UNITED BEAUTY SCHOOL Owners and Teachers Association throughout the country are observing the Association's 23rd anniversary this month . . . so is the Association's affiliate, Alphi Chi Pi Omega.

It was in October, 1945 that the late Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune and U.S. Congressman William L. Dawson of Illinois, assisted Dr. Marjorie Stewart Joyner, founder-national supervisor, in forming the first national Greek letter organization for beauticians.

Since 1945, the beauticians have given $115,000 in donations to the Mary McLeod Bethune Foundation and Bethune-Cookman College at Daytona Beach, Fla., which Dr. Bethune founded.

TWO BLACK models have rejected the idea that African-style hairdoes and clothes are necessary for black awareness.

"I don't wear my hair in the curly style because it simply isn't curly," said Ann Jones, who has been photographed for advertisements appearing in such magazines as Ebony and Redbook.

Her view is shared by Dori Wilson, who says the natural Afro hair style is not becoming to her.

Miss Wilson, a charm school instructor for Sears, Roebuck and Company, says she has always "been proud of my heritage, and I don't have to change the way I wear my hair or my clothes now that it has become the chic thing to do."

In a similar vein, Miss Jones thinks "Black women should be able to feel pride in themselves without having to wear African robes.

"I think they look fine, and I wear them at home. But I don't think they are suitable for street wear, and I don't think I am imitating the white segment of society when I wear other clothes.

"If you feel proud inside, it doesn't matter what you wear."

MRS. VIRGINIA CLARKE (Heads PR Firm)

MISS CAROLYN SCOTT (Wins scholarship)

MRS. MILDRED BRADHAM (New Chief of Services)

REMEMBER CLEOPATRA?
... The Ancient African Beauty
She bathed in oil and exotic perfumes . . . really an artificial beauty.
Today's beauties are natural . . . beaming with clear skin, exquisite complexion . . . and with that luminescent and sophisticated look.
Many of today's beauties have discovered creamy white PALMER'S "SKIN SUCCESS" BLEACH CREAM . . . the medicated cream with that heavenly fragrance . . . "SKIN SUCCESS" CREAM, for fairer, clearer, more glowing loveliness. And that special strength of medicated mercury, the mercury ingredient often prescribed by doctors for effective skin care. It fades freckles, removes that sun-tanned look, aids in removing blackheads and smoothing large pores . . . helps bring out your natural beauty.
Start to use with "SKIN SUCCESS" CREAM, in PALMER'S "SKIN SUCCESS" SOAP, with benzalkonium, its germ-acting foamy medication beauty-aptness while it cleanses away germs.

Choir honors Helen E. Work

NASHVILLE — Miss Helen E. Work, member of the musically talented Work family here, was honored last week by the Sanctuary Choir of historic First Baptist Church, Capitol Hill.

In a recognition fellowship service, the choir presented Miss Work with a plaque citing her for 23 years of service as Sanctuary Choir director. President Charles E. Boddie, of the American Baptist Theological Seminary, made the presentation.

The Rev. Kelly Miller Smith, pastor of the Church, expressed the appreciation of the congregation for her services. Others speaking were Atty. Coyness Ennix, Mrs. Clyde Kincaide, Mrs. J. B. Singleton, Jr., Miss Frances E. Thompson, Mrs. Clinton Jones, and the Rev. Jerome Wright, assistant to the pastor.

• • •

AS A MEMBER of the Sanctuary Choir, Dr. Boddie pointed out that while Miss Work is leaving the directorship, she would continue as Minister of Music of the Church, and would work directly with youth singing groups of First Baptist.

A teacher in the Metropolitan School System, Miss Work comes from an illustrious family of musicians. She has been a regional director of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. Her father, president of Roger Williams University here and at one time professor of Latin at Fisk University, and mother were with the Fisk Jubilee Singers. Her brother, the late John Work of Fisk, was also with the Jubilee Singers and was internationally known as teacher, composer, and authority on Negro music.

The new Sanctuary Choir Director is Mrs. Charlotte Scott Rhodes, who is a member of the Tennessee A and I State University music faculty.

Mrs. Coretta King woman of conscience

NEW YORK — Mrs. Coretta King, widow of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. is one of 21 distinguished women from all over the United States — all leaders in an area related directly to human rights — to be honored by the National Council of Women in the United States.

As "Women of Conscience", they will be cited by the Council, here, Tuesday.

• • •

EACH OF these outstanding women was nominated for the special NCW national citation by a member organization in which she has been active. These organizations through the National Council encompass some 16 million American women, according to Mrs. Louis J. Robbins, president.

The honorees will be officially presented at the annual "Woman of Consulous" luncheon on October 15.

The women will meet for presentation to a luncheon group of an estimated 800 women, representing most national women's organizations throughout the country, at the New York Hilton Hotel. The conference theme will be directed and keyed by the Honorable Marietta Tree, former U.S. representative to the Trusteeship Council of the U.N., with rank of ambassador, and a former representative on the United Nations Commission on Human Rights.

MRS. KING, who lives in Atlanta, Ga., was nominated by the National Council of Negro Women.

Among the other honorees will be Mrs. Mamie B. Reese, of Albany, Ga. nominated by he National Women's Clubs; Lt. Violet Hill Whyte, of Baltimore, Md., nominated by the National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Texas sets date

TYLER, Texas — The Executive Committee of the National Alumni Association of Texas College met on Oct. 5 and set the date of the school's Homecoming Day for Dec. 7.

The committee said that final plans for homecoming will be announced later.

ATLANTA, Ga. — Morehouse College was one of the 33 Georgia institutions of higher education to benefit from the establishment of a $10,000,000 trust fund by the Callaway Foundation of LaGrange. The income from the $10,000,000 trust fund will enable senior Georgia colleges and universities to add and retain superior faculty members.

Nixon-Fludd wedding held

CHARLESTON, S.C. — Miss Carolyn Theresa Fludd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Fludd, Sr. was married to Kenneth E. Nixon Jr. of New Haven, Conn., here, recently.

The ceremony, in Centenary Methodist Church, was performed by the Rev. J. E. Spears. A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

• • •

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her brother, Samuel A. Fludd Jr. wore a gown of silk organza accentuated with Alencon lace medallions re-embroidered with seed pearls. Her veil of illusion was attached to a crown of lace and seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of miniature carnations.

Miss Dorinda Smith of New Haven, Conn., maid of honor wore a gown in mint green which featured back panels of lace.

Alfred Polden of New York City was best man.

Ushers were Benjamin Bailey, James Tolbert and David Simmons, Sr., David Simmons Jr. was ring bearer and Medea and Adrian Massie were flower girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Nixon honeymooned in Nassau. They reside in New Haven, Conn.

Miss Thornton wed to Edward Furtick

DURHAM, N.C. — Miss Jacquelyne Lucille Thornton of this city, became the bride of Edward Furtick Jr. of White Plains, N.Y. in a 2 p.m. ceremony, Saturday, in St. Joseph's A.M.E. Church here.

The Rev. Lorenzo Lynch officiated and musicians were John Gattis, organist and Miss Marsha Goodwin, soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burnis H. Thornton of 1315 S. Alston Avenue and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Furtick of Port Chester, N.Y.

MISS THORNTON wore a sheath of ivory taffeta with long-sleeved overdress of ivory silk organza embroidered with Alencon lace. The lace embroidered veil was attached to a petal headpiece and she carried a Bible bouquet of white roses.

Miss Maxine Hughes of Washington was maid of honor and the bride's sister, Mrs. Willis C. Peele of Hillsborough was matron of honor.

They wore soft orange dresses of chiffon over linen with empire lines and back panels of satin. Their headpieces were rosettes with veiling and they carried yellow and white pompons.

BRIDESMAIDS IN pale apricot gowns, were Mrs. Michael Menefee of Baltimore, Md., Mrs. Chester Butler and Mrs. John Marshall both of Washington, Miss Elaine Lambeth of New York City and Mrs. Calvin Hedgepeth of Durham, N.C.

John Cartwright of Mount Vernon, N.Y., was best man and ushers were Theodore B. Thornton brother of the bride, Spencer Robinson of Elmsford, N.Y. and Thomas Minter of Port Chester, N.Y., both brothers-in-law of the bridegroom; Bruce Lovell of Yonkers, N.Y., William Neville of Mamgronick, N.Y., and Dennis Butler of White Plains, N.Y.

Theodore Derek Thornton, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

• • •

THE RECEPTION was held in the Executive Room of the Statler Hilton Inn.

The couple will live in White Plains, N.Y. where the bridegroom is a personnel representative for IBM. He is a graduate of Cornell University.

The bride is a graduate of Hampton Institute and received her masters' degree from New York University. She is now employed as a reading specialist at Wiltwyck School for Boys in Yorktown Heights, N.Y.

MRS. EDWARD FURTICK, JR., the former Jacqueline Thornton, was married in Durham, N.C.

LU provost urges halt to racism

OXFORD, Pa. — London University's provost, Dr. Bernard W. Harleston, has urged public school guidance counselors to work toward eroding effects of violent racism.

Addressing the Keystone Personnel and Guidance Association at Millersville State College recently, Dr. Harleston said every professional group in this country should create a climate in which people can realize their full potential.

He said these groups should discourage racism and prejudice and map a strategy to combat racial effects.

PARTICIPATING in a recent three-day conference at Morgan State College to find ways to use resources of Maryland College to set up a Center for Continuing Studies in Urban Education, Desegregation and Other Related Problems facing the community schools were, left to right, Mrs. Constance Baumbry, Parent Community Aide, Tri-Schools, Washington, D.C., Mrs. Elaine Jenkins, Educational Community Coordinator, Washington; Mrs. Esther Bailey, personnel officer, Baltimore City Public Schools; and Edward J. Edwards.
