Bowie announces new degrees, faculty, aid

By ELIZABETH M. OLIVER

Bowie State College will be the scene of many new degree programs when it opens in September.

Among the eight new courses offering bachelors degrees over the next four years are art, biology, business administration, mathematics, physical education, Spanish and speech.

To initate the new international studies program enabling students to enter foreign service careers is a new professor, Jorge Krishmer of Argentina.

This summer, Mr. Krishmer is teaching Intensive Spanish, a habit-forming course in which the students are taught 35 hours a week using electronic equipment, portable visual devices and tape duplicators.

Miss Gladys T. Telford, a graduate of the University of Philosophy in Paraguay, also instructs in the intensive workshop.

Mr. Krishmer studied at the University of Rome and has authored three books. He and Miss Telford both worked at the Foreign Service Institute before coming to Bowie.

They are among the 19 new faculty members added by the president, Dr. Samuel Myers, as part of the "new Bowie" program for the coming year.

• • •

WILLIAM MUMBY, director of admissions, also announced that openings are available immediately for at least 200 more students.

The new Financial Aid Program will give full financial assistance to needy students. For information call Mr. Mumby at 723-0646 for information.

The sources of the Financial Aid are the Federal Educational Opportunity Grant (EOG), the National Defense Student Loan (NDSL), the Work Study Program, the College Loan Program.

Other sources included senatorial scholarships; the Maryland High Educational Loan Fund and the District of Columbia Student Loan Program.

Students who qualify may receive all expenses through a "package" which will include a combination of two or three of the sources.

In order to be considered a student must be accepted or enrolled as a full time student in good standing.

There is no need for any high school graduate to go without a college education. If he meets the not-too-steep qualifications, he or she may receive a full four year quality education free.

• • •

FOR STUDENTS who do not require assistance the cost of attending Bowie for one year is $310 for local day students; $560 for out-of-state day students; $1,110 for state students living on the campus; $1,340 for out-of-state living on the campus.

Approval of the new majors involves the $2.4 million granted for campus improvement by the Maryland Colleges Trustees in June.

The largest sum, $1.3 million is for an auditorium classroom building. A newly built science building will be fully used this fall.

The curriculum expansion adding the eight new courses to the present five degree program is the largest offering of new majors approved by any institution since the state's five teachers colleges were converted to liberal arts colleges.

The 19 new faculty members added for the coming year maintains the 14 to 1 student-faculty ratio.

Also scheduled fir September is the bus service from the Belair Shopping Center to the college.

• • •

DR. MYERS, president, also announced that within the next few years an administration building, fine arts building, swimming pool, gymnasium, library, athletic field, and new president's residence will be added to the campus.

Gov. Agnew announced Tuesday that 16 mobile trailer units will be installed this fall.

The trailers will be purchased from a Cockeysville firm at the cost of $167,940 and will be ready for the students to use as temporary dormintories by Aug. 30.

Each trailer houses eight students who will reside in them and maintain them "in good housekeeping form" as they would dorm rooms.

Dr. Myers has also revitalized Bowie's faculty-student counseling program, assigning every student a faculty member for advice.

Bowie is located 18 miles from Washington and 32 miles from Baltimore in Prince Georges County.

Cooperative programs in the process of development include NASA (Goddard Space Flight Center) a Bowie-consortium with the Phelps-Stokes Fund; and the Large State (New York) Bowie Cooperative Program.

The college opens Sept. 3 when dorms open for new students.

The faculty meeting is also set for Sept. 3 with orientation for new students Sept. 4 and 5 and registration for new and transfer students Friday, Sept. 6.

Upperclassmen register Sept. 9. Classes begin Sept. 12.

• • •

OTHER INSTRUCTORS added to the faculty include:

Art: Dr. Charles W. Stalling, Head, B.A. Lincoln University (Mo.), M.A. State University of Iowa, Ph. D. Pennsylvania State University.

Department of Education: Mr. Casey Jones, B.S. Winston-Salem College, M.A. University of Maryland, and he is now in the process of finishing his dissertation for the Ph. Each Tuesday, Xerox presents the black side of American history.

After 300 years, black America is getting a chance to tell it like it really was:

How black soldiers fought in a dozen different wars for white America—and even had to fight for the right to fight.

What blacks think about their African past. And their worries about their future in this country.

The black man in sports and politics, in big business and show business. In caricature and in fact.

To help blacks and whites understand each other, Xerox is presenting a compelling series of seven television programs, "Of Black America."

Each Tuesday evening program will take up another aspect of life in America as black Americans have lived it.

Xerox believes you, and especially your children, will find these programs rewarding and memorable.

Tuesday, 20,000,000 Americans get equal time in our history.

TRAVEL WITH US

By HERBERT BROWN
Associate Mondawmin Travel Service

For centuries, the idea of travel has intrigued men. First came the great explorer who discovered continents and new worlds.

Next came merchants in quest for riches.

Following these came settlers and pioneers followed closely by immigrants and refugees.

Each of these in his own way has reason for traveling.

Today, we look upon travel as a way of life either for business or pleasure.

No longer is a luxury vacation just a dream. Today it is within the budget of a majority of Americans.

• • •

LOWER THAN ever airservice, special hotel rates and package tours, charter and group flights, all first-class cruises, are but a few of the stimulants which have ignited the travel field into a position of prominence.

No longer is vacation only for the wealthy. Today a millionaire's holiday can be enjoyed on a workingman's budget.

But where does one go to find out how to take advantage of these bargain rates and special vacation packages?

The answer is simple. Visit an authorized, properly appointed Travel Agency. Their duties are much the same as any professional you deal with.

• • •

YOUR DOCTOR is responsible for your health, your lawyer for your business dealings, your banker for your financial dealings: your Travel Agent is the person you should see for your Travel Needs.

He is an expert at recommending just the right vacation for you. His service to you includes: setting up an itinerary, planning your transportation, accommodations, tours, obtaining visas and special tourist cards.

In addition he advises the best places to eat and be entertained, all in the price range you desire.

How does a travel agent stay in business? The answer is that he is compensated by the airlines, railroads, hotels, steamships and other services.

• • •

YOU PAY no more for your tickets or reservations when you book them through a Travel Agent. In fact, you actually many times save money.

Airlines depend on agents for 50 per cent of their business: steamships and hotels rely on then for over 90 per cent.

Hence, they usually give Travel Agents' clients preferred accommodations and reservations, at lesser and easier handling.

So while your reservations are capably handled, you may actually be saving money and certainly considerable trouble by dealing with a Travel Agent.

• • •

STOP IN and see your Travel Agent before planning your next vacation.

Let him show you how an ordinary vacation can become a memorable event.

If you have any questions or would like more information on travel, please drop me a line in care of the AFRO-American, and I shall be delighted to reply.

RICHARD NIXON EXPLAINS HOW "BLACK CAPITALISM" CAN HELP SOLVE THE PROBLEMS OF OUR GHETTOS.

You heard about this widely acclaimed speech when it was broadcast a few weeks ago. Time Magazine said: "No candidate has addressed himself more realistically to the plight of the Negro slum-dweller thus fa in the 1968 campaign than did Richard Nixon last week." Tom Wicker o the New York Times reported: "More constructive than anything yet sa by the other Presidential candidates on the crisis of our cities."

Now hear this historic radio speech yourself. You'll learn why observers are saying that Richard Nixon's program of "black capitalism" is "the best answer yet to the nation's most difficult problem."

School sale suit postponed

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — A hearing of a suit charging Lee County School Officials with attempting to sell an elementary school rather than admit colored children was indefinitely postponed in U.S. District Court last week.

Judge Robert W. Hemphill was to have heard the suit, filed on behalf of colored children, which charged that the Lee County School Board had sought to sell Fleming Elementary School of Lynchburg to private interests to reopen it as a private, all-white school.

The 'Roses' Summer Sour: it's like a drink of winter

It's Four Roses' newest idea for a tall, fast cooling summer drink. Making one's no sweat either, when you follow this recipe:

Pour into a shaker or blender 1 jigger of Four Roses (1½ oz.) and 1 jigger of water—add 1 packet of instant whiskey sour mix—and ice. Shake or blend, then pour entire contents into a highball glass. Top with club soda. Stir. Garnish with cherry and orange slice. (Juice of lemon and 1 tsp. powdered sugar may be substituted for instant whiskey sour mix.)

Keep this in mind: Four Roses is created to taste light. And to keep its flavor down to the last cooling swallow. That's what makes the 'Roses' Summer Sour a very special kind of summer cooler. $4.70 fifth

Special Summer Sour Offer: For just $2.00 we'll send you a set of four 12 oz. Summer Sour glasses and 12 packets of instant whiskey sour mix. Send to: Four Roses, Box 17-G, No. Vernon, N.Y. 10650. Offer expires Sept. 15, 1968.
