Back River Church in building fund campaign

First Baptist Church in Back River, is currently engaged in a $20,000 building fund drive which they hope will ultimately result in a new community center for the area and the payment of debts incurred during the church's renovation.

Leading the 125-member congregation in its drive is the Rev. Isaiah Hill, pastor. He explained the effort this way:

"It's a three-year fund raising drive, committing Men's and Women's Days, in which each member is asked to pay $100 over that period.

* * *

"IN THE first nine months $3,000 was raised," he reported

The Rev. Mr. Hill, who first came to First Baptist as guest speaker, has been pastor for five years.

He and his wife, Mrs. Ernestine Hill live at 1733 Broadway. He is a graduate of Dunbar High School and a former naval officer.

First Baptist is the only church of that denomination located in that community of 400. It was organized 56 years ago.

New Social Security plan calls for more $

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Here is how the proposed increases in Social Security benefits would be financed under the bill approved by the House Ways and Means Committee:

Currently, a 4.4 per cent tax is levied on the first $6,600 of a worker's salary for an annual total of $290.40. This sum is matched by the worker's employer.

Starting Jan. 1, 1968, the 4.4 per cent tax would be levied on the first $7,600 of a worker's salary for an annual total of $334.40. This sum would be matched by the worker's employer.

In 1969, the combined tax (4.4 per cent from worker and 4.4 per cent from employer) of 8.8 per cent would rise to 9.6 per cent — though the $7,600 wage base would not change. In 1971, it would go to 10.4 per cent; in 1973 to 11.3 per cent and in 1987 to 11.8 per cent.

The increases would be in increments of no more than 1.8 per cent for worker and employer, with the biggest jump coming in 1987.

Good Neighbor gets more $$

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — North Carolina's Good Neighbor Council is getting $48,000 in additional funds for its job of averting racial strife.

Gov. Dan Moore and the council of state approved the allocation Wednesday at a special meeting at the Capitol. The funds are coming from the state's contingency fund and replaces others cut out of the budget by the General Assembly.

The Good Neighbor Council has taken an active role in the recent racial troubles in Greensboro, Anson County and elsewhere throughout the state.

Moore cited "critical problems in human relations" at the Wednesday meeting in calling for the additional operating funds.

MURDERED? — Authorities are investigating statements by witnesses that three colored youths were executed in cold blood last month by a white Army National Guard officer at the Manor House, an annex of the Algiers Motel, Detroit, Mich. The Detroit News reported that the witnesses said the youths were slain after National Guard troops and police broke into the apartment building in search of riot snipers. The victims were, left right: Aubrey Pollard, 19; Carl Cooper, 17, and Fred Temple, 18. (UPI Telephoto)

Methodist group to hold last meeting before '68 merger

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Major program features were announced this week for the Central Jurisdictional Conference of The Methodist Church to be held here in Aug. 17-19.

"This will be the last meeting of the separate colored unit of the denomination before as the Central Jurisdiction is abolished when the Methodist Church and Evangelical United Brethren Church unite next April.

Main purpose of the special session is to elect a bishop and to phase out the Jurisdiction. In all probability, the conference also will consider arrangements for the future of several related institutions such as colleges and a Gulf Coast assembly grounds.

"The meeting will be held at the Andrew Jackson Hotel and McKendree Methodist Church.

* * *

PROGRAM FEATURES were announced by Bishop Charles F. Golden, Nashville, chairman of the Committee on Expense and Agenda for the session and head of the Nashville-Carolina Area of the Central Jurisdiction.

Registration and committee meetings will be held at the Andrew Jackson Hotel, beginning at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 16.

The conference proper will get underway Thursday, Aug. 17 with a service of commemoration and Holy Communion at McKendree Methodist Church. Bishop Matthew W. Clair, Jr., St. Louis, will be the communion celebrant and Bishop Edgar A. Love, Atlanta, the preacher.

Other high points of the Thursday program will be the Episcopal Address, which is a "state of the Jurisdiction" message by Bishop Golden and a banquet address by Dr. Earnest A. Smith, Washington, D.C., director of the Department of Religion and Race of the Board of Christian Social Concerns of The Methodist Church.

* * *

THE PROGRAM for Friday, Aug. 18 includes the following: an address by Bishop Dwight E. Loder, Detroit, Mich.; a historical program, an address, "The Negro in the Methodist Church Prior to 1939," Bishop Willis J. King, New Orleans; and an address, "The Negro in The Methodist Church from 1939 to 1967," by Dr. James P. Brawley, president emeritus of Clark College, Atlanta.

The consecration service for the newly elected bishops will be Saturday, Aug. 19 at McKendree Church. Bishop Noah W. Moore, Jr., Houston Texas, will be the preacher for the service.

In charge of music for the conference will be Dr. Eddie Golm of the Music Department of Tennessee A and I State University. He will be accompanied by Mrs. James L. Moon.

The Rev. John G. Corry, Nashville, is chairman of the local entertainment committee, and Mrs. L. Dixon, Nashville, coordinator.

Official delegates will number about 70, equally divided between ministers and laymen and representing the Jurisdiction's 12 annual (regional) conferences. Several other church leaders will attend.

* * *

THE SPECIAL session of the conference was called by the College of Bishops of the Central Jurisdiction. The plan of union of the Methodist and EUB churches authorized the session to elect a bishop to take the place of the late Bishop Marquis L. Harris of Atlanta and to adopt plans for closing out the 28-year history of the racially defined jurisdiction.

Though the Central Jurisdiction will be abolished when The Methodist Church and EUB church unite next April, there still will be segregated annual conferences.

Enabling legislation approved along with the new church's Constitution includes a "target date" of 1972 for eliminating all racially constituted annual conferences or other structural organizations within the church.

Youth corps cadets 'were magnificent'

WASHINGTON — "They were magnificient." "It was in critical moments that they proved their worth."

The first comment was that of Newark Police Director Dominick Spina, speaking of youthful colored members of the Neighborhood Youth Corps during the Newark disturbance.

Hubert G. Locke, administrative assistant to Detroit Police Commissioner Ray Girardin, made the second remark about youth corpsmen in his town.

Both officials had the highest praise for their unarmed police cadets, who are training in a neighborhood youth corps program operated by the Department of Labor.

They manned telephone switchboards and performed other tasks, freeing regular officers for riot duty.

During a brief telephone breakdown that caused communications chaos in Detroit police headquarters, the cadets served as messengers to keep information flowing.

Claude A. Barnett, 78, Veteran Newspaperman Buried In Chi.

He was founder of ANP news agency

CHICAGO (NPI) — Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon (Aug. 5) at Quinn Chapel AME Church for Claude Albert Barnett, founder-director, the Associated Negro Press newsgathering agency, who died in his home during the early hours of Aug. 2 of a cerebral hemmorrhage.

In retirement since July, 1964, Barnett had been confined to his home for almost all of his exodus from the active journalistic scene, as a result of a cerebral attack suffered in November, 1964.

A native of Sanford, Fla., who had been a resident of Chicago for most of his life, he would have been 78 next Sept. 16.

Educated in Mattoon, Oak Park, and Chicago, he was a 1900 graduate of Tuskegee Institute.

* * *

IN MARCH, 1919, he conceived and founded the Associated Negro Press, designed to meet the problem of dissemination of news of, about and of particular interest to colored peoples to newspaper throughout the country.

During its span of operation, ANP served newspapers not only in the United States, but in the Caribbean area and Africa as well.

An extensive traveler, Barnett and his wife, the former Etta Moten, visited numerous countries in Africa — both prior and subsequent to their independence from colonial rule.

They got to know personally many heads of state, government official — both African and colonial — as well as leaders in other walks of life throughout the countries they visited.

Barnett received decorations as Commander of the Star of Africa from Liberia's President William V. S. Tubman, in 1952; and the Chevalier Order of Honor and Merit, from former President Paul E. Magloire of Haiti.

The Barnetts residence was a favorite rendezvous of African and European visitor and was also a showplace for African Art objects — many of which the couple picked up on their many visits to other lands.

* * *

UPON RETIREMENT in 1964, Barnett began work on his memoirs and adding to his collection of art objects, which was complemented by an ever increasing library of literary works.

In addition to his travels abroad, Barnett served as president, Provident Hospital of Chicago Training School, 1938-42; and director, Supreme Liberty Life Insurance Company, Liberia Company, Phelps-Stokes Fund and Chicago Chapter of American Red Cross.
