'Hot Rod' saluted by teen groups

Maurice (Hot Rod) Hulbert was saluted by teenage members of 100 fraternities and sororities in a Spectacular '67, held Friday night in Howard Room of the Civic Center.

At the salute, approximately a thousand young people gave a standing ovation to "Hot Rod" as he entered the Civic Center under a human arch made by hundreds of ushers.

Miss Gloria Mack, chairman of the coordinating committee, said the teens honored the popular radio disc jockey in appreciation of his generous gifts of $100 every month to a sorority or fraternity to increase its treasury and fund its projects.

She said he worked closely with teenagers in connection with their dances and other projects.

SPECTACULAR '67, a dinner-dance, was in the planning for almost six months.

Guests were entertained by Marva Josie, the Five Tones, Billy Frasier and the Mad Lads.

"Hot Rod" was presented a trophy nearly six feet high.

Senator Verda Welcome was among the guests.

Coordinating the spectacular '67 was a six-member committee.

Miss Yvonne Vennie was co-chairman with Miss Mack. Dennis Weems was ticket director. Donald Benjamin, financial secretary; Tony Dorsey, recording secretary, and Larry Young, master of ceremonies.

Adult advisers were Donald Mack and Wallace Batem.

Tuesday, "Hot Rod" treated committee members and their dates to dinner at the Hawaii Room at the Emerson Hotel.

The committee now is planning a June testimonial dinner for the deejay at the Forest Manor.

CALLED UPON to speak after receiving the trophy inscribed, "No. 1 Disc Jockey of the Year," Hot Rod found himself with tears in his eyes.

He told the AFRO, "It was the most exciting thing that ever happened to me in my career as a disc jockey.

"I choked up and the tears just came."

Teenagers are known to be a loyal group to the men who spin the music they love but they have not been known in the past to pay tribute to any other deejay with any affair of this magnitude.

NAACP sues to block $12.8 million contract

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The NAACP has initiated Federal court action — seeking an injunction against Gov. James A. Rhodes — to block the awarding of a $12.8 million contract for construction of a state building by all-white workers.

The suit filed here after state officials had repeatedly refused to accord equal employment opportunities on the proposed multi-million dollar Medical Sciences Building at Ohio State University.

The state contends that it is not responsible for discrimination by craft unions awaiting contracts to construct the building. The building construction would be financed by state and Federal funds.

NAACP General Counsel Robert L. Carter and NAACP assistant Counsel Lewis M. Steel asked the Federal court to issue an injunction against Governor Rhodes, Public Works Director Alfred C. Glenow and State Treasurer John Herbert to halt the $12.8 million contract unless state officials guarantee that all workers will be able to gain employment in the skilled crafts on the project.

Governor Rhodes is presently backing legislation that would void agreements between unions and contractors who discriminate on public works projects.

Shriver praised for co-op grant

Civil rights and labor leaders praised Sargent Shriver this week for a $400,000 OEO grant to an Alabama farmers' cooperative.

The grant is "an encouraging step forward in the war on poverty, a ray of hope for those in the nation's 300 poorest counties who live in unbelievable conditions of despair," said Dr. Martin Luther King in a telegram.

"By helping hundreds of poor farm families to raise their incomes," the program "will give many their first real opportunity to break the pattern of migration, city slums and lives of welfare dependence," Walter P. Reuther wired from his Detroit UAW headquarters.

"Economic and political domination work best when the victims are weak and impoverished," said Roy Wilkins of the NAACP, hailing the move as "a chance to bring some real democracy to rural Alabama."

People, places and things

Special note to Baltimore Dunbar High School graduates: You'll be proud to learn here that an honor graduate of your school is winning more honors.

She is Mrs. Sylvia Berniece Wood Johnson. She will be graduated from Howard University Medical School with honors next month.

After she finished Dunbar, Mrs. Johnson went to Morgan State College. More honors there. Isn't that inspiring?

Mrs. Johnson is married to Gilbert Johnson.

He finished Howard last year, is doing his internship in public health in Seattle, Washington.

Happy as can be about it all is Mrs. Johnson's mother, Mrs. Miriam Wood. She is the widow of the Rev. John T. Wood who was supply pastor at Israel Baptist Church when he died three years ago.

Other Wood children are: Mrs. Dorothy Sperrn and Mrs. Thelma Hill, both Baltimore City teachers; John S. Wood, also a teacher; and Warren Wood, with the Navy in Japan.

Hellos to the Wood family at 4106 Forest Park Ave.

In our midst: Mr. and Mrs. Arminius Hayne of Brooklyn, N.Y., who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Watson in their elegant home on Old Frederick Rd.

Mrs. Hayne and Mrs. Watson are cousins.

The Haynes and Watsons were dinner guests on Sunday at the home of the Therman O'Daniels on Ivanhoe Ave.

They'll visit relatives and friends in Washingtop, before returning to N.Y.

People being kind to other people department: Faculty and staff at Md. State College honor Dr. J. T. Williams, president of the college at banquet on Sunday.

Event is 6 p.m. at the college in Princess Anne. marks Dr. Williams' 20th anniversary at the school.

Prayers, please, for Mrs. Ruth Shipley, well known clubwoman and onetime Pittsburgh social writer. She remains ill in Hopkins Hospital (Marburg section).

Out of the hospital and doing fine: Mrs. Beatrice Rawlings, the school area director. She had surgery.

Due for eye surgery shortly: Mrs. Mattie Coasey, longtime AME Church lay leader. Thinking - of you hellos to her at 2801 Roslyn Ave.

Cheer to Mrs. Grace Walker. Her mother's in hospital.

More people being kind to others: Members of Baltimore Alumnae Chapter, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority saluted mothers and daughters at their annual luncheon on Saturday at Holiday Inn.

Perfectly delightful guest speaker was Mrs. Edna DeCoursey Johnson, project director of consumer protection (Urban League).

She's the young woman who left a school teaching post because she felt a commitment to serve others (And she took a salary cut too)!

Her message: Volunteer to serve—not the kind of volunteer work when you have the time but when you have to make the time — that is the kind which is most rewarding.

Where you can help with Operation Reason, providing escort service and friendship to chronically ill persons over 50:

Urban League's consumer program needs help in completing case studies, and comparative shopping.

And you can lend a helping hand to persons less fortunate showing them how to refurbish old clothes and advising club groups.

Or you can select 14-year-olds, who will be lost for leadership unless someone tutors them, provides scholarships and follows them up. . .

Liked the way Mrs. Johnson said; 'you only live once. . . the responsibility for a better town begins with you . . . whatever you think a town should be it will be because of you . . .'

More people being kind: At this same Delta luncheon members gifted outgoing president, Mrs. Christine Moore for her leadership as president the past two years.

And, she was happy to report that Deltas have a scholarship program such as the speaker described and her sorors are working in many areas as suggested by the speaker. She added, however, there was indeed much more to do.

Orchids to luncheon committee chairmen Beulah Westcott and Mary Pitts, for an interesting afternoon.

Hard working Helen Chamberlain headed the sorority's May Week activities.

More honors: Mrs. Grace Brown won the Delta gift for having most daughters present.

Her five girls are: Mrs. Fedelia Campbell, Mrs. Lagretta Patterson, Mrs. Vera Young, Mrs. Ola Lewis and Mrs. Westott (Beulah), mentioned above.

More about people, things

Cuff note: Baltimore's new assistant superintendent in charge of community relations (John O. Hopkins), has a Baltimore cousin.

She is Miss Martha Campbell, library supervisor in the Baltimore County schools. (note: she's a U. of Ill. grad).

Joseph Green, 18-year-old the lifetime member of Sharp St. Methodist Church, where his grandfather (Jacob Howard), was a charter member.

Congrats to him at 2453 McCulloh St., where he lives with his wife, Mrs. Marian Ross.

Their children are William 3rd, a city teacher; Mrs. Shirley Taylor, the C and P Telephone Co. employee; and Mrs. Theresa Brown, of D.C., also a phone company employee.

Cuff note: The Joseph Hill, whose home was bombed this week in that fashionable Cleveland Ohio residential area, is the brother of Baltimore Police Lt. Violet Hill Whyte, and a member of an old Maryland family.

This smile-of-theweek from Marriott-Hot Shoppes' 'Table Talk: —'

During an earth quake, a wife rushed into the living room and screamed, "John! John! The Lord's destroyin' the world!"

John slowly looked up from the paper he was reading. "Wal," he drawled, "it's His'n ain't it?"

Something different: St. James Episcopal Church had mass in jazz on Sunday.

It was the new 'Liturgy of the Lord's Supper', accompanied by guitars.

It was different!

Cuff note: Young Denise Williams, the 18-year-old St. James Church youngster who volunteered to teach Bible school . . . in the Virgin Islands.

She was stricken with blindness.

Keep her spirits up by sending her hellos to 1632 Ruxton Ave.

Best wishes to Mrs. Catherine Murphy Dade, 306 W. Wellesley Rd., Philadelphia 19119. She had her appendix removed.

Job note: E. Thomas Williams Jr., formerly at First National Bank, is in a new post with Md. National, as of Thursday.

A prayer for the week

'Extra Prayer' is the title of this Nick Kenny verse sent this week by Mrs. Vernice Wynn of Baltimore (Thanks).

When the world falls down around you
And a prayer will see you through,
Say an extra prayer for someone
Who may need it more than you.

For who knows what hearts are breaking
In the silence of the night?
Just that extra prayer you whisper
May help someone see the light

With an extra prayer-or-two
You are building secret blessings
That will all come back to you

Muslim to get new trial in Atlanta

ATLANTA—Judge Samuel J. Boykin of Fulton County Superior Court refused last week to release Black Muslim Carlton X Woods on bond pending appeal of assault convictions.

But he did set July 10 as the date for hearing a motion for new trial.

Woods was convicted by a mixed jury in Atlanta last week on three counts of assault with intent to murder several Atlanta policemen and sentenced to seven years in prison.

THE CONVICTIONS followed altercations Woods and four other Muslims had with police on March 5.

The five had been arrested after several persons complained that they were beaten by the quintet when they refused to buy the Muslim newspaper, Muhammad Speaks."

When taken to the stationhouse for booking, the men were accused of attacking three policemen with carpenter's tools, a hacksaw blade, auger pits and crowbars.

One of the remaining defendants, Grady 3 Rogers, was previously found guilty on three assault counts and sentenced to six years in prison.

The remaining three will not be tried until the fall term of court.

Seek million signatures for rights petition

NEW YORK (UPI) — The NAACP has begun a nationwide effort to collect one million signatures on a petition demanding passage of the 1967 Civil Rights Bill.

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, said some 18,000 petitions would be circulated and then sent to Congress. Wilkins described the chances for passage of the measure as "fairly good."

At a news conference Wilkins

AT A news conference Wilkins said the civil rights movement had been "downgraded" recently as a result of some Republicans, the peace movement and the dispute over the exclusion of Adam Clayton Powell from Congress.

The civil rights bill contains sections covering federal protection of civil rights workers, additional powers for the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission, and integration of juries.

The petitions show photographs of widows of three civil rights workers whose killers have not been convicted. 'Ask Your Senators To Weep With These Widows and to Vote for the 1967 Civil Rights Bills," the petition reads.
