dent members and said that he would ask "responsible members of the colored community" to help him find nominees to add to the slim number of colored citizens presently serving on draft boards — 5 of 83.

But instead of the 16 vacancies which would have been opened, Col. Hays has decided to reduce a number of the five-man boards to three-man boards which will leave a total of nine slots to be filled.

And before the community had a chance to respond to the mayor's plea, Col. Hays submitted a list which, if accepted by Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, would preempt seven of the nine vacancies.

Only two of Hays' proposed nominees are colored and if they are certified and approved by Gov. Agnew and president Lyndon B. Johnson, Maryland would only have about a dozen colored citizens of nearly 200 serving on draft boards.

AS TO the reduction in draft board positions, Hays said, "Well, I am just trying to cut down on excess baggage. Some of the boards that used to be five-man operations will now operate with three men."

Col. Hays said that he had written letters to Mayor McKeldin and to Dr. Furman Templeton, director of Baltimore's Urban League, requesting the names of qualified colored persons who would be willing to serve, but that when he hadn't received answers, he moved on his own initiative and prepared a list to be presented to Agnew.

Colored servicemen represent 26 percent of Maryland's deaths in Vietnam although non-whites make up but 16.7 percent of the State's population.

MEANWHILE, an aide to Gen. Lewis B. Hersney, chief of the national selective service system said that his office has asked governors to appoint qualified members of "minority groups" as vacancies become available.

The aide did not indicate what action, if any, would be taken on situations in which governors failed to comply with Administration wishes.

The state of Mississippi, for example, has no colored citizens on its draft boards.

The aide charged that people serve on draft boards without compensation and that vacancies only occur when a member resigns or dies.

"We can't take these people who have served for many years and just put them out to pasture," he said.

Earlier this week Agnew promised a full scale investigation of charges of racial imbalance in the state's draft system.

seek to untangle complications created by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's last ditch efforts to pull Russia into the conflict.

The United States was unable to agree to a cease fire on terms which the Russians and Indians originally wanted because these would have included a provision that both sides pull back to the positions they had last Sunday.

This, in the American and Israeli view, would have solved nothing since it would have left intact Nasser's blockade of the gulf, which was the principal point touching off the whole affair.

The United States, while trying to be fair to both sides, could not agree to a resolution which deprived the Israelis of any bargaining power to remove the blockade. President Johnson said on May 23 that the blockade was "illegal and potentially disactrous to the cause of peace."

WHILE U.S. officials were certain the U.N. "cease fire call" would probably be heeded, because Israel has made its point and the Arabs have little choice, there was great uncertainty regarding the long term outlook.

Longstanding bitternesses have been intensified.

Russia's supporters in the Middle East have lost a short term gamble, which Moscow probably felt was unwise in any event, but they still comprise the vast majority in the oil rich area and the end of trouble could not be foreseen.

Many may remember when his family lived on Druid Hill Ave. Remember?

Circle your calendar for these weekend events: Sunday morning breakfast of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs, where Mrs. Lena K. Lee gets the coveted Sojourner Truth Award. Event is at Holiday Inn.

Md. State Artists Guild's first artistic soiree is a must on your Sunday calendar. It begins at 6, also at Holiday Inn.

A bit about this, that

We were among a number of Baltimoreans who traveled to Lincoln University Pa., on Saturday evening for the college's alumni banquet.

Of great interest to the Baltimore group was presentation of a general alumni association award to Dr. Louis E. Harmon, class of 1928.

He is the dermatologist (skin specialist) who serves on the University Hospital faculty.

He was cited for his devoted 30 years' service in his field of medicine.

The citation told of his "love and compassion for all humanity' and recited his numerous contributions to his community, including the YMCA's Camp Mohawk Scholarship Fund for which he has raised over $30,000 in the past decade.

Others who made the motorcade with the Dr. and Mrs. Harmon were: Dr. and Mrs. Ulysse Bourne Jr., Frederick; Mr. and Mrs. William Stanford, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ewing, Dr. and Mrs. Uthman Ray, Dr. and Mrs. Eric White, all of Baltimore.

Also spied Dr. William Hall and Dr. John Armstead, both Baltimore physicians who were members of the class of 1947.

And, Mr. and Mr. William I. Gosnell were there from Baltimore.

Also, former Baltimorean Dorothea Battle Merchant, now living in N.Y., and Judge and Mrs. Joseph Waddy of D.C.

Cuff note: The banquet was held in the air-conditioned Student Union, a dream building.

For college-bound students: Lincoln is now coed, has racial balance in its student body and faculty.

There is a terrific building program underway. Times do change.

Death note: Word from Spartanburg, S.C. of the death there last week of Mrs. William Porter, (Eva), 83.

Her mother Mrs. Mary E. Preston, das buried on Saturday, but she was not well enough to attend the funeral.

Many know Mrs. Fields as the mother of Dr. Russell Carrington, the dentist.

The office is open for regular service from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday thru Friday.

Graduations, people, things

This is an eventful time for the Albert Ferguson family.

Mr. Ferguson, a Baltimore teacher, earned his second master's degree at Columbia University on Monday.

Son, Albert Jr., finished the sixth grade Frances L. Murphy Laboratory School on Wednesday.

In August, the family moves to Uganda in East Africa, where Mr. Ferguson will teach at the Bishop Kittshing College.

University Hospital nursing department will suffer a loss with the Fergusons' departure.

Mrs. Ferguson (Audrey) is on the staff there. Also going along: daughter, Cheryl, 14; and son, Vernon, 9.

Cuff note: For sometime, Albert Jr. has been telling his classmates at Murphy Lab that he was going to Africa.

Some of them laughed and said, "Yeh, and we're going to the moon, too."

Now they learn young Albert wasn't kidding. P.S. — Unhappy grandma is Mrs. C. C. Ferguson Sr., who will not accompany the family to Africa. She'll keep the home fires burning for the two years they're away.

School note: Leading pupil at Murphy Lab was 12-year-old Kathi Flowers, who also won honors for perfect attendance. No. 2 pupil was Yvette Shipley.

This is the first class to finish the Lab School. Youngsters began in the first grade and remained the entire six years.

Cuff note: This year marks the end of a teaching career at the school for Mrs. Rosalie Griner, the hardworking sixth grade teacher.

She goes to Alaska shortly to join her husband-to-be, William Walker, the government employee.

Due home today is Roye Templeton, 23-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Furman Templeton.

He was commissioned an ensign at the Naval Officer Candidate School in Newport, R.I.

Cuff note: He is the first native Baltimorean to become an officer in the Navy.

After a short leave, he hopes for assignment at an East Coast naval base.

Orchids to Miss Edith E. Armstead of 4007 Chatham Rd.

She gets a master's degree in biochemistry at the Hopkins School of Public Health and Hygiene on Tuesday morning.

As of July 1, she will be a research assistant at Georgetown University.

Miss Armstead is a graduate of Douglass High School and Morgan State College.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Welbert E. Armstead (Josephine).

Miss Barbara Prestwidge, the pretty and talented Baltimorean whom so many of us love because she is so nice . . . gets her degree from Howard University on Friday.

(Remember when she won that cash on the TV show — Name That Tune?)

Of course, she has several job offers — a Fellowship from Georgetown U but she might enroll at American U.

She will work at the Department of Navy this summer while she makes up her mind.

Among Morgan State College grads was another of our favorite gals — Mrs. David Wright (Bea). She's the city teacher who earned her master's degree.

In D.C. for his 50th class reunion at Howard University — Dr. Clarence Holmes, the Denver dentist.

He and my parents were classmates, so he called on Thursday to say hello.

Talented Western High grad on Wednesday evening — Miss Linda Wharton.

She's the teen who is headed for a music study tour in Europe this summer.

Orchids to AKA's, Lawyers Wives Interdenominational Ministers and others who have contributed to the Linda Wharton Fund.

YOU can give if you believe in lending a helping hand to a gifted youngster. Later on, you can take special pride in her accomplishments.

Also, Miss Carolyn Ann Parcum, of 5618 Cadillac Avenue, Baltimore, graduate of Morgan State College, to begin work towards the master's degree in Latin American Studies at American University.

More graduations and things

Among U. of Pa. grads last month was Mrs. Sandra Matthews Yorke. She earned a master's degree in social work.

Mrs. Yorke is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Matthews (Pearl), of Forest Park Ave.

Many may remember she was a 1960 graduate of Morgan and a Me-De-So deb.

She is presently on the Springfield Hospital staff.

In addition to her parents, other members of her family at her graduation were: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cook, her uncle and aunt; her uncle, Paul Hutchinson; Lawrence and Anne Cook and Mrs. Joyce Henderson, cousins; a family friend, Mrs. Mary Gray; and an aunt, Mrs. Selma Watson.

Oddity: While the family was attending Mrs. Yorke's graduation in Philadelphia, her uncle, Russell Cook died.

He was buried 10 a.m. Monday at the same hour of the graduation.

Special congratulations to Mrs. Ernest Lindsay (Virginia Howard). She is the mother of three who was graduated from Morgan on Monday.

This news has special significance to those who know how hard Mrs. Lindsay has fought to overcome a distressing illness she has had since childhood.

Today, she is well enough to finish college and ready and eager to enter the classroom in September. (She'll be a fifth grade teacher.)

And, she did it all with three growing children . . . plus, of course, the help and love of her husband. He's the Dunbar High teacher.

Their children are Ariette, 13, who attends Woodburne Junior High (and who made her first communion on Sunday); Charvel, 11, a sixth grader, and Karen, 8, a second grader, both at School No. 115.

Sen. Welcome's group backs 4th Civic slate

The Fourth District Democratic Organization, headed by Senator Verda Welcome, has announced that it is one of 41 community groups supporting the candidates on the Fourth District Civic ticket.

Senator Welcome said the seven outstanding candidates selected for support by her organization are Mrs. Rubye Gill, John Hargrove, Earl Koger, Dave Mason, Mrs. Juanita Mitchell, John White and Mrs. Miriam Winborne.

"The rewriting of this important document must be done from the point of view of all the state's citizens," Senator Welcome said. "The candidates on this ticket are veterans of this community's affairs and have repeatedly addressed themselves to issues and problems for its improvement.

"Voters in the Fourth District can play a vital role in making this a better state by voting for these seven candidates on June 13."

Long receives M-16 complaint

Rep. Clarence D. Long (D., Md.) has released a letter from a career officer fighting in Vietnam who charged that the M-16 rifle "is both worthless and dangerous as a soldier's primary shoulder weapon."

In a speech on the floor of the House of Representatives, Rep. Long also reported the officer's charge that the M-16 is inferior to the weapon the Communists are using — the AK-47 — and that it cannot withstand ordinary fighting conditions in Vietnam.

The officer related first-hand testimony from fighting men in the field about the M-16's failure and the superiority of the Communist AK-47.

"I have talked with many an infantryman just in from a search and destroy mission who felt that his enemy had a much better weapon in the Soviet or Red Chinese AK-47. It simply boils down to the fact that the 30-round AK can come up out of a muddy rice paddy firing while the 20-round M-16 should not even be allowed to get dusty."

Rep. Long reported the officer's complaint that the "olive drab cards are already stacked" in favor of famous high-ranking supporters of the M-16 and against an objective examination of the weapon on its merits.
