Riot on campus laid to police

HOUSTON (UPI) — The administration of Texas Southern University accused by Mayor Louie B. Welch of irresponsibility during Wednesday's student riots. Thursday blamed a massive police buildup for the two-hour gun battle.

"The mayor has not been on campus and is not up to date on the issues," dean of students, James B. Jones said.

"They moved in the other night without consultation or permission. There was no communication with us about the problem."

* * *

AFTER POLICE charged two dormitories and put down the rioting in which a patrolman was shot to death Welch accused the TSU administration of being "entire lacking" in meeting its responsibilities and said no administrators could be found on the campus.

Dean Jones said that even before two policemen arrested student Douglas Wayne Waller, "there were many more troops in the area." Police said they had 650 men in the area.

Jones also said students suffered loss of property when police ransacked the dormitories looking for weapons after the riot was put down.

"THEY SMASHED television screens, they stomped watches —these are not justifiable in a search for weapons," he said.

A detective denied any such personal property was broken. He said some locked doors were smashed because officers had to get in to look for guns, but that no television sets were smashed.

"We are always on the lookout for possession of firearms but I cannot be standing there looking every time a man goes to a store," Jones said.

* * *

MEANWHILE, a police firearms expert said Patrolman Louis Kuba was fatally wounded in the rioting by a bullet from "at least" a 30-caliber weapon.

No such weapon was found in the dormitories, although officers said the students were shooting rifles larger than 22's.

A shotgun and three .22 rifles were found.

Randy Sillivan, a police firearms expert, said he could not determine the exact caliber until he had all the bullett fragments, but that it was a larger bullet than a .22.

POLICE intelligence and homicide officers questioned 15 students to try to piece further facts together on the riot — worst racial disturbance in Houston history — in which Kuba was killed and three other persons wounded.

They said they had no "good suspects" so far in the shooting of Kuba.

Five students were charged with felony rioting, punishable by up to 40 years imprisonment. But most of the nearly 488 persons arrested were freed on bond.

One of the five was also charged with burglary and carrying a pistol. Two of the five charged were still in jail.

Police set up a command post near the university Wednesday night after students milled about the campus. But there was no further trouble.

MASS ARREST — Texas Southern University's campus, Houston, Texas, was the scene of a rock-throwing, shooting battle between policemen and students Wednesday which lead to one policeman's death and 445 arrests. Here, youths lie on ground waiting to be taken to jail. (UPI Telephoto)

2 TSU students plan to quit Texas college

HOUSTON — Two natives of Washington, D.C., students at Texas Southern University aren't planning to return to the college when it reopens next fall.

Jonjenetta Sanders, the 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sanders of 2020 Seventh St. NE said she was really "frightened" when Houston police ran through the girls freshman dormitory and shot out plate glass doors in the lobby.

A 1966 graduate of Washington's McKinley High School, the pert freshman said she talked with her parents in Washington but after things calmed down she would attempt to stay at least until the end of the semester. But next year she will attempt to enroll in Howard University where she will continue her studies in history.

* * *

"I WAS in my room on the second floor when I heard the shots. I was scared and I ran into a room down the hall with ten other girls. When we looked out of the windows, we saw police with shot guns in the streets.

"Later they searched our rooms because they thought the boys had brought guns and hidden them in the dorm."

Three bullet holes had been shot through the front door. Two of the slugs lodged in a brick wall opposite the doorway and a third bullet passed through a window and out in to a court yard.

One student said she saw a police officer run through a hall and fire a shotgun into the ceiling of the dormitory.

WARRAN BANKHEAD, 19, of 6609 Third St. NW, had almost all of his clothing destroyed by officers who ransacked his room.

Bankhead, a member-of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, was one of some 488 students arrested following the melee.

A graduate of Calvin Coolidge High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warran Bankhead, the student said that officers destroyed his typewriter, a $130 tape recorder and a record player.

Bankhead is a communicant of St. Gabrial Catholic Church and his father is employed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"I'VE TALKED with my father three times since this mess started," he said. "my father told me to keep a level head and stay out of trouble, but I can tell you right now, I doubt if I will come back to school here next year."

On a tour of his room, Bankhead showed an AFRO reporter a number of suits, sweaters, and shirts that had been spattered with ink.

Dresser draws had been pulled out and their contents strewn across the floor.

"This is just an obvious display of hate and I am going to try and see if these people will reimburse me for the losses I have incurred, Bankhead said. — MICHAEL DAVIS.

Uneasy calm settles over Texas Southern

By MICHAEL DAVIS
AFRO Staff Correspondent

HOUSTON, Texas — An uneasy calm settled over Texas Southern University Thursday as students made their way to classes under a bright Texas sun and temperatures that ranged in the middle 90's.

As school officialsrt met in closed-door session, students who had spent the night off campus straggled back to the college in groups of two's and three's in an attempt to salvage what was left of the personnal belongings after more than 650 police officers armed with machines guns stormed dormitories.

* * *

IN AN exclusive AFRO interview, the Rev. Marvin Griffin, chairman of the school's board of directors, took issue with city officials who had earlier charged that school administrators had no control over the students at the university.

"We are living in the midst of a revolution," 44-year-old Texan said, "We have had some problems with a small minority at the school, and we met and discussed the problem with state, city and federal officers. The school year is coming to a close and they told us to try and 'ride it out' until school was over."

And it doesn't make any sense for Mayor Louie Welch to say that we cannot control our students at the university any more than it would for us to charge that the mayor can't control the crime rate in the city.

"There's a serious situation here and the best thing for us to do now instead of trying to place the blame on any one group would be to try and restore the peace and carry on with the job of educating these students.

* * *

"THE POLICE are hot, the students are hot, the whole city is hot and all the name-calling in the world is not going to do any good at this stage of the game."

Acting president J. L. Pierce, who has been in charge of the university for a year, refused to meet with reporters.

Unshaven and apparently tired, he moved from office to office in the Administration Building talking with city and other campus officials.

* * *

MEANWHILE, THE Rev. W. D. Salisbury, Catholic chaplain at TSU, charges that police officers, in hunting for weapons "wantonly destroyed student property."

His thoughts were echoed by students who milled around a student union building on the campus Thursday afternoon.

* * *

"SMASHED TELEVISION screens, the stomped watches —these are not justifiable in the search for weapons," a student said.

Father Salisbury said the officers degraded and humiliated innocent students who had not even been involved in the incidents which left a Houston police officer dead.

Dr. H. Hadley Hartshorn, dean of arts and sciences, said he found the damage to be "sickening" and amounting to "legalized vandalism."

Mrs. Mattie M. Harbert, director of the Lanier Dormitory for men, said officers kicked and dragged her and made her stretch out on the floor after throwing her sewing machine to the floor.

* * *

MOST OF the students attended classes Thursday morning and afternoon, but a large number of students, including many females began packing to leave for home.

"It's anyone's guess," an unidentified teacher said, "it weekend of next week, these students are angry and I don't think we have seen the last of the trouble."

"It's any ones guess, an unidentified teacher said," it could happen tonight, this weekend or next week," these students are angry and I don't think we have seen the last of the trouble.
