FAMILY OF WEEK:

Dunmores exhibit pride in seniority, children

BY LULA SHEFFEY

Mrs. Charles (Georgia) Dunmore of St. James Terrace, has "always been a housewife," as she feels that correspondence with their nine children, eighteen grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren, "is vocation enough."

The comment was made when the AFRO talked with this week's family of the week, Mr. and Mrs. Dunmore, who are "Solid American Citizens."

On Aug. 29, 1912, 56 years ago, the former Miss Georgia White, daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. William Cathers (Ellen Reid) White of Georgetown, S.C., and Charles Dunmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam (Charlena) Dunmore, married in a religious ceremony officiated by the Rev. J. E. Bard, who is now retired and also lives in Baltimore.

Mrs. Dunmore was born and reared in South Carolina.

She received her formal education there and was graduated from Howard High School.

During the conversation, Mrs. Dunmore remarked, "My husband and I have lived in several states, but my choice is Cleveland, Ohio."

Asked why she preferred Cleveland, Mrs. Dunmore replied, "I had so many dear friends there and I grew to love the town."

She continued, "We have lived in Baltimore for the past eight years. Prior to that, we lived in Cleveland for ten years and before moving there, we were residents in Philadelphia for forty years, so you can see we have gotten around."

Mrs. Dunmore is happy living at the St. James, but misses "doodling" in her flower garden.

She is a member of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, and worked with the ladies auxiliary until ill health prevented church attendance.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Dunmore receive Holy Communion, once a month at home when visited by Father Robert Powell.

Mr. Dunmore, a native South Carolinean, received his formal education there and graduated from Howard High School.

He attended South Carolina State College, and graduated from Hampton Institute in 1906, with a major in trades. He furthered his education at the Echols School of Embalming in Philadelphia.

Mr. Dunmore operated his own funeral home in Georgetown (this hometown) for three years and then became a self-employed contracting carpenter.

In 1965, ill health forced him to retire. Because of this illness Mr. Dunmore is confined to bed "more or less," stated his wife.

Mrs. Dunmore explained, "My husband was a very active man and to hear him talk, you would think that he can still get around as fast as ever."

Mr. Dunmore was a layreader until he became too ill to attend church.

"My husband likes to watch television and reads at short intervals each day," she said.

The senior Dunmores are happy to have reached "the tender years" and offer thanks to the Lord for having made it all possible.

Mr. Dunmore, 82, was born on Dec. 26, 1886 and Mrs. Dunmore, 81, was born on Feb. 15, 1887.

They are equally as proud of their children as they are of their seniority. The children are:

Cathers J. Dunmore, of Cleveland, Ohio is supervisor at a steel plant.

Currently Albert J. Dunmore is with the Chrysler Corporation. He is the past editor of the Michigan Chronicle, and was employed at the Pittsburgh Courier for 20 years.

Robert J. (Bobby) Dunmore of Baltimore has been with Parks Sausage for a number of years.

Another son, Francis J. Dunmore of Philadelphia is a postal clerk.

Herbert J. Dunmore of Philadelphia works at the Valley Forge Hospital (PX) post exchange.

The Parcel Post department is where Oscar J. Dunmore is employed.

Presently, Dr. Charlotte Jeanette Dunmore of Boston, Mass. is an assistant professor at Simmons College.

Another Philadelphian, Mrs. Joseph (Julia) Duckett has been with the Girl scouts of America (headquarters) for 12 years.

And George J. Dunmore of Cleveland is an accountant.

SOLID AMERICANS — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunmore were chosen as the AFRO's Family of the Week.

No clowns. No hoopla. No funny hats.
This is an event for the serious car buyer. The man who has X number of dollars to spend and is determined to get his money's worth and maybe more.
Come to a Chevrolet Showroom during our Value Showdown.
Ask the man to show you, on paper, how you can order most any 1969 Chevrolet with a big V8 and automatic transmission for less than you could last year.
Come in and spend some time. Dig, probe, ask questions, take notes. You owe it to yourself to be thorough.
Go for a drive.
Get a free sample of Chevrolet's luxurious full-coil, cushioned ride. Shut the windows and see how fresh the interior stays, thanks to Astro Ventilation. Feel the kick of the biggest standard V8 in our field.
Then go down the street or across town and see how we stack up against Those Other Cars.
We think you'll wind up with a Chevy.
More people do, you know.
Putting you first, keeps us first. CHEVROLET from his wife.

"The petitioner would like to know by what authority under the Federal Postal laws does Mr. Hopkins have the authority of opening personal mail," Bryant wrote in his Dec. 1967 argument.

The answer from Hopkins was that "all inmate mail is subject to censorship and checked for money, stamps and contraband." The lease was placed with Bryant's personal property despite the fact that he says he asked that it be mailed back to his wife.

In November, 1967, Bryant attempted to sue the U.S. Government for $1 million "and relief from D.C. Jail "as a result of the intentionally and malicious irregularities, brought about by the lack of a speedy trail; and due to the unlawful searches and seizures imposed upon him by the defendant, by the plaintiff's being one of the minority groups and because of his nationality, while helpless without the proper support."

BILLIE AUSTIN BRYANT

Bryant was arrested May 1, 1967, in Northeast Washington on bank robbery charges. He said in his November suit against the government that he had been waiting in jail for his trial 196 days.

His motion for a speedy trial had been denied by Judge Matthew McGuire of the U.S. District Court on Sept. 22, 1967.

His request for a court appointed lawyer to argue his civil case was denied in the Nov. suit.

All his suits were filed without fee and he wrote "because of my poverty I'm unable to pay fees or cost for this action" and "am unable to give security or same."

U.S. Attorney David ress and two assistant U.S. attorneys wrote in answer to his suit a gainst the government: "We know of o authority which would llow him to prematurely nd collaterally attack matrs pertinent to the criminl charges pending against m in a civil action of this ature."

The attorneys also ointed to the fact that his motion for a speedy trial d been denied. This suit as denied Feb. 15, 1968. ter a 10 day trial, he was nteneed, Feb. 26, to 18 to years in jail for armed obbery. His case is now in e Court of Appeals.

The third defendant in Bryant's attempts was the state of Maryland. In a suit dated Dec. 18, 1967, Bryant says he was identified by another man as the robber in a Maryland bank hold-up for $1,362.

He sued to test the validity of a warrant for his arrest and said he was illegally detained in jail on the "basis of influence and improper suggestions upon all identifying witnesses contributing to the manner of insufficient identification."

The Maryland Attorney General answered that "the allegations set forth in the Bill of Complaint are vague, unintelligible, and unsupported, and fail to show the defendant's alleged connection with the averments therein contained."

Bryant's petition was denied May 2, 1968 and on May 16, Judge McGuire denied his request to appeal without paying costs.

August 29, 1968, he escaped from Lorton Reformatory in a Department of Corrections laundry truck and was at large until his arrest this week for bank robbery and murder.

Greets New Year 28 pt.

In answer to the AFRO request to express sentiment about what the New Year will bring, Edward B. Lyman, director of Public Affairs of the Catholic Archdiocese of Washington, made this statement.

"I believe that this beloved country of ours stands on the threshold of the greatest development in its history — if we continue to practice in our daily lives the God-given principles that have made us great.

"We are a nation dedicated to equality of opportunity for every citizen.

"In the words of our Chief Justice, we are a religious people. We seek no political or economic advantage, but solely that we use our strength wisely for the benefit of all mankind, knowing that only as we insure the rights of others shall we ourselves prosper.

"We trust in the system of checks and balances with which our Founding Fathers so wisely endowed us. And in the providence of Almighty God we look to the new year with confidence and with hope."

of Mrs. Willie Lee Bryant.

The two agents along with a third unidentified agent went to Yuma St., after learning the identity of the bank robber from a bank teller Mrs. Betty Mosley, 38.

According to police, the suspect fled in a red Cadillac with $4,000 after the bank holdup. Teller Mrs. Mosley recognized the gunman as a former customer and then spotted Bryant's picture on an FBI flyer, identifying him as an escaped prisoner from the Lorton Reformatory, five months ago.

Bryant had lived at the Yuma Street address a couple of years prior to his arrest in May 1967 in connection with a Chevy Chase bank robbery, the manager of the building said.
