Refresher courses for nurses coming Nov. 27

New trends in nursing medicine, and pharmacology will be the main topics of a refresher course for registered professional nurses to be offered at University of Maryland Hospital from Nov. 27 to Dec. 15.

The second such course to be sponsored by University, it is tuition-free to all participants.

With the need for the specialized skills of professional nurses constantly increasing, the purpose of the course is to encourage inactive nurses back to their profession.

It is designed to familiarize them with current activities in nursing and some health fields and to restore their confidence in working with patients, so that they will realize how much they can contribute to the community and will seek at least part-time employment.

In addition to covering basic skills, the course will emphasize topics such as the organization and function of health agencies, the impact of Medicare on hospitals, team nursing, drugs in current use, and newer inhalative nurses back to their profession.

Stress will be placed on the nurse's role in supporting new techniques and procedures of medicine and surgery, such as recent cancer therapies, medical and surgical cardiac care, and the use of hyperbari oxygen chambers. Specific areas in which students are interested will also be covered.

The course is sponsored by federal funds from the Manpower Development and Training Act in cooperation with the Hospital Council of Maryland, the Maryland Nurses Association, and the Maryland League for Nursing. Classes will meet daily from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. for a total of 90 hours of clinical instruction and supervised practice.

Professional registered nurses who would like more information on the program may call the associate director of nursing service at University Hospital from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday at 955-8377.

NOV. 15

Dedication exercises of the new Cripsus Attucks Recreation Center, 1600 Madison Ave., will be held at 7:30 p.m. by the Bureau of Recreation, with refreshments served. The public is invited.

Welfare confab set on jobs

A five-member panel will discuss the impediments to employment as part of the semi-annual meeting of the Maryland Conference of Social Welfare to be held at the Emerson Hotel Friday.

The theme of the meeting, which will begin at 9 a.m., for the 1,000-member conference will be "Doors to Employment—Open or Shut?"

Participating in the panel discussion will be William J. Schwabe, director of personnel relations, Johns Hopkins Hospital; Mrs. Norris N. Nichols, vice president in charge of personnel, Waverly Press; Dr. Homer E. Favor, director, Urban Studies Institute, Morgan State College; Philip B. Van Gelder, international representative, International Association of Machinists; and Dr. John M. Hamilton, superintendent, Clifton Perkins State Hospital.

Keynote speaker for the meeting will be T. C. Allen, assistant to the director of industrial relations, IT and T Corp.

The luncheon address will be given by Assistant Secretary of Labor Stanley H. Ruttenberg.

Dr. Turner urges change toward youth

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — "We must get involved in the fabric of the lives of young people today," stated Dr. Hester Turner, National executive director of the Camp Fire Girls, at the closing session of the youth organization's Quadrennial Conference held here this week.

"We need to know the different cultures existing in our country and our world. We must be sensitive to change and the forces that create change in our society."

THE NOW-GENERATION was the focal point of the Conference, attended by over 1,000 adult volunteers and professionals from Camp Fire Girls councils cross-country.

They witnessed a psychedelic "happening," visited a demonstration coffee house, experienced the electric mood of young-mod rock music and dance and even danced the "bugaloo" themselves — the better to cast off the chains of rear-view-mirror tradition and step across the so-called "generation gap." They had come to learn, adapt, expand their horizons and "get with it" in Today's Program for Today's Girl.

"THE FUNCTION of an organization like Camp Fire Girls is moving from stabilizer-of-society to manager-of-turbulence, stated Dr. Thomas R. Bennett II, conference consultant and director of graduate studies at Georgian Williams College, Downers Grove, Illinois. "There must be greater flexibility and spontaneity to provide opportunity for experimentation and accessibility to new social, economic and cultural groups."

Executive director, Dr. Hester Turner, cited "positive self-concept, a chance to learn new things, satisfaction and a sense of responsibility and achievement, and "joy of being" as experiences that Camp Fire Girls offers for the healthy development of a growing girl.

To bring these opportunities close to more girls in more places — deprived areas, middle-income, and affluent — the National Council of the organization unanimously adopted Quadrennial Conference goals which include re-design of the program as a year-round, progressive group experience for continuing individual growth, in light of the changing needs of girls. It was also resolved, to involve girls themselves in the organization's planning, in order to know their interests and needs first-hand.

ONE OF the first moves was the appointment of two teen-age Camp Fire Girls as Directors Pro-Tem on the National Board of Directors. They are Neevah Suzanne Osborne and Connie Lynn Crisas, both of Kansas City, Mo.

Shaw faculty sets program for co-eds

RALEIGH, N.C. — The twenty-one members of Shaw University's Women's Personnel Council are concerned this year mainly with matters involving the co-curricula activities of more than 550 young women now enrolled at the institution.

President Cheryl McClain of Philadelphia, Pa. set forth three main areas of concentration this year: Personality Development, Human Relations and helping to strengthen the Shaw Plan of Education.

THE OFFICERS of the Council have agreed to seek to further the development of personality through Charm Clinics, formal and informal dinners and through exchange visits with other institutions of higher learning.

Human Relations will be stressed through community projects, which will deal with assisting various youth-promoting groups in Raleigh. A project for a needy group abroad and donating volunteer service for the Doretha Dix Hospital round out plans in Huamn Relations for the WPC.

CONCERNING THE Shaw Plan of Education, the Council will attempt to strengthen it through developing wholesome student-to-student and faculty-to-student relations.

For the Women's Personnel Council, a major feature of the academic year will be a week dedicated to women.

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Cofield, Dean of Women at Shaw, is the group's advisor.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCHES TO MERGE

An account of recent programs at the old 13th Avenue Presbyterian Church, of Newark, and of activities leading to its merger with the Clinton Avenue Presbyterian Church, in ceremonies Oct. 1, 1967 is contained in material prepared by Mrs. Mae Smith Williams of the 13th Avenue Church.

MISS SYLVIA EASTERLING, of Clarksdale, Miss., was crowned "Miss Tennessee State", recently, by the retiring "queen", Miss Marcella Daniels of Panama. Miss Easterling is a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, the Women's Advisory Board at TSU, and the Tennessee State Players Guild.

Gadabouting U.S.A.

by Lula Jones Garrett

Dr. Louis W. Norris, president of Albion College (Mass.) has threatened to terminate the college chapter of a sorority if its national officers do not lift the probation placed on its chapter after it pledged a non-white girl. The chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha was placed on probation three weeks ago by the national headquarters for alleged "irregularities" after it pledged Cecilia Williams, of New Baltimore, Mich., a junior at the college. The irregularities were not specified at the time.

This week, Mrs. Helen Jenkins, national secretary-treasurer of the sorority, said that the incident was not because of race or other discrimination, but because of a violation of sorority by-laws and procedures which included tardiness in submitting the required alumna recommendations for Miss Williams.

She said that the national office then found two alumnae who submitted negative reports on Miss William, thus technically banning her from the sorority.

In a letter to the national office of the Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority, President Norris said, "Students or faculty organizations are expected to conform to standards of admission harmonious with the policies of the college."

WITH THE LADIES: Attractive and talented Eunice Pye of Los Angeles has switched affiliation from a L.A. newspaper to the Lee Dale Associates, public relations firm. The firm has offices in New York, Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland, and Mrs. Pye will go for clients in the entertainment and sports field.

Hazel M. Land has been appointed as a field director for membership and assigned to Florida by NAACP. Commenting on the appointment, Gloster B. Current, director of branches and field administration, noted that Miss Land's work with the Peace Corps in the Philippines and Nigeria makes her an especially valuable addition to the staff. Miss Land is a Tuskegee Institute, Ala., graduate.

Vivacious Beverly Dabney, children's librarian at the Williamsburh District Library of Brooklyn, N.Y., hit the publicity jackpot recently, when she became the 50,000th member of DC 7 Union. She received the congratulations of Mayor Lindsay, was interviewed by press and TV and became the cover girl for the Union publication.

Twenty-six-year old Miss Dabney graduated from Morgan State College, Baltimore, went "home" to New York to enroll at Pratt Institute from which she graduated as a Master in Library Science in 1966. Her father, Earl Dabney, is currently a Master Sergeant at Fort Meade, Md. As a member of an Army family, Miss Dabney has lived in England, Germany and a number of Southern and Middle Atlantic states.

Miss Hildred E. Roach, Virginia State College assistant professor of music, opened this year's series of faculty recitals with a piano concert, Thursday evening.

A native of Charlotte, N.C., Miss Roach received her B.A. Degree in Music from Fisk University, attended Juilliard School of Music for one year and obtained her Masters of Music Degree at Yale University.

She also attended the Yale Summer School of Music and Art, and attended the Oakland University Piano Trio Workshop where she studied with Isaac Stern, Eugene Istomin and Leonard Rose and furthered her study with Misha Kotler at Michigan University and with William Masselos at Catholic University at Washington D.C.

She has been the recipient of a number of scholarships and awards including the Omega Talent Hunt Award, Ford Foundation Scholarship and the Lockwood Scholarship. A Yale University Graduate Award with her performance of the Shostakovich Concerto with the Yale Orchestra.

Her teaching experience began in 1957 at Tuskegee Institute, Ala., moving on to Fayetteville State College, N.C. in 1962 and Howard University at Washington, D.C. in 1967. She came to Virginia State in September of this year.

To Patricia E. Bath of Washington, D.C. has gone the second NAACP medical scholarship of $500 to be used toward her tuition and fees at the Howard University College of Medicine.

Miss Land was chosen by the NAACP's national Health Committee, which, on behalf of the Special Contribution Fund, administers a trust fund established by the will of the late Florence Ryerson Clements. First awardee was Miss Kate N. Aseme, a Nigerian student, also studying medicine at Howard.

The lovely new queen at Johnson C. Smith University is Betty Ruff, senior English major, Alpha Kappa Alpha soror and member of Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society.

PEREGRINATORS: In Atlanta, Ga., last week, was Joslyn M. Patterson of Madison, Ga., there to be guest speaker at open-house held at Spelman College. Said Dr. Patterson (Spelman graduate, and post grad of Emory University) present day students at Spelman should check on the achievements of Spelmanites and then aim for higher goals, thereby giving their Alma Mater added luster.

The St. John Baptist Church, Brooklyn, N.Y., is all for the population explosion, especially at home level. When their pastor, the Rev. F. Arthur Reed, and Mrs. Reed became parents of a daughter, recently, they gave the family a gift trip.

The Reeds flew to West Hendersonville, N.C. for a two-day stay as house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Landrum; went on to Inman, S.C. for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Thompson; then flew to Miami, Fla., for a five-day visit with the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Ross.

On the trip (the gift of the Women of St. Johns Church) the Rev. Mr. Reed spoke at the Mt. Zion Baptist Church in Miami.

POT-POURRI: One of Washington's most gala social events, the Kappa Harvest Ball, will be held at the National Guard Armory on Friday (the 17th).

The formal ball, an annual affair presented by the Washington Alumni Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, is expected to draw some 5,000 persons from cities along the Eastern Seaboard. Providing entertainment for the event will be Bobby Felder and his Blue Notes.

The Washington Alumni Chapter, which has close to 300 members, has a prominent history of involvement in the civic and cultural affairs of the nation's Capital. James Carter, Jr., a 43-year-old junior high school assistant principal, is Polemarch of the chapter. Co-chairmen for the Harvest Ball are Joseph Bruton, Cornell T. Lewis and Irvin D. Coker. The Chapter's official residence is at 1708 S Street, NW.

An impressive list of hostesses will greet card players at the annual party at the Upper Manhattan Branch YWCA New York City, Saturday (the 18th).

Mrs. Charles H. Daniels and Mrs. Louise D. Crawford are co-chairmen . . . and on their committee are Mesdames and Misses Queenester Adkins, Tecora Albritton, Susie Bauton, Robert L. Berry, Alice Byers, Gertrude Bryant, Sivana Clarke, Viola Churchill, Willie Churchill, Hazel Cogar, Clinton Dingle, Annie Eberhardt, Isis Fountaine, Frances Jordan, Johnnie Mae Joyner, Mary Lawzey, Leonora Pritchard, Inez Richardson, Pauline T. Taylor, Lucille White and Orha H. Price. Miss Ruth F. Porter is the Staff Associate.

"Out on Cloud Nine" are Mr. and Mrs. McKinley (Mamie) Howard of Herring Run Drive, Baltimore, now parents of a son, Mark Douglas, who arrived, November 4th, at Sinai Hospital.

Keystone Corpswomen get medical training

DRUMS, Pa. — Five students from the Keystone Job Corps Center, here, have been selected for specialized advance medical training at the Veterans' Administration Hospital in Wilkes-Barre, according to J. R. Corcoran, Center director.

The Corpswomen, all of whom had participated in the on-the-job training program at the hospital to gain work experience in their medical vocations and courses, were selected by the professional staff of the hospital for the advanced training to such fields as laboratory technician, physical therapy, electro-cardiogram technicians and dental assistants.

EACH HAS successfully completed the basic curriculum for nursing aides at the Keystone Job Corps Center for a six-month period during which they underwent an extensive course is theory, followed by hospital work experience training in their respective fields at the V.A. Hospital.

All of the girls singled out for the opportunity to continue their education at the hospital are high school graduates and have added to their educational background in the academic courses at Keystone. One of the trainees, Betty Fields, of Okahumpka, Florida, has sixty college credits, the equivalent of two years of college.

WHEN THE Corpswomen have completed their training in the advanced courses at the V.A. Hospital, they will be graduated from Keystone Job Corps Center, and placed in positions in hospitals or medical centers near their home communities.

It was emphasized by Keystone officials that none of them will remain at the Wilkes-Barre V. A. Hospital, nor will any of them fill any regional jobs in those occupational fields. Job Corps officials pointed out the prime purpose of the project is to train students for useful occupations in their own communities where they can help improve their home life and family circumstances.

THE CORPSWOMEN chosen for the specialized hospital training are:

Christine Boykin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fulton Boykin, 187 Warren St., Englewood, New Jersey. She was graduated from Dwight Morrow High School in 1965. At the Keystone Center she is a member of the Student Council and co-chairman of will complete her special City, New York; is a graduate of Eli Whitney High School in Brooklyn. She is taking a laboratory technician course under Dr. P. J. Smithey which she will complete next September before returning to Long Island City. Miss Badillo is a member of her dormitory council at Keystone.

Gwendolyn Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Harris, 1014 Third St., Weirton, W. Va., who is taking physical therapy course under Dr. Daniel Ciavarella. She is co-editor of the Keystone Center newspaper.

Betty Fields, daughter of Mrs. Mary Fields, Rt. 1., Okahumpka, Fla.; will be trained as an electro-cardiogram technician under Dr. Milton Kantor.

Doris Gene Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Miller, Sr., Post Office 114, Vermont, Miss.; is taking EKG under Dr. Milton Kantner. Doris has a high school diploma from Norma C. O'Bannon, Greenville, Miss.

Birch 'brew' gets more racial tang

HOUSTON (NPI) — At a time when many civil rights leaders are turning their attention to the Vietnam war, the John Birch Society is shifting its emphasis from the war to the race issue.

According to Arnold Forster, general counsel, of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, the Birchers are launching a major recruitment drive based on "exploitation of deep-seated grassroots racial prejudices."

Women settle bias charge

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — Mrs. Ina Boon and Miss Evelyn A. Roberts, officers of the state and national NAACP respectively, have settled their bias complaint against a St. Louis tavern.

The two had filed charges with the Missouri Human Rights Commission against Lloyd's Family Inn, where they were refused service on Sept. 4.

The settlement included a written pledge by the owner, Roger Lloyd, that he will not practice racial discrimination in the future. He said he had not been aware that the Public Accommodations Act covered his establishment.

Lloyd also agreed to display a poster listing the provisions of the Act, and to write to the complainants informing them that they may be served in the restaurant.

Miss Ruth Blake is YPD 'Girl of Year'

By E. P. WALLACE

OPELIKA, Ala. — Miss Ruth Blake, student at Tuskegee Institute, was cited by the Young People's Division of the Senior Missionary Society of the East Alabama Conference, last Saturday, during a youth day session of the conference at St. Luke AME Church here.

Conference officials and members paid tributes to Miss Blake for having been selected "Girl of the Year" for the entire AME Youth department for 1967. The group also cited Johnny Rutledge of Fort Mitchell, on having served as "Boy of the Year" for 1966-67.

JOHNNY, SON of Mr. and Mrs. George Rutledge of Fort Mitchell, is a member of St. John AME Church, a graduate of Mt. Olive High School and is currently a freshman at Daniel Payne College, Birmingham.

Ruth is a senior at Tuskegee Institute High School, where she serves as "Miss T.I.H.S." for 1967-68. She is a member in good standing at the Washington Chapel AME Church, Tuskegee Institute, Dr. T. H. Brown is pastor. She is the daughter of retired chief Warrant Officer Mr. and Mrs. Junious L. Blake of Tuskegee.

MORE THAN 300 YPDers, senior missionary workers laymen and ministers of the conference, shared the program features Saturday night. They donated $300 to the conference for education. This was the climax of a day's activity which began at 10 A.M. Saturday under direction of Mrs. L. O. Newman, director of the East Conference.

Program features included quadrennial held recently in Pittsburgh. Mrs. Newman, assisted by others, wrote the script and directed its presentation. Among out-of-town conference visitors in attendance were Mrs. Margaret J. Moore, Central Conference YPD director and Mrs. W. T. Menifee, wife of the Selma District presiding elder. Both were from Selma.

Minority job index listed

WASHINGTON

The most comprehensive index to literature on minority group employment ever produced, culled from documents and articles in libraries and specialized collections across the country, is ready for use.

In announcing publication of the index today, chairman Clifford L. Alexander Jr., of the U. S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission said, "This volume is an invaluable reference source for everyone concerned with equal employment problems and their solution."

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science discovered a medication with the ability, in most cases — to actually shrink hemorrhoids and promptly stop the burning itch and relieve pain.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, very striking improvement was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain and itching were promptly relieved. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated piles.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so. And it was all done without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H® — an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! Preparation H also lubricates to make bowel movements less painful, it soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. Preparation H comes in both ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.
