THEIR DAY — City wide lifting meet was held at the Madison Square Recreation Center Saturday afternoon sponsored by the Bureau of Recreation. It made no difference to Shula—Vikes or Bears

Maybe you did but Don Shula didn't care whether it was to be the Minnesota Vikings or the Chicago Bears that he and his Colts would take on Sunday at Memorial Stadium for the Western Conference title of the National Football League.

Shula and Company were in the act of completing their NLF schedule commitments against the Rams at Los Angeles Sunday, while Minnesota was meeting the Eagles at Philadelphia, and Chicago was entertaining the Green Bay Packers.

Had both the Vikings and Bears won, the latter would have annexed the Central Division crown, and with it the right to play the Colts for the conference title. However, the Bears were beaten by the Packers, thus paving the way for the Vikes to capitalize on their victory over the Eagles.

"They're both good clubs," Shula observed. "The Bears are probably a little tougher defensively and the Vikings are slightly superior offensively, with Bill Brown and Joe Kapp.

DON SHULA

"But we really have no preferenace as far as an opponent goes. We still have our job to do.

"Any team in our league is capable of beating you on a given day, especially one that's good enough to win a division title. Consequently, the important thing is to be prepared for whatever comes.

"Minnesota's improved since we played them, and they were tough then. Brown is healthy again, and they've all gotten over the flu," Shula continued.

What about Don's own charges? With the sudden development of new talent, is he contemplating any changes in manpower use or strategy?

"Naturally, we'll insert few new wrinkles on both offense and defense. When a team goes through an entire season, it stands to reason that it is pretty well scouted.

"So, it's essential that you mix in a few new things with your most successful old stuff. But basically, we expect to play the same old hard, aggressive, fundamental football. It brought us this far. We wouldn't be wise to abandon it completely.

"Concerning the personnel changes, the first person that comes to my mind — and to yours, too I'm sure — is Preston Pearson. He's been a most pleasant surprise and his versatility has been amazing.

"You can be sure we'll get all the mileage out of him that we can. Also out of our 'rejuvenated' quarterback situation — Earl Morrall and John Unitas, or Unitas and Morrall, if that's the way you prefer it". .SAM LACY.

active part of the planning and approving of the auditorium - communications building."

"We have approved the demand that contractural arangements be made for the mural located on the first floor of Julian Hall, as soon as art instructors draw up plans."

"We have approved the demand for a college counselor which will be filled by an instructor of the College."

In summation, Dr. Moore told the Student Body, "It is time for you to return to your classrooms. If you are disgruntled, let us sit down together and talk over the situation."

The general reaction of the Student Body was, "not satisfied."

Michael Chambers, president mounted the stage and expressed his feelings as follows:

"Personally, I don't think the approvals were too good."

"We must do some serious thinking and get this thing where it ought to be.

"All class presidents will go to their respective classes and return to Union Hall, and then we are going to make some decisions together," stated Mr. Chambers.

Mr. Chambers said late Monday the boycott would continue and the students would determine their response after the Christmas holiday.

Seen sitting among the Student Body was Senator Verda Welcome and Lena K. Lee, attorney.

heroin. An additional charge of selling dangerous drugs was placed against Mr. Valentine, who allegedly lives in the apartment at 2:15 a.m. Friday. A quantity of heroin was allegedly found in an undercover agent on Nov. 23.

The men were released on $3,000 bail each, pending a hearing before Judge Baer at Northwestern District headquarters Dec. 18.

Mr. Allen, was arrested in a raid on his Calvert St. apartment at 2:15 a.m. Friday. Police, who report finding a quantity of suspected marijuana, charged Mr. Allen with possession of the drug and with maintaining a dwelling for the illegal purpose of keeping and selling narcotics.

An earlier sale allegedly to police agents resulted in additional charge against the suspect.

Bail for Mr. Allen was set at a total of $11,000, pending a hearing before Judge Finnerty at Central Municipal Court.

Bake Sale

The Baltimore Jack and Jills of America will hold a Bake Sale at the Heritage Church on Liberty Hgts. Ave. Dec. 23 from 2 to 4 p.m.

Howard and Watts

Watts following swearing-in ceremonies to be attended by the great and near-great in political and legal circles.

Also taking the oath of office will be Judge-elect Paul A. Dorf and Municipal Court Judge Basil Thomas.

Judges Watts and Thomas were appointed by Gov. Spiro T. Agnew to fill vacancies created by an expanded bench. Both have been promoted from the Municipal Court Bench.

The other two Bench seats created by the expansion were won by Judges Howard and Dorf in the last election.

Total strength of the Supreme Bench, following the oath-taking will be 19.

Chief Judge Dulany Foster will preside over the ceremonies and the judges-designate will be presented to the court and escorted by ex-law partners, law partners, relatives, colleagues, and friends.

The swearing-in will follow an alphabetical arrangement with former Fifth District State Sen. Dorf followed by Judges Howard, Thomas, and Watts.

Judge Dorf will be presented by Allan H. Fisher, sponsor and escorted by Morton C. Pollack and Frank B. Cahn 2nd.

Judge Dorf is the son-in-law and Mr. Pollack is the son of Northwest Baltimore political leader James H. (Jack) Pollack.

Presenting Judge Howard to the court will be his brother, Joseph P. Howard Jr., also an attorney, and his father, Joseph P. Howard Sr. and Archie D. Williams will escort him to the bench after putting on the robe.

Judge Thomas will be presented by his former colleague on the Municipal Court, retired Chief Judge T. Barton Harrington. He will be escorted by Hamilton O'Dunne, and Howard C. Bregel, both ex-presidents of the Baltimore Bar Association.

W. Emerson Brown Jr., senior partner of the law firm of Brown, Allen, Josie, once Brown, Allen, Watts, Russell and Murphy, will present Judge Watts.

Milton B. Allen and Mr. Russell will escort him. They are, or have been, members of the firm which has produced more non-white judges than any other in this area.

The elevation of Judge Watts to the Supreme Bench has long been regarded as long overdue since he has been a prominent member of the legal community for many years and was snubbed by former Gov. J. Millard Tawes for what was considered a "fuzzy and groundless" reason.

Judge Howard and Dorf are regarded as products of the most successful assault on the highly hearkled "Sitting Judge Principle."

Called too restrictive by many legal and political leaders, the principle calls for the re-election of incumbent judges.

In the last election however, two incumbents, Judge Edwin Wolf and Thomas Kenny fell victim to what is known as "outsiders" to the bench.

Mr. Howard led the ticket after staging a vigorous and hard-hitting campaign in which he criticized the concept and practice of the "Sitting Judge Principle."
