been drinking, but made no complaints.

About 4 a.m. Starling said he was tired and was going to bed. He left the kitchen and went upstairs, according to the brother.

When Jerry went upstairs around 9:45 a.m. he attempted to awaken his brother to tell him something, but was unable to do so, according to police.

The police added that there was no evidence of foul play and that the young man had no past medical history of any physical trouble.

MRS. SPENCER said that her son had been despondent ever since his father's death six months ago.

Starling Spencer, Sr., her husband, was killed in an auto accident last April less than two months after his retirement from the Merchan Marines with 20 years service.

"We were always a close family, but I think Starling took his father's death hard-the City Council on the Republican mayoral team.

Horace W. Ashby Jr., along with the GOP's Arthur W. Sherwood, running for mayor, and Howard C. Beck for comptroller, have waged one of the dullest campaigns seen here in years.

Consequently, Mr. Ashby's appeal to members of his own race has suffered because of poor exposure.

The Democratic team of Thomas D'Alesandro 3rd for mayor, William D. Schaefer for president of the City Council, and Hyman A. Pressman for reelection to the comptroller post is generally considered a shoo-in hearing suits filed by the colored candidate, Richard G. Hatcher, Democratic nominee. He is opposing Republican Joseph Radigan.

Led by Lake County Democratic chairman, John G. Krupa, the Democratic organizations in Gary are opposing Mr. Hatcher.

The admission that party officials planned to use prostitutes came after FBI Agent Don Lotz, who took part in a crash investigation, testified, that 1,094 white ghost voters had been uncovered since the primary election.

MEANWHILE, THE Indiana Supreme Court upheld Gov. Roger Branigin's announced plan to send National Guard troops into Gary for today's election.

The Supreme Court overruled Superior Court Judge Noble Little who had issued an injunction against the use of guardsmen.

The Federal Court panel was hearing evidence in suits brought by Mr. Hatcher and the Federal Government charging party official with purging colored voters and committing other election frauds.

Mrs. Tokarskl said when she questioned the use of prostitutes in the election scheme, a man identified as Tom Ricco, "told me they were the only ones with guts to do it." (vote for non-existent voters).

TRIBUTE TO FIGHTER — A portrait of Dr. Carl Murphy, at right, was unveiled Thursday night at the Annual NAACP Life Membership Thanksgiving Freedom. Dr. Murphy, who died last February, was chairman of the AFRO Board of Director and moving force in the local chapter and national NAACP for more than 32 years, was honored as "a man of God, dedicated to unselfish service and leadership to the community." He was also presented to his family and was accepted by his widow, Mrs. Carl Murphy. Observing a moment of silence after the unveiling were, from left, the Rev. Dr. Walter Fauntroy, a councilman-designate in the Nation's Capital and guest speaker; Mrs. Murphy, Municipal Court Judge Harry A. Cole, toastmaster; and Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, NAACP chapter president, who made memorial speech.

Savings Certificates earn an EXCELLENT YIELD at Loyola Federal Savings Certificates are available in amounts of $12,000 or more for a term of six months and earn the maximum dividend allowable under Federal Home Loan Bank Board regulations.
Also, Loyola continues to offer Savings Certificates of $1,000 to $11,000 for a period of one year, which earn an excellent return.
On both of the above plans, QUARTERLY dividends are mailed at the regular passbook rate and additional dividends are paid when the Certificates mature. If funds are withdrawn before the end of one year, the basic passbook rate is applicable.
Funds invested on or before November 10th earn dividends for the entire month.

St. Luke's marks 100th anniversary

The St. Luke's Methodist Church in Denton, celebrated its 100th year of continous service to the community last week. The Rev. Thomas J. Turkington spoke at a special morning service and the Rev. William Dore preached at 1 a.m.

Both are currently ministers at St. Luke's. A former pastor, now serving at Bethel Methodist Church, Lewes, Del., the Rev. George Goodwy spoke at the 7:30 p.m. service.

The Centennial Year Committee is made up of local residents and church members. they are:

Carville Fleetwood, chairman; Mrs. Morgan Williams, secretary; Jack Palmer, lay leader; Walter Palmer, Jr., chairman, commission on finance; Elias Nuttle, chairman board of trustees; Emory Dobson, Centennial Year Book chairman; Mrs. K. mon, local church activities; Wilbur F. Hoopengardner, chairman building committee; Mrs. F. Baynard Harper, Mrs. Clifford Calloway Jr., Gordon Mears, Oliver Smith, Norton Leverage, Mrs. Harry Turkington, O. O. Stivers, Mrs. James Fretter and Miss Betty Faulkner.

Health Fair roams from space medicine to diapers

Running the gamut from outer space medicine to medical quackery; from karate to diaper-changing; and from birth to how we grow old, Maryland's first Health Fair, a free and entertaining health exposition, opens Saturday for a nine day run in the Civic Center.

With more than 200 health exhibits, films, dances, demonstrations and eight free health screening tests for Marylanders of all ages, the fair is reported to be one of the largest admission-free health shows ever organized.

Highlight of the fair will be the NASA space medicine exhibit, with actual space capsule hardware used by U.S. astronauts.

Ten separate American Medical Association exhibits and a collection of 40 oil paintings tracing the history of pharmacy are also among major exhibits.

EXPECTED TO be most popular attraction is the series of free medical tests, enabling the public to be screened individually for diabetes, mental health, tuberculosis and cancer.

Other free tests will be for sight and hearing. Dental screenings by three dentists and an unusual examination to determine "Are You a Candidate for a Heart Attack?" complete the test aspect of the fair.

Additional Fair features are demonstrations of karate, fencing, gymnastics, unusual dances, drill teams and nurses' showcase. The Baltimore City Fire Department will conduct daily demonstrations of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation throughout the run of the fair.

AN IMPRESSIVE schedule of motion pictures, including two award-winning films on schizophrenia and LSD are additional features on the Health Fair agenda. Another highlight will be the opportunity Fair goers will have to discuss physical fitness and obtain autographs from Orioles and Colts stars.

"The aim of the Health Fair is to enlighten people in an entertaining way about their health, their bodies and good health habits," explains Dr. John R. Davis, president of the Maryland Health Fair. "We believe we have succeeded in making the Health Fair fun for the entire family."

Smith Collene Club project

The Smith College Club of Baltimore is collecting used books for its 10th annual used book sale to be held in the spring.

Proceeds from the sale are used to provide scholarship funds for Baltimore area girls to Smith College in Northampton, Mass.

Books of all types are needed including texts, fiction, sets of classics and encyclopedias, children's, art and scientific, foreign languages and paperbacks.

Donors may leave books at Chappell's Market in the Village of Cross Keys or may call 898-7221 or 485-5039 for pick up service.

Open house

Southern High School will hold "Open House" for all parents and friends of the school on Thursday, Nov. 9 as part of American Education Week ceremonies.

Honor Society members will greet all parents outside the school library in the 1956 building. The program includes observation of children in class by parents.

Kindergarten increase due

Seventeen of the state's 24 local public school systems plan to offer kindergarten programs when schools open next fall, a survey by the Maryland State Department of Education reveals.

Statewide enrollment in kindergartens will total about 55,120 children, over 20,000 more than the 34,975 enrolled in 1966, final year before the Maryland General Assembly passed support legislation.

STATE AID for kindergarten operation for the 41,000 children attending this year will total about $6.7 million, according to Ted J. Smith, state aid specialist in the education agency.

Early estimate of next school year's state outlay, he says, is $9 million.

THE ONLY school systems that do not now have plans for public kindergarten programs next school year are Allegany, Cecil, Charles, Dorchester, Kent, Somerset and Talbot, the state education survey shows. Some may develop programs before next year.
