175 blocks ready for their Clean Block check

Nearly 300 blocks signed up for the 33rd AFRO Clean Block Campaign but only 175 blocks completed their registration before the deadline.

In many of the blocks youngsters desiring to rid their surroundings of litter and filth, met with discouragement and opposition, they just simply could not get any support from the neighbors.

In some blocks that have 30 to 50 houses, three to four people are the only ones out sweeping and keeping up the block, but they are determined to carry out the job started, according to the report of the Clean Block director, Mrs. Jeanette B. Leath.

She continued in a message to all citizens, "It seems to me a neighbor would be proud to know that there are those in the block that care.

"If each neighbor would keep the front and rear of his home clean, there would be little work for the captain to do.

"How can you not help these young people, when they could be destroying property instead of respecting it," she added.

Tydings wants youth hired for ConCon tasks

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings today appealed to H. Vernon Eney, chairman of the Maryland Constitutional Convention, to give every possible consideration to using high school and college age students to fill non-professional staff positions during the state constitutional convention this fall.

In a letter to Mr. Eney, Sen. Tydings said the convention will have to determine the allocation of many non-professional staff positions such as pages, clerks and doorkeepers.

"I believe it would be a great service to the state and to the convention to have non-professional staff assignments designated for young and energetic students of government who would be willing to take time off from their studies in our state's colleges and high schools," he stated.

"Providing young people with an opportunity to participate in the convention, even in a minor capacity, should stimulate interest among young people in the work of the convention and redound to the ultimate interest of the state.

"Moreover, interested young people should do a much better job than a person serving purely as political patronage appointee," Tydings declared.

Violence disturbs all, Methodists told

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N.C. (UPI) —An educator from Atlanta Friday told Methodist laymen meeting here that colored leaders are as discouraged as white leaders over recent riots because "they will set us back several years in the progress we have made."

Dr. Harry V. Richardson, president of the Interdenominational Theological Center, spoke to nearly 2,000 persons attending the Southeastern Methodist Layman's Conference.

The problem of riots across the nation was mentioned in a 40-minute address on "talents." Dr. Richardson, who is colored, said riots would "set black men back several years in progress we have made." He said the majority have begun to "pull themselves up but the action of hot heads is pushing us down."

* * *

IN SUCH conditions, he declared, there is a tendency to want to give up. He said the Christian must remember that God has given man talent to do great things so he must always go back to work, though he may be discouraged.

"We must remember too that whatever we have in this earth must come from Him," he said.

The Atlanta educator called on Methodist laymen to go to work for their church because "America is no longer a Christian nation, and it will become increasingly harder to witness for Christ."

* * *

HE WARNED laymen that they no longer live in a Christian society but in a multi-religious one.

The predominantly white audience at the Methodist assembly gave the leader a standing ovation after his address.

Laymen are from nine southeastern states and represent nearly three million Methodists.

'Detroit, New York are also Vietnams'

HAVANA (UPI) — American civil rights leader Stokely Carmichael said "Detroit and New York are also Vietnams" and exhorted young Cubans to join black Americans in an international revolution in an interview published Thursday in the newspaper "Rebel Youth."

Carmichael, who flew to Havana as a guest of Premier Fidel Castro's government to attend the Latin American Solidarity Conference, said "We should internationalize our struggle."

Carmichael said in the interview, "If we are going to make a reality of (revolutionary Ernest o "Che") Guevara's words about making two or three more Vietnams, it should be known that Detroit and New York are also Vietnams."

* * *

CARMICHAEL said he did not worry about the U.S. State Department's announcement it would lift his passport when he returned to America. "I pick my own friends and I will say what my own destiny is and not the American government," he said.

"The Cuban people is the friend of Americans and as friends we will shake hands and if someone doesn't like it, he can go to the devil (hell)," Carmichael said.

Carmichael said the black American community at home will attach great importance to the OLAS conference. "We can exchange viewpoints of the struggle in Latin America," he said.

"We should join other struggles and through them become brothers," he said.

Carmichael said people in New York had not forgotten that when Castro came to the United Nations he stayed in Harlem. "Never before had any other leading figure or diplomat done something like that," he said.

Teacher blocks firing pro tem

MOUNT STERLING, Ky. — Mrs. Connie E. McClure, teacher in the school system here, secured a restraining order against the Board of Education holding up, at least temporarily, her discharge.

She claimed, before Circuit Judge John Winn, that Superintendent of Schools Jack Miller failed to renew her contract for reasons based on racial discrimination.

She seeks $60,000 damages, her teacher's pay until the day of her forced retirement, including all raises and promotions to which she would have been entitled.

Fund cut-off follows children's fear claim

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Office of Education, withholding $54,000 in federal school funds from the Lee County, S.C., district, was told colored children are afraid to attend white schools in the district Wednesday.

Felix Lucky of Ruthsville, S.C., made the charge at a hearing on the government's charge that Lee County schools have not met federal guidelines on desegregation of faculty and student bodies.

Lucky's charge was denied by State Rep. Van Laney and County School Supt. Boyd Stokes, who said efforts to desegregate schools have been under way and are still making progress.

GORDON RUBIN, compliance officer for the Office of Education, and the Rev. H. B. Andrews of Lynchburg, S.C., joined Lucky in denying Stokes and Laney's claim.

The Lee County district initiated a suit chaiming the federal desegregation guidelines are unconstitutional when the education office withheld the funds. The suit was rejected by the Justice Department because the county had not requested an administrative hearing with the Office of Education.

The court then ordered the hearing to be held to investigate the government's charges and the county's claims.

Katherine Dunham Threatens False Arrest Suit Against Police

Famed dancer says her arm was twisted

ALTON, Ill. (UPI) — Dancer-choreographer Katherine Dunham, Saturday, said she was "manhandled" and arrested on "false charges" by police in East St. Louis, Ill., Friday night.

"A couple of them . . . twisted my arm and they arrested me," Miss Dunham said.

Police denied the charges.

Miss Dunham has danced and done choreography for major stage and screen productions, including "Aida" at the New York Metropolitan Opera and the movie, "The Bible."

She is program director of a summer-school cultural expansion program at the Southern Illinois University in nearby Edwardsville.

* * *

SHE SAID the police incident happened Friday after she went to meetings of the Imperial Warlords, a gang in East St. Louis.

"We had gone to meet a group called the Imperial Warlords, because these are extremely deprived youngsters, and I would be teaching them (in the cultural expansion program) and working in their hangouts," Miss Dunham said.

She said police arrested four members of the group as they left the bar. "I asked the police why and they wouldn't tell me."

* * *

MISS DUNHAM said she was arrested at the police station, where she went to find out the charges against the youths.

"I asked why they were arresting me," she said. "And he (a police officer) yanked me and said, 'Get out.' I said I had to find out why."

At one she was arrested, she said, "I asked for a doctor for my arm and they refused. I asked to be allowed to phone my attorney and they refused that."

She said she was "put in a dirty cell with no water" for three hours before being released.

* * *

THE POLICEMAN who said he arrested her, William Jeremias, said, "She was not manhandled. She was just taken by the arms and taken from the desk sergeant's office; that's all. She didn't say a word to me about why she was there."

Jeremias said Miss Dunham was booked, held for a time and released on bond on disorderly conduct charges.

Miss Dunham said she was waiting for legal counsel in the case. "I would like to take legal action for being arrested on false charges," she said.

GOP choosing Miami Beach for convention

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — A Republican site selection committee Saturday chose Miami Beach for the 1968 party convention. The GOP was expected to accept the recommendation.

Ecstatic Florida officials who finally got the official word from GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss Saturday were hoping to make it a doubleheader.

They theorized that the major television networks were hoping to save a few million dollars by avoiding duplication of expenses — will pressure the Democrats into following the GOP into the Beach's convention hall.

Chicago — the only city left in the race with Miami Beach for the Republican convention — has been mentioned as a strong contender for the Democratic parley. There have also been reports that the White House wants it in Houston.

Better SS coverage reduces poverty: Ball

HOUSTON, Texas — Social Security Commissioner Robert M. Ball told delegates at the National Bar Association Convention that many of the problems of poverty could be mitigated by a broader application of the principle of social insurance.

Ball told some 2,000 lawyers from all over the country, meeting in the 42nd annual convention of the Association here that social security benefits currently raise millions of people above the poverty level.

The President's proposals to increase social security benefits by an average of 15 percent, now before Congress, would have the immediate effect of raising another two million people above the poverty line, he said.

"Although the objective of social security is not solely the abolition of poverty — it serves as a base against which for all who work, who are not in danger of becoming poor — it is nevertheless today our most effective anti-poverty program. It could be used much more effectively for this purpose," Commissioner Ball said.

Defining social security as "a job when you can work, and an income when you cannot," he said the most difficult part of making social security a reality for everyone is assuring them that there is "a job when you can work." In order to reduce poverty, we must first reduce unemployment, he said.

The solution to unemployment is a production system operating at capacity, and a whole series of measures to enable people to adjust to the high rate of technological changes — job retraining and rehabilitation, he said.

Unemployment is most serious among nonwhites, and even worse among nonwhite youths, the Commissioner said. The rate of unemployment among 16-to 19-year-old nonwhite teenage boys is 23 percent and 33.1 percent for girls.

PORTLAND, Ore. — "People versus the City? Challenge and Opportunity" is the theme of the 1967 National Urban League Conference which will be held August 20-24 in Portland, Ore.

Purpose of the five-day meeting will be to bring to the attention of the nation the economic and social welfare problems which the colored population and other minorities face and to chart the role of the Urban League in solving these problems.

Some 1,200 delegates representing leaders in government, business and industry, labor, education and social welfare, are expected at the conference.

Spearheading the conference will be Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, who will be the keynoter; and Lindsley F. Kimball, League president, who will preside.

Featured speakers include Sen. Edward W. Brooke (R., Mass.), who will address the League's Annual Banquet, and Mrs. Ersa H. Poston, NUL Trustee and secretary of the Board, who will address a luncheon of the Council of Urban League Guilds. Mrs. Poston is president of the New York State Civil Service Commission.

Are you depriving your children of their proud and rightful heritage?

Teachers, civil rights leaders and child psychologists all agree that youngsters with a feeling of pride in themselves are the ones who do best in school . . . go on to college . . . and get ahead in the world. Negro parents have long wondered how best to give their children this important sense of pride, and where to obtain the information they need to tell them about their heritage.

THIS NEW BOOK CAN HELP YOUR CHILD TO SUCCESS

Think what it would mean to your youngster to hear inspiring stories of people like Crispus Attucks, the Negro patriot killed during the Boston Massacre . . . Jean Baptiste Pionte Du Sable, the founder of the city of Chicago . . . Benjamin Banneker, a member of the commission which drew up plans for our nation's capital . . . Jim Beckwourth, the Negro discoverer of Beck wourth Pass .

You and your children will find accounts of all these true historic people and events, and dozens more, in The Negro Almanac. You'll also read about Negro men and women of achievement in the world of today. All the leaders of the civil rights movement. Planners and policymakers in Washington, D.C. Diplomats around the world. Legislators on Capitol Hill. Representatives at the United Nations. Prominent military figures. Stars of stage and screen, concert artists and jazz musicians. THE REALITIES OF THE PRESENT . . .
THE CHALLENGE OF THE FUTURE . . .
