33 Debs bow at gala ball

WASHINGTON — The Statler Hilton Hotel was the setting recently for the Maryland Annual Debutante Ball in which 33 lovely young ladies were presented to the Washington - Maryland social set.

In a setting replete with beautiful seasonal flowers, colorful decor and the soothing evocative music of Eddie MacDermott and his band, these young ladies shared a gala evening with members of their immediate families and some 2,000 guests.

This outstanding social highlight of the winter season was sponsored for the eleventh consecutive year by Dr. and Mrs. Henry A. Wise of Lanham.

THE YOUNG ladies represented a cross section of teenagers from Washington, Maryland, and Virginia and were carefully selected on the basis of scholastic achievements, beauty and other meaningful values.

The culmination of the evening of festivities was the presentation of scholarship awards to Misses Barbara Aulton of Severn, Md.; Margaret Morris of Lanham, second place winner and Hazel Baltimore of Lanham, third place winner.

Attorney Ruth Harvey, consultant, Presidents' Committee on Consumer Affairs of Danville, did the honors for these awards and also crowned the debutante queen, Michele Barnes. Miss Barnes is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Barnes of Washington.

Poor can speak for self, Mrs. Johnson tells forum

"Too many people want to speak for the poor rather than allow the poor to speak for themselves," Mrs. Edna D. Johnson, declared Sunday.

Speaking at a forum on "Affluence and Poverty," the Urban League staff member, told a congregation at the Sharp Street Methodist Church that black eyes to the community are not always caused by the poor.

* * *

MRS. JOHNSON cited the "more affluent" families, some living in $30,000 homes, whose credit is so poor that they can only buy fuel for cash.

She is a little fed up, said Mrs. Johnson, with the groups who simply sit and study situations. "We cannot love from afar, we have to get out and feel," she said. "There is little use in a social worker visiting a 'case' and telling the housewife that she must pinch pennies.

"The worker needs to go in and show the mother how best to spend her limited allowance," the speaker said

* * *

THE FORUM was the first in a series of four in a church wide study on the subject of those who have and those who have not.

Other forums, based on the idea that both affluence and poverty are dilemmas for Christians, will be held on Feb. 19th and 26th and March 5. They are held from five to seven o'clock and followed by discussion groups and fellowship hours.

* * *

MRS. ELIZABETH BROOKS, school principal, also a speaker at the forum, urged churches to strive to make undeveloped Americans a part of the American society.

To this end she urged that churches get to know the families and see that the parents have the children take advantage of the many programs of help already established.

Children, she said, must not be allowed to yield to unfavorable environment.

* * *

HOUSING, SAID Joseph Smith of BURHA, is the last stand of segregation. "If you can get your hand on enough of the right land, the battle is won, he told the group.

Other speaker was Mrs. Juanita J. Mitchell, attorney, of the NAACP.

"Churches are beautifying buildings but not beautifying people," she said.

Pointing out that during a period of six weeks there were four murders in an area surrounded by eight churches, she pled for aid for people who have little or no recreation.

Boys who get into trouble and in courts often do so from resentment and frustrations. They see, said she, others who have while they have nothing.

* * *

POINTING TO The NAACP's achievement through court action, Mrs. Mitchell said that the organization is now branching out into the political field. There is great need, she said for entry into the political posts.

The Rev. Kelly Jackson, pastor of Sharp Street Memorial Church, made the resume.

THE STUDY is being sponsored by the Mission Study Committee of which Miss Mary S. Allen is chairman. Miss Allen and Mrs. Kelly Jackson participated in the opening program. Cliff W. Mackay was moderator for the panel.

Denominations aid Grace Church party

With many denominations throughout the city joining to sell tickets, the theatre party sponsored by Grace Presbyterian Church was a sellout, Tuesday evening.

The theatre party was the first of a series of affairs planned by the Special Projects Committee to raise affairs for the New Church Building Fund.

The 1700-seat Hippodrome Theatre was filled to capacity (a "first" for a church affair, said the management) as early as 7 p.m. long lines had formed and close to a hundred persons were turned away.

* * *

THOUGH "The Bible" has been playing at the theatre for the past 18 weeks, Tuesday evening's showing took on the air of a "first night," attending to the esteem of the congregation and its pastor, the Rev. Robert Newbold.

The congregation will move from the corner of Dolphin and Etting Sts., where it has stood since 1881. A landmark, Grace Church, is one of the oldest in the city. It will, says the minister, take along its trade mark "The friendliest Church in the city", when it leaves the site.

The Special Projects Committee is headed by Mrs. Sara W. Taylor.

* * *

ON THE COMMITTEE are:

Mesdames Rachel Adams, Edna Mosley, Anna Burton, Vivian Hollingsworth, Janet Woolridge, Jerry McNeil, Hazel Givens,

Mesdames Anna Newbold, Ethel Day, Viola Owens, Helen Whittaker, Mary Driver, Charlotte Watkers, Effie T. Payne, Mesdames Myrtle Lee, Catherine Royston, Vera Hudnell, Kathryn Prisby, Agnes Edwards, and Reba Smith; and William Stanford and Miss Selma Rozier.

N.C. Mutual executive built assets from $4 to $55 million

DURHAM, N.C. — The man who began his career 59 years ago as office boy at North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Co. and rose to vice president and treasurer died February 8th at Lincoln Hospital here.

He was Edward Richard Merrick, 79, formerly of 2008 Fayetteville St.

* * *

MR. MERRICK was born in Durham on June 12, 1888, the oldest son of five children of Martha and John Merrick. His father was one of the two founders and first president of the insurance company.

He was educated in Durham public schools and was graduated from North Carolina Agricultural and Technical College at Greensboro in 1908.

IN 1909 Mr. Merrick was appointed traveling agent in N.C. and S.C., and opened the company's operations in Georgia, the third state in which the firm began operations.

He filled various functions in the company until he was elected vice president-treasurer in 1934, succeeding the late C. C. Spaulding, who became president.

EDWARD R. MERRICK

"The value of Merrick's services in the investment area of the company's operations is reflected in the growth and development of the investment portfolio of the company during his 34 years of service as treasurer," current President A. T. Spaulding said in paying tribute to him.

* * *

MR. MERRICK retired in 1957 after 49 continuous years with North Carolina Mutual. During his tenure as treasurer, company assets were increased from $4 million to $55 million.

His civic and community endeavors included chairman of the board of directors of Mutual Savings and Loan Association, where he served in every official capacity since 1921; member of the board of directors and the executive committee of the Mechanics and Farmers Bank; member of the board of trustees of Lincoln Hospital; for many years a trustee of A and T College, from which he received the honorary Doctor of Humanities degree; one of three organizers of the A and T College Alumni Scholarship Fund and treasurer since its inception some 15 years ago; member of the board of directors of Bankers Fire and Casualty Insurance Co.; chairman of the board of the Union Insurance and Realty Co.; board member of the John Avery Boys Club; a member of Kappa Alpha Psi social fraternity; and a former trustee of St. Joseph's AME Church.

* * *

IN ADDITION to his widow, Mrs. Lyda Moore Merrick, Mr. Merrick is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Joseph Sansom of Raleigh and Mrs. Charles D. Watts of Durham; one sister, Mrs. Mabel Bruce of Winston-Salem; and eight grandchildren, Joseph, Beryl, Sarah and James Sansom of Raleigh, and Eileen, Deborah, Charles and Winifred Watts of Durham; two sons-in - law, Joseph Sansom of Raleigh and Dr. Charles D. Watts of Durham.

Dems proposal bars all-blond '68 delegations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey said he "appreciated" proposals from some committeemen to bar from the 1968 national convention any delegation that discriminates against colored Democrats.

Bailey said he would refer the suggestions to a still unnamed chairman of the equal rights committee.

Bailey's statement came in reaction to proposals, including one that states with more than 20 percent colored population include delegations with at least 10 percent colored representation,

* * *

THE PROPOSALS were in a seven-page memo prepared by Mrs. Mildred Jeffrey, national committeewoman from Michigan, and Joseph Rauh, associate counsel to the equip rights panel.

The suggestions promise to touch off a major fight from segregationist Democrats.

Bailey said that former Pennsylvania Governor David Lawrence who headed the equal rights committee until his death late last year, had suggested that "several members of the committee put their thoughts on paper."

D.C., Baltimore on 25-city list for 'light' missile guard

(UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has identified 50 cities, including Baltimore and Washington that might be included in an antiballistic missile defense system if one is ever deployed by the United States.

McNamara issued a list Wednesday divided into two plans, a "light defense" and "heavier defense," that would cost $12 billion and $22 billion respectively.

This contrasted with an estimate of $40 billion if the system would include 130 other cities of 100,000 population or over.

McNamara, in testimony before congressional committees, has opposed deployment of an ABM system because he said no such system could effectively ward off a Russian missile attack.

* * *

HOWEVER, THE SOVIETS are deploying an ABM system of their own around Moscow and some congressional leaders insist that a U.S. ABM system is essential to national security.

The "light defense" described by McNamara would include 25 cities. The "heavier defense" adds 25 more to this list.

The light defense would include New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, San Francisco, Washington, Boston, Cleveland, St. Louis, Baltimore, Houston, Pittsburgh, Minneapolis, Miami, Denver, Atlanta, Seattle, New Orleans, Buffalo, Portland, Ore., Albany, N.Y., El Paso, Charleston, S.C., and Honolulu.

Under the heavier defense would be those 25 plus Paterson, N.J., San Jose, Calif., Dallas, Milwaukee, Kansas City, Cincinnati, San Diego, San Antonio, Indianapolis, Columbus, Memphis, Louisville, Providence, Norfolk, Va., Rochester, N.Y., Springfield, Mass., Dayton, San Bernardino, Toledo, Bridgeport, Conn., New Haven, Conn., Flint, Mich., Allentown, Pa., Tacoma, Wash., and Trenton, N.J.

* * *

McNAMARA DOUBTED either plan would be practical, since other cities would demand equal protection and the ABM price tag would eventually swell to the $40 billion level.

Under each plan, McNamara noted, Spartan missiles would be set up to protect the entire United States by intercepting enemy missiles outside the atmosphere.

But the closer-range Spring missiles, which would attack incoming missiles within the atmisphere, would only be deployed to protect the cities listed under each plan.

Kluxer touts Wallace for president

SILVER SPRING, Md. (UPI) — A Ku Klux Klan leader for the Maryland and Virginia areas pledges his support to any presidential bid by former Alabama governor, George Wallace.

Xavier Edward, imperial wizard of the Interstate Klans, telegramed Wallace at the governor's mansion in Montgomery, Ala. that Wallace had "one hundred percent full support" of his group in the forthcoming campaign.

Edward said "we sincerely believe that you possess more of the right qualifications than any other candidate and will do everything you can to accomplish your goals."

He also charged that the civil rights movement "reeks of communist leadership and that the uninformed white person "would find out too late:"
