U-JOIN urges congressmen to back Powell

The Union for Jobs or Income Now has written to each of Maryland's U.S. Congressmen urging them to vote to reseat Adam Clayton Powell.

If the vote does not come up in the House of Representatives before next week, the group has asked for a meeting with the Maryland Congressmen.

U-JOIN called for the representatives to support the "clear decision" of the people of Harlem, who reelected Powell in a special election.

Charging his unseating was "unfair" and "more than subtle racism," U-JOINED asked the representatives' votes to seat Powell and restore his "full seniority."

Regardless of how they voted before (one representative had voted not to unseat the Harlem minister), the Maryland delegation was asked to submit to the "voice" of Harlem.

Congressman Samuel N. Friedel (D. 7th) voted for Powell before.

Cowboys regain Perkins from Nevada state job

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — Don Perkins and the Dallas Cowboys made it official Wednesday — the 29-year-old running and blocking star will return to the National Football League Eastern Division champions for another two seasons.

The signing of a new contract for a reported $85,000 was announced in a news conference with New Mexico Gov. David F. Cargo, who hired Perkins as director of the State Department of Courtesy and Information last January.

• • •

IN ENDING his abbreviated "retirement" from pro football without losing one step of practice, Perkins said he will return to a State government job during off-seasons.

He and Cargo said the six-year Dallas backfield veteran will begin his "leave of absence" in mid-July, in time to being training at the Cowboys' summer camp in Thousand Oaks, Calif.

The two-year contract was a substantial increase over the $25,000 Perkins was reported to be making a year before. His State job paid $11,400 a year.

CIAA meet at Morgan

The annual Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA) track and field championships will be held here next Friday and Saturday, May 12-13, at Morgan State College.

Morgan, which has been a perennial contender for most of the past 15 years, is not regarded a serious threat for the 1967 title.

• • •

HOWEVER, keen competition is expected among several teams boasting class and depth.

Chief among these is Maryland State College which, under the clever tutelage of Cliff Anderson, has established herself as unquestionably the team to beat.

WINSTON-SALEM Teachers College, with powerful entires in the hurdles and field events, and a useful all-round performer in Leon Coleman, could make a race of it with the Hawks.

Also to be considered is Johnson C. Smith, with a stylish assortment of runners in the relays and dashes.

NORTH CAROLINA COLLEGE, Norfolk State and Howard University could occupy key roles in the final outcome of the team competition. Each is capable of scoring an upset to the hopes of a main contender.

Allocation of the meet at Morgan's Hughes Stadium comes a year late. The championships were to have been held here last year but were switched to Virginia State College when it was determined the newly-installed all-weather track at Morgan would not be ready in time for the affair . . . LACY.

Walt Frazier hold off pro decision

CARBONDALE, Ill. (UPI) — Walt Frazier of Southern Illinois University, the first choice of the New York Knickerbockers in the National Basketball Association draft, says he has not yet decided whether he will turn pro this year.

"I am delighted to have been drafted by the Knicks," declares Frazier, who was named the most valuable player in the National Invitational Tournament in New York won by SIU.

"They are a fine organization, but as of yet I haven't decided what I am going to do. I guess I might have a better idea after they contact me."

Frazier says he had set no deadline for his decision.

Monroe, Walker lead NBA race for topline cagers

When Earl Monroe of Winston-Salem (NC) State Teachers College, became the first-round draft pick of the Baltimore Bullets in the annual plucking of collegiate talent by the National Basketball Association Wednesday, it signalled the beginning of a big day for tan athletes in pro cage circles.

The sparkling shotmaker of the CIAA and NACC small-college champions was the first college player taken in the regular draft session. Jimmy Walker, the all-everything at Providence College last winter and spring, had been signed by the Detroit Pistons the previous day. So his Wednesday drafting was little more than a matter of procedure.

Walker was reportedly signed for $300,000 for four years, Monroe for $110,000 for two seasons.

• • •

AT ANY rate, the selection of Monroe and Walker — or Walker and Monroe — opened the floodgates on a genuine race among NBA clubs for colored talent.

This is borne out by the fact that 8 of the 12 teams participating in the annual divvy session made tan athletes their No. 1 picks. Five of these eight used both first and second choices on colored prospects.

The Pistons plucked Sonny Dove of St. John's in the second round, the Bullets too James Jones of Grambling No. 2.

• • •

IN FIRST ROUND drafts, the Chicago Bulls grabbed Clem Haskins of Western Kentucky, the New York Knicks took Walt Frazier of Southern Illinois. The Cincinnati Royals named Mel Daniels of New Mexico first, the San Francisco Warriors went to Dave Lattin of Texas Western.

Mal Graham of NYU, was the top pick of the Boston Celtics, and Al Tucker of Oklahoma Baptist, led the new Seattle selections.

• • •
