AMONG HONOREES who were presented awards by the Capital Press Club at its 24th anniversary celebration on Saturday were (left to right) Cliff W. Mackay of Baltimore, editor in chief of the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers; Bishop Paul Moore Jr., Suffragan Bishop, Episcopal Church; Dr. James M. Nabrit, president, Howard University; John B. Duncan, a Washington D. C. Commissioner; the Hon. H. Kamuzu Banda, President, Republic of Malawi; and (inset) the Rev. Leon H. Sullivan of Philadelphia, founder of the Opportunities Industrialization Centers. (Cabell Photo.)

Over 200 clergymen participate in last rites for Rev. Matthews

The Rev. James Henry Matthews, pastor of Mt Hebron Baptist Church for 25 years, was buried Tuesday. He died at his home, 414 Normandy Ave., June 15 at 8:10 p.m. after an extended illness. He was 81.

The Rev. Isaac L. Williams, present Mt. Hebron pastor, presided at the 12 noon services at the church and at the graveside rites at Carver Memorial Park.

Assisting were 200 Baptist ministers from the city, other areas of Maryland and the Eastern Seaboard from Boston, Mass., to Wilmington, N.C.

Six additional ministers served as active pallbearers. Honorary pallbearers were the more than 100 members of the Baptist Ministers Conference of Baltimore and Vicinity.

Many ministers of churches of other denominations raised the total attending the services to over 200 clergymen.

More than 150 cars formed the procession to the cemetery after the rites concluded at 3:30 p.m.

MANY OF the church's 900 members were present in the crowd of nearly 1,500 persons who filled the main auditorium to standing room, the stairways, balcony and Sunday School room below equipped with loud speaker.

They also stood outside the church and lined the sidewalks.

REV. J. H. MATTHEWS dies at 81

During the lengthy services three members of the family were overcome with grief and were carried from the church. Several others in the audience also became prostrate.

The rites were marked with outbursts as the speakers recalled incidents in the life of the beloved pastor. Weeping rose to a peak as events of his last days were related.

THE REV. Mr. Matthews was called to the Mt. Hebron pulpit in November, 1942.

On May 14 this year he preached his last sermon.

At the conclusion he announced he was going to the hospital and requested his favorite songs that were sung at the funeral, "The Last Mile of the Way" and 'Life is Like a Mountain Railroad."

After he returned home from the hospital a few days before his death he called relatives to his bedside and told them of his plans.

On the eve of his death, he asked to be taken from his bed to the front porch where he held his wife's hand and said, "You've been a wonderful wife."

The Rev. E. W. Williams, pastor of First Baptist Church, Fairfield and Dr. Isaac Williams of Mt. Hebron were among the last persons to see him alive.

The Rev. E. W. Williams gave the eulogy. The Rev. Isaac Williams the obituary.

THE REV. MR. MATTHEWS was born May 11, 1886 in Charlotte County, Va., the youngest of the four sons of the late Dennis and Mrs. Alverta Jackson Matthews.

He came to Baltimore in 1912 and became a member of Morning Star Baptist Church.

He and the former Miss Rosa Barksdale, the first of three wives, were married in 1917. Following her death in 1930, the minister was married to the former Miss Edna Thornton. The couple had four daughters and one son.

The second Mrs. Matthews died in April, 1962.

In June, 1963, the Rev. Mr. Matthews was married to the former Mrs. Elizabeth Miller who survives him.

THE REV. MR. MATTHEWS was ordained a Baptist minister in 1923, pastored Virginia churches until he returned to Baltimore and founded Friendship Baptist Church on Mulberry St.

In 1937 he went to Mt. Hebron as assistant pastor. He was called to the pulpit in November, 1942 after the death of the pastor, the Rev. Martin Flowers.

The Rev. Mr. Matthews is credited with raising the Mt. Hebron membership from 184 to 925 persons; the original total of three organizations to 16 and Sunday School members from 10 to 200 young people.

All debts including that of $18,000 renovations were paid off in short time.

SURVIVORS INCLUDE the wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Matthews; daughters, Mesdames Alice Talley, Mary Claiburn, Estelle Wolingo and Miss Eleanor Matthews; nine grandchildren, one great grandson, nieces and nephews.

Among those on the funeral program were the Revs. Drs. Edmond D. Meade, Hurley L. Long, Baxter L. Matthews, Willard L. Clayton, Arthur J. Payne, Ward D. Yerby, Lewis Campbell, J. Alexander Everette, W. A. Hall, Ernest W. Williams, George Crawley Jr., Parish S. Thompson, Oliver Paige, Andrew D. Nance.

Out-of-towners were the Revs. Drs. William Bowman, Columbia, S.C., Benjamin Whiting, Robert P. Gainey, Washington; Alan B. Sutton, Wilmington, N.C., Lewis Freeman, Chester, Pa.; Montague Brackett of the United Baptist Missionary Convention of Maryland and Bishop Bromfield Johnson, Boston, Mass.

Also, Mrs. Mary G. Marsh, church clerk, and Mrs. Margaret Andrews soloist; Mrs. Irene Paige, Women's

Kamuzu Banda, President, Republic of Malawi

—'I'm doing fine'

Jones, who dodged the blow.

"I ran to the corner, found a soda bottle and threw it at him." Jones said. "It hit the sidewalk and bounced. I don't know if it hit him or not."

Harris then sent Alsup to summon his uncle, Mr. Gross, who lives in the 1000 block Barre St.

Gross said he arrived on the scene and the defendant ran back into his house. Meanwhile, he continued, a second white man pulled a knife from his pocket and Mr. Gross then picked up a stick.

McCoy then came onto the street with a shotgun, loading it as he came out.

DIANE AND John Roberson, along with their uncle, James Jones were sitting on their steps nearly a block away.

"I saw some children run by," Mr. Jones said, "and heard a 'pow.' I didn't pay any attention to it. Then I heard a second 'pow' and I was struck. Then I knew it was a shot.

"I saw the man break the gun down as if to reload," he continued.

"His niece and nephew were also struck by the pellets. Miss Roberson told the court she was hospitalized and subsequent x-rays revealed some of the pellets are lodged near the bone.

Surgery will be required for their removal and her family does not have the money for the hospital fees.

Gross was struck in the right chest. Roberson in the ear. The others all received superficial wounds

POLICE TESTIFIED they found 2 empty shotgun shells at the corner of Scott and Carroll Sts.

The gun was recovered from McCoy's house.

The defendant denied using a racial epithet. He said he was struck by he bottle hurled by Jones.

McCoy, a West Virginian admitted loading his shotgun and chasing the group down the street.

He told the court he did not see the Robinsons on the step.

"The street was clear far as I could see. And I never mention the name "n——r," I call them colored people."

McCoy said he pointed the shotgun toward the ground when he fired.

JUDGE COLE asked him to explain how people over a half-block away could be injured from a charge shot toward the ground.

"I never meant to hurt nobody," McCoy said. "I wanted to scare them away. I know it was the wrong thing to do."

"The fact is, they were already running from you, still you fired at hem," Judge Cole said. "You fired twice."

AS THE defense attorney told the court his client insists he did not mean to hurt anyone, Judge Cole replied:

"I don't believe this.

"You shot at them because you couldn't catch them.

"How can you justify the fact that McCoy was in his house — safe, even if he feared someone outside. He had a phone, he could have called the police.

"Instead, he gets his gun, comes outside, loads it then chases the boys and fires two shots. By his own testimony, they were three quarters of a block away.

"I find him guilty on all charges."

more health aides.

The team will be responsible for the total health care of each family and persons assigned to it. This will include all in-patient and out-patient care, social services, home care, and referral and follow-up services.

BACK-UP FACILITIES for highly specialized out-patient services and in-patient care will be provided by Provident which has an agreement with University and Sinai hospitals. This arrangement will provide for patients' hospitalization in either facility if additional beds are ever needed.

Provident itself launched a development program several years ago that will result in the construction of a new, and larger facility.

All physicians on the health center staff will also be staff members of Provident, thus insuring continuity of care.

Drugs will be provided through a pharmacy located in the center, and a dental program providing both preventative and restorative care, have been developed and available to the entire target population.

Persons in the area will be trained to fill non-professional jobs at the center. During the first year this training will be concentrated in the areas of home health aids and neighborhood health workers.

The voice of the community to be served will be heard through an advisory board, to be known as the Neighborhood Council for the Provident Hospital Comprehensive Neighborhood Health Center.

The council will be composed of 21 members, distributed as follows:

Seven from the target population; six from hospital; four from the Community Action Agency, and four from the city Health Department.

Auxiliary president; John B. Byrd, Deacon Board.

Active pallbearers were the Revs. Paris S. Thompson, Mt. Hebron; Vernon Dobson, Union Baptist; Lawyer L. Swinson, New Metropolitan Baptist; Stuart Turner, First Baptist Mt. Winans; Julius Logan, Cornerstone Baptist; Lorenzo Graves, Calvary Baptist.
