WINTER SKIES—The groundhog, lacking a visible shadow in the rain Sunday, predicted that winter is officially, if not physically, over. However, this scene with foreboding winter clouds, captured by AFRO photographer Irving Phillips, is most assuring that winter is with us to stay for a little while. # BCC offers modern data processing

Students and adults with an eye on a growing profession, data-processing, are now studying the subject at the Community College of Baltimore. Data-processing is being applied now to business, education and a multitude of jobs.

A special course called Cobol Programming for both inexperienced and experienced persons is being offered on Friday evenings, beginning February 28.

Cobol Programming applies data processing particularly to business. The course is completed in 15 weeks.

At the college, an adv-
At the college, an advanced third generation computer is being used by tor. He has had much practical experience, and he works in programming in Baltimore during the day.

Andrew M. Bohle, director of Community Services at CCB, is in charge of the Career Advancement Seminars, sponsoring the Cobol course.

"I'M ON MY OWN"—Mrs. Mary LeCount, 84, the first Baltimore homeowner to get a federal grant for home repairs, will have new wallpaper and paint in two weeks to go along with her new heating system. She is seen on the right looking out of her North Dallas St. home in East Baltimore. She has lived in that same house 42 years.

Woman, 84, first homeowner to get free rehabilitation

An 84-year-old woman is the first Baltimore resident to take advantage of a federal grant for renovation given to homeowners.

Mrs. Mary LeCount of 1121 N. Dallas St. in East Baltimore opened the door of her home to the AFRO on Tuesday to display the work that's done on the house she has lived in for 42 years.

Mrs. LeCount was eligible for the grant because the house is her own and because she is in a low income bracket.

There is no mortgage on her home and the repair work is being done free to her because of the $3,000 government subsidy.

A widow for the last 8 years, Mrs. LeCount lives on her social security payments.

She retired 12 years ago from Margaret Bennet's at 14th and Franklin Sts.

Mrs. LeCount was born in Frederick, Md. "I was raised in the school at St. Mary's in Washington. I am the oldest in the block and I've lived here longer than anyone else."

The renewal program plan came from a city official.

"Mr. Dupont came by one day and asked me how about a new home. I said, 'nothing doing. I'm not moving.'

"But he told me I didn't have to move," she said, and she agreed to the repair project.

Jack Dupont works with the Department of Housing and Community Development.

Mrs. LeCount said that "at first I thought it was just talk," but the contractor, Union Construction Co. went to work right after Christmas and should be finished in two weeks.

A new gas heating system has been installed, along with new electric wiring, and a new hot water heater.

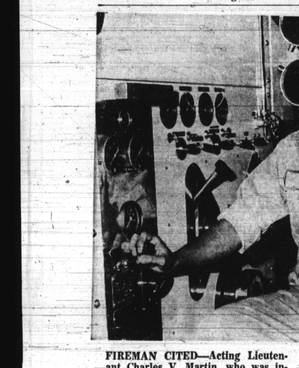
The front room and dining room will be papered and the kitchen and bathroom painted. Repairs were done on the exterior and interior walls.

But despite the work going on, Mrs. LeCount hasn't moved out. "I have never broke up housekeeping since that was 42 years ago." Mrs. Carring said she knew of "mentally ill" parents who had disrupted classrooms. The board decided to set a policy allowing parents visitation at the parents' discretion.

An equally emotional exchange erupted over arming school security guards.

School guards may be retired of dangerous nighttime and weekend assignments or may be allowed to wear guns during non-school hours when they are on duty.

Dr. Saul M. Purdue, assistant superintendent, was asked if he "got the opinions of the guards and reporting back at a later meeting.



FIREMAN CITED—Acting Lieutenant Charles V. Martin, who was instrumental in the dramatic rescue of three children from a burning house on Etting St., earned his second commendation award for bravery and exemplary conduct in as many months.

Data processing at City College

An Introduction to Data Processing Course is being offered at the City College Evening High School on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m.

This course introduces the basic concepts of data processing, punched cards, and electronic computers.

Students are invited to investigate (through text, lectures, visual aids, trips) electronic data processing, as a possible future profession.

This course is an excellent introduction to data processing, but it is not intended to train operators or programmers.

Those who complete this course successfully would be admitted to a class in Cobol Programming next fall.

Adults interested in attending are asked to report directly to Room 226 in the City College building at 33rd St. and the Alameda, on Monday or Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Second commendation given in two months

Acting Lieutenant Charles V. Martin, an 11-year veteran of the Fire Department was in line for his second commendation award for bravery and exemplary conduct within as many months.

On December 24, 1968 Lt. Martin and five other firefighters rescued three children from the second floor of 1705 Etting St.

The lieutenant recalls "We responded to the call at around 11:50 p.m. When we got there we found the whole first floor involved in the fire. I went into the building and made my way to the second floor after we told that some children were inside.

"I crawled around on the floor until I found a child asleep in one of the beds: he was still hanging on, but the smoke had gotten to him.

"When I picked him up he caught hold of my air line and cut off my breathing. I had to remove my gas mask and make my way to a window.

"Men in the company put a ladder up to the window, came down with the child and others went up for the other children.

The firemen gave the three children mouth to mouth resuscitation until they were revived.

The child the lieutenant had rescued was one and a half years old.

Other firemen receiving commendations at the same time were: Firefighter Donald A. Slayton, E-8; Firefighter Frank E. Weller, E-8; Firefighter John T. Atkinson, T-10 and Firefighter Maurice D. Beckner Jr., T-10.

Others were: Firefighter Melvin L. Mills, T-5; Firefighter James N. Glenn, T-5; Firefighter John H. Foertsch Jr., H-15; Alvin F. Kaufman, T-5; Firefighter Thomas B. Schriener, T-5; Firefighter Frederick O. Moore, T-5.

And, Firefighter John F. Klein Jr., T-5; Firefighter Jack A. Klein, T-5 and Firefighter Francis J. Vitak, E-9.

Faculty bucks Harvard ROTC

CAMBRIDGE, Mass (UPI) — The Harvard faculty agreed the university Tuesday to sever official ties with the Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC), the national program that produced 4,000 second lieutenants and ensigns for the armed forces last year.

Harvard was the third Ivy League College in a week to announce that it is preparing to pull the rug out from under the ROTC, which trains officers for the Army, Navy and Air Force.

A week ago, the faculty at Yale won approval from the university corporation of a recommendation making military training an extracurricular activity.

Dartmouth, another of the seven Ivy League colleges, set up a study committee last week to investigate a plan to phase out the R.O.T.C. program within three years.

The resolution at Harvard, approved Tuesday by a 237 145 vote, now goes before the Harvard Corporation. It leaves open the possibility that ROTC might remain as an extracurricular activity, but the head of the Army program says he will recommend that it be discontinued.

THE MOLES, D.C. Chapter, held their February meeting at the home of Theresa Archer, enjoying a gourmet meal after the business meeting. Each member received a very elegant gift from her "secret pal."

Nixon grabs power over postmasters

WASHINGTON

In a spectacular grab for power, President Nixon has "removed from politics" the appointment of postmasters and rural carriers by putting full authority in the hands of Postmaster General Winton M. Blount.

Nixon, making the announcement jointly at the White House with Blount, said under "a historic new postal policy," such appointments would be made under open competitive examination with the top qualifiers getting the jobs.

The President conceded that there may be a certain amount of political resistance to his plan, but he said, "this is the time, we believe, to bite the bullet."

Actually, the only changes in the current system are that congressmen will no longer recommend appointments in their districts and the Senate will be asked to give up its confirmation power in this area.

"Appointment of the best man for each job eliminates the political patronage system and the administration of the mail in accordance with merit principles," President Richard Nixon intends to institute the new procedures immediately," Blount said in a statement.

In practical terms, however, this represents a shift from legislative to executive patronage, with a vast increase in power for a Presidential appointee.

During the Roosevelt administration, a bill was passed placing postmasters under civil service, but the President never signed it. Such a move would really take politics out of the post office.

Under patronage, appointees are chosen on the advice of members of Congress. The system has been used since Benjamin Franklin headed the Post Office Department in the 18th Century.

Blount also announced he would recommend new legislation that requires postmasters no longer be confirmed by the Senate.

Presently, postmasters of the smaller post-offices offices are appointed directly by the postmaster general. But all others are nominated by the President and are subject to Senate confirmation.

All rural carriers are appointed directly by the postmaster general, generally on the recommendation of a member of Congress.

About 1,600 new postmasters and 1,800 new rural mail carriers are named each year. In all, there are about 33,000 postmasters and more than 31,000 rural carriers.

Postal service appointments are made for life, and Blount said he had no intention of upsetting this provision.

The new system will embrace the present method of "open competitive examinations." The top three persons on an examination would be certified to the post office department and then the postmaster general would decide which of the three receive the appointment.

Blount said his department was establishing special criteria to guide such decisions.

The White House announcement said, "The top qualified person will be named for each vacancy."

"There is no vital connection between a man's political beliefs and his ability to deliver mail to his rural neighbors or his competence in directing thousands of employees as postmaster," Blount said.

School vandals. guns spur heated exchange

BY ADRIENNE MANNS

Money, vandalism, parent's rights and guns were the main topics discussed Thursday evening at a lengthy School Board meeting.

The board approved a budget of $185,837,693 for the school year 1969-70. The budget represents a $20 million increase from last year's appropriations. The budget now goes to the City Council.

"In two pages of numbers we've embodied the Board's policy," said President Francis D. Murnaghan after the budget was unanimously in favor of the budget.

"We have included the figures which would bring the increase-in-salary package agreed on by union negotiators and the negotiators," Mr. Murnaghan commented.

He added that he expected the budget to vote in favor—of the contract which the union executive council has rejected and said he was "not interested in seeing any more pressures in the areas of set salaries."

The budget also included emergency alarm systems to prevent vandalism. Member Larry Gibson suggested that the board "find out why we have fires and vandalism in the schools."

In other action, $55,000 was appropriated for the capital improvement program for consultants fees in the building project.

A heated discussion resulted when Mr. Gibson asked the board for a policy encouraging parents to visit the classrooms. He read a letter from a father who said, "I feel isolated from the most important institution in our society," schools.

Dr. Thomas D. Sheldon and Mrs. Richmond Farring, both spoke vigorously against what they called "the threat of violence" and both cited instances where children had been injured by outsiders.

Mrs. Farring said she knew of "mentally ill" parents who had disrupted classrooms. The board decided to set a policy allowing parents visitation at the parents' discretion.

An equally emotional exchange erupted over arming school security guards.

School guards may be retired of dangerous nighttime and weekend assignments or may be allowed to wear guns during non-school hours when they are on duty.

Dr. Saul M. Purdue, assistant superintendent, was asked if he "got the opinions of the guards and reporting back at a later meeting.

Grape boycott lauds food chain decisions

The Consumers' Committee to Support the Grape Boycott this week commended the Food Fair and Pantry Pride Stores of Branch 3 and the A and P food stores of the Maryland Region on their decisions to discontinue sale of California table grapes.

"The Consumers' Committee to Support the Grape Boycott is a Baltimore-based citizens group backing the long drawn-out efforts of grape pickers in Delano, Calif., to gain collective bargaining rights and better working conditions.

Mrs. Connie Caplan, spokesman for the Committee, said "as customers, we are glad to see Food Fair and Pantry Pride and A and P join the growing ranks of stores recognizing the boycott of California grapes. The Consumers' Committee hopes others follow suit."

Mrs. Caplan went on to say: "The Boycott will be ended when the growers of California tables grapes recognize the demands of basic human dignity for their workers. We hope this will be soon. The boycott is not an end in itself but should lead to Federal legislation protecting the exploited grape pickers."

The Food Fair and Pantry Pride decision affects stores in Maryland, Washington, D.C., Delaware, West Virginia and Virginia.

The A and P chain in the district comprising Maryland, Metropolitan Washington, Delaware and Harrisburg has said it will not sell more of the grapes after present stocks are depleted, according to the consumers' committee.

What Do Doctors Advise First For Painful Hemorrhoids?

Conservative treatment usually recommended in most cases of simple, common piles.

New York, N.Y.: Many doctors who keep up with modern practices feel a more conservative treatment (such as sitz baths, plus a proper medication) should first be tried to relieve hemorrhoids. And what more effective medication could one desire than this exclusive formula which doctors found in most cases—actually shrinks inflamed, swollen hemorrhoids, and promptly relieves pain and burning?

Tests on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so.

This doctor-tested medication also helps check the discharge (embarrassing "seepage") that causes itching and irritation. It soothes inflamed tissues and spreads a protective coating over the injured area to help guard against further irritation and infection. In addition, it lubricates, softens and makes bowel movements less painful.

The name of this hemorrhoid treatment is Preparation H® and there's no other treatment like it. Preparation H is so effective it outsells all other hemorrhoid remedies combined and no prescription is needed. In ointment or suppository form.

Americans to American life."

The Mayor's action followed a precedent set last year when he issued a similar proclamation. It was the first time such a proclamation had been issued in Baltimore since 1955.

In requesting the proclamation, Norman V. A. Reeves, chairman of the Foundation, noted that since the 1954 Supreme Court School Desegregation Decision, Negro History Week had been incorporated into Brotherhood Week, an acknowledgement that segregated schools and were no longer lawful—racially-separate studies "Segregated schools still exist, however," Reeves said. "And the illusion of racial harmony implicit in 'Brotherhood Week' does little to foster attention on the real nature of the steps that must be taken to effect brotherhood."

"By properly declaring 'Afro-American History Week,' we would be following a trend across the country toward a genuine appreciation for the culture and contributions of Afro-Americans, a prerequisite for the understanding and communication that makes for equality between men," Reeves said.

Birthday Tribute

WATSON — A Birthday Tribute to the memory of our loved one GERALDINE WITT WATSON, on her birthday, February 8th, who passed away November 2, 1968.

This is your birthday, GERALDINE, dear,
Not as it used to be:
The gladness of the day is fine,
You are not here to see;
For you are in your lovely grave,
And our tears are all in vain.
But, O! How happy we would be
If we had you back again.
The Children —
TERRY, THAD, TYEISE
Mother — THELMA
Sister — LAURA
Brother — MICHAEL
268 Lisbon Drive,
Jessup, Maryland.

WILLIAMS — A Birthday Tribute to the memory of my dear daughter and our niece, CHARLOTTE E., on her birthday February 8, 1965, who passed away October 21, 1965:

"It's hard to accept, but we are so when God calls." We all loved her.

Mother — GRACE ANN WILLIAMS

I greet your birthday dear
I send my thoughts of sweetest love
To you who dwell in heaven above.
Her Loving Aunt,
ETHEL JOHNSON

In Memoriam

BALL — In loving memory of my dear husband and our father, EDMOND BALL, who passed away February 8, 1966:
God saw the road was getting rough
The hills were hard to climb,
Dying eyes
He gently closed his
And said "Come to me dear."
His weary hours, his days of pain
His weary nights are over.
His ever patient, worn-out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.
WIFE and CHILDREN
One year has passed since that sad day.

FORD — In memory of our beloved sister, HELEN IMEZ, who departed this life February 7, 1942:
Some say time heals as nothing heart
But no that is not true
Since you have gone, dear sister
Our hearts still ache for you.
Even though it has been twenty-seven long years
Since you have been gone, dear
But we remember you as though it was only yesterday.
You were so good, loving and kind
You just could not do enough
A sweeter, dearer sister, no one could ever find.
God blessed us with you, sister, dear
Love a ruby you were so precious and so rare.
Even though you are gone
Still in our hearts you live on and on.
Forever In Our Hearts,
Sisters — MISSES MARLINNE M. FORD and DORIS F. FORD

HARRIS, JR. — In memory of our loved one, JOSEPH E., who passed away February 8, 1958:

Weeping may tarry for the night,
But joy comes with the morning
We miss thee who we in tears,
Reap with shouts of Joy.
And we shall rejoice in the Lord,
In the Holy One of Israel you shall glory.
LOVINGLY, THE FAMILY

JEFFRIES — In loving memory of our beloved son, MAGGIE, who passed away February 9, 1961:
We do not forget you, nor do we intend.
We think of you often, and will to the end;
And we shall forgotten by some you may be,
But never do our memory you ever will be.
Grandchildren —
VIVIAN and ELBERT
Daughter GLA.

MURPHY — In memory of our loved one, KATHERINE SMITH MURPHY, who passed away February 8, 1965:

"Tis the one who's full of sunshine,
And who genuinely tries,
Who can chase the shades of trouble
From his own and other skies.
Lovingly, THE FAMILY.

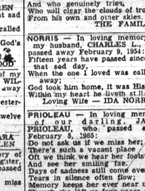
NORRIS — In loving memory of my husband, CHARLES L., who passed away February 9, 1951:
Fifteen years have passed since that day
When the one I loved was called away;
God took him home, it was His will
Within my heart I keep my love still.
Loving Wife — IDA NORRIS

PRIOLEAU — In loving memory of our daughter, ALITHIA MARIE PRIOLEAU, who passed away February 8, 1963:
Do not ask us if we miss her;
Ask if such a vacant place
Oft we think we hear her footsteps
And see her smiling face.
Days of sadness still come over us,
Tears of memory trickle down,
Memory keeps her ever near us,
Though she left us four years ago.
MOTHER, FATHER,
SISTER and BROTHER

ROBINSON — To the memory of our dearest, daughter, granddaughter, ALITHEA M. L. ROBINSON, who passed away in Baltimore, Maryland, February 8, 1963:
No one knows how much we miss you.
No one knows the bitter pain,
Time has passed since we lost you.
But it has not been the same.
For it seems like a dream,
We hear your voice in memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear Alithea
That we do not think of you.
Loving Mother — Dear Wife — MARGARET E. HOYER

BRADLEY — In loving memory of our dear son, SAMUEL H., who passed away February 8, 1963:
GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN
BY MANY.
Devoted Friend,
MRS. REBA CARNEY and McKeldin Family

DOBSON — In memory of our dear son, DAVID DOBSON, who departed this life February 6, 1968:



But the memory is as of yesterday
One year, when you played the organ so beautifully
Saying to us in the church
God he wants you in his angel band
And closed your earthly career as your spirit soared
With Blest be the tie that binds our hearts in Christ's love.
We are closer today than a year ago.
Your Loving Family
MOTHER and DAD
Brothers and Sister —
LONNIE and JOHNNY
SPENCER, VERNON, HAROLD, IRVIN and DALE

REDDISH — In loving memory of our dear brother, JOHNNY JAMES, who passed away February 8, 1961:
His message,
Come to My Heavenly garden,
And see, in perfect bloom,
The flowers you loved so dearly,
And though I plucked too soon
Then you will know My reason,
Though you know it not at noon.
I took your brother away.
SISTERS and BROTHERS.

In Memoriam

WEST — In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, QUEENIE WEST, who passed away February 7, 1956:

WRIGHT — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, BRUCE T. who passed away February 8, 1954:
God saw the road was getting rough,
The hills were hard to limb;
He gently loosed his loving eyes
And whispered: "Peace be thine."
His weary hours, his days of pain,
His weary nights are past.
His ever-patient, worn-out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.
Loving — MOTHER, FATHER and SISTERS.

WRIGHT — In loving memory of my husband and our father, BRUCE T. who passed away February 8, 1954:
We walked together, you and I,
In sorrow and in joy,
We shared our pains and happiness
With love without alloy.
And death shall never end our love
For thru the mist I see
Our glad reunion in the sky —
For all eternity.
Wife — VIOLA
