THE DULVANIANS—These 15 Dulaney Valley High School youngsters have been coached and directed by William Myers, chairman of the school's music department until they have become accomplished musicians. See Round Town for more of what Mr. Myers has done with the group. Bill Myers is in the inset.

ROUND about TOWN

By AL RUTLEDGE

Remember Bill Myers? Well, for those of you who do and haven't heard from Bill since he went out to Dulaney Valley High School to take over as chairman of the school's music department the latest:

Bill Myers

Dulaney isn't known for his "soul-population but evidently Bill Myers is about to give it some fame in that area.

Bill has put together a group of young singers who are called, "The Dulvanians".

They sing soul music and according to some people who have heard them, "they exhibit superb balance and definite vocal artistry."

• • •

Bill explains it this way: "They're really talented kids, and to their talents I've added a little soul."

The combination makes them a real experience in fine music to listen to."

"The Dulvanians" are going to appear at Baltimore's USO Club on January 25.

It will be Bill's first opportunity to expose them to the city.

He'a kept them under wraps for several months and after the USO appearance he's got them booked for some other spots in Baltimore.

If you enjoyed the kind of performances Bill produced while he was Director of Music at the Montrose School for Girls, what he's done with "The Dulvanians" will amaze you.

In an effort to save what has come to be a rewarding friendship Round About Town takes the responsibility and apologizes to the ladies of the Zeta Chapter of the Theta Nu Sigma National Sorority.

Last week, a photo of eleven Zeta Soros appeared in another section of the paper with an underline which described them as being the Master Beauticians planning for Founder's Day.

To set the record straight: — Those ladies were part of the Zeta Planning Committee which is making plans for the Annual Zeta Dawn Breakfast which will be held March 16 at the Master Beautician Center.

Plans haven't been finalized but the ladies are expecting to have some very distinguished guest speakers at the early morning affair.

It's getting near that time of year when The Pyramids, Inc. hold their annual "Miss Pyramid Contest."

Nelson Taylor, is out on the bricks now drumming up interest and seeking about 50 contestants.

The Pyramids have, in the past, sent some smilingly lovely, soulfully bautiful young ladies on a holiday in the Carribean.

This year is no exception. The winner will receive either $400 in cash or a trip to the Bahamas.

As soon as the group have the throttle wide open on the contest proceedings Round About Town will turn you on.

The In Crowds, Inc. have already completed plans for their next affair.

They're going to do a cabaret at the Winchester Armory on April 12. Tommy Van and the Professionals along with Carol and the Chargers are going to bump amplifiers in a battle-of-the-bands.

When the building settles, Miss Toni Barbour, the go-go girl, will do a little upsetting herself.

We'll keep you posted just to make sure you don't miss this one either.

On the 26th, the 30-Year Oldtimers are going to hold their benefit basketball game in the Coppin State College gymnasium.

The Baltimore chapter of the Oldtimers will play the Philadelphia Oldtimers and the proceeds from the game will go to the Provident Hospital Building Fund.

The Oldtimers throughout the Baltimore-Philadelphia-Cleveland-Atlantic City network have always been real hosts.

The parties and other festivities which accompany their games won't be missing on the 26th.

Eastern gives King memorial assembly

Miss Saundra Billups, a student at Eastern high school, last year conceived the idea for a memorial program for the late Dr. Martin Luther King.

And Jan. 15 the program went on, sponsored by the class of 1970. The address was delivered by Rev. E. Franklin Jackson of the J. Wesley Memorial A.M.E. Church and another address was given by Al Corbin of SCLC.

Students read essays and original thoughts and Sharon Brooks receited a poem.

The Eastern Choir contributed "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and a song entitled "Martin Luther King" written by Mrs. Zellmer and Mrs. Payne.

Michael Rogers read excerpts from one of King's speeches, "I Have a Dream" and the program was concluded by a recording eulogy "I'd Rather Be a Drum Major for the Lord."

There was a mural displayed at the program. Credit for it was given to Richardo Lewis, with the assistance of Pat Taylor and Linda Jones.

"Dr. King's belief in nonviolent action led him to state: 'nonviolence is our greatest weapon. It may get me crucified. I may even die. But — I want it said, even if I die in the struggle — He died to make me free,' the program read.
