Propose new health center at Provident

"I'm glad that at last they are recognizing Provident Hospital's potential for community service.

"In some measure this helps to dispel the adverse climate created in the community when Provident was excluded from the pediatric centers program which was developed last year."

That was the reaction of Parren Mitchell, director of the Community Action of the city health department Agency, to announced plans of the city health department to establish here a center to provide free health care to the poor.

* * *

THE NEW family center will represent an extension of the program for the care of persons 18 and under which was started last year.

The center will operate in the vicinity of Provident Hospital, possibly in the hospital building.

Provident is planning to move to a new building on Liberty Heights Avenue west of Reisterstown Road.

VA hospital changes policy

The modern, full air - conditioned Veterans Administration Hospital was officially dedicated in 1952. Until recently, treatment involved long term hospitalization of tuberculosis and chest disease veterans of the Armed Forces.

The change to general medical will accelerate the number of patients cared for.

There is need for qualified staff nurses who are offered employment in an excellent location with better than average salaries, uniform allowance, parking, and other fringe benefits.

Interested nurses are asked to contact the chief, nursing service, Marion E. Thuma, R.N., HO. 7-9032, Ex. 209.
