State Senate drops its cloture proposal

AFRO Bureau

ANNAPOLIS — In a surprise move, a proposed cloture amendment to Senate rules, allowing the halting of debate, was withdrawn Wednesday by its sponsor, Sen. Harry R. Hughes (D. upper Eastern Shore).

Withdrawal came as the proposal faced the Senate for the fourth time, having been brought in last week.

Sen. Hughes repeated a previous explanation that the proposal was not intended to "gag" the chambers members, but was purely for clarification on debating procedures.

"This thing has been blown entirely out of proportions," he stated.

* * *

The senators, with the exception of President William S. James (D. Harford), appeared satisfied to let the measure die.

"The U.S. Senate has its two-thirds rule on this," he told his colleagues. "We still have nothing."

He referred to the two-thirds vote in the Washington chamber, by which cloture may be invoked.

Some senators who were ready with amendments to the Hughes proposal just dumped them in waste baskets.

The chamber's members remain free to speak at length, should they desire.

Long scores military housing at Edgewood

Rep. Clarence D. Long (D., Md) Tuesday strongly criticized Wherry-type housing at Edgewood Arsenal's Washington Court apartments as overpriced and badly-constructed.

Following an hour-long tour last Saturday, Rep. Long recommended:

1. Increased housing allowances to permit military men to live in civilian housing rather than "constructing new military facilities.

Rep. Long noted that enlisted men at Edgewood Arsenal are now required to live at the Washington Court apartments or other government-owned housing if space in these developments is available.

2. Immediate allocation by Army officials in Washington of $5,500 to provide mail boxes for the development. Other problems at Washington Court appeared to stem largely from the poor design of the buildings.

3. Improved maintenance of the development by post officials. Rep. Long noted poor design of the housing might make this difficult but said action should be taken nevertheless to repair such items as cracked plaster and drafty windows.

Residents complained to Rep. Long of roaches and mice, lack of fire exits, small kitchens with no counter space, drafty windows and a lack of mailboxes, which prevents the post office from delivering mail to their homes.

* * *

In addition, one resident reported that the basement storage space of her apartment house had been broken into by people who held "wild beer parties."

One woman reported trapping six mice in her apartment in a single day, and another said that on a windy day her living room curtains blow open even with the windows closed.

Rep. Long plans to exhibit photographs of the apartment development at an early meeting of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Military Construction, of which he is a member, in order to show how military housing arrangements.

Gov. Mandel will meet black college students

AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — Governor Marvin Mandel has agreed to a requested meeting with representatives of the four black colleges in Maryland to hear pleas for more funds to upgrade standards at the schools.

The meeting is scheduled for 2 p.m. Feb. 6 in the governor's State House office.

A spokesman said Thursday afternoon the governor is concerned about doing something for the black colleges.

* * *

The meeting was arranged by an aide to the governor, after this telegram was received last Tuesday:

"Four black colleges in the state of Maryland have met and have agreed upon a joint effort to secure the needed funds to change the substandard conditions of these long neglected schools.

"We are urgently requesting an audience with you around the first week in February to discuss this important matter. We have decided that this year Maryland should include as its first educational priority the elevation of four black colleges in Maryland.

* * *

"We are certain that your new dynamic leadership will be receptive to our pleads."

The telegram was signed by Samuel Lloyd, president of Morgan Student Government; Jimmy Gilliam, president of Morgan NAACP; Michael Chambers, president of Coppin Student Government;

* * *

Miss Joy Pinder, president of Coppin NAACP; Roland Smith, president of Bowie Student Government and NAACP and Miss Audrey Bell, president of Maryland State College NAACP.

Two days after its receipt an aide wrote the representatives and advised a meeting could be arranged at their convenience.

This was finalized Thursday afternoon as to time and date.

Bill would link Md. State-U. Md

AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — A bill to provide that Maryland State College at Princess Anne be made an integral part of the University of Maryland has been introduced in the Senate.

The SB 141, sponsored by Senators Verda F. Welcome (D. 4th Balto. and Meyer M. Emanuel Jr. (D. Prince George's), is awaiting action in the Finance Committee, headed by Sen. Harry R. Hughes (D. upper Eastern Shore.)

Sen. Welcome has also introduced a bill to repeal the prohibition against ministers becoming senators or delegates.

The SB 142 is before the Judicial Proceedings Committee.

Mayor meets with state delegation

AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — Baltimore's Mayor Thomas J. D'Alesandro III met in executive session here Thursday afternoon with the city's General Assembly members to promote his legislative program which calls for funds, among other things, for expanded education and police protection programs.

Murray Abramson (4th, D.) chairman of the city delegation, later termed the conference a "good meeting."

* * *

Mr. Abramson said further:

"I thought the meeting was very productive. There was a better understanding developed.

"The delegation told the mayor they wanted to be in at the inception of the city's budget, rather than be presented it after it has been formulated."

Mr. Abramson said there was discussion of setting up a legislative office in the City Hall. The mayor has already opened up a liaison office with the General Assembly here at 100 College Ave.

* * *

Senator Clarence M. Mitchell III had comments similar to those of Mr. Abramson. However, he reportedly took the mayor to task in the meeting for pressing for a political job in the interest of John Vallis at the request of two councilmen.

Mr. Mitchell pointed out that a black citizen is usually required to meet extra qualifications in such a case.

Deadline given for state bills

AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — Legislators have been warned by Dr. Carl W. Everstine, director of the Department of Legislative Reference, that the deadline for filing bills is Feb. 25.

The law prohibits the introduction of bills during the last 28 calendar days of a General Assembly session, unless rules are suspended by a two-thirds vote of members in either chamber.

There have been over 200 bills filed to date in the Senate and over 300 in the House of Delegates.

This Assembly session closes March 25.

Welfare pay bill

AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — Persons who are able to work and refuse a job when offered employment would not qualify for public welfare assistance, under provisions of a bill introduced in the Senate Wednesday.

The SB 158 is sponsored by Sen. John W. Steffey (R. Anne Arundel-Calvert). It was referred to the Finance Committee, headed by Sen. Harry R. Hughes (D. Upper Eastern Shore.

V.I.P. group seeks space to aid others

Do you have office space to donate? A Baltimore organization known as the "Very Important People" (V.I.P.s) can put such space to good use.

According to Joseph Mason, the group's president, his organization is primarily looking for an office in Northwest Baltimore with living quarters above it. The group claims a membership of more than 125 persons.

Since its beginning in 1945, the V.I.P.s have fought for better housing, cleaner neighborhoods, better playgrounds, and better youth programs.

A few weeks ago, the V.I.P.s pressured the City's Department of Sanitation into cleaning up the 1300 block of Fremont Avenue.

If you have such space available, Mr. Mason may be contacted at anytime by calling 523-6224.

King's birthday may be holiday

AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — The Jan. 15 birthday of the late Dr. Martin Luther King will become a legal holiday in Maryland, if a bill now before the Senate is passed during this General Assembly session.

The SB 147 was introduced by Sen. Clarence. M. Mitchell 3rd (D. 4th Balto.) and is before the Economics Affairs Committee, headed by Sen. James A. Pine (D. Baltimore).

An identical bill HB 262 was placed before the House of Delegates by Del. Isaiah Dixon Jr. (D. 4th Balto.) and is in that body's Economic Matters Committee, headed by Del. Raymond J. McDonough (D. Prince George's).

A Senate Joint Resolution paying tribute to the memory of Dr. King, introduced by Sen. Royal Hart (D. Prince George's), is in the Judicial Proceedings Committee.

The House has already adopted a simple resolution honoring Dr. King, brought in by Del. Arthur A. King (D. Prince George's) and the other black delegates. It goes no further.

The SJR 5 will require adoption by both chambers

Julian scores 'pool' recall

Fourth District Councilman Dr. Emerson R. Julian leveled blasts at Mayor Thomas J. D'Alesandro and the second district council delegation after the council session this week that saw a recall vote on the controversial "Pool Parlors" bill.

The law was passed by the city's lawmakers last month over the vigorous opposition of several councilmen. The ordinance would have allowed 16-year-olds to stay in pool halls with more than five tables until 2 a.m.

Councilmen admitted to a "mistake" in calling the bill back off Mayor D'Alesandro's desk and saving it from a predicted veto.

First District Councilman Dominic DiPietro was the bill's prime mover, and it was supported by Second District Councilmen Joseph Mach and Clement Pruchal.

The bill will be re-written and acted on by the council once again. Dr. Julian told the AFRO that the "Mayor had received almost no communication at all in favor of the bill" and that public reaction to its passage was phenomenal in demanding its veto.

Dr. Julian voted against recalling the bill in hopes that the mayor would kill it. "The mayor should have stood up to his responsibility and vetoed it immediately. I would not have let him duck the issue."

Dr. Julian said that "the handwriting was on the wall" when the opposition materialized against the bill during council debate last month and that councilmen passed it anyway.

"They bought (Frank A.) Valis' job by voting for Murnahan and Gibson for the school board," Dr. Julian charged in reference to Councilman Mach and Prucha and the controversial civil service hassle over the job of powerful second district political figure Frank A. Valis. Mr. Valis had flunked a civil service test for a job that he held. A new job has been created for him that would not require that he take a test.

"I don't think it's a fair thing to do for the taxpayers. this man was not even able to pass a civil service test in his field," Dr. Julian said in commenting on the bill awaiting council action that would create a new job for Mr. Valis.

Dr. Julian indicated that he will be in opposition to the new job fir Mr. Valis.

The Fourth District Councilman also intimated that he will introduce amendments on the floor of the council calling for taxation of pool halls in any new bill that will seek to extend pool hall hours or lower current age requirements. "I think they should pay for it," he stated.

Court says parents can help cut down on school vandalism

A Juvenile Court master this week charged parents of children suspected of school vandalism with the responsibility of finding out the true criminal.

Although the real culprits may escape prosecution, the master told the parents, mothers and fathers should look into the incidents, "to save children, possibly, from a life of crime and imprisonment in the future."

The occasion for the lecture came after proof of vandalism against three youths fell through and the cases were dismissed by Master Bernard McDermott.

* * *

During the Wednesday hearing, police and officials of School 109 at 800 Broadway, were unable to produce evidence to convict the 16-year-old boys.

Taken on Aug. 10 during summer vacation were musical instruments and school supplies. The school was entered at an unknown time and rooms strewn about with papers, books and other items.

Mr. McDermott said he was addressing his remarks to parents of all children who may be suspected of vandalism.

He concluded, "Through your conversation with your children you can find out if there is any idea they may know anything. It will help the child who thinks he may have gotten away with something very bad and it will help the school authorities and the city to put an end to vandalism which has already gone too far."

$925,000 suit filed in house fire deaths

Relatives, heirs, estate administrators and the six children of Mrs. Mary Coates and Albert Butler have filed a $925,000 suit in Baltimore City Court, for the death of the couple.

The two persons, residents of a house in the 600 block Dolphin St. died of burns from a fire in Jan. 27, 1967.

The suit filed Wednesday by the survivors' attorney, Joseph F. Lentz Jr., alleges that the owner of the property, Irene G. Abramowitz, was informed of electrical and other property defects but failed to make repairs.

The suit also names as defendants the M. Goldseker Realty Co. as rental agent.

In addition, the suit is directed toward two members of No. 15, McMeehan and McCulloh Sts. Fire Department ambulance drivers, Carl C. D. McKnight and Raymond L. Keil, and the city of Baltimore.

Asserting that the two men failed to respond promptly, the suit reports to the court that they were asleep and thus contributed to the deaths of the two burned persons.
