Roy Hamilton, heading 'Smart Affairs' revue

Roy Hamilton, dubbed the "Golden Boy With the Golden Voice," will be one of the key attractions April 2 when Larry Steele's unique, and internationally famous "Smart Affairs Revue" comes to the Lyric for a two-show performance.

Hamilton, who was rocketed into international entertainment prominence by such tunes as "Ebb Tide," "Unchained Melody," "You'll Never Walk Alone," and numerous other top hits, is but one of the brilliant talents in an unforgettable package making up the revue.

Larry Steele, a fixture on the Atlantic City Steele Pier at the height of the resort season, is one of showdom's most prolific producers and directors.

IS ADDITION to Roy, other classic acts built around the high-kicking, glittering chorus girls include the "Constellations," the "Strong Brothers," Caribbean folk singers and dancers, vocalist Marian Taylor and a family of sensational acrobats.

The Revue, making its first Baltimore appearance in more than two decades, has been described as the "most unique aggregation of beauty and talent ever assembled under a single roof."

Maurice (Hot Rod) Hulbert Jr., the city's leading disc jockey and master showman, is sponding the colorful production.

HOT ROD, an expert on entertainment appeal, has declared that "a lot of people want to see this production."

He said this observation is based on the brisk ticket sales and the fact that modern Baltimore entertainment seekers have never had an opportunity to view the popular revue.

"It's a real class production, and I hope the two shows will provide an opportunity for everybody interested in this unique brand of entertainment to see it."

For ticket and reservation call MU 5-5080. In addition to the Lyric, tickets are available at Green's Record Shop Harford Ave. and Lanvale St.; Modern Music House Mondawmin Concourse; and three of Your Record Shops.

Chubby Checker to kickoff 'The 67 Set'

Twist King Chubby Checker, whose new dance called the "Karate" is gaining popularity across the nation, will appear via videotape during the premiere of The '67 Set With Kerby Scott on Saturday, March 25, at 11:30 p.m., in color on WBAL-TV 11.

Set in an informal atmosphere The '67 Set will combine live dance combos, go go girls and special guest entertainers, such as the famous Platters, who will perform their current popular hit entitled "With This Ring", in addition to several of their all-time favorites.

Kerby Scott will be joined by various local personalities, such as columnists, college students, clergy and "show biz" people, who will discuss topics of widespread interest, including the draft, politics, entertainment and local issues.

that of three others to this disputed board are expected to reach the Senate by Monday.

Among them is James A. Johns Jr., the board's secretary-treasurer, who rebuffed Sen. Welcome in her request for a copy of the board's examination papers and whose appointment will be fought by her and Sen. Mitchell.

After two days of wrangling and the acceptance of minor amendments and rejection of major ones the Senate passed the already House approved tax reform bill shortly before midnight Thursday by a 35-8 vote.

This bill returns a high of $85,000,000 to Baltimore in state aid, and sets a graduated income tax of from 2 to 5 percent on taxable incomes.

Opposing arguments, for the most part, centered on what several of the senators representing counties on the small receiving end termed "inequities of the bill."

IN OTHER Assembly action Thursday, the Senate gave final approval to the governor's billion - dollar budget.

Also passed by that chamber was Senate Joint Resolution 42, sponsored by Sen. Meyer M. Emanuel (D. Prince George's), which requests that the board of regents of the University of Maryland change the name of Maryland State College to the University of Maryland—Eastern Branch.

The resolution was sent to the House of Delagates for its action.

A Senate Bill 511 was passed and sent to the House to set up 19 special deputies in Baltimore's sheriff's office, with a $6,000 a year salary each with one sergeant special deputy at $7,000.

On the House side, they passed SB 121, by Senators Welcome, Mitchell and 11 other senators, which would make it unlawful for an employer to intimidate an employee who complains to the Interracial Commission of unfair labor practices.

The now enacted bill sets up penalties of from $25 to $500 for each violation.

AMONG A flock of House bills passed by that chamber was one to increase from $25 to $35 a day the pay of election judges in Baltimore City.

The bill also provides that an additional $15 will be paid, if the judges take two hours of instructions prior to an election.

Del. Troy Brailey (D. 4th Balto.), continuing his campaign to bring tax relief to homeowners forced to pay taxes on the ground they do not own, introduced two bills in the House.

One HB 1147 would void all pay property taxes.

leases for more than 15 years, which require the lessee to

A companion HB 1148 would provide for separate assessment of property and of improvements for taxing purposes.

Both are likely, because of the lateness of the session, to be sent to the Assembly's Legislative Council for study this summer, preparatory to introduction next year.

western Station, waited in vain for his mommy to return, as police tried to find Baltimore relatives of the slain woman.

Police believed she had two more children, aged 12 and two, but could not determine their whereabouts immediately.

By Wednesday their mother existed as only a chalk sketch (to show the location of body) on the Williamses porch, with a circle drawn in the head and face, witnesses told police, they heard a loud bang and the assailant fled.

A COURAGEOUS elderly white lady, on whose porch the beating began, gave police the best description of the incident.

Mrs. Della Scarantio, 61, said that about 8 p.m. she heard a commotion out front.

When she opened the front door and turned on the light, she saw the victim lying on the porch next door, with a man standing over her kicking her head and face.

Mrs. Scarantio shouted, "Stop it, you're killing her," but the attacker ignored her and continued kicking, the eyewitness told police.

Mrs. Scarantio said the assailant pointed an object at the victim's head and she heard a gunshot.

The man then ran down the block and disappeared in an alley.

WILLIAM H. WILLIAMS said he and his wife were in a back room of their house when they heard the commotion.

Mr. Williams recalled the next day that he was completing his income tax and thought "The noise was the children in the front room."

Running to the front room, they heard a scream of, "Call the police."

Mrs. Williams said she saw the victim pursued from the next door porch past the front of their house and up on the porch.

Mr. Williams said they saw the scuffle "and we called the police."

Hearing the gunshot, they also called an ambulance.

Police arrived just as the man disappeared, the Williamses said. The beaten woman lay on her stomach, unconscious and bleeding from injuries of the head.

AT UNION Memorial she was admitted in critical condition and treated for a gunshot wound of the back of the head, police said.

Northeastern District police recovered a lady's black hat and belt from the scene, and, besides the spent shell, they found a live 22 cal. shell behind the door sill.

A neighbor of Mrs. Boyd's on Mt. Holly St., Mrs. Jean Byrd, told police that the victim had moved from her and her husband's house about a week ago and at the present time was separated from her husband.

Mrs. Byrd provided information on the Boyd children, but could not say where they lived at present.

At the Mt. Holly St. address, Homicide detectives discovered women's clothing and children's toys that had been dumped into an alley.

POLICE ALSO indicated that a warrant for the victim's husband, Harry Henry Boyd, 34, of Mt. Holly St., had been obtained for larceny of a .22 cal. automatic pistol on March 16.

The Mt. Holly St. address, in West Baltimore, was turned up in an effort to locate the suspect but to no avail, police reported.

The husband was described on teletype as about five feet, six inches tall, 150 pounds, with a heavy mustache and three upper front teeth missing.

Police said that besides the car found at the scene, two other automobiles were registered in the wife's name.

RELATIVES REACHED Thursday said the deceased is survived by five children; an 18-year-old son from a previous marriage and four children aged 12, 4, 3 and 2 years. She is also survived by a brother and sister; her father, Wilmore White and grandmother, Clara Bell, of Baltimore.

Funeral arrangements were not complete at press time.

Wilt voted MVP honor

NEW YORK — Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia 76ers, has been named winner of the 12th annual Podoloff Trophy, (known formerly as the President's Cup) as the most valuable player in the National Basketball Association.

This is the association's official award determined in a poll of all the players on the ten teams.

Chamberlain drew 80 out of 108 possible first place votes and his name appeared on 90 percent of the ballots. The players list their first three preferences in order.

Wilt is a repeat winner, having been voted the honor last year for leading the 76ers to the regular season Eastern Division title. He first won the MVP award in 1960 during his rookie year in the association.

CHAMBERLAIN'S Philadelphia team this season won more games than any other in the history of the NBA.

This season the Philadelphia pivot ace scored fewer points with a lower pergame average than at any time in his career. The difference in Wilt this year, however, is that he learned to space his shots judiciously, to use his teammates and set up their scoring, to hustle on defense — in short, to become the complete basketball player.

"We were a good team" — says Hal Greer, the nine-year veteran guard of the 76ers, "but when Wilt came to us two years ago we became a great team — the best in the history of the NBA."
