Dragnet out for 'Sleepy'

A 28-year-old post office employee, Wilbert Taylor, of the 2100 block Braddish Ave., was shot to death by an unidentified man after an argument in the early hours of Wednesday morning.

Western District police report that Mr. Taylor was found unconscious on the sidewalk in the 700 block Poplar Grove St. shortly after 1:30 a.m. by a patrolman answering a call received at police headquarters.

Taken to Lutheran Hospital, he was pronounced dead on arrival at 1:42, of a bullet lodged in the upper left chest.

A witness to the shooting, French Williams of the 2700 block W. North Ave., told police that he had been with Mr. Taylor, two other men and three women in the Eldorado Bar, in the 2200 block Edmondson Ave.

One of the men, he said, was known only to the others as "Sleepy."

The four men and three women reportedly left the bar shortly befir 1:30, and entered Sleepy's black 1959 sedan.

From the 2800 block, the report continues, "Sleepy" drove them westward on Edmondson Ave., then northward on Poplar Grove St.

While driving the car, "Sleepy" said that the car needed gas, and requested the others to contribute for it. Mr. Williams told police, adding that an argument erupted concerning whether "Sleepy" should pay for the gas himself.

In the heat of the argument, Mr. Williams said, Sleepy pulled the car to the curb near the corner of Poplar Grove and Lanvale Sts., and told the six passengers, "You can all get out."

All of the passengers, including himself, complied with the order, the witness said adding, when all had left the car, Sleepy came from behind the wheel and, without addressing himself to anyone in particular — stated, "I am the 'Sleepy.'"

The next thing he remembered, Mr. Williams told police, was the sound of a shot and the sight of Mr. Taylor collapsing to the sidewalk.

Sleepy was described by Mr. Williams as about 34 years old; standing 5'10," and weighing about 160 to 170 pounds.

He was last seen wearing a camel hat, brown pants, a black trench coat, black shoes, and a turtle-neck sweater, he told police.

Mr. Taylor's body was identified by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, also of the Braddish St. address.

Surviving Mr. Taylor, besides his mother, are his father, Oester Taylor, brothers, Robert and Marvin; sisters, Mrs. Pamela Parson and Miss Crystal Taylor, and a daughter, Tanya Renee.

Funeral services for the dead man will be held Monday noon at the Baltimore National Cemetery on Old Frederick Road.

Friends may call at the Morton and Dyett Funeral Home, 1701 Laurens St., Sunday from 8 to 9 p.m.

Dr. Ulysses G. Lee, 55, was 'brilliant scholar, teacher'

"He was a brilliant scholar ... a teacher who meant so much to students ... he was the professor who won the first distinguished teacher award ... students called him 'an unsung hero.'"

The quotes came from associates of Dr. Ulysses Grant Lee, 55, the eminent professor of English at Morgan State College.

Dr. Lee, 55, was dead on arrival at Union Memorial Hospital on Tuesday.

He and a colleague, Dr. Harry Jones, were waiting at a bus stop near the campus when he collapsed. They were en route to their homes in Washington.

Funeral services will be held 10:30 a.m. Saturday at the National Cathedral, Massachusetts and Wisconsin Aves. in Washington.

In a statement issued Thursday on behalf of the college by Dean Harold Delaney, speaking for President Martin Jenkins who is out of the country, it was noted:

"The entire Morgan State College family is greatly shocked and saddened by the death of Dr. Ulysses Lee.

"He was an outstanding scholar, a brilliant teacher and an individual who was extremely well liked by those who knew him.

"He was generally recognized as being one of the most highly informed persons in the nation. Morgan State College will find it essentially impossible to replace him."

Burial will be in Lincoln Memorial Cemetery, Suitland, Md.

Dr. Lee joined the Morgan faculty in 1956. He was a University Fellow at Howard University where he was graduated summa cum laude when he received his A.B. and A.M. degrees. He earned his Ph.D. degree with honors in the history of Culture from the University of Chicago.

At Chicago, he studied under an Alvin K. Brown Fellowship, Rosenwald Fellowship and a Rockefeller Post-War Fellowship, and was admitted to Phi Beta Kappa.

Under the Morgan State College-University of Pennsylvania Cooperative Program, Professor Lee had for a year and a half taught in the American Civilization Program at the University
