'SADDEST THING I EVER HEARD'

2 small children die in Bentalou St. fire

"It is one of the saddest things I ever heard. The mother saved the one little girl who was awake.

"She put her out the front door and intended to go back and get the other two little girls who were on the second floor taking a nap.

"But the door slammed and locked her out.

"The mother had to go all the way around to the back. She kicked in a window, cut her feet badly. By the time she got into the house, the smoke was too heavy. The fire was too bad."

A neighbor gave the above account of the tragic Thursday afternoon fire at 1618 N. Bentalou St. that cost the lives of two little girls, ages 2 and 5 years.

One of the children lived in the house.

The other was a kindergarten pupil, the daughter of a family friend.

The fire started at 3:15 p.m. according to police reports.

The dead children are:

Elan Gatewood, 2 daughter of Mrs. Bona Christine Gatewood, 1618 N. Bentalou St.; dead on arrival at Lutheran Hospital at 3:35 p.m.

Erica Lassiter, 5, 2861 Edgecomb Circle North, daughter of Eric Lassiter, a C and O RR account clerk and Mrs. Barbara M. Lassiter, teacher at Elementary School No. 202; pronounced dead at 4:25 p.m. at Lutheran.

The Lassiter child was a kindergarten pupil at Henson Elementary School No. 29, 1600 N. Payson St.

She usually arrived at the Gatewood home about 8 a.m.

Mrs. Gatewood took her to school Thursday and brought her back to the Bentalou St. residence about 11:30 a.m.

* * *

When the fire started the 2-year-old was in her crib and the 5-year old child in a bed in the middle second floor bedroom.

They would ordinarily have awakened at about 3:30 p.m. Mrs. Lassiter usually arrived to pick her daughter up around 4 p.m.

* * *

Police report the fire started in the basement.

A small open flame gas stove, the kind which beautic ians use to heat irons, exploded while the young mother was curling her hair, police said.

The flames set fire to clothes in the basement. A third child 3-year-old daughter, Antoinette Gatewood, who was awake on the first floor was rescued out the front door.

* * *

Also residents of the house are Mrs. Gatewood's parents, Vance Gatewood, a Fort Meade employee and Mrs. Mattie Gatewood, a beautician who was at work at her Cameo Beauty Shop a short distance away at North near Ruxton Ave.

The other daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Gatewood, Carolyn, 17, was attending classes at Edmondson High School.

The injured mother was treated for cuts and bruises of the feet at Lutheran Hospital and released.

FIRE SCENE—Fire struck this row house in the 400 block of E. Lafayette St. Monday. Winter fires, continuing to plague the city, accounted for the deaths of six children in recent weeks.

Noon vigil marks King martyrdom

Almost 200 persons braved the cold weather and lunch hour crowds in front of the Federal Building Wednesday afternoon to celebrate the 40th birthday of the late Rev. Martin Luther King and to demand that the day be declared a national holiday.

Many of the participants, members of the Afro-American Youth Organization at City College, had taken the day off from classes with the understanding as one student said, that the day was an occasion of mourning and remembrance, whether or not it was declared a holiday by school officials.

Other participants, ranging in age from early teens

Judge David Ross handed down the verdict after a two-day trial in Criminal Court. Sentence was withheld pending also possible filing of an appeal.

According to testimony before the court, William Waldberger, 700 block Cator Ave., said a man entered the filling station about 3:10 a.m. and asked him to fill up a brown paper bag with $50's, $10's and $1s.

After leaving the filling station, Wallace went to the rooftops as policemen pursued. He became wedged in the chimney of a vacant

Trial Monday for Gardner, 'Chicago Al'

The bank robbery trial of William Oliver Gardner and Alfred (Chicago) Johnson, is scheduled to go before a Criminal Court jury Monday.

Judge Basil Thomas, sitting in Room 236 in the main Courthouse, will preside. Milton Allen and Nelson Kandel are defense attorneys.

The two men whose bail was set at $50,000 each were taken in a roundup of four suspects last July.

State's attorney Charles Moylan and two members of his staff, Fred Grant and Robert S. Fertitta, were on the scene of the raids along with Capt. Anton Glover.

The four men were subjects of nationwide alerts.

Four other suspects were apprehended later in the summer.

The FBI also participated in the roundup.

Gardner, 46, 1800 block Chilton St., is married and father of five children.

Both he and "Chicago Al", 24, 400 block E. North Ave., are accused of the Feb. 22, 1968 robbery of the Maryland National Bank, 520 Franklintown Rd. which netted $21,000 and the June 21 robbery of the Equitable Trust Company branch at 3121 St. Paul St. involving $12,500.

Compensation for firemen

Compensation for firemen disabled or filled during riots would be permitted in legislation introduced by Representative Clarence D. Long.

"Even under normal circumstances," Representative Long said, "firefighting is the third most hazardous occupation in the United States. During civil disorders, when firemen have been shot at, beaten, or injured in the collapse of buildings sabotaged by rioters, the risk even greater.

"Firefighters operating under such conditions deserve to be compensated," Representative said.

The bill covers both volunteer and paid firemen. The congressman pointed out that rioters make no distinction between professional firefighters and volunteers.

Nine out of ten fire departments in the nation are volunteer, Representative Long noted, and each of Maryland's twenty-three counties has volunteer companies.

School 27 A pupils return to classes

The appointment of Dr. Rebecca Carrol of the Department of Education to work with a volunteer committee of parents or resolve the problems brought on by the busing of children from school number 27-A has resulted in an end of the boycott.

"The committee," Dr. Carrol told the AFRO, "after touring the present facilities at schools number 2, 2-A, 8 and 25, has decided that they are adequate and they now support busing."

Frank Murhighan Jr., president of the School Board appointed Dr. Carrol to head up this committee with the charge that it investigate facilities in the area around school 27-A.

The parents, Dr. Carrol says, were looking for good lighting, heating, space, safety, maintenance, play and lunch facilities.

"They looked over several places in the neighborhood," Dr. Carrol continued, but found those in the Broadway shopping center unsafe and a trifle too small."

This committee is constant and will continue to investigate and evaluate the building program for School 27-A until such time as they are no longer needed.

* * *

"We're going to keep the parents, aware," Dr. Carrol declares, "of everything that goes on which affects their children and hopefully this will make for a better relationship between school and parent."

Harold Katz, principal of the beleagured school 27-A told the AFRO Thursday evening, "The majority of the students have returned to school and we are pleased with the results of the committee."

There are 25 Republicans in the 142-member House.

Named with Dr. Allen as minority floor leader was De. John S. McInerney (Montgomery).

Set Prophet Eli trial Jan. 28

Prophet Eli Wilerford, well-known radio minister and preacher at the Good Hope Hall, 658 W. Lexington St., has been scheduled for trial in Criminal Court the last of this month.

According to the states attorney's office, Prophet Eli will appear before Judge David Ross on Jan. 28 on charges of assault.

The trial which is set for 10 a.m. will come in Criminal Court Part IV now on the ninth floor of the New Courthouse Annex at 227 St. Paul St.

Prophet Eli, who is under $500 bail is charged with striking a 66-year-old widow, Mrs. Tessie Walker, with a lamp.

The incident is alleged to have occurred at her home in the 2200 block E. Preston St., on Aug. 23, 1968.

The minister was taken into custody by police officers at the Good Hope Hall at 9:30 p.m. Sept. 8, 1968. Represented by Attorney Nelson R. Kandel, he pleaded not guilty on arraignment in Criminal Court.

Among witnesses scheduled to testify is Mrs. Pauline Evans, 2200 block E. Chase St., a neighbor and president of the Candlelight Praying Club, who had befriended the widow.

Judge Jerome Robinson who heard the case on the Municipal Court level in September bound the matter over to the Grand Jury after he heard the widow and Mrs. Evans testify.

Mrs. Evans, a former Eastern District Police Community Relations School student, reported to the court her findings based on her own investigation.

She said she conducted the check-out of facts after Mrs. Walker came to her with her head in bandages.

Following the investigation which she said was conducted under rules she had learned at police school, Mrs. Evans said she went with the injured widow to obtain a warrant.

Hubby left her 36 years ago; she gets divorce

Mrs. Mary Augusta Briggs, 2500 block W. Lanvale St., was granted a divorce from her husband, John Briggs, in a decree signed by Judge William J. O'Donnell Jan. 10.

The Briggses were married June 23, 1930, and separated three years later, Oct. 20, 1933, "when he packed up everything and left," the wife said.

The separation which was 36 years ago, took place when the couple resided in the 200 block W. Biddle St., the wife testified.

LET THE young people in your house prepare this quick and easy Chocolate Fudge Pudding Ice Cream and top it off with any of your favorite toppings. You mint even try chopped nuts, Log Cabin Syrup, marshmallow sauce, or what have you.

Chocolate Pudding sparks chilly day

When the days are a bit chilly on the outside, why not warm up the spirits on the inside by serving this dazzling dessert — Chocolate Fudge Pudding Ice Cream.

This delightful dessert is easy to prepare and can be made up in a jiffy — just combine the pudding mix with the milk, blend in the thawed Birds Eye Cool Whip Non-Dairy Whipped Topping, and freeze until firm. Top with nuts, cherries, Log Cabin Syrup, or your favorite sauce.

* * *

Frozen whipped topping has many things GOING FOR IT. You can store it in the freezer like any other frozen food or keep it fresh in the refrigerator for two weeks.

You can use it to frost your next cake — a 1-quart container will cover the top and sides of two or 9-inch layers. It is also great as a topping for almost any food that you might serve; it adds a bit of glamour to gingerbread, rice pudding, apple pie, gelatin desserts, or even cocoa.

* * *

For you calorie counters, this frozen whipped topping contains only 16 calories per tablespoon. Of course, all foods furnish calories, but some supply more than others. Remember when more calories are taken into your body than are needed, the leftover calories are stored as fat — and you gain weight.

On the other hand, when you don't consume enough calories you lose weight. The person whose weight stays the same is taking in as many calories as his body is using. Why not leave this figuring to the calorie counter and tell us what you've got GOING FOR YOU and your family on this chilly day — Chocolate Fudge Pudding Ice Cream???

* * *

Chocolate Fudge Pudding Ice Cream is made with 1-¼ cups cold milk, 1 package (4-serving size) chocolate fudge instant pudding, and 2cups (or one 4-½-oz. container) frozen whipped topping, thawed.

Pour milk into 1-quart bowl. Add pudding mix. Beat slowly with rotary beater or at lowest speed of electric mixer, just blended—about 2 minutes. Blend in whipped topping. Pour into shallow freezing container. Freeze until firm—4 hours or overnight. Makes 3-½ cups or 6 or 7 servings.

Here's where you can take your own trash problems

Modern packaging and handling techniques present ever increasing and, in some instances, unique trash removal problems, according to Wilfred H. Shields, chief, Division of Solid Wastes, Maryland State Health Department.

He has announced a list of disposal sites for "private trash" in the Greater Baltimore Metropolitan area.

In releasing the list of locations and conditions for such disposal by an area resident, Mr. Shields said:

"This should be an added convenience for our citizens, especially when varied containers can grow into unsightly heaps.

"By keeping our homes, streets, and alleys trash-free, we cannot only decrease the danger of fire caused by rubbish piles but also reduce the possibilities of attracting rodents and insects, a major health hazard."

Residents of the Metropolitan counties wishing to dispose of selected items of trash were reminded by the chief of a law passed by the 19-7 legislature which "prohibits dumping of trash on any public highways or waters of the state."

He cautioned them to utilize the following locations:

Chops are for everyone's budget

Chops are perennial favorites. Pork, lamb or veal chops can be cooked "as is" or dressed up with a sauce, a glaze or a stuffing.

Luckily, there's a chop to fit everyone's budget and any time schedule. Of the three categories, loin chops are the most expensive. They're quick-to-go, always tender and the epitome of the chop dinners. Fine restaurants serve them with a flourish.

* * *

Select loin chops for a special occasion as they are costly and grand, Betty Brownell, home economist for National Association of Food Chains, suggests.

Rib chops, somewhat less expensive than the loin, contain no tenderloin, but are succulent and delightful.

* * *

The most economical of the three types are shoulder chops, containing an arm or blade bone.

They boast an excellent flavor with more meat on the chop, but they must be cooked longer to achieve maximum tenderness. Panbrolling, pan-frying or braising are the recommended methods.

* * *

Possibilities for dressing the chops in elegant style are endless. Broiled chops, for example, may be brushed with a butter, tarragon and white wine mixture before serving for added flair.

Loin lamb chops may be marinated in a mixture of curry and soy sauce before broiling. Chops may be devilled by pressing them into buttered crumbs before grilling.

* * *

Perhaps the most delectable gourmet touch is a glaze for the chops. Pork chops take kindly to a trio of honey, orange juice and cognac, brushed on several times during the cooking period.

For lamb shoulder chops, try pizza style by browning the chops slowly in a skillet.

Sprinkle with salt, pepper and garlic salt, then cover each chop with tomato paste, oregano and a slice of Mozzarella cheese. Cover the skillet and simmer the chops for 45 minutes or until fork tender. If it becomes dry, add tomato juice.

* * *

Chops are always chopping good. Buy them carefully, store them in the refrigerator (try to use them within a few days), and serve them with pride.

Afro wig: a hair-raiser

AFRO Wig

Miss Natural Wigs by Posner in the new Afro hair fashion such as shown in the photograph have been creating a sensation across the country. But nowhere has this item been received with so much enthusiasm as in a well-known Chicago department store which will have to go unnamed.

* * *

It seems that the wigs moved so quickly that within a few hours only one was left. Two women spotted it, both reached for it at the same time — well, you guessed it! Result — half a wig for each.

* * *

The store manager came to the rescue and calmed the disappointed ladies with the promise that he would have another wig for them within 24 hours.

A phone call to the Posner Company in New York and a special delivery shipment of Miss Natural Wigs enabled the store manager to keep his promise and bring this hair-raising story to a happy ending.
