2 Final Honor Flags awarded Clean Blockers

The final two (2) Clean Block Honor Flags to be awarded in this year's campaign were presented Friday morning by Clean Block director, Mrs. Jeanette B. Leath, at the regular weekly pep rally.

A total of 12 of these large red, white and green banners have been presented to outstanding blocks participating in the 33rd annual drive.

The banners are hanging over top blocks all over the city. Clean Blockers are urged to take care of these flags after the drive has ended. They may be hung next year in these blocks which decide to participate in the 34th campaign, providing the block warrants it.

Sp-5 Williams awarded honors

Sp/5 Jonathan Williams, 1708 E. Preston St., was recently awarded the Air Medal and given a special citation by the President for his "meritorius achievement while participating in sustained aerial flight in support of combat ground forces in the Republic of Vietnam."

Sp/5 Williams, a 21-year-old army medic, had gone on a rescue mission in the jungles of Tuy Hoa, on the coast of Vietnam.

While evacuating the wounded, Williams and his medical crew came under heavy enemey fire which forced their waiting helicopter to take off without them.

By the time it returned escorted by two heavily armed helicopters, Williams had succeeded in holding off the Vietcong with the rifle of a wounded GI he was attending.

As the wounded were being hurried aboard the rescue "copter", Williams deliberately exposed himself to enemy fire in order that the wounded solders could be taken aboard safely.

Sp/5 Williams, the son of Mrs. Etta K. Williams, returned from Vietnam recently and is now stationed at Fort Deldoir, Va.

Electricians to cite Paige

The Monumental Electrical Association of Baltimore has scheduled a testimonial buffet dinner for Sterling A. Paige.

It will be held Saturday, 5 to 9 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, 1305 Eutaw Place.

Andrew Woodson, Monumental president, said the affair is to be a tribute for the former AFRO writer's efforts in waging a two-year battle against discriminatory practices in the licensing of electricians in Baltimore.

There are only two colored persons among the more than 1,000 licensed electricians in the city.

• • •

MR. PAIGE is now on leave as a reporter to run for City Council from the Fourth District.

Mr. Paige's campaign, waged through the columns of the AFRO, with the help of State Senators Verda Welcome and Clarence Mitchell, resulted in Gov. Spirow T. Agnew's refusal to reappoint the president of the State Board of Electrical Examiners.

The board is the body through which licenses are issued.

The electricians' group will also make a presentation to Senator Mitchell who is a candidate for City Council President and Senator Welcome.

A social hour will precede the testimonial, expected to attract numerous city and state officials, civic and labor leaders, and the general public.

LOYOLA BY NIGHT — The Maryland Hall at Loyola College at Cold Spring La. and Charles St., glows at night during evening class sessions.

Clean Block Sidelights

By LINDA CALLOWAY

The Aug. 11 meeting of the AFRO Clean Block pep rally was opened with a prayer from St. Francis of Assisi given to the Clean Block director, Mrs. Jeanette B. Leath, by Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin earlier in the campaign, after which the Lord's Prayer was recited by the Clean Blockers.

When asked what they thought about the campaign, how well did they enjoy the pep rallies, how did they enjoy working with their workers, representatives from various blocks had this to say:

2400 Woodbrook Ave. — "Everything is running smoothly and nicely . . . the workers have carried on very well.

1400 McCulloh St. — "The group is working wonderfully in my block . . . the city cooperates with us one-hundred per cent."

1000 Sarah St. — "I would like to thank the Lord for giving us strength to carry on . . . I would like to thank Mrs. Leath and everyone else who was responsible for the clearing of lots in our neighborhood. Thank you."

500 Baker St. — "I enjoyed working with the neighbors . . . everything is going along very nicely."

1900 Etting St., Rondy Little — "We get up every morning at 8 a.m. and clean the block."

1800 Lauretta Ave., Willie Young — "Everyone cooperates very well."

1900 Etting St., Derryl Golfe — "We get up Friday and Saturday morning at 7 a.m. . . . we still have some more painting to do."

• • •

AFTER THIS the Honor Roll was called.

We were entertained by four block. They were 1201 Jefferson Ct., 1700 Crystal Ave., 2200 Bryant Ave. and 1400 McCulloh St.

The 2200 block of Bryant Ave. was dancing to Smokey Robinson and the Miracles record "Going to a Go-Go." The dancers were between the ages of one and ten. Peggy Shaw sang a solo. Margaret Bush did a tap dance routine. It was a very good program.

At this time Mrs. Betty Sidell, a Girl Scout area director, spoke to the group. She told them that if they ever needed help call on the Girl Scouts and they would be glad to help them in any way that they could.

The other three blocks entertained us after Mrs. Sidell spoke to the Clean Blockers.

Shot 6 times

MURFREESBORO, N.C. — Stanley Beale, 21, was recovering in Roanoke-Chowan Hospital after being shot in the stomach, chest, neck and arms on Monday night.

The Elizabeth City State College student's assailant was reported to have been 17-year-old Horace Leon Stewart, who, police said, emptied six shots into Beale.

But the student was able, despite this, to walk first to his home, then to a doctor's office and finally to an ambulance.

Park Band concert gets warm greeting

By ADAH E. JENKINS

In the second concert of the current season by the Baltimore Park Band under the direction of Charles E. Gwynn Sr. there was a sizable intercultural adult audience at Grove 10 in Druid Hill Park.

Judging from the applause they were warmly appreciative of the program of melodious compositions, such as "Calif of Bagdad Overture" and "Moonlight and Roses" along with modern "Blues in the Night" and "Fugue Moderistic."

A medley of spirituals and several spirited marches were also well received.

Guest soloist of the afternoon was Naomi Williams, who was heard to expressive advantage in two songs, with William Bagley, assistant conductor, on the podium.

Carlton Norris, soloist from the trumpet section of the band, displayed a mellow tone and appropriate phrasing in his solo assignment.

The concert was sponsored by the Bureau of music of the Department of Parks and Recreation, Miss Stephanie Sodaro, music and administrative supervisor.

TO ADD to one's collection of the latest Hope label discs is "Just in the Nick of Time," recorded by Sync McGowan at the Regent Studio in New York.

The arrangement by Tonny Kaye carries a cha-cha beat — good for dancing as well as listening, background voices for McGowan's mellow tones are three "blue-eyed blondes," who were highly complimented when the soloist said at the recording session that they sounded like a "real tan trio."

The reverse of the disc is Jesse Herring's arrangement of "Loneliness is a Pleasure," which was cut locally.

Harlem ready for new $20 million structure

NEW YORK — Construction will begin in the fall of next year on a $20 million state building in Harlem.

The 23-story building, to be used as offices, will be built on the block bounded by Seventh and Lenox Avenues and by 125th and 126th Streets.

Old structures currently on the site are being demolished by a colored owned firm, the Ismaion Demolition Company.

Officials are also busy trying to relocate 43 commercial and private tenants who lived in the old buildings now being demolished.

THE PRELIMINARY drawings of the new building, drawn by colored owned architectural firm, Hill and Johnson, are ready and have been delivered to state capital, Albany.

"We are reviewing these now," said Gen. Cortlandt V. R. Schuyler, Army retired, commissioner of the state office.

"When our office approves of the first drawings, the architects will get busy on the final contract drawings, which should take about six to eight months," he said.

'Poor people work too hard for too little'—Mrs. Murphy

Mrs. Madeline Murphy, outspoken civil rights leader from Cherry Hill, came out of an Annapolis meeting with Gov. Agnew Friday on ways to prevent riot feeling "depressed, disgusted and upset."

"The problem isn't millionaires and H. Rap Brown," Mrs. Murphy said she told the Governor, "but poor people working too hard for too little."

Mrs. Murphy, director of community services at the Cherry Hill Presbyterian Church, was among a contingent of Baltimore community agency leaders called to Annapolis by the Governor's aide, Dr. Gilbert Ware.

Gov. Agnew announced his plans at the meeting for earmarking $450,000 in State Emergency funds for a crash program to hire 1,200 inner city residents.

Mrs. Murphy, a candidate for City Council in the Sixth District, said she approved of the city and state attempts to alleviate joblessness, but she told the AFRO:

"The steps are far too small. What's needed, and what I told the Governor was needed, is a full-scale attack on American poverty similar to the American effort to win World War II."

• • •

MRS. MURPHY also criticized "hiring and testing procedures used in city and state employment centers.

She said thousands of state jobs were unfilled because of unrealistically high hiring standards.

"Why should a man applying for a custodian's job have to take all kinds of tests?" she asked.

Mrs. Murphy also said that "you'll have 10, 20 or 30 hiring Browns all over the place" until "basic problems" are solved.

Violence, she held, is the result of city and state governments not doing enough to alleviate problems and industry "not doing its part" to hire the jobless.

Annapolis Council takes first step for fair housing law

The Annapolis City Council voted 9-0 last night (Monday), in favor of an open occupancy bill proposed by Councilman T. Norwood Brown. Last night's approval sets the stage for the measure to go to second and third reading in 30 days (Sept. 11). Public hearings are set for Sept. 9.

Mr. Brown explained to his fellow commissioners that the measure is modeled after a bill in Montgomery County.

It would bar discrimination in all apartments of six or more units, all subdivisions in apartments and homes. The law would be administered by a five-man fair housing commission.

'Pinkie' slayer gets life term

William Bobby Fowler, Jr., 23-year-old father of three, sobbed uncontrollably Monday when he heard himself sentenced to life imprisonment.

Judge James A. Perrott imposed the sentence.

From the time of his trial last month, Fowler had claimed innocence in the November fatal stabbing of Linda C. Keller, a 17-year-old 'pinkie' at Church Home and Hospital, where he worked as an orderly.

In addition to the life term for the fatal stabbing, Fowler was given an additional 20 years for rape of the girl.

After Judge Perrott pronounced sentence, Fowler insisted, "I say it now and I say it again. It was not me."

Pastor's Salaries Up

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Pastors' salaries in the American Lutheran Church have gone up more than 10 percent in the past two years, a study by the ALC's Division of Pensions revealed.

Dr. George Berkheimer, executive director of the division, credited a portion of the increase to the cost of living and added that "it is to be hoped that merit has been a contributing factor also."

The average salary in 1965 was $6,505, compared with an average of $7,279 for this year.

Light Housekeeping

By LULA MACKAY

One of the most unusual "prep schools" in the country has just completed its first eight months of operation and the results, say experts, are fantastic. Called Project Breakthrough, the school selected 120 children from Head Start to teach to read with computer-based talking typewriters.

With 20-minute sessions each day with the talking typewriters followed up with an hour lesson in nursery school activities that reinforce their learning experience, the children will be on a par with the more advantaged children when they enter the city school system (Chicago) this term.

Their progress is especially surprising says A. Louis Scott, director of the project, because parents of many of the children are functionally illiterate and the children lack intrinsic motivation on the part of the parents.

HOUSEWIVES WILL be getting some more aid with their household chores at the end of the year, when the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act goes into effect. On July 28th, the Act will apply to cases of a good product sold as noodles with lots of flavorful chicken and almond sauce mix.

The Food and Drug Administration said that a picture on the package showed a plate heaped with noodles along with a piece of chicken. But there was not enough chicken meat in the sauce for it to be subject to the Poultry Products and Inspection administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, said FDA.

The fandangle will have to go under the new act, and the label must not only give the quantity, but the quality of the package contents.

WHAT'S NEW? These days when you can scarcely exist without a hair dryer, it's good news that there's a gadget that fits easily into an overnight case for that fast paced vacation or quick trip.

This dryer measures only five by four by two inches and weighs only 11 ounces.

THE BEAUTY BIT: One of the almost forgotten aids that most of us need to recover is the habit of buffing our nails. Unless one is blessed with electric manicure equipment, there's a tendency to shape the nails, push back or clip the cuticle and apply nail polish. It takes a month to grow an eight-inch of nail, and detergents, house and office work as well as poor health take their toll on nails.

There is nothing that adds to a woman's appearance as much as well cared for hands. Here's some advice on how to give yours a lift from an expert.

Concentrate on proper diet, plenty of oil, time and care to bring your hands into show condition.

This is where buffing comes in. Buff regularly each day, in one direction and with short pauses to avoid overheating. This brings blood to the basis. Soak nails in warm oil and given fingertip massage. Protect splitting nails with tiny patches, put on with fixative. Wear three of four coats of enamel, allowing time for drying. Cream heavily at night and slip on thin cotton gloves.

Do this at least twice a week.

HOUSEKEEPING: I've garner at the food market.

When I have done the dishes and made the beds, I start at one end of the apartment, basket in one hand and bag in the other.

When I have reached the other end of the apartment (where I pick up the vacuum cleaner for the last whack) I have gathered up all of the trash and left a shining path without that back-and-forth tramping.

RECIPE OF WEEK: Fish charcoal broiled over open grills is a "natural" for summertime meals.

Most fishery products will be in plentiful supply during the coming months and prices will remain low, according to the Bureau.

I learned a neat trick from the professionals who clean our offices. He made a kit (square box with handles and compartments) in which to carry all of his cleaning needs. He also carries a huge canvas bag to gather up the trash.

Not being handy with a hammer, I've garnered a basket, and though it has no compartments, it holds all of the needs for my particular cleaning.

I have in it detergent, soap, powder, a bottle of spray for handling spots on walls and woodwork, a can of furniture polish, glass (window) cleaner, a tiny soft mop for dusting, a short-handled squeeze cloth and a roll of paper towels. Also I carry along one of those large paper bags
