MRS. BELL FITZ ROY of Orange, N.J., retiring director, presided over the three-day meeting which was held in the Tarrytown Hilton Inn.

Over 200 delegates and visitors from 29 Eastern cities from Northern Virginia to Boston, Mass., attended along with past and present national officers of the organization including Mrs. Eleanor DeLoache, Columbus, Ohio, national president; Mrs. Vi Curtis Hinton, Washington, national secretary, Mrs. Jacqueline Robinson, chairman of the newly initiated Jack and Jill Foundation Committee, Mrs. Jetta Jones, Chicago, legal counsel of the foundation, Mrs. Nellie Roulhack, Philadelphia, former national president, and Mrs. Blanche Hughes, past national program director.

DELEGATES AND members discussed and explored the National Foundation project, "The Underachieving Male Student." This foundation is currently being created for the purpose of increasing opportunities for children in the areas of education cultural growth and civic responsibilities.

The Conference theme "The Challenge Ahead" was the focus of three workshops: the focus of three workshops: "The President's Workshop" Mrs. DeLoache, leader; "Fund Raising," Mrs. Emmalina Davis, leader; and "The Role of the Teenager," Mrs. Euva Bembry, leader.

Other highlights of the meeting included a luncheon address by the Hon. William H. Booth, chairman of the N.Y. City Human Rights Commission, who offered the services of his office in helping these individuals to become knowledgeable as to how to handle situations when one is discriminated against.

Nathaniel A. Dickerson, employment specialist of General Foods Corporation, the banquet speaker, called upon the group to "reach out into the neighborhood and help raise the social plateau of the underprivileged."

Speaking on the theme of the Conference, "The Challenge Ahead," he pointed out the importance of understanding the child early in life and of directing and channeling his interests in pace with his capabilities. In doing so, Mr. Dickerson stated, "the youngster will want a meaningful education, be motivated to get a decent job, provide a good home for his family and be qualified to make a worthy contribution to society." Mr. Dickerson, remembered as one of the Mariners of Arthur Godfrey's TV series, is a Jack and Jill father.

• • •

SOCIAL EVENTS of the Conference included a "get-acquainted" cocktail party and a dinner-dance.

Mrs. Winifred T. Pryor and Mrs. Nancy P. Fowlkes of White Plains, were chairman and co-chairman of the Conference and Mgr. Inez Goring upon the group to "reach out into the neighborhood and VIETNAM MAY mean many things to many people but to Bernice Mitchell, 23-year-old first lieutenant in the Army Nursing Corps, Vietnam is a challenging opportunity to serve humanity.

Lt. Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Watlington of Greensboro, N.C., has been stationed in Vietnam since September. The graduate of A and T University writes back that her days are filled with work, that the work is appreciated, and that her experiences in the emergency room of the hospital are contributing greatly to her professional growth.

THE ENGAGEMENT of Carmen Felitna Howell to Henry Frederick Ferguson has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Howell of Tallahassee, Fla.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Howell of the nursing staff of Tallahassee A and M University Hospital and Dr. F. R. Ferguson of Wilmington, Del.

The bride-elect attended Howard University, Washington, D.C., and is presently a student at Knoxville, Tenn.

Mr. Ferguson was graduated from St. Joseph High School, Pensacola, Fla. and served four years in the U.S. Air Force, where he was a member of the Air Police. He is now a senior, majoring in business management at A and M University.

The wedding ceremony is scheduled for Nov. 24, at Bethel Baptist Church in Tallahassee.

Parents of the bride-to-be are prominent in affairs of Tallahassee. Her father is district manager of the Atlanta Life Insurance Company and her mother is a secondary supervisor in the Leon County school system.

Miss Howell's maternal grandparents are the late Aurelio Casanas and Mrs. Madeline Casanas of Tallahassee. She is the grandniece of Mrs. Letitia T. Byrd and Mrs. Victorine Blake of Tallahassee. A paternal aunt, Mrs. Martha Moore, resides in New York. Maternal aunts and uncles include Mrs. Allen Valentine, New York; Mrs. Wendell Campbell, Washington, D.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Alexander, dean of men and head of the student clinic, respectively, at Knoxville College, Knoxville, Tenn.; Mrs. Lucille Robinson, Chicago, Ill. Antonio Casanas, a teacher in the Broward County, Fla., schools, and Mrs. Claudine L. Davis, Waycross, Ga. retired school teacher.

BASEBALL, BASKETBALL, NOW FOOTBALL

By SAM LACY

Perhaps you're a little tired of reading here from time to time, how colored athletes dominate the major league baseball batting statistics during the summer months, and constantly hog the top scoring columns in the National Basketball Association through the winter campaign, so the column has an idea it should relieve you of such boring observations . . . We'll take a look at football among the pros.

Last week's National Football League performance charts show tan stars straddling the leader lists in five of the eight categories . . . and in one of those remaining three, one of their number was in second place . . . The other two categories are in passing and kicking, areas in which they're not included.

A to Z

Kelly and Company

The NFL's leading rusher was Leroy Kelly of the Cleveland Browns, with 584 yards, a margin of 69 over Johnny Roland of the St. Louis Cardinals . . . The two pace-setters were well out in front of Green Bay's Jim Grabowski . . . The top pass receiver in the NFL was Willie Richardson of the Baltimore Colts . . . and Willie, like Leroy, had a tan pursuer as his closest rival . . . Charley Taylor of the Washington Redskins, was one catch back at 35, and by Richardson's own admission "probably lost the lead only because he didn't play" the previous Sunday.

Top man in punt returns in the NFL was Rickie Harris, and leading in kickoff runbacks was Rickie's Washington Redskins teammate, John Love . . . John held a slight edge in this department over the redoubtable Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears . . . The fifth department under discussion here is interception grabs . . . and the leader was Lem Barney of the Detroit Lions . . . He had grabbed six and turned them into 126 yards and two touchdowns.

Bigger in AFL

In the American Football League, the story is even more impressive . . . Tan stars not only top five of the eight listed categories, they rate 1-2-3-4 in one department and they hold down the 1-2-3 spots in two others.

Larry Carwell of the Houston Oilers, for example, was setting the pace in punt returns, followed by Les Duncan of San Diego, Floyd Little of Denver, and Butch Byrd of Buffalo, in that order . . . At the top of the rushers was the tan triumvirate of Boston's Jim Nance, Oakland's Clem Daniels and Kansas City's Mike Garrett . . . And leading the AFL kickoff return specialists were Houston's Zeke Moore, with Kansas City's Nolan Smith next and Denver's Floyd Little third.

The other two categories in which colored athletes are prominent are in scoring and intercepting . . . New York Jets have the best man in the pointmaking department in Emerson Boozer, and Houston owns the most prolific grabber of enemy passes in the person of Miller Farr . . . No colored players are involved in the passing and punting statistics . . . Oakland's Hewritt Dixon is third in pass receptions.

Scouts wake up

There are a few other interesting aspects connected with the foregoing revelations . . . One has to do with the increasing amount of attention now being paid to predominantly-colored colleges by pro scouts . . . There was the time that these fellows went out of their way to stay away from the campus of a school like Morgan, or Jackson State College in Mississippi, or Maryland State, etc . . . But not any more . . . They obviously woke up to the facts of life.

Nine of the young stars mentioned in this survey of leaders are products of just such schools as Morgan and Jackson State . . . The Southwest Mississippi College, in fact, graduated three of the nine — Richardson, Barney and Duncan . . . Morgan, of course, is the alma mater of the brilliant Leroy Kelly . . . Daniels is a product of Prairie View, Moore hails from Missouri Lincoln, Smith from Tennessee State, Boozer from Maryland State, and Dixon from Florida A and M University.

Carwell, Duncan, Zeke Moore, Nolan Smith and Farr are rookies . . . and the latter, Miller Farr, a graduate of Wichita State, is the unsung older brother of Mel Farr, the UCLA All-American of 1966, now with the Detroit Lions of the NFL.

He ain't none of 'em

Joe Louis, who never has hesitated to say exactly what he thinks about a given subject, listened intently as Cassius (Muhammad Ali) Clay told a New York gathering the other day: "They can have all the (World Boxing Association) tournaments they want, but they can't have my title until somebody whips me . . . I have a belt that says 'world heavyweight champion' and nobody else can have that belt until a champion is whipped, quits or dies . . . And I ain't none of them" . . . Louis, standing quietly aside, remarked: "He's right."

Joe, incidentally, was back at Pompton Lakes, N.J., the other day, to be installed as an honorary member of the city's Chamber of Commerce . . . It will be recalled that Louis did more than 90 percent of his training for title defenses in the tiny New Jersey hamlet a stone's throw from New York . . . and the townspeople have never forgotten him nor the many things he did to contribute to the welfare of the community.

• • •

HE PROVIDED the money for the city's first ambulance and for the modern radio communications system used for years by the Pompton Lakes police department.

Two members of that department — patrolmen Lynn Weckbach and Joseph Sisco — were little fellows who became the Brown Bomber's daily companions when Joe did road work in the New Jersey countryside during those golden (for him) years of the forties.

In the course of the visit, the former champ was reminded that the old house which served as headquarters for the training camp, was an historic landmark . . . George Washington once slept in the same bedroom Joe used, he was told . . . "Yea," grinned the ex-Bomber, "so I heard, but I bet I outslept him."

The Ali Cats

And Ali (or Clay, if you prefer) may have let a couple of cats out of the bag, as the saying goes . . . Expounding on the greatness of Louis and himself, the deposed titleholder laughed: "It makes no difference whether Joe could beat me or I could beat him . . . they got a computer conducting a make-believe tournament now that whips us both."

And the second cat escaped when Ali answered a question as to whether or not he and his recent bride have any plans for a "little heavyweight champion" . . . Muhammad became Allah (the prophet): "Maybe," he said, "in about nine months or so."

Major gridirons provide field day for tan athletes

Colored athletes in major college football enjoyed a field day Saturday.

The likes of Leroy Keys of Purdue, Charlie Pittman of Penn State, Texas' Chris Gilbert and SMU's Jerry Levias produced a series of spectacular performances that beg attention.

Elsewhere on these pages is a story relating to the outstanding play of quarterback Freddie Summer at Wake Forest, and of the continuing absence of O. J. Simpson from the Southern California lineup due to injury. But herewith is a roundup of top efforts of other tan stars in leading college over the nation:

• • •

AT CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Keys dashed for three touchdowns and passed for another in racking up a new Boilermaker rushing and leading leading Purdue to a 42 - 9 crushing over Illinois. Purdue took a kickoff on the Illinois 42, and in two plays moved to the Illini 9, where the magnificent Keys scampered to the 5 and then plunged over for the first touchdown.

• • •

PURDUE got the ball at the midfield and four plays later they were on the Illini 5 from where Keys took the ball into the end zone for his second TD.

Keys did it again in the third quarter when the Boilermakers blocked an Illini punt on the 28. Keyes whipped through the line for the distance on the next play.

Then Purdue halfback then proved he can throw as well as run. On a delay option play, He threw 12 yards to Jim Beirne for another touchdown.

• • •

IN PENN STATE'S 38-3 shellacking of Maryland at Beaver Field, Pittman was most of the Nittany Lion offense.

The young sophomore from Baltimore's Edmondson High School tallied the last three Penn State touchdowns on twisting runs of 3 yards, 15 and six yards.

His 15 carries netted 106 yards for an average of 3 yards, 15 and six yards.

His 15 carries netted 106 yards for an average of better than seven yards per rush. In addition to his own scoring, Charlie was instrumental in setting up one of the other two TD's garned by his team.

• • •

IN THE meantime, at Dallas, Chris Gilbert of Texas, and Jerry Levias of Southern Methodist, were hot on personal duel as the Longhorns downed the Mustangs, 35-28, in a wild affray.

Gilbert, Texas' tan answer to SMU's sensational Levias, sustained a shoulder separation in the early moment of the second quarter, but before departing has accounted for two touchdowns.

Levias, performing with his typical brilliance, caught TD passes of 28 yards, 55 yards and 3 yards. His afternoon netted 18 of the Mustangs' 28 points.

• • •

AT SAN FRANCISCO, Bob Toledo, senior quarterback from San Jose, Calif., set an NCAA record today, completing 33 of 50 passes for 501 yards and eight touchdowns in leading San Francisco State to a 68-34 victory over Humbolt State.

Toledo's 33 completions broke by one the record set by Jerry Rhome of Tulsa in 1965. Toledo has two more games to play this season. He has 39 touchdowns this year.

CHATHAM CHOICE — Fergugon (seated, center) star pitcher of the Chicago Cubs, waves appreciation to spectators lining parade route in salute by his hometown of Chatham, Ontario (Canada). With Jenkins is Cubs captain and longtime star, Ernie Banks. Banks, invited by Jenkins' fans to represent Cubs in tribute, agreed on being assured he'd ride in new Ford. Ernie Ford and Bob Nelson (right) and partners in Ford dealship in Chicago.

Bears draw Banks ire despite 24th consecutive win

To Morgan State College coach Earl Banks, victory is something that should be achieved with top effort. When-ever it comes in any other way, he's unhappy.

That's the way the AFRO found Banks following his team's 28-3 triump over Hampton Institute at Hampton, Saturday.

He was unhappy despite the fact his Golden Bears had annexed their 24th consecutive win to remain unbeaten for the season and well on the way to a post-season bowl invitation.

• • •

"ITS IMPORTANT to me that people understand I have no intention of being smug in this," Banks declared. "Of course, there is a measure of satisfaction in winning.

"Hampton, like Maryland State and A and T and the others, has a good team. Mel Labat has done a fine job with them. He is undermanned as far as talent is concerned, but he has done an exceptional job with what he has to work with.

"I think it is largely because of our superior manpower that we did beat them. And his coaching ability shows in fact that Hampton improves with every game.

"AS FOR my attitude in connection with our team, I think it is easily explained," Banks continued.

"We won, yes, but I'm not satisfied with the way we won. When you don't perform at your highest level, you have to be dissatisfied. We didn't perform the way we can Saturday.

"I'm like any teacher. I want the highest level of performance and when I get that I'm willing to let the result of the contest speak for itself. If our team gives a top effort, I feel reasonably sure we should win most of the games we play.

• • •

"WE HAD several miserable performances against Hampton. I don't wish to single out anyone for public mention, but they'll hear from us (the coaches) this week. Of that, you can be sure.

"Hampton seemed to have more desire. They wanted to beat us, and we seemed to be taking victory for granted. I don't like that.

• • •

"WHILE I'M very displeased with some of our performances, I think I should mention that Daryl Johnson (quarterback), Carl Dabney, Edward Banks and Charlie Jamieson gave top efforts.

"I was pleasantly surprised with Banks and Jamieson because these are two boys who haven't had much chance to play. They appeared best on making the best of the opportunity."

Trojan band to feature NFL halftime

PETERSBURG, Va. — The "Marching 110" band representing Virginia State College will make its fourth appearance since 1960 at a New York Giants' football halftime performance, Nov. 19.

Dr. F. Nathaniel Gatlin, head of the college music department, said the band, actually numbering 111 counting the drum major, will also perform on a tour of four Southern States, including North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida in April.

• • •

VIRGINIA STATE'S Marching 110 is a well travelled organization having represented Virginia in the United States pageant of talent at Montreal's Expo '67 last June.

The band also was the first collegiate band from America ever to perform during halftime festivities at a Canadian Football League game at Montreal last fall.

Clay asks out in lawyer suit

HOUSTON (UPI) — Cassius Clay, last week, asked a Federal Court to dismiss a $284,615 suit filed by the former heavyweight champion's former lawyer.

Clay's only reason given for asking dismissal of the suit by Hayden Covington of New York, was that he does not live in Houston. Clay lives in Chicago.

Clay asked that the suit be transferred to Chicago. It it was not dismissed.

• • •

COVINGTON maintains Clay owes him the money for services before and after his trial on charges of refusal to be inducted into the U.S. Army.

Clay was convicted and sentenced to five years and fined $10,000.

The case is on appeal, but Clay dismissed Covington nearly two months ago.

FREDDIE SUMMERS

Summers sparkles in upset of S.C.

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. — Ignited by the sparkling play of Freddie Summers, the first colored quarterback in Dixie football history, Wake Forest tallied twice in the final three minutes here Saturday night to gain a 35-21 upset victory over previously unbeaten South Carolina.

Summers gave Wake Forest the go-ahead touchdown on a 17-yard run and halfback Buz Leavitt added the icing with a one-yard plunge with only 14 seconds showing on the clock.

It was the second touchdown of the night for Summers.

• • •

THE CAT-QUICK quarterback scored the Deacons' first touchdown on a one-yard plunge in the opening moments of the game.

Leavitt got his first touchdown on a four-yard plunge that gave Wake Forest a 21-14 halftime lead.

Fullback Ron Jurewich scored the second touchdown on a two-yard run.

Wake Forest, playing before a chilled homecoming crowd of 13,000, stunned the favored Gamecocks with touchdowns the first two times they got the football.

IT WAS South Carolina's first loss in the Atlantic Coast Conference and knocked them out of a first place tie.

It was only Wake Forest's second win after six straight losses. It was also the most points a Wake Forest team has scored since the second game of 1964 when they beat Virginia Tech 38-21.

Tiger, Rouse OK 3 judges

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Light-heavyweight champion Dick Tiger of Nigeria, and Roger Rouse of Montana, are in agreement to have three judges score their title fight Nov. 17 but not on sharing the same training ring.

At the suggestion of the Nevada State Athletic Commission, the two boxers had no objections to three judges without the referee scoring the fight. The three-judge system had been used in Nevada regularly but in championship fights the opponents were given the choice of having the referee as a third judge and they favored that plan.

• • •

THE PLAN frees the referee from having to worry about the points scored by the rivals and allows him to concentrate solely on handling the fight in the ring.

Although Tiger and Rouse were in agreement on the three judges, the champion objected to sharing the training ring at the Fremont Hotel with his opponent. Tiger threatened to go to Los Angeles and train [illegible] Rouse worked out elsewhere.

Tennessee State end sets mark against Morris Brown

ATLANTA, Ga.—Split End Leo Johnson established a pass reception mark while leading Tennessee State University to a 34-0 shutout of Morris Brown here Friday night.

Johnson caught eight Eldridge Dickey passes for 109 yards pushing his season's total to 655 yards in 53 catches which broke the 640 yards in 40 receptions, set last season by Johnson Robinson. Going into the ball game, Johnson had bettered Robinson's season's receptions by five.

Roseboro wins first round in action against Marichal

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles Dodgers catcher John Roseboro won the first skirmish in his legal battle against pitcher Juan Marichal and the San Francisco Giants, whom he is suing for $110,000 assault and battery damages.

Superior Judge Ernest J. Zack refused Tuesday, to grant Marichal and the Giants a change of venue to a "neutral county" and said he felt the club and the player could get a fair trial in Los Angeles.

Roseboro brought the suit after he was hit over the head with a baseball bat by Marichal, Aug. 22, 1965, at Candlestick Park during a Dodgers-Giants baseball game.

• • •

ATTORNEY Russell N. Brouder, representing Marichal and the Giants, previously had lost a plea to have the case transferred to San Francisco on the grounds that was the headquarters of the club and where the incident took place.

The judge denied attorney Brouder's claim that any jury selected in Los Angeles would be composed of Dodger fans. He pointed out many people followed the California Angels and others had not pledged their loyalty to any team.

No date has been set for trial of the action.

NEW YORK — "Bulldog" Williams now a practising physician in Harlem, remembered as a football terror at Hampton and Howard when those schools had teams ranked high in the C-IAA is showing improvement in the Kingsbridge Veterans Hospital where he has been confined for two months after suffering a heart attack.

Bisons force foe's mistakes, win 20-13

SALISBURY, N.C. — The Howard University Bisons Doe used a pass interception and a recovered fumble to defeat the Livingstone College Bears, 20-13, here Saturday before an overflow homecoming crowd in Alumni Memorial Stadium.

Early in the second period, Howard linebacker Randolph Jenkins intercepted a toss by Produs Perkins, Livingstone quarterback, and ran 9 yards untouched for the first score of the game. The try for conversion failed and the Bisons led, 6-0.

Later in the same period, James Walker passed to Walter Brown for the second Howard score with the play covering 20 yards. Again, the try for point after touchdown failed and the Bisons were ahead, 12-0.

• • •

LIVINGSTONE managed a sustained drive from its own 48 to score with James Saunders sneaking over from the 5-yard line. Saunders' kick for the extra point failed and Howard went out at intermission with a 12-6 lead.

Early in the third period, Howard went ahead to stay when Walter Greenfield, defensive tackle, recovered a fumble in the end zone which the poppet out of the hands of Doug Polk, Livingstone halfback. A 2-point conversion was made when Harold Ford passed to Walker and Howard led 20-6.

• • •

LIVINGSTONE muffed several chances for scoring in the final period when fumbles and penalties caused the attack to bog down.

Four times the Bears penetrated deep in Howard territory but could not cross the goal line.

Philly star Allen on injury list

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — An examination Friday showed that Richie Allen, the Philadelphia Phillies' injured third baseman, still does not have control of two fingers of his right hand.

The orthopedic physician at Temple University Hospital who examined Allen said, however, that the tendon repair, wrist function and movement are "very good."

• • •

ALLEN DOESN'T have much control of his last two fingers because of the lack of nerve control which was not expected to be back at this time," the doctor said.

He said it would probably be three more months before they could determine whether he would regain full control of the fingers.

Allen still wears a splint on his hand and wrist to maintain the shape of his hand. He severed two tendons and cut a nerve in his hand Aug. 24, when it smashed through a headlight of a car he was pushing.

Tennessee State end sets mark against Morris Brown

"I'm glad to get this one," coach John A. Merritt beamed after the game. "We were moving forward to Kentucky State in two weeks. But this was a good win for us," He continued.

• • •

FROM THE opening gun, the Big Blue defensive machine anchored by Claude Humphrey, and Tommie Davis, senior tackles, bottled up Morris Brown and forced them to start punting on third down.

The Merrittmen scored the first two times they got their hands of the ball and went into the dressing room with a 12-0 halftime lead.

Leading his team to its fourth victory in seven starts, Dickey had completed 10 to 17 passes for 141 yards by intermission. He accounted for 168 yards and three TDS in connection on 12 of 24 aerials during the game.

'Tops In Sports' banquet, Jan. 12

BALTIMORE

The Maryland Professional Baseball Players Association has announced that its 1968 "Tops In Sports" banquet and dance will be held January 12 at the Eastwind on Pulaski Highway.

An annual event in Baltimore for the past 14 years, "Tops In Sports" pays tribute to the achievements of professional baseball players and other figures from the world of sports.

Highlighting the banquet is presentation of bejeweled Babe Ruth crowns to a major league slugger from the previous seasons and to a batting star from the past.
