Fit is problem of majority of women

If you ant ipate problems when you shop for your warm-weather clothing — mainly problems in obtaining proper fit at waist and hips and the proper length — then you are among the majority of women, according to the results of a U. S. Department of Agriculture survey which covered nearly 3,000 women aged from 18 to 65 years.

The nationwide sampling was conducted for USDA's Statistical Reporting Service in an effort to determine women's thoughts about cotton and other fibers used in wearing apparel.

Women primarily consider color, style, and fit when buying their warm-weather clothing, according to the survey. Additional features they look for in the garments they were asked about are:

Comfort and ease of care for summer dresses; weight, multiseasonal use, and versatility for between-seasons dresses; shape retention and warm-weather comfort for warm-weather knit dresses; wrinkle resistance.

Also shape retention, and coolness for warm-weather suits and skirts; ease of care and laundering for blouses; and machine washability and need for little or no ironing slips and half-slips.

So, if those are your considerations as you prepare for the soon-upon-us spring clothes shopping season, then you are thinking the same as the majority of the other women who will be looking over the counters and display racks as warm weather approaches.

Another consideration uppermost in the minds of most of the shoppers questioned was how long the garment would last. Even though almost all of the clothing items studied were subject to fashion trends, the women expected them to last an average of 3 years.

If you prefer cotton to any other fiber for most of your warm weather wardrobe, with slips the chief exception, then you are still with the majority of the women questioned. Nylon was preferred for slips.

C.I.G. meets in Mt. Winans

By WALTER W. E. HILL

Get well wishes to Mrs. Helen Wallace who has been ill since Dec. 31. She is recuperating at her home, 2406 Mastel St.

The Community Skaters of Mt. Winans spent an enjoyable evening at the Starlight Skating Arena.

Attending were Bernice Robinson, Robert Smith, Delores Gornes, Jannis Williams, Geneva Hopkinns, Pat, Darrell Greene and yours truly.

One of the "Referee Hosts" was none other than our own, Eric Shelton of Winchester St., the only host of color in that Wonderful and magnificent integrated arena. All are welcome here regardless of age.

The CIG (Civic Interest Group) of Mt. Winans had a very inspiring meeting Wednesday. Those in attendance learned about the new ordinance concerning the area.

They were pleased to know that work will begin on or about the middle of February.

Mrs. Constance White, the beloved social worker, presented the new ordinance pamphlet. A question and answer period followed.

Remember the first anniversary of the CIG will be held on Sunday, March 9, at the Westport Community Building.

• • •

Sympathy to Mrs. Patricia Stewart, who lost her mother. Mrs. Stewart is organist at Star of Bethlehem AME Church.

The Rev. W. K. Woods, pastor of Star of Bethlehem AME Church is heading in the right direction.

He has formed a Building Committee and also organized a youth council to associate with the CIG so that his church may be a part of the New Mt. Winans.

Master Guy Jones was honored with a birthday party on Saturday.

TAXES

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said today that in view of the fact numerous inquiries are received during the filing period of the Maryland Income Tax returns, from persons who are members of the Armed Forces of the United States, the following information on the matter is being released:

If nothing worries you,

you don't need a savings account.

Big, brave you. You'll never get sick. Need an operation. Lose a day of work. Or even retire. And what do you want? Not a new house. Or boat. Or furniture. And you'll never have wedding expenses for the kids! Fine. You don't need a savings account. So the worried ones are the ones we're after.

But even if you have everything you want right now—wouldn't it be just a nice, safe, cozy, and secure feeling to know there's some spare cash handy? Put just a little away every payday. You'll be surprised how fast it grows. And how good it makes you feel.

Do as thousands of others do and open a savings account at any Maryland National Bank office. Then relax.

Ulysses Kay, has been appointed professor of composition in Herbert Lehman College, which is Hunter College in the Bronx, an autonomous unit of New York City University.

The prolific black composer, who was artist-in-residence at Morgan several years ago when one of his compositions was performed by the Baltimore Symphony, is a senior consultant in the music division preparing the annual BMI orchestral survey in cooperation with the American Symphony League.

Mr. Kay also coordinates the annual BMI Student Composers awards contest and edits brochures and other publications of tre concert music bureau.

The augmented Senior Choir of Waters AME Church, under the direction of Genevieve Wisner, presented tre cantata "Born a well known vocalists. Berking" by John Peterson.

Solo roles were taken by nice Douglas, soprano; Bertha Haskins, alto; Jas. Hill and Matthew Fraling, tenors and William Staten, baritone.

Narration for the cantata was given by Dorothy E. Swann and Gwendolyn Buckson, at the piano and Bertha Cole, organist, supplied the accompaniments.

William Fraling, violinist, performed a medley of seasonal compositions during the prelude, which was followed by the processional and invocation by the pastor, the Rev. Melvin Swann.

Sponsored jointly by Loyola and Mt. St. Agnes Colleges, the Orchestra Michelangelo di Forenze, appeared in concert at the latter early in the month.

The 17-piece ensemble, an outgrowth of the Italian String Quartet, "Societa Cameristica Italiana," is making its second transcontinental tour of the United States and Canada.

Nominations are being made for a Pulitzer Prize of $1,000 "for distinguished musical composition in the larger forms of chamber, orchestral or choral music or for an operatic work (including ballet) by a composer of established residence in the United States, which has had its first American performance during the year."

Nominations, which should be made before March 1, should include the following: a completed nomination form; date and place of performance, score or manuscript and a recording of the work; an agreement from the performing organization to permit the purchase of tickets by the secretary of the Advisory Board for review of the work.

Nomination forms may be obtained from the Secretary of the Advisory Board on the Pulitzer Prizes, Graduate School of Journalism, Columbia University, New York, N.Y. 10027.

The trustees of Columbia University announce and award the Pulitzer Prize in Music on the first Monday in May.
