Sorors mark History Week

Kappa Chapter, Iota Phi Lambda Sorority, met Saturday evening at the Central Branch YWCA. Sorors Lois Bownette, Geraldine Hooper, and Gladys Ball were hostesses.

The Scholarship Committee chairman, Soror Fannie Poulson, advised that the chapter would sponsor several entrants in the National Merit Scholarship examination in March. This is the examination from which Iota Phi Lambda selects its national scholarship winners. Soror Poulton and Soror Blanche Pettifor, dean and assistant dean of pledgees, announced that Kappa has 12 young women in the process of being certified for its pledge club.

After the business meeting the Sorors enjoyed a Negro History Week program presented by Sorors Claudine Harden and Mary Crump, co-chairmen, and Sorors Ethel Douglass, Marion Ransom, Gladys McCoy, and Isabel McConnell. For the past four years the chapter has observed History Week in the chapter and used the money they would have spent on a public program to pay on their Life Membership pledge in the NAACP.

Soror Harden presided and introduced the theme using as background material the pamphlet published by the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, Washington, D.C. Soror Mary Crump presented a history of the Week which was the brainchild of Dr. Carter G. Woodson who was dedicated to the idea that until the colored American is accorded his proper place in all history books, it is necessary to have a Negro History Week.

A guessing game was prepared by Soror Marion Ransom and participated in by all present. Soror Vivian Young was awarded the winner's prize.

Highlight of the program was the showing of the filmstrip "Legacy of Honor" with accompanying record which was shown by Dr. Roland C. McConnell, professor of history, Morgan State College, who pointed out that the National Education Association and the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History had presared an issue the filmstrip and record jointly.

He stated that this is the first time that the NEA has put its stamp of approval on the week and that he is of the opinion that this will mark the turning point for the inclusion of Negro History not only the history books but as an integral part of the curriculum.

Dr. McConnell also stated that the record ad filmstrip should be part of the audio-visual libraries of the various schools and urged the Sorors to encourage their schools to procure it.

Sorors present were:

Gladys Ball, President, Evelyne Wilkey, Mary Ames, Mary Ervin, Isabel McConnell, Mary Crump, Claudine Harden, Ethel Douglass, Gladys McCoy, Marion Ransom, Geraldine Hooper, Blanche Pettiford, Fannie Poulson, Helen Weatherford, Vivian Young, Eloise Taylor, who had as guests for the program her two daughters and and a friend of the daughters (the girls had been to a splash party at the Alcazar) Louise Mitchell, Hazel Hyman, and Mary Tucker.

Swags' anniversary dance repeats year-old elegance

By LULA MACKAY

The Swags marked their 35th anniversary with a dinner dance in the Emerald Gardens, Saturday, and they carried on in the same social tone that has marked their affairs down through the years.

From the engraved invitations, through a beautifully served course dinner, from the dancing the floating bar (bottles on the tables? Never!) to the Continental breakfast after midnight, the affair was warm, intimate and utterly elegant.

And the individual members still carry on the custom of having their guests join them at breakfast in their homes after the dance.

* * *

THE HOSTS were William Stanford, Charles R. Law, Elmer G. Petterson, Dr. Theodore Phifer, Edgar Ewing, William I. Gosnell, Talmadge Hill, James L. Johnson, Van Thompson, Dr. Louis E. Harmon, Dr. Uysses G. Bourne of Frederick Md., and Thomas Clayton.

* * *

IF YOU are a fashion buff, the dance was truly a couture dream.

Stately Mrs. Charlotte Mebane, who has the figure you would ask for if you could pick, chose a straight long sheath of black sequins, with small black satin yoke enhancing the neckline.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brooks, a top dresser at any time, wore an intrigueing gown in pink, the hem line in four deep points and banded in gold. Mrs. Elizabeth Laws' gown was of pink satin and the top of garnet and green velvet.

* * *

MRS. WILLIAM (STUD) GREENE of Washington wore a white sequin suit, the coat being finger-tip length.

Mrs. Marie Hicks of Frederick, Md., chose an eye-catching white sheer tent frock banded in diagonal stripes of gold. Mrs. Margaret Ewing was in hot pink, and Tomi White in mist blue trimmed in crystal and bugle beads. Mrs. Doris Cole selected a chiffon cage, under which was a silver-banded sheath . . . all in black.

* * *

MISS MARGARET HARMON was in white brocade, a novel tric was the huge rose at the waist and a tinier rose at one side. Mrs. Verna Gosnell chose pink flowered satin, and Helen Burwell encased her slender figure in a short green all clipped-sequin sheath.

MRS. EDNA STAFFORD chose white brocade, the top embroidered in a design in crystals, pearls and gold. Mrs. Frances Hill wore a rose chiffon, floor-length tent gown, and Mrs. Catherine Adams a knee-length tent in blue flowered chiffon.

* * *

A MOST elegant gown was the long-sleeved, low belted sheath of gold metallic worn by Mrs. Olga Chambers, and the pale pink satin gown worn by Mrs. Ada Veney was embroidered all over in tiny rose nosegays. And particularly attractive was Mrs. Etta Phifer's classic lile sheath in ribbed silk.

* * *

GUESTS CAME from any number of East Coast cities. Among them were:

Archie Holland from New York, Dr. and Mrs. John Agard, Dr. and Mrs. Eddie G Smith, Dr. and Mrs. William Greene, Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tinnen, of Washington;

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hicks and Mr. and Mrs. George Dredden of Frederick, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hynson of Annapolis, Dr. and Mrs. William S. Polk of Lanham Md., Col. and Mrs. H. D. Queen of Parkesburg, Pa., Dr. and Mrs. Allen F. West, Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Capps, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cones of Philadelphia. MAYOR McKELDIN snips ribbon for Community Action Agency's Family Planning Center, 1321 Ashland Ave. Others in photo, from left, are: Mrs. James E. Zabin, center director; Miss Gwendolyn Keel, of CAC's Emergency Services; Albert Berney, Community Action Commission chairman.

Family Planning Center opens on Ashland Ave.

Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin was the featured speaker Tuesday, at the opening day ceremonies of the new Family Planning Center at 1321 Ashland Ave.

The Family Planning Center, directed by Mrs. James Barton Zabin and operated under the auspices of the Planned Parenthood Association of Maryland, will offer a comprehensive family planning program for residents of the Community Action Area.

The mayor, in remarks at the tape cutting affair said: "Those who suffer with the burden of poverty must be given every opportunity to lift themselves from poverty."

McKeldin said the new center will not attempt to "eliminate" children but to help parents plan when "children will arrive."

Parren J. Mitchell, director of the Community Action Agency, said he felt it was important for the disadvantaged to have at their disposal "all of the resources of the community."

"Before the opening, of such centers," Mitchell said, "methods of birth control were available only to the advantaged."

Other speakers on the program included, Arthur Kinefelter, president of the Plamed Parenthood Association of Maryland; Dr. Robert Farber, commissioner of Health and Warren Weaver, vice president of the Baltimore Urban League and a member of the Planned Parenthood Association of Maryland.

Vote age bill killed in House

ANNAPOLIS — Prospects were dimmed considerably Tuesday that this session of the General Assembly will lower the state's voting age from 21 to 18 years.

In an initial test, the House's Judiciary Committee killed a bill which proposed this lowered voting age.

The Senate has yet to bring committee action on a similar measure.

Whether there can still be mustered a floor test vote in the upper chamber by proponents for this controversial issue remains in doubt at this time.

Gov. Ted Agnew on Brotherhood

Governor Spiro T. Agnew's first official proclamation proclaiming February 19-26 as Brotherhood Week nationally sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, called for all citizens to "give thought to the necessity of living together as brothers under the common Fatherhood of God."

He continued, "at a time when the American way of life is gravely threatened, we must not allow differences in creed, race or national origin to divide us as a people," "but," Governor Agnew concluded, "we must stand together for those principals that all Americans cherish."

Rent Escrow Bill gets inner-city support

Rent strikers from the inner city demonstrated at the House of Delegates in Annapolis today (Friday).

The motorcade that left Baltimore at 8:30 a.m. marched on the Maryland General Assembly to attend the hearing on the Rent Escrow Bill introduced by Delegates Orlinsky, Lee and Chester.

The legislation, if passed, would empower the courts to hold the tenant's rent until the landlord makes legitimate repairs on the property.

A spokesman for the residents said the tenants were "exhausted in patience waiting for a release from the age-old, long-overdue, never-should-have-happened inequities and injustices borne since the emergence of complexities of urban icing."

* * *

POINTING out they are mobilized to continue the fight against the long-standing social evil on the part of the slum lords, the spokesman said they were laying their plight upon the consciences of the law makers.

Sponsors of the bus-auto motorcade were the Neighborhood Action Council, Myrtle Avenue Neighborhood Club, Pilot House Tenant Group, Johnston Square Neighborhood Club, Brune Street Edmondson Avenue Club, Madison Square Neighborhood Club, Social Action Committee, Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity.

W. Lyndzal Pitts Jr. is chairman of the fraternity's Zeta Sigma Chapter, sponsoring group.

Hints for Homemakers

INEZ KAISER

Over a century ago, February gave us two great symbols of milestones in our nation's progress . . . Washington and Lincoln. This February, Lever Brothers gives you the IMPERIAL margarine crown which symbolizes flavor.

IMPERIAL margarine enjoys the distinction of having flavor so good it makes you feel like a king. In addition to its marvelous flavor, IMPERIAL margarine has corn oil in it.

Since you will be enjoying a legal holiday, you may want to have a few friends in for bridge and lunch. Why not serve spaghetti and meatballs, tossed salad and garlic bread.

Here is a recipe for quick and easy garlic bread. Cut a loaf of French bread into ¾" slices. Almost to bottom crust. Spread the sides of each slice generously with IMPERIAL margarine. Sprinkle garlic salt generously over cut sides and top of bread. Heat uncovered on cookie sheet in 250°F. oven for 25 minutes. Separate the slices and serve.

The secret is the crowning flavor of IMPERIAL margarine. You will reign supreme for the month of February and all year long when you pick up the bright blue and gold package with the crown on top . . . IMPERIAL margarine. Soon you'll be the symbol of best-tasting cooking in your whole neighborhood.

Recently a national television network gave us a first by offering a triple-header of bowl games in one afternoon. This was indeed a resplendent threesome for football fans. But it made me think of another famous triple-header which is offered regularly to us homemakers — the triple-strength liquid laundry detergent . . . WISK.

This heavy-duty blue detergent is so effective because it puts its strength where the dirt is. Quite like football or basketball, with their variety of plays, WISK, the triple-strength all-purpose detergent, has a variety of uses.

This one container of powerful liquid lines up in the basement to take care of all the soiled laundry. Then, a quick forward pass takes it right up to the kitchen where the refrigerator, tile and woodwork get a good going over. Once in the garage, WISK scores another point as it cleans to perfection those whitewall tires. Then, a perfect rebound into that bucket of used paint brushes gets WISK on the scoreboard again.

For your convenience, WISK is available in four sizes . . . pint, quart, half-gallon and gallon. You may not be a sports fan, able to interpret the techniques of football or basketball, but you will be a WISK fan for life when you try your first bottle of this amazing triple-strength detergent.

The greatest news since the Super Bowl is new SUPER STRIPE toothpaste. Just an sports fans were in for many great surprises at the premiere of this football classic, so will you be when you decide to host a toothpaste "classic" in your bathroom with new SUPER STRIPE.

Many of my friends have told me that they thought SUPER STRIPE was for children. It's true that the gay red and white stripes are intriguing, and kids enjoy brushing with new SUPER STRIPE toothpaste. However, now that it has a brand-new formula that helps reduce cavities, everyone can take the fun toothpaste seriously.

The Council on Dental Therapeutics of the American Dental Association says, "SUPER STRIPE has been shown to be of significant value when used in a consistently applied program of oral hygiene and regular professional care."

Make SUPER STRIPE a part of your anti-cavity program. Just remember to get regular checkups, watch between-meal treats and brush after meals.

Lever Brothers guarantees that you and your family will enjoy the "super champ" of the tooth-brushing brigade.

"I cannot tell a lie . . ." are famous words spoken by our first President — but my eighteen-year-old son, Rickey.

Last Saturday, he spent an unusual amount of time at the breakfast table. I thought this rather strange for him, as he is usually up and about before other things in very short order.

When I asked what was taking him so long, he quickly replied, "I cannot tell a lie . . . I am having seconds . . . this MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S is what's happening." A quick check of his plate revealed a stack of French toast dripping with MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S syrup.

I decided to join him and immediately relieved him of his plate of delicacies . . . not without saying "thank you," of course.

He quickly made a new raid on the breadbox, the icebox and MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S syrup. You see, you don't have to go around chopping down trees to put an edge on your family's appetites. Just let them try MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S . . . "tasting" is believing.

Your nearest grocer is featuring MRS. BUTTERWORTH'S syrup in the new reusable 12-oz. pitcher. Get yours now while supplies last.

Brotherhood Week at Eden School

As a part of their observation of Brotherhood Week, the students and teachers of Sir Robert Eden School held an "Around-The-World" art show on Feb. 23 and 24. All of the art objects were the private possessions of pupils or faculty members.

The Brotherhood Week faculty chairman, Miss Rose Kornblatt, also reports that Mrs. Marvin Rubio spoke to groups of children about Mexico. Other students of the elementary school had the opportunity of hearing Mrs. Itsuka Hanabusa, a graduate of the University of Tokyo.

Scholarships for alcoholism study

The Department of Mental Hygiene announces that scholarship assistance is available to individuals working with alcoholics and interested in attending the Summer School of Alcohol Studies at Rutgers University in New Brunswick, N.J.

The Summer School is offering three programs this year: "Medical Aspects of Alcoholism," for physicians only, June 25 to July 7; 17 special courses for a variety of professional personnel, nurses, counselors, social workers, correctional officers, public health staff, clergymen, etc., June 25 to July 14; and the Northeast Institute of Alcohol Studies, for volunteers, civic leaders and others who have had no special training in the field, July 16 to July 21.

Individuals wishing further information about the Summer School or wishing to apply for scholarship assistance may write to Alcoholism Unit, Department of Mental Hygiene, 301 W Preston St., Baltimore 21201
