Gadabouting U.S.A.

by Lula Jones Garrett

Mrs. Eloise Gaunit Taliaferro, widow of Luke A. Taliaferro, was married recently to Representative Reese L. Hammond of Wilmington, Del. Mr. Hammond has been in the Delaware State Legislature since 1964. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hammond, who lived in Chester, Pa. Mr. Hammond attended Cheyney State Teachers College and the Price School of Public Affairs. His bride was graduated from Glassboro State Teachers College, Glassboro, N.J., and did graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania, Trenton State Teachers College and Rutgers State University, New Brunswick in the field of special education.

Mrs. Hammond is an ardent civic activist and club woman. She was a pioneer in the early involvement of the Atlantic City chapter of the NAACP in civil rights. In addition to being a member of the Indiana Avenue School faculty, she has received significant commendation as a painter in oils and in creative writing.

Their marriage took place in the beautiful St. Nicholas of Tolentine Church, Atlantic City, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Saunit Sr., had also been married. The parents witnessed the Roman Catholic ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Erbie Caraballo, assistant pastor of the church.

Elveta L. Harris, wife of Dr. W. Oscar Harris, attended the bride. Best man was Dr. Waymon R. Cotton, Lincoln University trustee and widely known East Coast medic of Wilmington, Del. After a honeymoon in Chicago, Ill., and a tour of New England, Mr. and Mrs. Hammond will be at home on Magellan Avenue, Atlantic City after the Thanksgiving holidays.

WITH THE LADIES: Dr. Bennetta B. Washington, director of the Women's Centers of the Job Corps, will be principal speaker at the 25th annual George Washington Carver Week luncheon in Pittsburgh on Jan. 6. Announcement of the program agenda was made this week by Dr. Alma Illery, president of the National George Washington Carver Commemorative Association. Dr. Washington will be honored at a luncheon in Hotel Webster Hall by the Gulf Oil Corporation that day.

Mrs. Mildred Bradham, national president, Zeta Phi Beta sorority, internationally known social worker, educator and world traveler, was named last week as supervisor of social services in the Jacksonville, Fla. City department of social services. After having been nominated for the position by Mayor Hans Tanzer, she was subsequently approved by the Jacksonville Common council.

Mrs. Bradham, whose qualifications, educational background, and social work expertise, overwhelmingly placed her in top position for the newly-created and all-embracing position, thus becomes the first colored person to head such an impressive division in Jacksonville.

Enthusiastic and thoroughly philosophical as to the value of the child of any race, Mrs. Bradham will be involved in overseeing a wide array of services.

Mrs. Bradham will have under her aegis such problems as the operation of parental and detention homes insofar as children per se are concerned, the finding of foster homes, the further establishing of halfway houses and the coordination of the services of various public and private agencies.

Education-wise and experience-wise, Supervisor Bradham presents an impressive background. She has been a social worker in Georgia, California, Virginia, Texas, Oklahoma, Kentucky and in Washington, D.C. She served with the USO office during the war years. Mrs. Bradham has a master's degree in social work.

Mrs. Bradham went to Florida two years ago from Virginia and worked with the Florida Department of Public Assistance as a consultant and, when appointed to the new position, was director of training for the local Opportunity Industrialization center.

Chi's from 21 cities at confab

National officers and delegates from 21 cities met here, last weekend for the two-day meeting of the 25th Interim sessions of the executive board of Chi Eta Phi Sorority.

Membership of the sorority is composed of registered nurses throughout the United States and Africa.

IN ADDITION to business sessions, which included finalization of plans for publishing the history of the sorority, the format for the meeting included two luncheons and a closing party.

The opening session on Friday morning was presided over by Mrs. Leota P. Brown of Long Island, N.Y., supreme basileus of the sorority. The group was welcomed by the basileus of the hostess chapter, Gamma, Mrs. Lucy W. Edwards.

MISS HAZEL BAILEY of Gamma chapter presided at the mid-day luncheon meeting, which had as speaker, Mrs. Gwendolyn Lee.

"We are at a time when Negro America is seeking to determine which road to take," Mrs. Lee told the group. "Whether to follow the line of separatism with the militants, whether to seek inclusion, but with a definite image, as do the youth," said Mrs. Lee.

"There's a heck of a lot of thinking to do when one considers the millions of dollars being spent to aid Biafra, and the millions of children in America who are slowly starving to death. The infant mortality in the United States is scandalous.

"The rents paid for rat infested ghetto houses that provide for the solid upkeep of non-resident landlords is a disgrace, and rotten meat and infected foods marked up at high prices are sold to the people of the inner city are plenty cause for hostility," said Mrs. Lee.

Mrs. Lee added that the disorders of today have grown out of the seeds of violence sown years ago, but that there is still hope and courage to look forward.

THE REV. Samuel Ray, pastor of the Morning Star Baptist Church, addressed the group at its second luncheon session on Saturday.

The old question asked of Cain "Where is thy brother? What have you done to him?" is again being asked, said the Rev. Mr. Ray. The fact that the assassinations of three men, President Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King and Senator Kennedy, all of whom saw naked poverty and lent an ear, indicate that the lid has been unscrewed from the jar of evil and contaminated the country, he said.

The new administration, said the Rev. Mr. Ray, must realize that America cannot exist on a double standard. Colored America no longer has doubts of itself. It now knows that given the chance and opportunity it can achieve what any others can achieve. The administration must create an atmosphere where justice can exist. Without justice there can be no order, he told the group.

The clergyman was introduced by Mrs. Lucy W. Edwards.

Saturday evening the group provided a lignier note for their visiting sorors, when they entertained at a soiree at Roundtower Motor Inn to introduce them to their Baltimore friends.

OUT-OF-TOWN officials and delegates attending the meeting included:

Sorors Leota P. Brown of Long Island, N.Y., supreme basileus; Lucille L. Scales of the Bronx, N.Y.; first supreme anti-basileus; Gena Largo of Bronx, executive secretary; Vashti Gilmore of Washington, D.C., tamias; Mamie Garland of Pittsburgh, Pa., organizer; and Zoella Y. Baker of Philadelphia, dean of pledgees;

Sorors Mabel V. Hawkins, Baltimore; Mary Watkins, Houston, Texas and Ella R. Carter, St. Louis, Mo., all regional directors;

Also Sorors Henrietta Chisholm of Washington, Josephine Alexander of Los Angeles, Calif., Pari Walker of Richmond, Va., Marjorie Keyes and Jane Moss of Indianapolis, Ind.,

Sorors Edna Wiley of the Bronx, N.Y., Gladys Manzo of Detroit, Mich., Shirley Lucas of Los Angeles, Calif., Virginia Glenn of Ashville, N.C., Diana Lopez of Hempstead, N.Y.,

Sorors Joyce Lomax of Pittsburgh, Pa., Eunice Porter of Houston, Texas, Mary Watkins, also of Houston, Dorothy Kirton of the Bronx, Fostine Riddick of Norfolk, Va., Dorothy Davis of Newport News, Va.,

Sorors Delores Green of Atlanta, Ga., Pauline Curkin of Charlotte, N.C., Pearline Wright of Columbus, Ga., Lucy Thornton of Birmingham, Ala., Mabel Staupers of Hyattsville, Md. and Helen Miller of Durham, N.C.

SPECIAL GUESTS included members of the Baltimore undergraduate chapter, Gamma Beta. They were Misses Reatha Felton, Ruby Hanks, Rosemary Wilson, Patricia Crump and Mattie Hines, all student nurses at Provident Hospital, Baltimore.

MEMBERS OF the hostess chapter are:

Sorors Lucy W. Edwards, Lelia Davage, Emily Hardy, Doris Starks, Mabel Hawkins, Phyllis Shamwell, Earline Ford.

Sorors Devorah Jenkins, Nannie Bass, Cecelia Hughes, Eleanora Willis, Hazel Bailey, Gertrude Edwards, Anita Henson, Mildred Hughlett, Sandra Hines, Irma Givens, Mildred Gambrill, Sorors Juanita Green, Mary Peck, Lilyan Slater, Dorothy Thomas, Rose Lewis, Floretta Jones and Sarah Lightfoot.

Baltimore Guardmen's Bash an Eye-bugger

By LULA MACKAY

BALTIMORE — Opening their holiday weekend of festivities with a black-tie dinner party, Baltimore Guardsmen, even for Baltimore Guardsmen, set a record in eye-filling, here, Friday night.

The initial party, held in plush Blue Crest, North, in Pikesville, drew members of the organization from across the country. The party employed the whole of the Crest's entertaining facilities. From the time guests entered the foyer, stepped down on step and through the double line of suave hosts, and into the ballroom, the affair displayed a fashion blast.

THREE FILLED buffets which dispensed hot hors d'oeuvres along with three immense bars which dispensed the accompaniments, dominated three rooms of the left wing of the Crest. After an hour or so there, guests went for dinner in the ballroom, which was a fairyland.

Great arrangements of multi-colored flowers backed the dais, where the Mersimacs were sounding forth. Tables for ten, were centered either with candlebras practically encased with flowers, or tall standards from which masses of blooms dripped, and miniature candles in tiny decorative holders marked each setting. (The management terms this their "candle-light" service).

WHILE THE men, following the lead of their hosts were chiefly in the formal black-tie dress, there were enough of the others who turned to the exotic to make gentlemen's attire noticeable ... for example, Douglas Henderson, from Pennsylvania, in pale tan Nehru, gold buttoned and dark trousers. But at that party no one could say that women were sliding into second slots as fashion leaders.

THE FORMER Margaret Stewart of Washington, now Mrs. Roger Wilson of Philadelphia, was in sleek white satin with a deep jewel blue velvet top paved in jewels. Mrs. Charles Hicks from Frederick, Md. came in red, from the tip of her toes, through her hose to the brief-skirted velvet frock with its beautifully molded, low neckline with deep border of crystals.

Also in red, chiffon this time, was Mrs. Paul Chester of Baltimore, her husband, a host, having been taken out of circulation by the influenza.

CITY COUNCILWOMAN Victorine Adams (Baltimore) wore a chic, simple lined white crepe, with high rolled collar of crystals ... and Mrs. Albert Burwell of the same town was in all black sequins, a dress, rounded low at the back and topped by a jacket of the sequins. Mrs. Robert Watts playing it ever so cool in silver brocade. (We were bubbling over his having been elevated to the Supreme Bench .. she quipping that he had been a "judge" for ever so long). Mrs. Benjamin Foreman was in pale blue chiffon, a full-skirted affair topped with a beaded full, but brief jacket. Mrs. Charles Brown, of the host group, in a blue-on-blue blocked silk, jewel-buttoned at the back.

Mrs. James Patrick of Atlanta, Ga. wore classic lace and crepe in black ... and Mrs. Alex Rivera in a black and white block-patterned sequin gown. Petit and pretty Merlo Hayes of Washington wore blue, paneled back and front and banded with silver. Mrs. Walter Edmonds wore all white, a neck treatment of openwork, a skirt enhancement of fringe. Mrs. John Wood was in an A-line gown that had the most entrancing treatment at the high open collar and was in the most luscious shade of blue. Mrs. William Hall chose deep pink for a gown in the new wide-skirted version.

Saturday the Baltimore hosts and their guests boarded busses for a spin boarding busses for a spin to the Laurel race track, where the did what comes naturally there (even to having a race named from them) and later dined in the Chesapeake Room.

There was more dancing and dining later Saturday evening ... more business and a farewell on Sunday.

You feel a little edgy, or maybe cross.

Sooner or later, that day comes, the day when a woman feels she's changing. It's not a good feeling either. And she could use a good old-fashioned medicine then.

You might even have what we call hot flashes and feel sad and slightly off balance.

Whatever you feel, we have something for the day you need a little comforting. Lydia E. Pinkham Tablets. They're made with gentle, natural ingredients that work to help you feel better. When you start changing, you could use a good old-fashioned medicine. We don't run any chance of the kind of unpleasant side effects you can get from some of the newer drugs.
