Husband, 6 children ask $1 million in taxi death of wife and mother

Richard B. Walston, 3917 Colborne Rd., is asking Superior Court to award him and his six children the sum of $1 million damages for the death of his wife and their mother in a taxicab accident July 28.

According to records placed before the court last week, the wife and mother, Mrs. Dorothy A. Walston, was fatally injured when the Sun Taxicab in which she was riding collided with a loaded truck on Edmondson Ave. near Hilton St.

Mrs. Walston died the same day as the crash. Her surviving children are Tonya Rene, Sharon, Rochelle, Ricky Andre, Terry, Donna and Kimberly Walston.

The suit is directed to Curtis Lee Ash, 5302 Haddon Ave., the taxi driver, and Joseph Zimmerman, Sun Cab firm owner.

• • •

CLAIMING NEGLIGENCE and carelessness on the part of the cab driver, the husband points out the vehicle with his wife a passenger was proceeding East when it crashed into the truck which was going West.

Through his attorney, Richard T. Rombro, Mr. Walston claims the cab driver failed to maintain proper control of the taxi and the company failed to equip the car with proper and safe tires.

Out of the $1,000,000 Mr. Walston states he wants a sum of $750,000 for the six children.

Through her death and killing in the crash they have permanently sustained the loss of her care, affection, attention, assistance, support and maintenance, he declared.

In addition, as administer of his wife's estate, Mr. Walston says he is entitled to a sum of $250,000 for the funeral costs, other expenses of her death and to recover all damages that would have come to the estate had she survived the accident.

Woman up for NYC school post

NEW YORK —, The Board of Education was to act this week on the nomination of Mrs. Margaret S. Douglas as deputy superintendent in charge of curriculum.

If approved, Mrs. Douglas will be the highest ranking colored official and the highest ranking woman in the New York school system. She has been in charge of School District 19 in Brooklyn's East New York section.

Mrs. Douglas would fill one of the shoes of Dr. Joseph O. Loretan who died last summer. Dr. Seeling Lester was nominated as deputy superintendent for instruction. Dr. Loretan held both posts.

'Israel '67' on exhibit at Hochschild's

A week-long presentation by Hochschild, Kohn of the fashions, products, arts and crafts of Israel, the theme of which is "Israel '67" opened Sunday.

Displays and exhibitions will be located throughout the downtown Hochschild, Kohn store.

The young Israel fashion industry holds an increasingly important place in the fashion market of America.

Realizing this, Hochschild, Kohn began in the Fall of 1966 to prepare to present to Baltimore the first major showing of Israeli merchandise, which will include: suedes, rainwear, suits and coats, dresses, sportswear, cosmetics, children's wear, books and gifts.

• • •

THERE WILL be three special exhibitions of the works of Israeli artists on exhibition during the promotion. The arts and crafts to be exhibited are tapestries, crafts and art works various mediums: oil, watercolour and lithograph.

The nine tapestries and the 47 works of art come from the Gallery of Israeli Art, a division of the America-Israel Culture House in New York.

Another division of the America-Israel Culture House has sent to Hochschild, Kohn for the week of "Israel '67" an exhibit of Israeli handicrafts, which include glass, jewelry, metalcraft.

The tapestries will be located on the third floor; the paintings on the sixth and the crafts on the second. Almost all of the pieces on display in the exhibitions will be for sale.

• • •

AN EXHIBITION of nine tapestries from the Gallery of Israeli Art will be on display at Hochschild, Kohn from September 17th to the 23rd.

The handwoven tapestries are produced in Israel at a workshop in Nazareth. The project was begun four years ago as a joint venture of an automobile manufacturer and the Israeli Ministry of Commerce.

The art of tapestry making, which reached its peak during the Middle Ages and the Renaissance when tapestries were created for use in palaces and churches, has been undergoing a revival in recent times.

Jean Lurcat, the French artist, has been encouraging the rebirth of this art form in various countries, including Mexico and Portugal.

He helped initiate the project in Israel and is one of the many European and Israeli painters who have contributed designs for the tapestries which will be on display at Hochschild, Kohn.

• • •

THE ISRAELI artists Yaacov Agam, Mordecai Ardon, Zfira Ilin, Reuven Rubin, Moshe Tamir and Yaacov Wexler will be represented in the exhibition.

In addition to Lurcat, the European artists will be Karel Appel, Hans Hartung and Michel Soupbor.

The subject matter of the tapestries is extremely varied, and they are created in limited editions. In most instances, no more than four and never more than six are woven from a single design.

Each tapestry is produced on a hand operated loom and it takes one month to produce a square meter and about six months to complete an entire tapestry.

The weavers attend classes in drawing, design, color and technique and are not considered fully trained until they have studied and practiced for at least two years.

• • •

TAPESTRIES PRODUCED at Nazareth were selected by the Museum of Modern Art in New York and have recently been exhibited at Expo-67.

The most beautiful phone in the world was made to be hidden.

Sounds crazy, doesn't it? The new Trimline® phone's stylish, sculptured shape cries to be seen—to be talked about. But if you're a little short on space, it's good to know that a compact Trimline phone will fit just about anywhere. Under a kitchen cabinet or in a niche between beds. Wherever you want it.

Easiest dialing ever, too. Because the dial is in the handset. It comes to you. And if you're making a series of calls, no need to hang up after each one. Just press the recall button under the dial. You're ready for your next call.

Trimline phones come with either Touch-Tone® push buttons or regular rotary dial. And both light up, to make it easier to read the dial.

Naturally, the Trimline phone costs a little more. You'd expect it to. But here's a bonus. Take your choice of five beautiful telephone colors.

Let us put a new Trimline phone in your home. Just pick up the phone and call the Telephone Business Office. Or ask your telephone man for the world's most beautiful phone.

Hide it if you can.

Mrs. Belcher heads B-P Women's Clubs

CLEVELAND, Ohio —The 32nd Annual Convention of the National Association of Business and Professional Women's Clubs ended its sessions here, last week, with the installation of new officers and the launching of a new community service program.

Mrs. Marion E. Bryant, of Pittsburgh, Pa., national president, presided over the sessions until the closing banquet at which time she passed the gavel to the newly elected president, Mrs. Margaret Belcher of Columbus, Ga.

Host to the convention was the Cleveland Club, headed by Mrs. Margaret Watson, president, and Mrs. Minnie G. Turner, general convention chairman.

RESOLUTIONS passed by the Association called for immediate reconsideration of the rat control bill and the passage of Senate Bill 1308 to give the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission cease and desist authority in the area of making equal job opportunities more meaningful.

Another resolution concerning the plight of Mississippi colored people inspired the delegates to contribute from personal donations the sum of $1,018 to be sent to the needy of Mississippi.

• • •

THE ASSOCIATION set into operation its new community program called "Development — Equal and Enriching." This program is designed to improve opportunities and services for colored citizens and colored communities.

Working in conjunction with the Urban League, the 150 Clubs of the Association have begun some phase of the vast program; which includes such services as tutoring, counselling, physical fitness, private libraries, and operation of homework centers.

Guest speakers heard during the week's activities were: Dr. Catherine Osborn, assistant dean, Flora Stone Mather College; Commissioner Samuel C. Jackson, Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, Washington, D.C.; and Mrs. Connie Harper, News editor, Cleveland Call and Post, who participated in the workshop sessions.

• • •

KEYNOTE SPEAKER for the installation and Awards Banquet was Malvin Goode, UN Correspondent, American Broadcasting Company. In his topic "The Business of the Day," Mr. Goode stated that the "business of the day is equality for all Americans."

Sharing the spotlight with Mr. Goode was Carl B. Stokes, State Representative of Ohio, who served as toastmaster.

• • •

NATIONAL AWARDS went to Mesdames Daisy Craggett, Cleveland, O., Community Service and Josephine B. Keene, Philadelphia, Pa., Appreciation; Miss Beverly Kay Sharpe, New Rochelle, N.Y., Junior Achievement; and Mrs. Ersa H. Poston, New York, National Achievement.

Highlight of the activities of the Junior and Young Adult Department was the crowning of "Miss BPW." This coveted title was won by Miss Patricia Williams of Detroit, Mich.

Miss Brenda Smith of Newark, N.J., was the winner of a four-year scholarship given by the Scholarship Department. Miss Wanda Jean Clayton of Cleveland, O., and Zanada Helen Green of Washington, D.C. won one year scholarships.

Charles J. Smith, III, Director of Special Activities for Royal Crown Cola Company, presented the Association with a check for $500 for its scholarship fund.

• • •

SPECIAL GUEST of the youth activities was the 1967 Trans-Continental Cotillion Queen, Miss RoseAnn of Bermuda. The Cotillion is a project of the National Scholarship Department, and Miss Astwood was selected queen in competition with 16 other girls in Bermuda.

Mrs. Florence Madison Hill, Past National President, Philadelphia, Pa., installed the following officers:

President, Mesdames Margaret Belcher, Columbus, Ga.; first vice president, Rosalie McGuire, Baltimore, Md.; second vice president, Florence Lucas, attorney, Jamaica, N.Y.; third vice president, Dorothy N. Payne, Brooklyn, N.Y.;

Recording secretary, Mesdames Mollie Turner, Detroit, Mich.; corresponding secretary, V. Alyce Foster, Dallas, Texas; financial secretary, Edith Terry Wilson, Cleveland, O.; parliamentarian, Mythe I. Harris, New York City; editor, Dorothye H. Boswell, Los Angeles, Calif.; Junior Recording Secretary, Miss Marilyn Wright, Washington, D.C.; and junior leader, Darlene Daniels, Pittsburgh, Pa.

FASHION NOTE: Now the shirt dress is a pantdress for college. Look what's happened to that perennial campus favorite, the shirt dress. For Fall '67 it tailoredcates, adopts the divided skirt that's a part of the swinging pant fashion news. This divided shirt dress is in a brandy-and-black tattersall wool found at Singer Centers where fabrics are sold and can be made for about $9.50.

Your protection: read labels carefully. Under the law the label on this particular product should have contained the word "Danger," and should have carried a statement of precautionary measures and first-aid instruction.

I'M STRICTLY for easy living, and you can be sure that I'm scooping up all the little work-dodging hints.

One for this week, along with your "Recipe of the Week!" is for simplifying the cooking of fresh vegetables and cutting cleanup time when the meal is over. Use foil, Dear.

For example, Green Beans With Mushrooms:

Cut a pound of fresh green beans into two-inch lengths, wash and drain. Place beans on a square of heavy-duty foil and add a small onion diced, a quarter pound of sliced mushrooms, two tablespoons of water and two tablespoons of butter, margarine or bacon drippings. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Bring foil up over vegetables and make double folds at top and ends for a tight package. Bake in 350 F. oven for 40 minutes. Pick up packet with asbestos gloves and shake at least twice during cooking. Be sure to keep fold side up.

THE KID GLOVE season is here again.

Whether hems go up or down, kid gloves remain the finishing touch to any costume, but what woman hasn't wondered if the annoyance of putting them on (to say nothing of the cost of keeping them immaculate) is worth it?

A solution to the problem is baby powder . . . so kidding!

The smooth way to slide your hands right into the gloves, without any tugging that can stretch the leather out of shape, is to put baby powder inside before you don them. The powder also keeps the gloves pliable and soft and absorbs any perspiration from your hands that might discolor light colored kid gloves.

• • •

THE BEAUTY BIT: Now they're talking about a skin care wardrobe.

The experts say you really do not need a score of bottles and jars cluttering up your beauty equipment area.

What you must have, say they, is a water-dispersible cleanser (cream, lotion or soap); a skin toner (good old witch hazel, or possible an ice cube will do); a moisture base to use under cosmetics (to the store's beauty counter, Sabina) and an enriched night cream to replenish the skin's natural oils.

I don't know though. By the time you get your lashes, your contour equipment, your hair spray, the various lip sticks, liners, pencils powders, blushers, bath oils, colognes, perfumes, nail polishes, et al, you're going to be pretty pressed for space, anyway.

• • •

BARGAIN NOTE: Even those of us who would be horrified if anyone hinted that we were social strivers, never blink a lash when it comes to brand striving. We are thoroughly brainwashed on brands.

For example, many, who have the good sense and good taste to have accepted Scotch liquor until they have found a good one, might just pour that perfectly acceptable product into a bottle with a status label . . . the status having been achieved through expert advertising; etc.

Miss Caldwell recent bride

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Miss Carolyn Jean Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Caldwell became the bride of S/Sgt. Joseph Gibson at the parsonage of the Ebenezer Baptist Church, here, recently.

The Rev. A. Jackson Ryans officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Marilyn Joyce Caldwell was her sister's only attendant. S/sgt. Gibson had as his best man, S/Sgt. Harold E. Porter.

• • •

A RECEPTION was held on the lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Porter.

Miss Terry Rankin, Mrs. Johnsie Sigler, Miss Brenda Washington, Miss Rose Washington, Miss Darcelle Peterson, and Miss Anita Caldwell assisted.

Out-of-town guests were Lt. Joseph M. Drozda, Lt. Larry Wolfe, Lt. Lee F. Jones, and Lt. J. Harris.

SSgt. Gibson attended the public schools of Washington D.C. and is now with the United States Army at Fort Bragg, N.C. He served for five years in Germany, and is now a drill sergeant at Fort Bragg.

Friends rushed in, when they Left the 'Boutique' was empty

By LULA MACKAY

You walk up to a magenta door framed in black, turn a gold Oriental knob and walk into the newest and most elegant little shop that now decorates the local heath.

It's "Ruth J's Boutique" and is the fulfillment of a dream of many years of the owner, Mrs. Ruth J. Croxton.

Inside, colorful contemporary pop art decors the black walls. A drop lattice ceiling enhances the scene. The windows hang with black burlap draperies, the black and chrome furniture upholstered in diagonal black and white print, and the accents of green add to the ultra sophisticated setting.

• • •

THE RACKS were hung with scores of hand-picked dresses, suits and coats on the day of opening, but 200 guests, who had long been acquainted with Ruth J's Chic, swarmed in, and when they left the racks were practically empty.

Ruth is a serving prodigy. She made here first dress at six years old. When she grew up she studied at Morgan State College and then took two years of designing at Maryland Institute of Art.

She worked in the trade for 14 years. During this time she, of course, made and wore the most outstanding clothes on the scene . . . and for friends, created distinctive hats.

Mrs. Croxton plans to continue the hat making and to design for the shop (not for individuals). The clothes in the Botique will be hand-picked from New York and California Designers chiefly. But she is also carrying imported ribbon knits from Italy.

The Boutique also carried a complete line of accessories, including her fabulous hats, bags, hosiery, sweaters, umbrellas and jewelry.

The Botique is at the corner of Forest Park Avenue and Arydale Avenue.

Mrs. Croxton is the wife of Robert B. Croxton, district manager for a local paint company.

MRS. RUTH J. CROXTON tries on one of her original hats from a collection now being shown in her newly-opened Boutique in Baltimore.

Hints for Homemakers

INEZ KAISER

How long has it been since you have heard this one: "You'll wonder where the yellow went when you brush your teeth with PEPSODENT"? That old advertising slogan has not been mentioned for a long time, but it would be even more appropriate today. For today's PEPSODENT cleans and polishes better than ever, due to a new, improved formula.

This new PEPSODENT has a pleasant, fresh taste the whole family will appreciate. It sweetens the breath each time you brush. The special polishers in its formula are excellent for hard-to-whiten teeth. But, most important; PEPSODENT does really clean your teeth thoroughly.

The reason that it does is because the new PEPSODENT formula contains Zirconium Silicate, a new brightening discovery that does absolute wonders in getting teeth their whitest and brightest. What is more, it is the only tooth paste that has it.

So, if you want to enjoy the feeling of confidence that comes with knowing your smile is more attractive because your teeth are whiter and brighter, use new PEPSODENT for your daily brushing. I know you will be pleasantly surprised, because PEPSODENT with its Zirconium Silicate ingredient gets even hard-to-whiten teeth their whitest.

Let's face it! Dishwashing is a task children and adults like to avoid. Who wants to spend half the day with their hands in a dishpan? And the things harsh dishwashing can do to hands! It can dry, roughen, redden the skin.

But do not despair—there's help waiting on your supermarket shelf. It comes in a blue and white plastic bottle with a snip-off squirt tip. Guess its name? Why, DOVE FOR DISHES, of course.

Just try this "white-lotion mildness' for hands" and you'll be wondering why you have not used it before. DOVE FOR DISHES now has a skin-lotion ingredient in its formula. You know it will be kind to your hands. It even smells like a hand lotion.

I must also mention the remarkable things DOVE FOR DISHES will do for all the items that go into your dishpan every day. Each load of dishes will come out sparkling clean, from glassware to silverware to dinnerware right on down to the pots and pans. And the suds really last, too.

This dishwashing detergent combines kindness to hands with real cleaning power. When you use it, you can not only face the world, but extend a hand you will be proud of.

All women are different—but there is one thing that most of them have in common, and that is a desire to have an attractive face and soft skin.

Daily care of the skin is a must for any woman who wishes to accomplish this goal. And LEVER BROTHERS has the perfect beauty aid for beauty ritual. LUX BEAUTY BAR has long been an international favorite of women and still is, even though its contents are new.

It is made with softening lotion now, which makes LUX ideal to use for your good skin-care routine. It cleanses thoroughly, and this is most important if you want to have a healthy, glowing complexion.

The lotion in LUX softens and protects your skin and keeps it young-looking, too. Every day, just wash your face with LUX, allow the soap to stay on while you count to ten slowly. Rinse with hot, then cold, water. Your skin will be a shining example of what LUX can do to enhance your natural beauty.

In short, it will keep your skin in perfect condition. Results are what you want regardless of whether you are a career woman, housewife, young teenager—or just a woman. After all, it is what meets the eye that counts.

Times have certainly changed! Remember how difficult it used to be if you wanted a really clean, bright wash, and how hot water shrunk your clothes, faded colors and set stains? Well, those days no longer exist! The days of cold-water washing are finally here—and to stay, I might add.

One of the best products I know for laundering in cold water is COLD WATER "all," a product of LEVER BROTHERS. Believe it or not, but you can use COLD WATER "all" for your entire wash, from the grimiest work and play clothes to your most delicate synthetic fabrics. With this product there is no worry about clothes shrinking or colors fading and running as they can in hot water.

If you have any clothing that is heavily stained, just pre-treat the stains with COLD WATER "all" and launder as usual—simple as that!

It is perfect for Permanent Press fabrics, too. As you know, a water temperature which will limit wrinkling is very important in the laundering of these fabrics. So, my advice to you homemakers, young and old, is, keep pace with the times. Try COLD WATER "all" the next time you wash.
