JUDGE KENNEY issued an order that the Investigation Division of the States Attorney's Office make an effort to determined Dr. Rhetta's whereabouts immediately and notify him to appear.

In case of no response, a bench warrant will be issued, the jurist stated.

Under two charges of abortion, Dr. Rhetta was first arraigned and released in February on his own recognizance to be available for court hearings when called.

Judge Kenney said the physician was scheduled to be in court Monday to be arraigned a second time due to the fact that his attorney, Joseph S. Kaufman has resigned.

According to Court records Mr. Kaufman submitted his resignation as the physician's lawyer to Judge James A. Perrott who signed the release order. Aug. 18.

In the release Mr. Kaufman said Dr. Rhetta agreed to his resignation.

The physician informed him that he will serve as his own attorney in defense of his case, Mr. Kaufman told the court.

IRRITATED BOTH because the physician did not appear and the question as to whether he had been notified of the hearing, Judge Kenney ordered the case to be set in for arraignment and trial immediately.

"This important case should not be left to drift along. It's been hanging around here since February or March," he said heatedly.

Placing the blame on the States Attorney's Office, he said, "Somebody ought to take a good hard look at the way things have gotten to the States Attorney's Office.

"The right hand doesn't know what the left hand is doing.

"Because of a breakdown in mechanics, the bench is left struggling. This case is just another illustration of waste of time.

"I want to find out if he's going to have an attorney or not. And there are other questions that need to be answered. This case can not be permitted to drag along any further."

DR. RHETTA was charged with two cases of abortion Feb. 2 after special presentments to the Grand Jury.

Prosecuting witnesses are two women, both white and in their early 20's. One, age 21, a Sumerville, Mass., resident, according to court records, says she journeyed to Baltimore to see the physician in September, 1966.

The other, a Baltimorean, age 20, of the 1700 block Freedom Way, allegedly underwent an illegal operation Oct. 14, 1966.

ON APRIL 21, through Mr. Kaufman (then his attorney) Dr. Rhetta filed motions before the court questioning the legality of Maryland's 100-year old abortion laws he termed "so vague and indefinite" as to violate due process requirements of the 14th Amendment.

He told the court the law is so arbitrarily applied as to discriminate "with an evil eye and unequal hand" between the physician and patient, persons in similar circumstances, thus denying equal justice.

The physician also stated the law interferes with the professional relationship between patient and physician and the right of privacy guardantemally guaranteed by the Bill of Rights.

In addition, he stated, the law denies the expectant mother life, liberty and pursuit of happiness according to the Constitution in that she may be forced to bear a child she does not want and despite her wishes and those of her medical doctor.

2 Detroit policemen and guard arraigned on beating charges

DETROIT (UPI) — Two Detroit policemen and a private guard were charged Tuesday with beating and intimidating several persons at a motel where three colored youths were killed during the Detroit riot.

The three, patrolmen David Senec, Robert Paille, and private guard Melvin Dismukes, were arraigned in Detroit Recorders (Criminal) Court.

Ronald August, a Detroit policeman who faces trial on a first degree murder charge in one of the three deaths at the Algiers Motel, July 26, was named a co-conspirator but not a defendant.

Paille, 32, was charged with the second of the slayings at the motel but was released last Thursday after the same pre-trial hearing in which August was bound over for trial by Recorders Court Judge Thomas P. Demascio.

The warrant charges the three with conspiracy to "beat, abuse and intimidate a number of people" in the motel on July 26, the fourth day of the riot in which 43 persons died.

* * *

"THE EXCESSES engaged in by the defendants in this warrant not only was a violation of police procedure, but constitutes an obvious violation of the criminal statues of this state," Wayne County Prosecutor William Cahalan said.

He said the three conspired to commit a legal act illegally.

"What allegedly tranpisred was not a question of poor police judgement," Cahalan said. "The evidence is strong that a pattern of criminality was pursued."

The warrant charges that the defendants beat six colored youths and two white girls when officers came to the motel to investigate reports of sniper fire.

Motel occupants have claimed they were lined up, beaten and thrtatened with death.

"In fact," said Cahalan, "three people were killed.

"While these and other officers entered into the Algiers Motel, abuse and intimidate a number of people for a lawful purpose, after entering and finding no firearms or apparent violations of the law," they beat the motel's occupants, he said.

The prosecutor also charged that the officers tore the dresses from the two girls.

August, 28, was not named a defendant because he already faces trial on a murder charge, Cahalan said. "There's no sense in charging him with something that carries a maximum penalty of five years in jail," Cahalan said.

Senec, 23, was a prosecution witness at the hearing for August and Paille.

The third defendant, Dismukes, 24, is awaiting trial on a charge of felonious assault in the beating of two non-whites at the motel.

Senec, August and Paille and white, Dismukes is colored.

The boys and girls were members of such community action organizations as Harvest Act and Harlem Youth Uplift.

Calvin A. Alston, youth mayor of Harlem, and his wife, led the group on the bus tour visit to Expo. At the Kodak Pavilion, Alston was presented with an Instamatic camera by representatives of the Canadian Kodak Company who were hosts for the young tourists.

The Harlem teen-agers were afforded the opportunity to visit the Canadian fair following their selection by Harlem community organizations as deserving representatives of New York's underprivileged.

In what was termed a "reciprocal trade agreement," 15 members of the LaRocque Bey Dance Group put on a demonstration of African tribal dances to the delight of several hundred Expo visitors.

Brooke says rights movement must take polical stance

PORTLOND, Ore. — In a MAJOR ADDR BEF T EHN-a major address before the National Urban League Sentinel Edward W. Brooke (R-Mass.) today strongly urged the civil rights movement to transform itself into a grass-roots political organization to provide urban slums with broad constructive leadership and open the way for full participation of the poor in the political process.

To head off further urban violence and riots and bring about peaceful and evolutionary change, Senator Brooke said the now-powerless urban poor must become fully involved in the democratic process, — "The exercise of power," — and gain the right and ability to control their lives.

At the same time, the Massachusetts Senator, a member of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders, chastized Congress for trying to maintain the status quo in a time of urban and racial crisis, for its apparent refusal to provide leadership and pass constructive and imaginative measures designed to cope with the current social upheaval.

* * *

HE TOOK Congress to task for disregarding government's traditional role in creating personal and business opportunities, for not establishing large-scale adequately-funded education, job-training and employments, and for inaction on open housing legislation.

Turning to the youth of the nation for help in poverty-stricken and culturally deprived areas, Senator Brooke proposed the establishment, under federal assistance, of a National Student Corps to augment teaching, education and cultural programs in slum communities.

* * *

HE STATED that he believed there is tremendous incentive, commitment and enthusiasm among American students today and "we need their imagination, integrity and talent."

As the principal speaker at the annual national conference of the Urban League held this year in Portland, Oregon, Senator Brooke declared that "the civil rights movement must evolve into a grass-roots political organization or it will be irrelevant to the needs of the people it represents.

"I am not an advocate of Black Power in the sense that that term has come to mean violence, but power as the ability to change conditions so that opportunities are opened, rights respected and enforced, and whole man's future made secure, is the essence of the democratic process. The poor, especially the colored poor, must become full participants.

* * *

"THE ROLE of the Urban League is to provide urban slums with leadership and organization which will achieve the degree of power which is the working force in a democracy. The slum communities must create political institutions to bargain with and confront the existing political structure.

"Organization and the exercise of power is the antithesis of the conditions and mood which lead to riots. Unless the people who are the object of assistance have a primary role in changing their lives for the better, a voice in deciding how programs should operate . . . we will be unsuccessful in breaking the cycle of dependency which keeps people poor and powerless."

Bombing view causing concern

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republican Leader Gerald Ford said Sunday the United States should get out of Vietnam if Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's theory that the power cannot halt the Vietnam war is correct.

"If McNamara's argument is right, our whole program in Vietnam is wrong," he said in a television interview (issues and Answers — ABC). "I agree with Senator Symington (Stuart Symington, D-Mo.) that . . . we might as well get out as quickly as we can as best we can."

McNamara told the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee Friday that the United States "cannot bomb North Vietnam to the conference table" and that the war ultimately must be won in South Vietnam.

Ex-marine succeeds in plumbing

NEW YORK — Charles Kelly, 24, an ex-marine, has broken into the plumbing trade with the help of the Workers Defense League's joint apprenticeship program.

He left the service in 1963 and embarked on a series of short-term jobs in an effort to provide for his wife, Gertrude, and their two daughters, Laurie, 2, and Alesia, 3.

The harder it became for Kelly to hold a steady job, the more determined he was to qualify as a plumber.

After a month's tutoring by the League, he took the apprentice examination in June and passed.

Kelly now earns $2.60 as a plumber's apprentice, and in five years, if everything goes well for the ex-marine, he will be receiving the standard $5.85 per hour journeyman's wage.

NAZI JAILED

Rockwell's burial creates problems

ARLINGTON, Va. (UPI) — An American Nazi Party member was carried bodily from the courtroom Monday when he tried to attack the accused assasin of Nazi Commander George Lincoln Rockwell.

Meanwhile, veterans' groups and members of Congress protested plans to bury the former Naval aviator in a national cemetery. They said it would be an insult to American servicemen.

WOMEN SCREAMED as Eric Ray Wenberg, 21, an Australian, lunged across three persons in an effort to reach John C. Patler, 20 charged with killing Rockwell, 49, in a parking lot ambush Friday.

"Patler, you filthy swine," shouted Wenberg as he was carried out feet first by six officers. "Long live the American Nazi party."

After sentencing Wenberg to 10 days in jail and a $50 fine for contempt of court, Arlington County Judge L. Jackson Embrey recessed the preliminary hearing until Thursday, or until Patler could be given a psychiatric examination. Earlier, his attorneys had said he would plead insanity.

THE NAZIS went ahead with plans to bury Rockwell in his Nazi uniform at the National Cemetery at Culpeper, Va., about 40 miles south of here, at 11 a.m. EDT Tuesday.

Although the Navy revoked Rockwell's commander's commission in the reserve, it was done under honorable conditions and there appeared to be no means of denying him a grave site in a military cemetery.

But Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., and Rep. Fred B. Rooney, D-Pa., asked that the burial be denied.

Byrd relayed a request from the Virginia Department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW), and Rooney took his personal objections to Army Secretary Stanley Resor in a hand-delivered letter.

The American Legion at Culpeper was considering filing a protest and the cemetery superintendent, Edward H. Maxwell, said he had received many objections from veterans and their relatives.

Robinson raps Carmichael

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former baseball star Jackie Robinson accused Stokely Carmichael Sunday of helping elect more segregationists to public office by stirring white backlash with his black power preachings.

Robinson, now a special assistant to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for community affairs, said in a local television interview (WBAL-TV "Youth Wants To Know") that "Carmichael's version of black power can only get us more Wallaces elected to office."

McCree to fight on as mayor

FLINT, Mich. (UPI) — Mayor Floyd J. McCree, who announced his resignation two weeks ago when the city commission rejected an open housing law, said Monday he will stay on the job and resume his fight for the ordinance.

"As I said two weeks ago, I am not willing to live an equal opportunity life," McCree said. "Neither am I willing to lodge an equal opportunity fight."

He said the reaction to his resignation in this industrial city of 210,000 had created a "new climate."

McCree also urged 16 other colored city officials to withdraw their resignations. Several immediately said they would stay on the job. The 16 had announced they were quitting following McCree's resignation.

Flint, with a population including about 45,000 colored is the nation's largest city with a non-white mayor.

McCree's resignation never was officially accepted by his fellow city commissioners because it was not submitted in writing. But the may
