3d D. group to back slate for Con-Con

"The Third District Bipartisan Constitutional Convention Nominating Committee urges the General Assembly to pass all necessary legislation to provide for a constitutional convention in September, 1967," Robert C. Embry Jr., said this week.

He is spokesman for the committee which represents a broad spectrum of civic, political and educational interests in Baltimore City's Third Legislative District.

The committee invited district residents interested in being delegates to the Constitutional Convention to apply to the committee.

Application blanks may be obtained from Mrs. James B. Magrogan, 2709 Overland Ave. (HA. 6-1102.) executive secretary to the committee, which will screen all candidates and campaign for the election of the eight most qualified persons.

Sen. J. Joseph Curran Jr. (Dem. Baltimore 3rd) and David Blum, chairman of the Republican City Committee, have endorsed the committee.

Embry Jr., Third District Citizens for Good Government; Dr. James Fleming, Morgan College; Samuel Fonte, Junior Association of Commerce; J. Rowland Kraft, United Organizations of Hamilton;

Delegates split on abortion bill

ANNAPOLIS —The race's representatives in the new General Assembly were sharply divided this week on a bill which would liberalize legal abortions under specific conditions.

The HB 276, introduced last Wednesday by Del. Allen B. Spector (D. 5th Balto.), provides that such abortions would be legal:

"When a licensed physician, with the approval of a psychiatrist, has reasonable grounds to believe that an abortion is necessary for the mental or physical health of the mother."

It is now before the House's Science, Education and Welfare Committee, headed by Mrs. Edna P. Cook (D. Montgomery).

AN AFRO poll in the House brought these comments on the bill:

DR. ARIS T. ALLEN (R. ANNE ARUNDEL), physician — "I haven't been given it thought in detail but maybe there is latitude in the existing law to do what is recommended.

"My personal opinion is this ought to be given a good deal of thought. It leaves a mutual consultation of a psychiatrist an awful lot of latitude, and this gives me pause."

MRS. VICTORINE Q. ADAMS (D. 4th BALTO.)— "I am not in favor of it. I am Catholic."

ISAIAH DIXON JR. (D. 4th BALTO.) — "I'm Catholic. I would rather not comment."

MRS. LENA K LEE (D 4th BALTO.) — "I am in favor of the bill I'm definitely committed to it."

CALVIN T. DOUGLASS (D. 4th BAALTO.) —"I am in favor of it. Unofficially, they have been doing it. I don't think too may would abuse such a law."

TROY BRAILEY (D. 4th BALTO.) — "I just haven't made up my mind."

JOSEPH A. CHESTER (D. 2nd BALTO.) —"I say it's a good bill and I'm for it."

FLOYD B. ADAMS (D. 2nd BALTO.) —"I haven't had a chance to study the bill yet, and I have yet to make up my mind on it"

ARTHUR A. KING (D. PRINCE GEORGES) —"I am against this sort of arrangement. Why just ask first two people, a physician and a psychiatrist, be given this authority?

"I don't have a better solution, but I am against it." No such bill is yet before the Senate.

Last year a bill which would legalize abortions in the cases of criminal assault, introduced by Sen Robert P. Dean (D. Queen Anne's), passed the Senate but did in the House.

MARYLAND'S NEW SENATE: — This is the state's new reapportioned Senate, which now has 43 members in contrast to the former 29 seats. Included are 3 Senators Verda F. Welcome, and incumbent, and 2. Clarence M. Mitchell 3rd (both D. 4th Balto.). Not shown is the rostrum they are facing, where Senate President William S. James (D. Harford) presides.

Con-Con topics of Town Hall series Feb. 21

The upcoming constitutional Convention will be the first topic for a series of Town Hall meetings to be sponsored by a committee headed by Cleveland Chandler of Morgan State College.

Dr. Harry Bard, will chair the panel which starts at 7:45 p.m. in the Fourth District Democratic Organization's headquarters, 1524 W. North Ave., Tuesday, Feb. 21.

Other members of the panel will be John C. Brooks, attorney, executive director of the Con-Con Commission; John Harrower, attorney, and Judge George L. Russell Jr., commission members.

Time will be provided for audience participation in the discussion.

History is being made and we should be concerned about the drafting of the state's new constitution," said Mrs. Mary B. Adams, chairman of this week's program.

Working with her are the Rev. Vernon Dobson, Union Baptist Church, and the Rev. Oliver St. Clair Franklin, Mt. Zion Methodist.

NAACP, legislators map joint fair-housing fight

On Wednesday night, 53 state senators and delegates met at the Royal Restaurant in Annapolis with 167 leaders of NAACP Branches from 18 counties and Baltimore City, and representatives from 21 organizations to plan joint strategy for an effective open occupancy in housing bill in this session of the legislature.

Clarence M. Mitchell Jr., NAACP national legislative director, led the discussion of the need for a meaningful law and set up the organizational structure of NAACP leaders for a statewide drive to support a state fair housing bill.

Senator James F. Clark (D., Howard County), chairman of the Governor's Human Relations Commission, reported that in a meeting on Tuesday the commission decided to adopt an open occupancy in housing bill, SB-237, which had already been introduced in the senate by Senator Royal Hart (D., Prince George's County) and five co-sponsors.

Senator Hart discussed the provisions of the measure which would prohibit discrimination in the sale or rental of housing, but would exclude owner - occupied dwellings of 5 or less units.

The enforcement of the proposed law would be by the Interracial Commission with the same court enforcement powers which it has under the public accommodations law.

GOV. AGNEW has said he would support a fair housing bill that bans discrimination in all new housing but he would exclude all existing dwellings.

The Governor made a campaign pledge, however, that he will sign "the strongest bill passed by the legislature."

Senator Clark stated that the Governor's commission had decided to support the stronger bill introduced by Senator Hart, and he thought that she Governor would "go along with it".

Co-sponsors of the Senators Frank J. McCourt (D., 2nd Dist. Baltimore City), James P. Clark, (D. Howard County), Meyer M. Emanuel, (D. Prince George's County Clarence M. Mitchell III, and Verda Welcome both Democrats from Baltimore City's Fourth District.

* * *

THE NAACP leaders and organization representatives, in a poll taken by Mr. Mitchell, overwhelmingly indicated their support for the inclusion of one-family dwellings.

Senator Mitchell, who introduced the first fair housing bill in the State Legislature in 1963, said that a poll of the legislature indicated that the Hart bill can pass but there are not enough votes at present for a bill including one-family dwellings.

The body voted to begin a drive in their counties and Baltimore City to lobby with their own elective officials to seek support for the inclusion of one family dwellings.

Housing bill coordinators were appointed for each of the counties and Baltimore City by the group to report on Saturday, Feb. 25 at a meeting in Baltimore City.

THE WASHINGTON Bureau director, Mr. Mitchell, praised President Johnson's wise and courageous leadership in his message to Congress last Wednesday urging the passage of the President's new Civil Rights Package which includes an open occupancy in housing bill.

The meeting voted to send a message of appreciation to President Johnson and messages to the Maryland congressional delegation (all-Montgomery County) state senators of the Maryland Congressional delegation (all-Montgomery County) state senators of the President's civil rights bills and to work for their enactment.

NAACP leaders who organized the well-attended meeting included:

Miss Edith Throckmorton, (Montgomery County) state chairman of fair housing legislation; Mrs. Cora Rice (Prince George's County), co - chairman; Johnnie Stubbs, (Ann Arundel County), co-chairman;

The Rev. John W. Ringgold (Queen Anne's County) and Rev. Richard H. Hicks (Chestertown), state field directors; Dupree Monk (Charles County), state coordinator; Willie McManus, Anne Arundel County's housing chairman; Spencer Coleman, (Anne Arundel County) state publicity chairman; Douglas Sands (Howard County), school desegregation chairman.

Walter W. Black Jr., (Talbot County), state director of branches; Samuel Hamilton, 1st vice president; Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell, president, Maryland State Conference of NAACP Branches.

BACON — In loving memory of our dear husband and our father, ARNOLD S. BACON, who passed away February 18, 1965.
God saw the road was getting rough,
The hills were hard to climb,
He gently closed his loving eyes
And whispered, "Peace be thine."
His weary hours, his days of pain,
His weary nights are past.
His ever-patient, worn-out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.
