AUGUSTUS ADAIR, director of Morgan's Political Science Institute, Percy Sutton, M. Reginald Lewis, assistant director, and Dr. G. James Fleming, discuss the Borough President's campus schedules.

MORGAN students surround Sutton, firing questions at him, New York's controversial Rep. Adam Clayton Powell was the subject of most of the student queries.

Manhattan president backs Powell in lectures on politics at Morgan

By MARY RICHARDSON

"I am a supporter of Adam Powel because he has a history of doing things for us when no one else did. And we have the vote to return him to Congress," Manhattan Borough President Percy E. Sutton told Morgan students Wednesday in the Student Union.

As the fifth politican-in-residence, sponsored by the campus Institute for Political Education, President Sutton was elected in November, 1965 as head of New York county, or Manhattan, which includes Wall Street, Greenwich Village, Harlem and Adam Powell's constituency.

The other four boroughs or divisions of New York City each with an elected president are the Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island.

* * *

REFERRING to Powell as a "flexible gentleman," Mr. Sutton told his audience that for 12 years he and Powell had opposed each other. When it was clear, however, that Sutton would win the borough presidency, he received a long-distance phone call:

"Percy, Baby. This is Adam! You should have win this 10 years ago." And the two have been able to work together ever since.

Insisting that the open meeting be a "dialogue," the tall, handsome, urbane borough president left the speaker's podium and stood among his audience, smoked cigarettes and answered questions well beyond the time for the program's end.

* * *

A FORMER trial attorney and New York Assemblyman, Mr. Sutton told his audience that when Congressman Powell made his now famous statement on Mrs. Esther James, "he was voicing the opinion of a community."

Also, the fact that a new attorney had to take the case only four days before it went to trial along with Mr. Powell's refusal to testify hurt the case.

"The New York Democratic party, faced with a Republican governor and mayor of New York and without the traditional 1 patronage from the mayor's office, is in complete disarray," Mr. Suttan said.

A question from the floor asked if Mr. Sutton felt that world traveling Senator Robert Kennedy was a leader without followers.

He replied "As a practical politican, I'm not about to tell you the answer to that. Its like the husband who sees his wife in an ugly dress. You more candidates are elected on how they project on TV. Mayor John Lindsay projects well and has substance, despite the fact that he is Republican. He is an effective mayor."

"Before the last election, former Mayor Robert Wagner had won his last two four-year terms by his slogan, 'turning on the bosses,' Mr. Sutton said.

"Bobby Kennedy come to New York and we found out that he was a New Yorker. When he chose to run for senator, also aspirant Robert Wagner refused to run again for Mayor and a vacuum existed. A bitter Democratic primary battle for mayor left the party divided and liberals, Republicans and John Lindsay joined together and won," the speaker stated.

"The New York Democratic party, faced with a Republican governor and mayor of New York and without the traditional patronage from the mayor's office, is in complete disarray," Mr. Suttan said.

A question from the floor asked if Mr. Sutton felt that world traveling Senator Robert Kennedy was a leader without followers.

He replied "As a practical politican, I'm not about to tell you the answer to that. Its like the husband who sees his wife in an ugly dress. You don't tell her how she really looks because you have to live with her. Next question."

MR. SUTTON said that he did not aspire to the $50,000 per year job as mayor because only 60 percent of the combined colored and Puerto Rican registered voters turn out in elections and he did not see the possibility of a colored mayor of New York in his political lifetime.

The speaker gave characteristics that he feels aspiring politicans must have today: ability to attract people to you, ability to sell your party ideas and project yourself in the news media, and have financial backing to seek public office.

Emphasizing the need for financial support, Mr. Sutton stated that "lack of funds will hurt your chances and I'm here to tell it like it is."

He told Morgantown that today's politician was not the clear - cut, hand-in-the till operator of the past. Of the present 64 members heading Democratic Tammany Hall, 41 are lawyers, 60 are college graduates, one is dean of a New York medical school and some are housewives.

"If I do nothing else during my visit here, let me impress you with the fact that the concept of crooked politician has been eliminated," he said.

THE 46 YEAR OLD Mr. Sutton, father of two, has been an NAACP official, a Freedom Rider and calls himself the first Manhattan Borough president to "come off the streets of New York."

The fourth president of color, he was preceeded in the $35,000 yearly post by Hulan Jack, Edward Dudley and Judge Constance Baker Motley.

Mr. Sutton is the product of Tuskegee Institute, Hampton Institute, Columbia College and Brooklyn Law School.

Morgan's Institute for Political Education is headed by Director Augustus A. Adair and Assistant Director Reginald Lewis. Student participants in the program included James Gilliam, Arlene Carrington and Elbert Bishop.

SINGING THE title role of Elijah will be baritone Joseph Eubanks. Mr. Eubanks, Mr. Eubanks, who is an auxiliary in the Air Force, who has been a leading artist with the Metropolitan Opera in the American opera "Porgy and Bess" on a tour of Europe, the Middle East, South America and Russia.

Also singing leading roles will be Phyllis Frankel, Bette Hankin and William Brown.

Miss Frankel, a soprano, and Miss Hankin, a mezzo soprano, are both well known to Baltimore audiences for their many performances in Baltimore Civic Opera Company productions.

Mr. Brown, a tenor, is an instructor in voice at the Peabody Conservatory and is scheduled to appear next month as the principal tenor soloist in the CBS television network premiere presentation of Peter Dickerson's "A Judas Tree."

Saturday evening's performance of "Elijah" is open to the public as part of Morgan State College's regular community events program. Admission is free.

Bill would keep Morgan under its own trustees

ANNAPOLIS — A bill to remove the contingent requirement that Morgan State College eventually be placed under jurisdiction of the Board of Trustees for State Colleges was introduced in the House Wednesday.

The HB 551, sponsored by Del. Floyd B. Adams (D. 2nd Balto.), would have the college remain permanently under its own board of trustees.

Legislation passed in 1963 requires that Morgan be placed under the Board of Trustees for State Colleges, when three or more state colleges reach its accreditation status.

Among the other bills brought in Wednesday was HB 560 by Del. Troy Brailey (D. 4th Balto.), which would establish a $1.25 an hour minimum wage for workers not covered by the Federal law.

Two other House bills, sponsored by Del. Arthur Dorman (D. Prince Georges), related to proposed income tax deductions.

HB 525 would authorize a deduction up to $1,200 for educational expenses for handicapped children, and HB 526 would authorize a deduction for expense of sending children to parochial, primary or secondary schools.

Nearly new sale

Even the kitchen sink may be included in a "Nearly New" sale to be held on Friday, March 3 and Saturday, March 4 at Lexington Market under the sponsorship of the Sodality of St. Thomas More Church, 6906 McClean Blvd.

The sale will be held on both days from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Market Balcony.

Kitchen utensils, furniture, clothing and accessories for the home will be included.

Residents escape—18 pt

A Thursday morning fire of undetermined causes gutted the upper floors of two homes in the 200 block of Penn St.

Firemen said that when they arrived at the scene the upper floors of both houses were heavily involved.

Residents of the house at 217 Penn St. escaped from the building unharmed.

House okays car insurance regulations

ANNAPOLIS — The House passed by a 85-35 vote and sent to the Senate Wednesday a bill designed to protect buyers of auto liability insurance from arbitrary cancellations.

The HB 52, as it currently stands, provides that a company upon selling such an auto policy may not cancel it without probable cause from 60 days after sale up to two years.

Whatever the probable cause, cancellation proceeding would have to come from the insurance commissioner.

Del J. Glenn Beall Jr. (R. Allegany), minority floor leader and an insurance man, argued unsuccessfully that the bill would tighten an already tight market for auto liability insurance.

Del. Alan M. Resnick (D. 5th Balto.), sponsor of the measure, told the House such a law was necessary to protect the public against scrupulous cancellations.

Co-sponsor of the bill is Del. Charles A. Doctor (D. Montgomery.).

The House's colored delegation voted for passage of the bill, with two exceptions.

Del. Joseph A. Chester (D. 2nd Balto.) was absent at the time, and Del. Aris T. Allen (R. Anne Arundel) followed his party's floor leader and voted against it.

Senate kills movie censor abolition bill

ANNAPOLIS — A bill to abolish the state's Board of Motion Picture Censors was killed by the Senate Thursday, in a vote that upheld an unfavorable committee report.

The roll call vote sustaining the unfavorable report was 30 to 11.

Sen. Frank J. McCourt (D. 2nd Balto.), sponsor of the bill had sought to keep the bill alive after the unfavorable report by the Judicial Proceedings Committee, in a motion to substitute the bill for the report.

Senators Verda F. Welcome and Clarence M. Mitchell 3rd Sen. McCourt's action.

Mitchell, who favored the measure, told the House such a law was necessary to protect the public against scrupulous cancellations.

Floor debate revealed the board reviewed 690 films last year, made 54 deletions, and cost taxpayers $76,974.

* * *

AMONG OTHER business, the usual number of new bills were introduced.

The perennial bill to authorize a state lottery was brought in the Senate.

That body also got a bill proposing an increase of the state tax on liquor from $1.50 to $2 per gallon, with the stipulation the proceeds be used to rehabilitate alcoholics.

Still another of the new Senate bills asked for a revision of state laws relating to interest and usury.

On the House side, among the new bills of general interest was one to require public pools and beaches provide lifeguard facilities.

Open Assembly hearings set

ANNAPOLIS — A public hearing on HB 49, which would abolish the death penalty in major crimes, will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the House chamber.

The hearing will be before the Senate's Judicial Proceedings and House Judiciary Committees.

Also on Tuesday at 3 p.m. in the House chamber the fiscal reform bills, commonly known as the Hughes tax bill, will be aired in an open hearing before the Senate Finance and House Ways and Means Committees.

Action expected soon on housing, rights bills

By MAX JOHNSON

ANNAPOLIS — Separate action is expected the coming week by committees of the Senate and House on several civil rights bills, including open housing and expanded public accommodations.

Open hearings were held and completed on the measures Wednesday and Thursday.

Of top interest among these bills are two identical ones on open housing in both the Senate and House.

They would cover generally the sale and rental of all housing after June 1, with the exception of private homes, apartments under five units, religious and fraternal homes.

Numerous organizational representatives, including the Governor's Advisory Commission on Human Rights, League of Women Voters, NAACP, the Interracial Commission, Save Our Homes — to list some — appeared in support of the measure.

The NAACP, however, wants a stronger bill, with dwellings with over two family units covered.

THE HEARING before the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee, headed by Sen. J. Joseph Curran Jr. (D. 3rd, Balto.) and the House Judiciary Committee, headed by Del. Thomas H. Lowe (D. Talbot) were virtually carbon copies of those at preceding Assembly sessions.

If there were any difference, it was in the smaller gathering of proponents and opponents, not in what was said on both sides.

There is a difference in the bills proposing an extended coverage of the state's public accommodations law.

One would have it conform to the Federal law, but exempt bars, taverns and cocktail lounges.

Another would cover these places.

Del. Troy Brailey (D. 4th Balto.) told the AFRO Thursday he would press with amendments to include bars and taverns, if the former bill reaches the House floor.

Other civil rights bills aired included one to repeal the mixed marriage ban — which has already passed the Senate — and several to strengthen the Interracial Commission and to protect employees who complain of unfair labor practices.

Appearing in opposition to all the bills were, as at former hearings, the same representatives of the Maryland Petition Committee, the United Klan and the Taxpayers' League — with the same arguments about keeping the white race pure.

Agnew bill asks 3 bay bridges

ANNAPOLIS. — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew has announced he will seek legislation at this General Assembly session to build additional crossings of the Chesapeake Bay and the Baltimore Harbor.

A bill is to be introduced today (Friday) to carry authorization for three new toll bridge across the bay — a northern, a southern and one parallel to the present span.

The same bill will provide for a second Baltimore Harbor crossing, and allow the State Roads Commission to assign priority to all four projects as it might determine.

Del. Allen asks parallel bridge

ANNAPOLIS —Del. Aris T. Allen (R. Anne Arundel) announced his support Wednesday of new proposed legislation for construction of a parallel bay bridge.

"I don't believe there is any responsible person who would deny the need for another bridge," Dr. Allen stated. "The real disagreement stems from where the new span should be built.

"After careful consideration of all the facts, I am convinced that the construction cost, maintenance factors and traffic flow patterns weigh heavily in favor of a parallel span."

He estimated that a northern bridge would cost $165 million, a southern span $119 million and a parallel bridge would cost $73 million.

Dr. Allen thus joins other Anne Arundel County spokesmen in favoring a parallel bridge.

Wild game dinner set

WASHINGTON

With Buffalo, bear, deer, elk and Bahama mania on the menu, the Overseas Hunt and Fish Club's seventh annual bass dinner is set for Feb. 25 at the Presidential Arms.

The club, comprising 25 of Washington's enthusiastic sportsmen, works to encourage clean outdoor activity and to expand recreational programs for youth.

* * *

THIS YEAR the clubs will honor at the dinner Dr. Euphemia L. Haynes, president of the D.C. Board of Education.

The dinner will be followed with dancing.

The club has had among its honorees in previous years Andrew Hatcher, former White House assistant press-secretary; Dr. James Nabrit, president of Howard University, and members of the Washington Redskins football team.

NAACP backs housing bills

The Maryland State Conference of NAACP Branches, will have a large representation of citizens attending the legislation at Annapolis all during the session to "stimulate the House and Senate representatives to be true to the Constitution that they swore to uphold," Dr. Lillie M. Jackson announced today.

The voters of our state, regardless of race, are interested in equal rights for all citizens so that democracy for which our Constitution stands will make Maryland one of the banner states of the nation," the Baltimore chapter President said.

"We want our soldiers overseas to know that their sacrifices of lives and limb will not be in vain. If we can die for democracy abroad, we must live in a democracy at home so that the world will know that our country practices what it preaches," Dr. Jackson continued.

Voters throughout the state should sacrifice their time to attend these legislative sessions in Annapolis to assure our representatives of our interest, the nationally known civil rights leader declared.

"As citizens we must be willing to pay increased taxes and sacrifice many of our pleasures in order that our state may carry out its program for the benefit of all its people," she concluded.

NDEA English institute slated at Morgan State

Applications for he NDEA Institute in English at Morgan State College will be accepted until March 20, Dr. J. Welfred Holmes, director, announced today.

The institute, which will be held June 19—July 28, befor junior and senior high school teachers who have had a minimum of three years of successful teaching experience, will be a featured program in the American opera "Porgy and Bess" on a tour of Europe, the Middle East, South America and Russia.

Also singing leading roles will be Phyllis Frankel, Bette Hankin and William Brown.

Miss Frankel, a soprano, and Miss Hankin, a mezzo soprano, are both well known to Baltimore audiences for their many performances in Baltimore Civic Opera Company productions.

PALMA dinner at Emerald Gardens

More than 200 special guests at the Annapolis Avenue-Lafayette Market Association will gather Tuesday evening at the Emerald Gardens, 4210 Primrose Ave., to pay homage to a "friend of children."

Mrs. Marion Banfield, social worker with the Family and Children Society who devotes her spare time to keeping children "constructively occupied," will be cited by PALMA, headed by Herman Katkow.

Bernard Nachlas, PALMA community relations director, said following the dinner and presentation entertainment will be lead by Billy Davis, ventriloquist.

* * *

For the past 14 years the Avenue businessmen's group has selected an outstanding citizen who have made vital contributions to the welfare of the community without thought of personal gain.

Mrs. Banfield, a longtime fiery defender of children and a zealous advocate of complete equality, is the wife of Dr. Gilbert L. Banfield and mother of three children.

Active in numerous community service organizations and a "perrennial PTA president, Mrs. Banfield is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mable Allen, two sons, a daughter, seven grandchildren, three sisters, three brothers and other relatives.

Birthday Tributes

HODGES — A Birthday Tribute to our beloved friend, LILLIAN, whose birthday was February 22, passed December 16, 1966
I am home in heaven, dear one
O' so happy and so bright
There is a perfect joy and beauty
In this everlasting light.
All the pain and grief is over
Ever restless tossing passed
I am not at peace forever
Safely home in heaven at last.
Friends—CLARA LANE, MARY CHESTER, LILLIAN B. CORNISH.

MELTON — A Birthday Tribute to our loved one SPC. EARL MELTON, JR., on his Birthday February 23, passed August 2, 1966.
If I could have my fondest wish.
The most wonderful in the world today.
I would wrap it up in loving words
And send it on its way
And when your birthday morn will dawn
I'll whisper soft and low;
"Please, God, let me have my loved one
Back, because I miss him so.

In Memoriams

BAILEY — In loving memory of our dear beloved wife, mother and grandmother, MARY BEATRICE, who passed away February 26, 1959;
You left a beautiful memory,
Sorrow too great to be told.
But to us who loved and lost you
Your memory will never grow old.
No one knows how much we miss you.
No one knows the bitter pain.
We have suffered, since we lost you.
Our life will never be the same.
There is not a day dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
Gone, but not forgotten.
LOVING HUSBAND, CHILDREN and GRANDCHILDREN

BILLUPS — In loving memory of our dear mother, grandmother and mother-in-law, DAISY, who passed away February 26, 1964
Someday, sometime my eyes shall see.
The face I love so well.
Someday I clasp your loving hand,
And never say farewell.
God gave us strength to bear it,
And courage to fight the blow;
But what it was to part from you
No one will ever know.
MRS. VONETTA BOYER and SONS

EVANS — In loving memory of our dear one, LEROY EVANS, who passed away February 25, 1961
Today our hearts are very heavy,
Six years have passed since that sad day;
When the one beloved was called away.
There is a face that is missing,
A voice we cannot hear,
A smile that we'll always remember
May God grant someday that we'll meet again.

SHELTON — In loving memory of my dear wife, SADIE SHELTON, who passed away February 23, 1958
What would I give her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again,
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more
In Heaven, that happy life.
I miss you no less as the time passes on
That I did on the day of your go-by,
For absence can never close the door of my heart.
And the lamp of my love is still glowing.
