Harlem Park tour to draw over 100

More than 100 people, representing a wide range and variety of interest, will convene for a walking tour of the new Harlem Park, sponsored by the Harlem Park Neighborhood Council and the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency, on Saturday April 22, a 10:30 a.m.

The tour will start at Emmanuel Christian Community Church, 1210 W. Lanvale St., where tour participants will be greeted by the Rev. Sidney Daniels, president of the Harlem Park Neighborhood Council, and hear about the Park renewal program from Edgar M. Ewing, associate director of the Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency.

• • •

THE TOUR will then break up into 10 groups, each one led by a team consisting of a neighborhood council member and a member of the BURHA staff. Each group will see a least two of the inner block parks, a distinctive feature of Harlem Park, and visit at least two houses which have been opened to the tour.

The Neighborhood Council guides will be: Mrs. Winifred Ashby, Walter Brown, Charles Curtis Sr. (past president of the council), Mrs. Virginia Ellison, Herman Jews, Henry Marshall, Oliver Taylor, Foster Williams and Miss Helen Wright.

The BURHA guides will be Russell Doupnik, David Gause, Clarence Gross, Mrs. Ruth Hirschmann, Mrs. Mildred Meehan, Arnold Mills, Charles Noon, Donald Purdy, Mrs. Constance White and Allen Zaretsky.

Rites for Mrs. Harris Saturday at Oak St.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1 p.m. at Oak Street AME Church, 2317 N. Howard St., for Mrs. Maggie O. Harris, 75, 2110 Bolton St., who died April 19 at her home.

The Rev. John P. Wilson, pastor, will preside at the services and at graveside rites at Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

• • •

Mrs. Harris was born July 26, 1892, the daughter of the late Amos and Mrs. Mary Jones of Baltimore.

She was educated in the Baltimore schools and was public school teacher over 40 years ago. She was retired in 1922.

Mrs. Harris was a well-known worker in the AME church and a devoted lifelong member of the Oak Street Church.

She was church clerk until her health failed in 1958.

She was also a Sunday School teacher, a Steward, member of the Missionary Society, the Laymen's Board and the Northwest Neighborhood Club.

On Sept. 23, 1920, she was married to William O. Harris who survives her.

Also surviving are her four children: three daughters, Mrs. Mary Walker, Miss Helen Harris, Mrs. May Staton and one son, William O. Harris Jr., and a stepson, Sherridan Harris, all of Baltimore; 11 grandchildren; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Mildred Molock, several nieces and nephews.

Report set on rape case

The Monumental City Bar Association will soon release a 100-page publication of its investigation on justice and the crime of rape in Maryland.

Also, in the booklet will be findings on the statements Joseph C. Howard is alleged to have made public on the subject and the controversy involving him, the Supreme Bench and the Baltimore City Bar Association.

The community long has been concerned about apparent inequalities of justice in rape cases which appear to be based on race.

Many contend the death penalty in rape cases is reserved for colored men when white women are involved.

The press release from the Monumental Bar Association Thurday states:

"In the succeeding months (since September, 1966) we of the Monumental City Bar Association have viewed with concern the reaction of the Bench, Bar, and community.

"This concern was, and is, directed primarily toward the fact that the sensitive areas opened up by the alleged statement are fraught with serious misunderstanding and possibly indicate a need for a serious, objective study of these areas.

"It is for that reason that the Monumental City Bar Association determined some months ago to undertake an independent investigation into the Joseph Howard matter.

"MEMBERS of the Association felt that to publish the results of its investigation before the case was officially closed, would violate the secrecy requirements of the Baltimore City Bar Association's Grievance Committee hearings then in progress.

"The association also attempted to discourage any dialogue between Mr. Howard and the Bench, or any community action that would serve to prevent the Joseph Howard matter from being turned to the good of the community.

"IT WAS of paramount importance to the association that its report be considered in the light in which it was inended, i.e., as an objective and serious work, unmarked by the emotional turn of events of the preceding months.

"The association felt that any further violation of the Baltimore Bar Association's Grievance Committee's secret hearings would only contribute to the lack of understanding by the Bench and Bar of the problems which exist in our society, and particularly the colored community relative to the matter under discussion.

"The association realizes that one of its primary functions is to take the lead in fostering understanding by the Bench and Bar of problems existing in the colored community.

"It is our belief that the published results of this investigation will serve as a first step in doing just that.

"In addition, we hope the general public will be given an insight into some of the unsolved problems in the area of administering criminal justice.

"AND THAT the Bench and Bar will find therein some impetus for the resolution of those problems.

"The association will publish its findings in their entirety for distribution in the near future.

"We have communicated with both the Supreme Bench and the Bar Association of Baltimore City concerning our thinking in the matter.

"Although we do not feel these communications should be made public their intent and purpose were directed toward the problem enunciated here and in our report."

ASHER WELCH
Jamaican League MVP

URIEL DA VEIGA

ART WELCH

Bays look to big things from young Latin quartet

By SAM LACY

Four young Latin athletes are being looked upon as vital cogs in the machinery that may or may not place Baltimore on the professional world's soccer map.

Tow of the four —Art and Asher Welch —are twin brothers from Kingston, Jamaica. The third is Uriel da Veiga of Brazil and the fourth is Guy St. Vil of Port au Prince, Haiti.

Each of the quartet brings topline credentials to the Monumental City representative in the fledgling National Professional Soccer League. And coach Doug Millward is openly confident that the foursome will produce some exciting moments for Memorial Stadium fans.

• • •

THE WELCH twins, who celebrated their 23rd birthday on Sunday when the team opened the season with a 1-0 win over Atlanta, boast numerous honors won in World Cup and international competition.

Two months ago, in the Caribbean and Central American soccer matches, Art was voted the outstanding player of the tournament. He scored two goals in Jamaica's title victory over Cuba.

DURING THE regular schedule, Art and Asher were so dominating in their performance that they alternated weeks, in winning MVP awards while playing for the Jamaica Cavaliers. Art plays at outside right for the Bays and Asher to outside left.

GUY ST. VIL
Haiti's finest

• • •

URIEL, AT 26, is regarded by coach Millward as "the complete soccer player."

Acording to the Bays mentor, the Brazilian international standout "is fast, determined and reads the game magnificently."

While he is curently being used at left halfback, the fleet Brazilian is capable of playing any one of the three halves — left, center or right. He took turns at all three positions on the Brazilian National club which captured the South American championships in 1964-65-66.

ST. VIL was the Baltimore team's final acquisition, and Bays officials were compelled to enter a bidding war for his services.

Considered the finest player in recent Brazilian history, Guy had been sort by several European teams and consented to sign with the locals only after Bays vice president Clive Toy visited him in his homeland.

FOR THE uninformed, soccer is normally played on a grass field or pitch, of not more than 130 yards and not less than 100 yards in length, and not more than 100 yards nor less than 50 yards in width.

The game is played by 11 athletes on each side, some of whom can tao-balance a soccer ball 100 times with one foot or head.

Only the goalkeeper can handle or touch the ball with his hands and then only within his own 18-yard area.

SUBSTITUTES ARE permitted to replace injured players subject to the rules of the league.

In International play, league or cup competition, substitutes are not allowed.

However, under National Professional Soccer League rules, three substitutes, including a goalie, are permitted during a game. Once a player is substituted for, he cannot return to the game.

In many countries where soccer is known as football, the sport attracts upwards of 100,000-150,000 for a single game so intense is the interest.

Not even major league baseball or pro football in American can match the staggering attendance figures in Europe and other continents.

Elder triumphs in UPGA set

Lee Elder's 68 was good enough to win last Sunday's United Pro Golfers Association (UPGA) tournament at Langston. Lou Lipscomb was second with a 73.

Other winners were Art Green and Ron Terry, who tied for first in the Amateur Division with 73 each; and Mrs. Frances May, whose 84 for tops in the women's competition.

The UPGA plans a bigger tourney, with a bigger prize, for June. Baltimore is the proposed site.

AU plays four this week end

American University's Eagles have four baseball games in the next four days, as they start into the weekend with a single game (Friday) at Gallaudet.

Gallaudet will be seeking to even the season's series at one game apiece by taking the Eagles after losing an earlier slugfest on the AU diamond.

The Eagles boasting a 7-9 overall record and a 4-6 record in Mason-Dixon Conference play will probably drop out of contention for a playoff berth with another conference loss, so Gallaudet's encounter is a "must."

• • •

SATURDAY THE AU nine hosts Bridgewater for a twin bill that will start a 2 p.m. The Bridgewater game will be the first meeting of these conference foes this campaign.

Monday the AU men travel to New Jersey for a single game with Rider College. This game will be a Middle Atlantic Conference game and a win can only help the Eagles overall record because they have not scheduled enough games to qualify for the Middle Atlantic Conference playoffs.

In three games earlier this week, American won one and lost two.

Mister, here's your bourbon.
It's made by hand.
With meticulous care.
The hopelessly antiquated, deliciously old-fashioned way.
Made by men who know good corn and won't take less. Who stop making whiskey when their limestone pond drops below the "perfect bourbon water" level.
If you've never tasted hand made Kentucky whiskey, try Henry McKenna. It's bourbon, Mister.
Could be your bourbon.
