4th D. GOP backs Civic ConCon slate

The Fourth District Republican Political Organization at its monthly meeting Wednesday endorsed the slate of candidates for the Con-Con sponsored by CIVIC.

This slate includes Mrs. Rubye Gill, John Hargrove, Earl Koger, David Mason, Mrs. Juanita Mitchell, John White and Mrs. Miriam Winborne.

"Forty-one clubs and organizations screened all of the candidates. Therefore, we feel that the interest of all of the people of the Fourth District can best be served by the election of the Civic Slate. We pledge to support and work for the election of the whole ticket," said Archie M. Jones, president of the GOP group.

This is the first time, according to political observers, that so large a number of organizations helped select a slate of candidates to represent the community.

The election is June 13.

Counts of Muskogee, Okla.

The party was held in the Me-De-So Club, and while Veronica's contemporaries were being entertained by Mrs. Josephine Brown, with beauty tips for brides, in the club's front parlor, Jimmy plied a quartet of their elders with pink champagne in the adjacent room, including Arethia Williams, who assisted with the party program; Mary Sprow, Bryce Green, Lula Mackay; and the bride-elect's mother, Flozella.

Later there was a seated supper . . . all in a pretty pink and white setting and with novelties from miniature watering pots to wedding . . . and pretty place cards.

Later still there was the opening of stacks of beautiful lingerie . . . and after that champagne toasts for the honoree.

Guests included her sister, Maria Clark; Elizabeth Chatman, Sandra Donnell, April Henson, Stephanie Laforest, Charlene Cephas, Jill Collins, Alice Sykes, of this town;

Ernestine Baker (this year Howard University grad, Phi Beta Kappa, and a bride-elect herself) of Richmond, Va. Sandra Wood of White Plains, N.Y., Carol Ann and Jacqueline Frazier, also of Richmond; and Theresa Manning of Washington.

FRIENDS FROM four cities gathered at the Casbah, in Anne Arundel County, Sunday, for the party which marked the birthday of popular Eddie Evans, Government worker and musician.

On the beautiful terrace they gathered for the al fresco meal, music, chatter and lounging in the sun.

The party was really given by men friends of Mr. Evans, but Mrs. Evans (Dorothy) who simply cannot be an idle hand attendant, kept the fete at high speed throughout the long afternoon and looked pretty spiffy doing so in a colorful print pants suit.

There were practically as many Washingtonians as Baltimoreans at the party. A. C. Jennings came from Atlantic City, and Doris Rheubottom from Philadelphia.

From the Capital were Dr. and Mrs. Calvin Johnson, Messrs. and Mesdames M. McIntosh, William McGruder, Ollie Martin, Merrick Martin, Davis Martin; Miss Mai Brown, Mrs. Alice Lee, Mrs. Ison Taylor, John Wrickham, Mrs. Alzona Collins, Mrs. Ida M. Martin.

Baltimoreans about were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Edward Wharton, Luther Jackson, John De Cecilio, James Foreman, Count Thomas, Albert Fitzgerald, Scott Weaver, Lawson Vessells;

Messrs. and Mesdames Richard Gamby, John Fulton, Cliff Mackay, Subon Dungee, Edwin Chapman, Algernon Jackson, Wilbur James; Mesdames Victorine Adams, Ethel Rich, Dr. Ada Lee Jackson, Mabel Dickerson;

Mesdames Lelia Powell, Sarah Carter, Colon McNeill, Thelma Dixon, Sue Moore, Sylvia Hicks, Viola Ford, C. Anderson; and Misses Sudie Brown, Isabel Brown, Sadie Brown, Gwendolyn Biddle;

Interracial couples get licenses to wed

By ELIZABETH M. OLIVER

With June's perfect days here Cupid finds it a season for romance among persons of all races for the first time in Maryland.

No legal hurdle stands in the way. Maryland's ancient law against interracial marriages was repealed by the Legislature this year. Since the new law went into effect June 1, the Marriage License Bureau has issued permits to wed to three white - colored couples.

Other permits went to white and yellow couples, colored and yellow couples.

THE RACIAL designation is still kept on the courthouse records and persons applying for licenses are required to state the race of each individual.

However, according to a deputy clerk on duty, "If they want a license they get it, don't care what the race is."

The deputy clerk also told the AFRO, "We have no special reason for asking what race is what, but the blank for the information is still there so we fill it in."

So far the vast majority of marriage licenses has been issued to couples of the white race.

Next highest number has gone to couples of the colored race.

Other couples not mixed racially include red (Indian), Philippine (brown), Chinese or Japanese (yellow).

The mixed couples include a colored tavern owner who has selected a white bride to be; a colored maintenance man who also selected a white bride to be; a Chinese dry cleaner who chose a colored fiancee, both of New York; a white Navy man who selected a Chinese bride-to-be.

By law, all are required to take the final step, the exchange of marriage vows, in Baltimore.

'Alice In Wonderland,' shows talent at Harlem Park School

By KERNELL ERWIN

"Suddenly a white rabbit with pink eyes ran past her saying, 'Oh dear, oh dear I shall be too late.'

"She ran after it just in time to see it disappear down a hole. . . ."

Does that scene sound familiar?

It was just one of many delightful ones from "Alice in Wonderland."

It was re-enacted by the talented eight, nine and ten-year olds in the Harlem Park Elementary School No. 35.

For a solid hour on Tuesday the elementary school children transformed the school auditorium into a "wonderland" complete with colorful costumes, singing, dancing, and the disappearing antics of the Cheshire cat.

• • •

ALTHOUGH largely the work of the Harlem Park Dramatics Club, the play represented a joint effort by all the extra-curricular clubs in the school.

The Modern Dance group, under the direction of Mrs. Linda Flamer, provided the choreography.

The Art Club, directed by Miss Gloria Cross, created the scenery and decorations.

The Drill Team acted as military escorts for the Queen of Hearts.

The Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Constance Young and Mrs. Nellie Edmonds, pianist, provided the vocal accompaniment.

• • •

"IN PREPARATION for the play," Mrs. Teana Ferrell, dramatics instructor, explained, "the children practiced role playing and acted out short dramas.

"This play gave them a chance to put into practice the skills learned in class."

Viewing the presentation, this reporter was moved by the effectiveness with which each child executed his role.

It was evident that a lot of stress must have been put on speaking.

Each child spoke clearly and could be heard by everyone in the auditorium.

The Modern Dance group of eight to eleven-year-olds displayed a remarkable sense of rhythm and timing as they went through various dance routines.

• • •

CAST IN the leading role as Alice was a little girl with a mighty big voice, Stephanie Watkins.

Eight-year-old Stephanie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray C. Watkins. She has been acting since she was six.

When she grows up she wants to be a nurse and an actress.

• • •

AMONG THE 320 spectators were Mrs. Nettie Page, principal of Elementary School No. 200, and 50 of her sixth graders.

Mrs. Page called the production, "Excellent . . . never have I enjoyed the story more.

The complete list of participants follows.

Cynthia Lunn, Denise King, Joseph Manning, Archie Blount, Mathew Jenkins, Jessie Strange, James Miller, Ernestine Clinton, Royesia Bryant, Rene Bowman, Helen Bunn, Stephanie Watkins, Freda Tillery, Carlester Sherman, James Johnson, Archie Lee, Marcus Taylor, Kevin Livingston,

Rodney Farmer, Anthony Doyle, Ernest King, Michael Davis, Jerry Miller, Larry Fox, Jeffrey Hardway, Evelyn Graham, Vivian Gunter, Sheila Gwynn, Reginold Harris,

Deborah Usher, Jean Valentine, Dexter Wade, Angela Watkins, Elizabeth Weile, Joseph Weitsley, Crystal Williams, JoAnn Williams, Jeannette Wright, Rodene Wright, Arlene Yarborough, Jancie Pitts, Cynthia Banks,

Angela Bethea, Sylvia Brown, Sylvia Cartbell, Barbara Davis, Sharon Davis, Barbara Ebron, Anita Farmer, Wendy Green, Karen Harris, Christeen Hayes, Barbara Jackson, Arlene Judkins, Denise King, Miranda Leaner, Cheryl Little, Cynthia Lynn, Valerie McCray, Barbara Morris, Cheryl Newman, Kim Palmer, Sharon Parker, Ellen Roberts, Delores Robinson, Gwendolyn Smith, Tonia Usher, Cosandra Vervel Valverion, and Sandra Vaas.

"This proves that there are many hidden talents among our inner city children. It simply takes dedicated teachers and concerned administrators to bring it out of them."

• • •

DR. MARY N. BANKS is principal of Harlem Park. Vice-principal is Lester Hudgins.

In charge of the special committees for the production were:

Mrs. Betty Crawley, Mrs. Leanta Ferrell, and Miss Eunice Hicks, dramatics; Mrs. Nellie Edmonds, Mrs. Judith Moore, and Mrs. Constance Young, music; Mrs. Linda Flamer, dances; Mrs. Jean Chaney, Mrs. Edna Randolph, and Miss Gloria Cross, scenery; Mrs. Margaret Dunlap, Mrs. Nelia Gallin, costumes; and Mr James Walker, lighting.

• • •

OTHER members of the cast composed of third, fourth, fifth, and sixth graders were:

Diane Pittman and Linda Johnson, readers; Joyce Lambert and Amelia James, Tweedle Dee; Sharron Nunn and Darlene Currin, Tweedle Dum; Charlene Cook, White Rabbit.

And, Sylvia Campbell, Queen; Carlester Sherman, King; Carletta Shuron, Mad Hatter; Jacqueline Harris, Cheshire Cat; and Meshell Tuppin, March Hare.

James Roosevelt addresses 60 Coppin State graduates

Coppin State College conferred degrees Thursday night on 60 members of the June 1967 graduating class.

James Roosevelt, president of the I.O.S. Management Company of Geneva, Switzerland, delivered the commencement address and Coppin State president Dr. Parlett L. Moore conferred the degrees upon the graduates.

Five students, Albert Roberts, Gloria Taylor Barnes, Margaret Ann Tindal, Carol-Ann Y. Taylor and Lucille L. Locks were graduated Magna Cum Laude.

Evelyn McNair Jones was graduated Cum Laude.

The processional was followed by a hymn and the invocation was offered by the Rev. John T. Middough, pastor of the Brown Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Joseph T. Durham, dean of instruction at the school presented the candidates for degrees and Mrs. Robert B. Hamill, a member of the board of trustees of state colleges, awarded the diplomas.

The Rev. Wendell H. Phillips, pastor of the Heritage United Church of Christ offered the Benediction.

Truck driver held in shooting

A 47-year-old truck driver was placed on $2,500 bail Wednesday for a postponed hearing on charges that he shot his common-law wife in the face the afternoon before.

The woman, Mrs. Beatrice Johnson, 41, of the 1800 block Etting St., appeared in Western Municipal Court wearing bandages where a bullet had entered her left cheek and exited at her lower jaw.

According to preliminary testimony in court Wednesday, the couple has four children.

The charged man, James M. Spencer, said he drives a truck for a refuse company.

• • •

ACCORDING TO police reports, officers were called about 2:45 p.m. to the house in the 1800 block of Etting St., where Mrs. Johnson had been shot in the face after an argument.

The victim was treated at Provident Hospital and later swore out a warrant in the Western District.

Judge Albert H. Blum, setting bail at $2,500, postponed the case until 3 p.m. next Monday to allow the defendent to get a lawyer.
