planned as a gala farewell appearance.

The orchestra's twelve other mid-week concerts will be divided evenly between five guest conductors and Elyakum Shapira, the orchestra's associate conductor.

The annual sustaining fund campaign for the support of the orchestra is being directed by G. Cheston Carey Jr., with Mrs. Arthur N. Gompf, chairman of the Residential Division.

With the orchestra operating on a balanced budget and subscriptions to 16 Wednesday and nine Thursday concerts, the Lyric is 37 per cent ahead of last year's total.

The appearances of the Bethlehem Bach Choir and Leontyne Price were total sellouts, while the Saturday programs, such as "The Mikado," "Broadway Revisited" and "Presenting Duke Ellington" drew capacity crowds.

Further enthusiasm is indicated by the recent formation, under the direction of Charles Winter, of affiliated Symphony Societies in Salisbury, Howard County, Greenbelt, Northeast Baltimore, Cumberland and Northeastern Maryland.

A College Council through which students attend Thursday concerts at special prices, is also meeting with outstanding success this year.

Contributions may be addressed to the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, 120 E. Mt. Royal Ave.
