ROVING REPORTER

'Fighting nurse' battles against liquor law change

By STERLING PAIGE

A bill came before the House of Delegates recently that would change the Baltimore liquor law.

Under its terms, protesters of license applications must appear in person before the Liquor Board to make such protests.

Present laws state that 51 percent of the residents within 200 feet of the proposed outlet may petition against it.

Affidavits are acceptable in lieu of personal appearances.

* * *

ONE OF the loudest voices raised against the House bill was that of Mrs. Elsie Bumbry, 2001 Grantley Ave.

A public health nurse for 13 years, Mrs. Bumbry is somewhat of a veteran at opposing the threat of additional liquor outlets in residential areas.

With other members of the Towsanda Neighborhood Association in covering her area, she has successfully fought against a tavern within sight of her home.

Under the present law, the association was able to block the proposed license transfer to the 4200 block Reisterstown Rd.

"WHEN I heard about this bill, (HB 807 and a companion bill, 858) I went up in the air," Mrs. Bumbry said.

"This is a sneaky way to bring about an alcoholic invasion of Baltimore neighborhoods, despite the wishes of the residents."

With help from friends and neighbors, the angry nurse drew up and sent out over 200 circulars alerting citizens to protest passage of the bills.

The Bumbry phone buzzed with calls to State Senators and Delegates, urging defeat of the proposed laws.

* * *

THE AFRO City Desk was swamped with calls and letters

MRS. ELSIE BUMBRY
in a loud voice

asking for help in alerting citizens to rally to the cause.

Telegrams, letters and phone calls from all over the city poured into Annapolis, especially to members of the City Delegation and its chairman, Murray Abramson (D., 4th).

The bills at this time have been referred back to the House Alcoholic Beverages Committee and final aproval is doubtful.

* * *

MRS. BUMBRY has two sons, Ronald Weaver and James Bumbry.

She is a member of St. Ambrose's Catholic Church. She attended Coppin State College and is a graduate of the University of Md. School of Nursing.

Very active politically, she is a member of the Fourth District Democratic Organization and president of the Valiant Women's Club.

"I became a Democrat," she said, "after one serious mistake as a Republican — I voted for Eisenhower."

She worked with the League of Women Voters who waged the successful battle to pass the Bard redistricting plan.

Since January she has made three trips to Annapolis to watch proceedings in the Legislature.

Sens. Welcome, Malkus join on successful bill

ANNAPOLIS — An eye-brow-raising combination of two senators have joined to co-sponsor an Interracial Commission bill through both the Senate and House.

They are Senators Verda F. Welcome (D. 4th Balto.) and Frederick C. Malkus Jr. (D. Worcester), the latter a veteran foe of civil rights bills.

This SB 112, however, has a somewhat different slant. It provides that the Interracial Commission must disclose information to the General Assembly or other legislative bodies.

Having earlier won quick approval in the Senate, the bill passed the House Wednesday without a dissenting vote.

Veteran Senate attaches said it was the first time they had seen Senators Welcome and Malkus agree on anything.

Easter pageant in afternoon at stadium

Two local ministers will be involved in the presentation of the 38th annual City-Wide Easter Pageant at Baltimore Stadium.

The Rev. Albert Hammond Sr. of St. James Methodist Church will pronounce the invocation and the benediction, while Chaplain Beaty of Lovely Lane Church will present the prayer.

For the first time in its history the program will be presented at 4 p.m., rather than at sunrise. This has been done as an experiment in response to numerous requests, and because of the very early date of Easter.

The music drama, "Christ Triumphant", traces the events of Holy Week from the entry into Jerusalem through the Resurrection. Music for the program will be furnished by the choir and soloists of the Roland Park Presbyterian Church, under the direction of David John Lowe, organist and choirmaster.

No dope, sir

The trial of James Quaries Jr., charged with the sale of narcotics, began in Criminal Court Tuesday morning.

The indictment was read and the State went into its prosecution of the case.

As State's witnesses were sworn in and testimony began, the courtroom audience bent eager ears to hear how the accused was trapped.

At the end of testimony from a policeman, words began to buzz between the defendant and the defense attorney.

* * *

THE TRIAL came to an abrupt end as the attorney explained to the judge that the Mr. Quaries in the courtroom was being held on robbery charges.

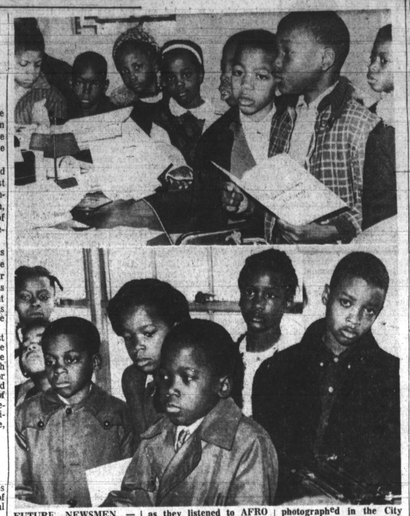
City Jail had sent the wrong Mr. Quaries.

Judge J. Harold Grady did not think it was very funny.

Bayh speaker for D'Alesandro fete

Birch Bayh, U.S. Senator from Indiana, will be the guest speaker at the testimonial dinner honoring the public service records of Thomas J. D'Alesandro, III, president of the City Council.

The attendance at the Monday evenings dinner March 27, at the Civic Center will exceed the original expectations by 800 people, according to Samuel J. Fonte Jr., chairman of the sponsoring Citizens Committee.



FUTURE NEWSMEN — Second graders from Mary Rodman School N. 204, Grantley and Mulberry Sts., were caught off guard as they listened to AFRO Sports Editor Sam Lacy explain how we put this newspaper together. They were photographed in the City Room when they visited the AFRO building last Tuesday.

CORE ready with drive for voters

The Congress of Racial Equality's "Target City" office here is about to launch a voter registration drive in the Second Legislative District.

Aim of the drive is to make voters of as many of the unregistered colored residents of the district as possible, according to Stuart Wechsler, political action coordinator.

Wechsler is assisted in coordinating the drive by Edmund Boston.

Wechsler told the AFRO CORE will support candidates in the municipal elections this fall "whose commitments remain with the people, the black people of the Second District.

"The candidate we support will have to be sufficiently independent that he speaks for black people in general and specifically those of the Second District."

* * *

CORE currently is seeking more volunteer workers funds to support the drive. Interested persons may call 732-8217.

Registration will continue until August 7 then resume again after the September primary.

CORE has been talking to various leaders in the district about candidates but none have been picked to be backed by the civil rights group, the AFRO was told.

New place for teens to go Friday nights

Teenagers in the Baltimore area have a new place to go on Friday evenings, according to Dundalk Methodists.

"The Kitchen Door," a coffee house and drop-in center for teens from 15 to 19, will open Friday evening, March 31, in the social hall of the Dundalk Methodist Church, Dunaran and Mornington Rds., southeast of Baltimore city.

"We really haven't had much of anything to do before now," says Pat Harrison, a teenage member of the planning board, "It's a place for all the teens to come for fun on Friday evenings."

* * *

THERE WILL be an admission charge of 25 cents for entertainment and refreshments. Entertainment for the first night will include Celeste Dalmario, vocalist, and the "We Twos."

Chaperones will be present and smoking will be allowed in the area.

The Rev. Everett G. Miller Sr., is pastor of Dundalk Church.

Willard Smith, 8, in need of blood

An 8-year-old boy, Willard Smith, a patient at Johns Hopkins Hospital, is in dire need of blood, Dr. A. Derivan, physician, announced today.

The youngster is being treated for a serious blood deficiency, Dr. Derivan reported and needs one pint of fresh blood per day.

Willard has been getting the precious fluid from the Blood Bank, Dr. Derivan added, but the supply is dwindling and in critical need of replenishment.

Donors are urged to call the blood bank at 955-6500, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily and arrange to donate blood in the name of Willard Smith or Dr. Derivan.

NEVER BE WORRIED WITH AN EMPTY OIL TANK AGAIN!

HOW OLD IS YOUR EXISTING HEATING EQUIPMENT?
• Uncomfortable?
• Inefficient?
Replace Now — Save Money
LOW BUDGET TERMS
Call for more information.
Get a FREE no obligation estimate.
M. R. SEGALL & O_2, INC.
MU. 5-1234

Senate considering House okayed wage bill

ANNAPOLIS — An all-embracing minimum wage bill, okayed by the House of Delegates, now faces Senate action in the waning hours of this General Assembly session.

The HB 560 proposes coverage of an estimaged 50,000 Maryland workers not now under federal law.

Sponsored by Del. Troy Brailey (D. 4th Balto.), the bill provides a minimum wage of $1.15 an hour beginning June 1 and advancing to a minimum of $1.30 an hour June 1 of next year.

Among those covered would be such workers as those employed in restaurants, cafes, taverns, drive ins, drugstores, hospitals, nursing and convalescant homes, motion picture theatres, hotels, motels, parking lots, car wash and taxicab companies and outside salesmen compensated on a commission basis.

The bill passed the house Tuesday evening.

The vote on the bill showed 140 for, 2 against and 26 not voting. Only 4 members of the 43-member Baltimore City delegation did not vote for the measure to increase the income of workers at the

(Continued on Page 23)

OIC sets up speakers' unit

A speakers forum has been set up by Opportunities Industrialization Center to fill a growing demand for information about the new self-help vocational training program at McCulloh and Mosher Sts.

Robert Bagley, acting executive director of OIC, said the corps of speakers represent a cross section of persons who are involved in the training project.

"They will be available to speak at churches, clubs, fraternity meetings — wherever people get together," Bagley said.

Among the speakers are Mrs. Betts Foy, a local teacher, and supervisor of training for OIC; Mr. Robert Holt, a local businessman, Mrs. Elmont Drayton, a highouse engineer.

Mrs. Christine Fauntleroy, a federal employee, the Rev. Arthur Payne, pastor of Enon Baptist Church, and chairman of the board of directors of OIC; the Rev. James L. Moore, pastor of Sharon Baptist Church and OIC vice chairman.

Speaking engagements can be arranged by calling LA. 5-1617 from 6 to 10 p.m., Monday through Thursday, or writing Opportunities Industrialization Center, 1371 N. Stricker St., Bagley said.

More than 90 persons have enrolled in pre-vocational courses. Registration is continuous from 6 to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday, according to Mrs. Foy.

The training supervisor said at present prevocational courses are being taught at the Baptist Training Center, Mosher and McCulloh Sts.

Job training classes ranging from electricity to typing will be taught as additional facilities and equipment is acquired, she said.

ALBERT LARICHIUTA
representing the Metropolitan Life
INSURANCE COMPANY
NEW YORK, N.Y.
Life and Personal Accident and Health Insurance
720 Mapleton Ave., PE. 5-7500

Ask Your Druggist For
KERR'SKELL-A-KOUGH
The Medicine with the Nasty Taste
For Coughs Due To Colds
Used in Balto. for 30 years

To All Graduates Of The Former Carver High School of Towson, Md.
There will be a meeting at Towsontown Jr. High School on April 9, 1967 from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. at 938 N. York Rd. for reorganization of the Alumni Assoc.
Refer all questions to:
1. Clarence Frazier — 945-0933
2. Leroy Dyson — 945-5070
3. Thomas Scovens — 945-2234

Woman in raid gets 2 years

A Criminal Court conviction on charges of violation of narcotic laws netted Miss Lillian Bradford, 24, 700 block McCleary St. two years in Correctional Institute for Women.

Similar charges against a second defendant, arrested with Miss Bradford on Feb. 8, were dismissed by Judge J. Harold Grady.

At the Tuesday trial, prosecuted by Asst. State's Atty. James F. Garrity, it was revealed that 17 capsules of heroin, syringes, needles, and other dope paraphernalia were seized in the raid on an apartment in the 600 block Conway St.

The dismissed man, who lived at the Conway St. address, denied knowledge of the narcotics and equipment.

THE BRADFORD woman, who had no prior police record, declined to take the stand to testify.

Narcotics officers testified she had fresh needle marks on her arm.

Following her conviction, she admitted to Judge Grady she had been using the needle for heroin "about four months."

After hearing sentence pronounced, she broke down and was led screaming from the courtroom.

'Fox Hunters' cabaret shifted Easter

The Saturday night cabaret by the Fox Hunters, Limited, originally scheduled for a hall at Liberty Hgts. and Garrison Blvd., has been switched, Jerome Scruggs, business manager announced today (Friday).

Mr. Scruggs said the affair has been moved to the Dixie Ballroom at Gwynn Oak Park to accommodate an overwhelming attendance which could not be handled by facilities of the original site.

All tickets sold for the original location, will be honored, Mr. Scruggs added.

C.O.D. OIL CO.
OR. 5-1818
Pay Cash and Save
$15.00
Per 100 Gallons
Tax Included
WE OFFER PREMIUM QUALITY FUEL AT A SAVING

Penal officers present needed reform measures

ANNAPOLIS — A committee of penal institution officials urged here Tuesday the adoption of an eight-point program to upgrade the state's corrective system and eliminate "overcrowding conditions."

The group, headed by C. William White, acting commissioner of corrections, also said a maximum security institution is sorely needed in the Baltimore area.

A Legislative Council Committee was told:

"It is the belief of this committee that the above mentioned conditions (overcrowded) are the product of an archaic system, lacking in direction, organization and insufficient funds.

"The Department of Correction proposes a change from an archaic prison system to a treatment oriented program, which will afford needed research of the criminal to our own department and interested outside agencies so that maximum effort can be put forth for the return of the inmate to society as a productive citizen."

* * *

THE GROUP RECOMMENDED:

1. Rapid and in-depth initial classification of inmates through the use of professional and comprehensive testing programs.

2. Assignment of inmates to institutions programmed to meet the needs of individual inmates.

3. Continual programming and evaluation of inmates for return to society as productive citizens.

4. Vocation training to be implemented by state use industries.

* * *

TO ACCOMPLISH these objectives, the group said recognition must be given to the following areas:

1. Correctional officers must be given the same jurisdiction as law enforcement officers.

2. Laws must be passed to protect and strengthen the correctional officer.

3. Centralized correctional officer training must be established immediately.

4. Salaries and benefits must be maintained at levels acceptable to the calibre of individual required to accomplish the above objectives.

"The urgency of implementing this reorganization is of the utmost importance" the committee was told. "The plan is a sound plan to accomplish what is necessary."

Sen. George E. Snyder (D. Allegany Garrett - Washington) heads the Legislative Council Committee.

ROBERT W. MATTHEWS 3rd
In new post

Bob Matthews promoted by WBAL-TV 11

Robert W. (Bob) Matthews 3rd, veteran journalist and television newscaster, was named Thursday as news manager for WBAL-TV 11 News. He replaces Jed Duval, who resigned to take another position.

Mr. Matthews, 47, assumes his new position with an extensive background in journalism and broadcasting. He was a member of the editorial staff of the AFRO-AMERICAN newspapers for 14 years and has been an on-the-air newscaster at WBAL-TV for three years.

In his new post Mr. Matthews will head a task force of news editors, reporters, and cameramen for the area's largest news broadcasting organization.

AS NEWS manager for the National Broadcasting Systems affiliate, the veteran journalist becomes the first person of color to achieve this plateau in the broadcasting industry in this area and possibly the nation.

Prior to his promotion, effective March 22, Mr. Matthews was City Hall reporter for Channel 11, a political specialist, and permanent member of the Maryland News Conference, seen each Sunday on WBAL.

* * *

HE IS A native of Detroit, Mich., and a product of Layne College (Tenn.) and Wayne University in Detroit.

Mr. Matthews is married to the former Miss Vashti Murphy and they are the parents of five children and live at 3409 Grantley Rd.

The newsman is a member of the national journalistic society, Sigma Delta Ki, and is a member of the board of governors of the Baltimore Press Reporters Association.

Donald B. Hill gets personnel post with SS

Donald B. Hill, formerly director of employment and job development for the Philadelphia Urban League was appointed a personnel management specialist at the Social Security Administration Headquarters this week.

Mr. Hill will serve as special assistant to the chief of the Standards and Methods Branch in the Office of Administration.

The job involves planning and developing personnel programs at the Baltimore Headquarters and in the more than 700 social security district and branch offices and the 6 payment centers outside Baltimore.

Hill's new position is set at GS-14 ($15,102).

* * *

HILL HAS been with the Philadelphia Urban League for the past 4½ years, working primarily in manpower utilization and training. He was active in implementing the Urban League's Federal antipoverty contracts.

He also served as a community liaison in selected programs with the U.S. Department of Labor and the Office of Economic Opportunity. Hill has also worked as an employment counselor with the Pennsylvania State Employment Service, and as an administrative assistant with the U.S. Army.

He earned his B.S. from Morgan State College in 1951, and an M.A. from Temple University Philadelphia in 1959.

ESCAPE ROUTE — Escape jump from Courthouse of prisoner who was being arraigned on burglary charge Wednesday is pointed out by passerby. Scene is St. Paul St. entrance of the Courthouse, where police said Stanley Faison, 23, made leap from the second floor men's room window fifteen feet to the pedestal below. Witnesses said the force of the leap threw the man off the pedestal in a somersault to the steps at right. He then ducked inside the courthouse again and later disappeared.

NEW MAN —Former Philly Urban Leaguer Donald B. Hill is sworn-in as a personnel management specialist (GS-14) at Social Security Administration Headquarters by Bernard Cronin, assistant personnel manager. Looking on is Richard Cooper, chief of standards and methods branch, with who Mr. Hill will work.

Marriage bill signing today

ANNAPOLIS — The historic repeal of Maryland's age-old ban on mixed marriages is to be among the bills signed into law today (Friday) by Gov. Spiro T. Agnew.

It will be among several in a bill signing session in the reception room beside the governor's State House Office, with former Gov. J. Millard Tawes in attendance.

Heading the array, beginning at 9:30 a.m., will be Gov. Agnew's signing of the Constitutional Convention bill.

$50
That's right, each and every week, the AFRO pays a total of $50 for news tips. YOU can share in this prize fund. Just be FIRST to call AFRO City Desk, MUlberry 5-6015 as soon as you witness a newsworthy event. Bring photos of news events to City Desk and qualify for a special prize.

NEED FUEL OIL?
PREMIUM QUALITY—REASONABLE PRICES
Clean, Safe, Economical
COMPLETE BURNER SERVICE
"The Place To Call"
C. R. HAYES & SON FUEL OIL
448-1622

DR. JAMES D. CARR
Wishes to thank his friends, relatives, and neighbors for their acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, Mass cards, and beautiful floral offerings, during the illness and at the death of his sister,
JULIA ELIZABETH CARR
He wishes especially to thank the members of Grace Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Robert Newbold, the Rev. Edward Carroll, Father John Patrick and Dr. F. K. Adams.

MARYLAND TAKES FIRST FAIR HOUSING STEP

(STORY IN COLUMN 6)

Clay Taking Case To Supreme Court
(STORY SPORTS PAGE)

Baltimore Afro-American
Seventy-fifth Anniversary

Project That Gets Job Done, Saves $$
(STORY ON PAGE 11)

75th Year, No. 74 Copyright 1967 by THE AFRO-AMERICAN Co. for all material previously printed in the current National Edition. BALTIMORE, MD., APRIL 1, 1967 32 PAGES ★★★★★★★ 15 CENTS

KILLER GAVE WOMAN BULLET AS 'PRESENT'

Teen Victim Of After-Party Spat

Dixie must mix schools this fall

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday ordered all grades in all public schools in the Deep South desegregated by this fall.

It decreed "a unitary school system in which there are no colored schools and no white schools, but just schools.

"School segregation is 'inherently unequal' by any name and wherever located."

The 12-judge court, in an 8-4 decision, ordered boards of education to give prospective students a choice of schools in the system, and to use facilities, including buses, as feasible to help get each to the school of his choice.

The ruling covers Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas and Florida, as well as the Canal Zone.

* * *

THE COURT RULED:

Pupils must be assigned to schools in all grades, including kindergarten, without regard to race or color starting with the 1967-68 school year next September.

No student can be excluded from any school activity, including athletics, because of race or color.

All school facilities and meeting rooms which are open to non-students "shall be open to all persons."

Race or color must not be a factor in hiring, assigning or promoting teachers, except to correct the effects of previous faculty and staff segregation.

THE COURT said it was not condoning neighborhood schools in the north and west which practice de facto segregated neighborhoods.

But it said that no cases involving "that sort of school system" had been brought

—See 6 Dixie, Page 2

City Hit Hard By Viet Deaths

By STERLING A. PAIGE

"Obstacles. Obstacles of prejudice, discrimination here at home and frustrations, brought about by the color of their skins, often cause our youths to seek their place in the service."

The Rev. Sidney Daniels, pastor of Emmanuel Christian Community Church, commented thusly this week as the happiness and hopes of several Baltimore families were shattered by bad news from Vietnam.

Four young City Marines were among six Marylanders whose deaths were announced by the Defense Department.

The Marines were:

Lance Cpl. Raymond Macklin, 21, 3235 Normount Ave.

Cpl. Ralph J. Smith, 19, 3707 Harlem Ave.

Cpl. Eugene J. Payne 3rd, 21, 3818 Pall Mall Rd.

Pfc. Clarence J. Burley, 20, 107 Wheeler Ave.

CPL. SMITH had been a member of Emmanuel Christian for most of his 19 years. He sang on the Sanctuary Choir, the young people's choir.

News of Ralph's death saddened the minister. Word of the other deaths added to his sorrow, even as it did to the community.

"In spite of all, our youths feel this is their country, without question," the Rev. Mr. Daniels said.

"They serve their country with valor and without question. They fight for it; they die for it."

* * *

LANCE CPL. Macklin was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Macklin. An Edmondson High 1963 graduate, he was drafted into the Marine Corps weeks later.

He was rated a good student and was a member of the wrestling squad.

He was due a discharge within a few weeks and would have finished his Vietnam tour next week.

"They kept him alive all this time, then sent him into combat his last six weeks," said the Marine's brother, Henry, a former Army paratrooper.

Now 24, he served with the 82nd Airborne Division three years.

"My last 60 days in service, they sent me to the Dominican Republic and I almost didn't make it home," Macklin said.

"I think it's terrible to send a man into the combat zone just before time to come home.

"Raymond was a quiet one. Most of the time you could find him home. He was real close to my mother. She took it pretty hard."

"My brother wrote often, said he was tired of the war."

L/Cpl. Macklin is survived by his

—See City hit hard, Page 22

Cpl. RALPH SMITH

Cpl. EUGENE PAYNE

Pfc. CLARENCE J. BURLEY

LANCE Cpl. RAYMOND MACKLIN

Foster son went despite warning

Teenager 'Present'

A young junior high school student and foster child was stabbed to death in the street just after he left a teenage party in the 1000 block of Abbot Ct. Wednesday night. His foster parents, according to police, were notified of the youth's death shortly after it occurred by a mysterious caller who identified herself only as "Sister Williams."

Central District police arrived on the scene in the 1000 block of Stirling St., near the intersection with Aisquith St., about 11 p.m. to find the victim lying face down and unconscious.

The teenager, with gaping stab wounds of the left chest, was identified as John M. Williams, 15 of the 4000 block Fairview Ave., an eighth grade student at Garrison Junior High School.

He was pronounced dead on the scene by an ambulance crew.

Police are questioning a youth, described as 20 years old, in the incident.

* * *

ACCORDING TO his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Page, the young boy was cautioned against going to a dance on the east side earlier in the day.

The Pages told police John had asked permission to go to the dance and they refused, cautioning him not to go on the east side.

The youth, on spring vacation from school, left home about noon the day of the stabbing, they said, with a dollar bill and saying he was going to look for employment.

The foster parents related they had no idea where he was until the call from "Sister Williams about 11:30 p.m.

MR. PAGE said the caller

—See teenager, Page 22

Norman Lee Wiley was convicted of first degree murder Tuesday after two witnesses detailed how he tossed his victim a bullet as "a present" then alternately pumped several into her body and fired at them.

The 32-year-old Wiley, of the 900 block Bethune Rd. and Annapolis, did not take the stand to deny he gunned down Mrs. Shirley Butler outside the Bethune Rd. home last Sept. 11.

Medical reports showed bullets had entered 25-year-old mother of three's chest, heart, left lung, abdomen and brain.

Five spent cartridges and three live bullets were found by police.

* * *

INCRIMINATING testimony was offered by Elroy Jones, 700 block S. Hanover St., brother of the slain woman, and Mrs. Lucy Johnson, a neighbor and friend of the deceased.

Both said they were present when the shooting occurred, Mrs. Johnson told of seeing Wiley, a friend of Mrs. Butler, hiding behind some hedges just before the incident.

According to testimony, an argument had taken place between Mrs. Butler and Wiley earlier in the day.

Sometime after 2 a.m. on the morning of the eleventh, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Johnson and Mr. Jones were sitting on the steps drinking beer, it was testified.

* * *

MRS. JOHNSON said Wiley came up, grabbed a can of beer, opened and drank it.

"He then threw a bullet at Shirley saying, 'Here is a present for you,'" she testified.

Both witnesses said the defendant backed up, picked up

—See 'Present', Page 2

Letters From Vietnam

This column will run excerpts from letters written home by servicemen in Vietnam. Names of the servicemen will be withheld upon request but letters must be sent or brought to AFRO. Information cannot be accepted over telephone.

The first letter is from a GI with a sense of humor but luck was not with him:

"I hope this letter comforts you as much as yours do me.

"All of a sudden it's getting hot over here, and I do mean hot. When I first stepped off the plane at Da Nang, I turned 10 shades darker. Now you can just about imagine what I look like.

"Mom, about this coming back . . . I want you to know that I'm scared. Not to the point you can say I'm a coward.

"They keep telling us we are a GI with a sense of humor, but I don't see much of it around here.

"Mom, I'm sorry I ever left home. I'm sorry I ever left the States. I'm sorry I ever left Baltimore. I'm sorry I ever left my room. I'm sorry I ever left my bed. I'm sorry I ever left my mother's cooking. I'm sorry I ever left my dog. I'm sorry I ever left my girl friend. I'm sorry I ever left my job. I'm sorry I ever left my car. I'm sorry I ever left my money. I'm sorry I ever left my clothes. I'm sorry I ever left my shoes. I'm sorry I ever left my socks. I'm sorry I ever left my shirt. I'm sorry I ever left my pants. I'm sorry I ever left my underwear. I'm sorry I ever left my hat. I'm sorry I ever left my coat. I'm sorry I ever left my gloves. I'm sorry I ever left my scarf. I'm sorry I ever left my ear muffs. I'm sorry I ever left my ear plugs. I'm sorry I ever left my eyes. I'm sorry I ever left my nose. I'm sorry I ever left my mouth. I'm sorry I ever left my tongue. I'm sorry I ever left my teeth. I'm sorry I ever left my gums. I'm sorry I ever left my throat. I'm sorry I ever left my neck. I'm sorry I ever left my shoulders. I'm sorry I ever left my back. I'm sorry I ever left my chest. I'm sorry I ever left my heart. I'm sorry I ever left my lungs. I'm sorry I ever left my stomach. I'm sorry I ever left my liver. I'm sorry I ever left my kidneys. I'm sorry I ever left my bladder. I'm sorry I ever left my legs. I'm sorry I ever left my knees. I'm sorry I ever left my ankles. I'm sorry I ever left my feet. I'm sorry I ever left my toes. I'm sorry I ever left my toenails. I'm sorry I ever left my skin. I'm sorry I ever left my blood. I'm sorry I ever left my veins. I'm sorry I ever left my arteries. I'm sorry I ever left my muscles. I'm sorry I ever left my nerves. I'm sorry I ever left my reflexes. I'm sorry I ever left my ears. I'm sorry I ever left my hearing. I'm sorry I ever left my sight. I'm sorry I ever left my sense of humor. I'm sorry I ever left my sense of smell. I'm sorry I ever left my sense of taste. I'm sorry I ever left my sense of touch. I'm sorry I ever left my sense of feeling. I'm sorry I ever left my sense of hearing. I'm sorry I ever left my sense of