Sigmas plan 53rd conclave

NEW YORK— Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, which celebrates its 53rd anniversary, this year, will discuss "Leadership Training For Community Service" during their forthcoming Conclave, to be held in the John Marshall Hotel, Richmond, Va. December 26th through 30th, 1967.

Hosts of the Convention are members of Lambda, Alpha Alpha Alpha, Iota Sigma and Alpha Kappa Sigma Chapters, fraternities located in Richmond and the surrounding tide water area.

In releasing preliminary plans approved by the new convention department and the local chapters, Dr. Alvin McNeil, of Grambling, La. national president, said, "Sigma is committed to national programs in the fields of Education, Bigger and Better Business and Social Actions which seeks to bridge the gaps between the haves and the have nots of our society. We are somberly aware of the quantity of our people's problems as they seek solutions toward changing "have nots" in jobs, housing, education as well as all from the ballot boxes. This is why we have planned our 53rd conclave as an all work conclave. There will be no nonsense or rah-rah activities."

Common stock open policy

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Speaking to the membership of the Cleveland branch of the National Negro Business and Professional Women, Norma L. McGhee, beard of a 15-year old investment brokerage firm, declared that "common stock ownership is the key to economic progress."

The meeting was held Sunday, October 15th, in the assembly room of the East 105th Street Medical Building.

McGhee pointed out in his address that the price paid for common stock in principal industries is to regarded as the necessary premium, colored Americans must pay to assure larger participation in the ownership and control of financial and industrial companies that produce and distribute the goods and services needed in everyday living. As a result of common stock ownership in these companies, the power to participate in the determination of policies of employment and upgrading is secured, he said.

McGhee outlined a plan by which every family would set aside 30 cents a day to provide a minimum of $100 a year to invest in the common stock. He stated that such a plan would provide a minimum of $8 million yearly for investment by the more than 80,000 colored families in Cleveland alone.

Those divided plastic cutlery trays are handy helpers to organize kitchen gadget or silverware drawers. But also can be a hindrance to sanitary eating if left off your periodic clean-up list. Make it a habit to empty these trays of their contents occasionally. Shake out crumbs and other debris. Then wash in hot soapy detergent suds, rinse, and dry well.

Cool Kitchen appliances and clean soon after use.

MISS PATRICIA MOBLEY of Greensboro, N.C., center, reigned as "Miss A and T" at the university's homecoming, last weekend. Lovely Juli G. Alli of Norwalk, Conn., is one of five (and the only tan one) finalists to have been selected in the campus-wide competition at the University of Connecticut to reign as Homecoming Queen this weekend.

This is truly the weekend of co-ed rule. At Durham, pretty Sondria Kayle Burris of Gastonia, N.C., will hold the spotlight. She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Burris . . . her mother is an insurance broker. Miss Burris is not only a "personality girl," but a "brain," too. A senior math major with a minor in chemestry, she plans advance study in mathematics. "Miss NCC Homecoming" will be the second time she has achieved this role. She was "Miss Shaw University" in 1963.

LINDA ANGREE INGRAHAM is the first foreign student at Bethune-Cookman College to become a Homecoming queen. Miss Ingraham is from Nassau, Bahamas. She is a psychology major, a member of the Canterbury Club and the International Relations Organization, and serves as a student secretary in the office of Alumni Affairs.

AT MARYLAND STATE, Princess Anne, the week-long Homecoming activities got underway today (Monday) with the ceremonial "Sadie Hawk and Goshawk" pow wow and talent show.

High on the list are the "Miss Hawk" frolic, the Coronation of Queen Zuella I (Miss Maryland State), a rollicking songfest, bonfire and a between the halves show replete with visiting high school bands, Angel Flight action, a M.S.C. Drill Team exhibition, and the Maryland State marching band. Queen Zuella, Tuella Gayle, a student majoring in Business Education, a charming, curvacious, sloe-eyed coed from Jamaica, N.Y., will be honored at a reception following the coronation ceremony. An honor guard furnished by the AFROTC Cadet Corps will be in attendance, against a backdrop of beauteous ladies in waiting.

Music for the high fashion finale of her Majesty's Ball will be furnished by the sensational, Chicago based Bill Johnson Orchestra —featuring — "Sam and Bill." Chairman of the Homecoming celebration is Richard H. Thomas, Acting Head — Vocational Education. Dr. Charles DeBerry, Dean of student participation.

At Miles College, in Birmingham, Ala., Miss Doris Miles, Class of '60, reigned as "Miss Alumni," and Miss Claradell Morrow as "Miss Miles College."

Miss Miles is currently serving as reading specialist in the Freshman Program at her Alma Mater. Miss Morrow, a senior, is majoring in elementary education and plans a teaching career.

Public Health Service offers awards to research nurses

Funds for Special Fellowships to train nurses for research careers continue to be available from the Division of Nursing, Bureau of Health Manpower, U.S. Public Health Service.

However, deadline dates for submission of applications for Predoctoral and Post-doctoral Special Nurse Fellowships have been changed. Nurses who hope to begin their research training within the next 12 months, and who need fellowship aid for this purpose, should submit their applications now.

• • •

NURSES WHO aspire to careers in nursing research and who wish to apply for Special Nurse Fellowships should bear in mind that fellowship evaluation panels meet three times a year, and that it takes at least three months, and sometimes as long as six months, to process applications and announce awards.

They therefore should be guided by the following timetable:

The applications received by Oct. 1 (in 1967 will be waivered until mid - November) awards will be announced by January - February; by January 2, May-June; and by April 1, September-October.

• • •

NURSES WHO are planning a research career will be interested in a new brochure on eligibility requirements for Predoctoral and Post-doctoral Special Nurse Research Fellowship.

For this brochure, also for application kits and other information, write the Division of Nursing, Bureau of Health Manpower, U.S. Public Health Service, 800 North Quincy Street, Arlington, Va. 22203.

Stops Tormenting Rectal Itch
Exclusive Formula Promptly Stops Itching, and Relieves Pain of Piles In Most Cases
New York, N.Y. (Special): One of the most tormenting afflictions is the burning itch caused by piles. It's most embarrassing during the day and especially aggravating at night. 'Scratching' only makes the condition worse. No matter what you've tried without results—here's good news.
A scientific research institute discovered a special medication which has the ability, in most cases—to promptly stop the burning itch, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids.
Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so. And it was accomplished without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.
The secret is Preparation H—an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! In case after case, Preparation H promptly stops the burning itch, relieves pain—as it gently reduces the swelling. Preparation H also lubricates, gently soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form. No prescription needed.

Hopeful New Faces On MSA Grid Scene

The Maryland Scholastic Association completed its third week of play in the 1967 football campaign Friday, and there is growing evidence that this will be one of the best balanced seasons in the history of organized and full integrated gridiron activity.

A large collection of bright new stars are on hand to replace the many fine athletes who departed the scene following last year's hotly contested schedule.

• • •

KURT SCHMOKE, who led City College to three consecutive undefeated seasons as All-Maryland quarterback and Athlete of the Year. Sandy Anderson, John Sykes, etc., have joined the likes of Alvin Lee, Ernie Torain, Charlie Pittman among MSA alumni. But others with similar promise are performing on scholastic fields and bringing thrills to thousands of fans, young and old.

Cecil Collier, for example, is one who figures to offer City the nearest thing to Schmoke the Collegians can hope to find. All-MSA fullback Curtis Barefoot is back with the 1966-67 champions.

• • •

ARCHBISHOP Curley High, long regarded as one of the weaker teams in the association, already has received a lift from the efforts of Tim Doyle, currently the leading offensive star of the MSA campaign.

Dunbar, whose sagging defense proved too much of a burden last year, is looking up with the shift of workhorse Ralph Cornick to utility duty as a middle guard, end and linebacker.

Throughout the conference, new faces are helping to enliven the picture of MSA football, and coaches are optimistic of a highly successful year for the program. . . . SAM LACY.
