Soldier back from Vietnam thinks 'we are losing too many good men'

"We have the best trained forces in the world, but I don't agree with the way this war is being fought.

"We are losing too many of our good men."

Army Sgt. Reginald Yates, 720 N. Augusta Ave., was voicing his feelings about the war in Vietnam, where he has spent the past 12 months.

The 21-year-old sergeant, who returned home ten days ago, is a 1962 Douglass High School graduate. He attended Morgan State College for 2½ years before enlisting in the Army in 1965.

He was sent to Vietnam in April of last year, serving with the 173rd Airborne and the 5th Special Forces.

Following months of combat experiences, "my worst times came from an attack of malaria," he said.

SGT. REGINALD YATES

"Some of the guys who went through training with me have been killed. Truth is, none of us expected to come back."

"We must have a great deal of respect for the enemy," he continued. "They have some primitive weapons and they make the most of what they have."

* * *

BACK TO thoughts of how the war is being run, Sgt. Yates agrees that a full-scale war would cause much suffering to the Vietnamese villagers.

"Lots of innocent people will be hurt, but that's the price you must pay for war.

"We should fight to win. We have the equipment and know-how to fight a better war than we are doing — and win."

* * *

SGT. YATES expects to come out of military service in September, 1968. He plans to return to Morgan State to get a degree in education, then launch a teaching career.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Yates. They are members of Wayland Baptist Church.

Parenthood unit to hear Canfield

The Planned Parenthood Association of Maryland, Inc. will hold its annual meeting on May 11 at 12 noon at The Sheraton Belvedere Hotel, it was announced this week by the president, Arthur Klinefelter.

Cass Canfield, chairman of the Governing Body of International Planned Parenthood Federation, will address the audience on "While There Is Time."

AIRMAN 1st Class Jerome E. Fulton, a 1962 City College graduate, is home on leave after a tour of duty in Japan. A jet engine mechanic, he will attend a special course at General Electric in West Lynn, Mass. Before going to Thailand for a year, Airman Fulton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel (Virginia) Fulton, 1810 N. Caroline St. His brother, Richard Fulton is a member of the AFRO circulation staff.

Douglass graduate wins Silver Star in Vietnam

A 22-year-old graduate of Douglass High School has been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action on a Vietnam battlefield.

James C. Marner, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marner Jr., of 2546 Boyd St., refused to retreat when his outfit came under heavy fire from the Viet Cong, in December of 1966.

One of the men in Sp/4 Marner's patrol was wounded as they attempted to rout out snipers who had been firing at aircraft.

When the lead man in Marner's patrol was hit, he stood at his position and delivered fire until other members of the patrol could get the wounded man out of the kill zone.

"THIS OUTSTANDING display of aggressiveness," the citation reads, "and personal bravery, is in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflects great credit upon himself, his unit and the United States Army."

SP/4 JAMES C. MARNER

Marner, who before entering the Army in 1965 was employed by the Bethlehem Steel Company, is a member of the Ames Methodist Church.

While a student at Douglass High School he was active in football and basketball.

He has been on a tour of duty in Vietnam since October of 1966.

Baltimore Jacks and Jills entertain Washington group

The Baltimore Jack and Jill Senior Teens of this city were hosts to the Washington Senior Teens for a weekend of conferences and entertainment.

The weekend activities began with a "mixer" on Friday evening at Fellowship House. Dinner was served by Mesdames Vyna Skinner, Lucille Wade and Mary E. Law. Mrs. Law was also chairman of registration.

A SOCIAL Problems Conference was held at Heritage Church on Saturday under the guidance of Mrs. Anne Emery.

Speakers included Joseph Touhey, attorney, Baltimore City Narcotics Bureau; Mrs. Gertrude Kirkley, Alcohol Counselor, Eastern Health District and a representative from AA; and a panel on Sex Education which included Mrs. Carolyn Boston, counselor; the Rev. Windell Phillips, minister; Mrs. Genevieve Mason, parent and Mrs. Gladys B. Artis, nurse.

A film, "Teenage Dilemma," was shown. Moderator was Charles Law.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. Law.

Prior to the conference a group meet under the direction of Mrs. Reva Lewis to decorate Heritage Church for the conference and the dance that followed that night.

The decoration committee included John Skinner, Janet Waters, Sadie Lottier, Delise West, Karen Coxe, Chuck Law, Emerson Julian, Louis Law and Marchita Lottier.

Following the conference the group took night-seeing trips and went bowling.

A SEMI-FORMAL dance was held that night. The group danced to the rhythm of the Vondell. Senor high school graduates of Jack and Jill were honored with gifts. Recipients of the gifts were Charles Law, Miles Harrison, Marchita Lottier, Carole Oswell, Marie Phillips, John Skinner and James Wood.
