"THE SPLIT" — Half-a-million dollars in football receipts helsted by Jim Brown and his gang from the Los Angeles Coliseum blanket the bed on which he is petting Diahann Carroll in this scene from MGM's "The Split." The movie starts Wednesday at the Harlem Theatre. Julie Harris and Ernest Borgnine also star in the film, along with Gene Hackman, Jack Kingman, Warren Oates and James Whitmore as co-stars.

'Julia' near top in early ratings

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Initial television ratings by both the national and the that NBC-TV's touted "Julia" series and CBS-TV's Doris Day show are off to fast starts.

Both new entries finished in the top 10 programs of the recently-issued national rankings, along with "Mayberry R.F.D." CBS-TV's offshoot of the Andy Griffith Show.

Since "Julia" which stars actress Diahann Carroll, began a week before Miss Day's show it can claim a slight edge in consistency at this early date. The rating covered only Miss Day' premiere.

* * *

IN THE NATIONAL ratings, Miss Day's series came in sixth, while "Julia" finished 10th. However, a look at all the various ratings — those emphasizing New York, the 30 key markets or the national statistics — indicates that "Julia" seems to be attracting a wider range of viewers.

"Julia" has consistently come in with impressive statistics in all the surveys taken, whereas Miss Day — as an example — has not been doing particularly well in New York. Although she did show up strongly in the 30-market survey, the national ratings prove again that Miss Day's basic appeal is in the grass root.

MISS CARROLL'S show, on the other hand, was expected to do well in urban areas, but its apparent all-around reception — in outlying areas as well — has surprised some people.

Only two other new series finished in the top 20 shows of the first national survey. They are CBS-TV's "The Good Guys," a slapstick outing with Bob Denver and Herb Edelman, and "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," an NBC-TV offering with Hope Lang and Edward Mulhare.

NAACP's school petition gets favorable court action

NEW YORK — This city's Board of Education has been ordered by New York State Supreme Court Justice Murray T. Feiden to show cause why the administration of the schools in the Ocean Hill-Brownsville district in Brooklyn should not be returned to the district's suspended governing board.

Justice Feident's action was in response to a petition filed Oct. 9, on behalf of the controval local board and its members by NAACP General Counsel Robert L. Carter and his associate, Lewis M. Steel, contending that the suspension of the board was in violation of the due process and equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution.

THE PETITION demanded that the court order the Board of Education of the City of New York to re-instate the local board and its members and enjoin the City Board from interfering with the functioning of the local board in any manner which violates the Fourteenth Amendment."

THE OCEAN Hill-Brownsville board has been the focus of contention since last spring when it sought to get rid of 19 teachers deemed unsatisfactory by the board. The United Federation of Teachers rallied to the defense of its ousted members.

The local board, asserting control over the selection of teachers for the district, refused to take them back despite an order from the City Board of Education. Rejection of the City Board's order led to the suspension.

In suspending the local board, allegedly "to avert a strike threatened by the white-dominated UFT," the City Board "invidiously discriminated against" the local board on the basis of race, the petition charged. "Its action, therefore, violates the equal protection of the law clause of the Fourteenth Amendment."

The petition further noted that the local board was suspended without prior notice, without the filing of charges, and without opportunity to answer charges. "Suspension under these circumstances," the petition said, denies the board and its members "due process of law as guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment."

Armstrong gets British award

NEW YORK — Trumpeter Louis Armstrong's latest recording, "What a Wonderful World," was awarded Britain's Silver Disc Award last week.

The award was presented to Larry Newton, president of ABC Records, Inc., by Len G. Wood, international director of EMI Records of London, England.

The Silver Disc Award represents the sale of 500,000 copies of Mr. Armstrong's single in the British Isles. The record stayed on the charts approximately 20 weeks and held the number one position for four weeks.

In accepting the award, Mr. Newton said, "I am very proud to receive this award on behalf of Louis. He has contributed so much to everyone and has certainly helped make it a "wonderful world."

Kyle Johnson, 16, stars in "The Learning Tree" with Estelle Evans, Felix P. Nelson, Alexander Clarke, Joel Fluellen, Saundra Sharp, Hira Waters, Dana Elcar and Malcolm Atterbury co-starring. William Conrad is executive producer.

The craftsmen working on "The Learning Tree" represent the largest aggregate of non-white workmen ever assembled on a Hollywood production.

Stars help raise funds for Farmer's campaign

BROOKLYN, N.Y. — With gospel singer Mahalia Jackson flying in from Chicago, more than 1,900 persons got their money's worth Sunday night at Brooklyn's Academy of Music as a dozen topflight stars of stage, screen and TV put on a three-hour show to raise campaign funds for James Farmer.

The former head of CORE is seeking election as a Congressman from the Bedford-Stuyvesant area.

Adding a political note to the festive evening was Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller who praised Farmer as one having "the courage to speak and the experience to speak from."

The Chief Executive of N.Y. added that "James Farmer is badly needed in the Congress of the United States."

BECAUSE OF a previous commitment that prevented him from attending, Mayor Richard Hatcher of Gary, Ind., sent his executive assistant, Jessie Bell, with a tape recorded message.

In it he urged Brooklynites to send a man of Farmer's stature to Washington, terming him the one man he knew who was equipped to help change the face of the slums, not only for blacks in Brooklyn, but throughout the nation.

* * *

BUT IT was the song and dances of the talent performers who kept the audience appaluding throughout the evening. Shelly Winters, Brock Peters and author John Killens acted as master of ceremonies.

Irwin C. Watson, Diana Sands, Amanda Ambrose, the Fred Benjamin Dancers, Richie Havens, bandleader Kenny Durham, Juanita King and her singers and Kelly Wyatt participated in the evening show.

A last minute cancellation was Oscar Award winning actor Sidney Poitier, who had to leave town for a film commitment.

Farmer, who's seeking office in the 12th Congressional District of Brooklyn, spoke briefly, expressing his appreciation for all those who've volunteered to work in his campaign. He described his fight as "uphill all the way."
