Philly Social Whirl

By BARBARA PRIGMORE

The new creative leadership among the masses is upsetting to middle class colored people, declared Dr. Helen G. Edmonds, guest speaker at the annual luncheon of the Philadelphia Auxiliary Frontiers International on Saturday, in the Marriott Motor Motel.

400 guests attended.

Dr. Edmonds, who is dean of the Graduate School of North Carolina College, spoke on the "Resources For Change in Today's World."

She cited the reality of the times, the orises in race relations, the new, creative leadership among the impatient masses born out of the Ghettos and Projects and the new type militant organizations born out of the circumstances of the hour.

• • •

DR. EDWARDS also talked of the new psychological pride in the term Black Race, which rejects the Negro Race as a term significant of a bygone era of gradualism. She spoke of the eclipse of middle class earned leadership of college men and the professionals and the dignified, trained, recognized leaders, who moved with gradual progress within the System.

• • •

"THE MOST notable Civil Rights organizations endorse Black Power not for separatism, but to unite colored people to move ahead, within a true Democratic system," declared Dr. Edmonds. "Among the resources for change is the importance of dialogue between races, Job Corp centers for Women and Day Care Centers for working mothers. Dr. Edwards spoke of her personal pride and dedication in her new assignment, to write a book about the history of the American Negro and their contributions made in all facets of American History.

THE YOUTH OF the lower Harlem area, from 116th to 125th Sts., between Morningside and 8th Avenues, in New York, will be the principal beneficiaries of the annual pre-Thanksgiving dance of the New Era Neighborhood Association (NENA) which will be held at the Renaissance Ballroom, 138th St., and 7th Ave., on Sunday, Nov. 17, beginning at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Inez Dickens Gumbs, founder-president of the community group, says all proceeds from the affair will go to help sponsor Christmas parties in the neighborhood and other NENA projects to assist the youth projects including support of the 28th Precinct Youth Council, aiding shut-in-youth at Sydenham Hospital and other events.

Actively working on the dance committee, headed by Mrs. Eleanor Morgan, are Eleanor Burke, Lloyd E. Dickens, Lena Preston, Mae Kennedy, Archie E. Seale, Ruth White, Reba Dickens, Azaela Drayton, Clifford A. Scott, Wilma Jones, and Annie Taylor.

Officers of NENA, in addition to Mrs. Gumbs, are Archie E. Seale, vice president; Clyde C. Dickens, treasurer; Annie Taylor, secretary; Joseph Thompson, business manager; Ruth White, financial secretary; Charles Frost, accountant; and Clifford A. Scott, attorney.

Members of its executive committee include Mary E. Bowser, Eleanor Burke, Reba Dickens, Azaela Drayton, Daisy Henderson, Gertrude Johnson, Wilma Jones, Edith McClain, Frankie Marshall, Eleanor Morgan, Ezra Parrott, Adele Patterson, Lena Preston, Delia E. Reed, Amelia Sanford, Clifford A. Scott, Harold Smith, Dorothy Talley, and Madeline Wade.

Through working with community youth, the Association aims to encourage youngsters to become better citizens, to have ideals and work towards them, to have respect for themselves and consideration for others, and to have pride in themselves, their neighborhood and the Harlem community, Mrs. Gumbs said.
