Douglass graduates of 1949 trek back from cross country

with Lula Jones Garrett

A couple of decades isn't really such a long time . . . a fact proven by the Frederick Douglass High School Class of '49, which marked the anniverary with an elegant dinner party in the Statler-Hilton Hotel, Friday evening.

The girls were as vivacious as they had been swinging a pack of books down the street, 20 years ago . . . except, that evening they were daintily lifting cocktail glasses, more sophistocatedly dressed and touring successful husbands. And the men, dropping cares for the evening, were exhibiting the pretty girls they had captured as wives, swapping tales of the between years, learning of the achievements of classmate, and boasting of their children.

The reunion pulled class member from across the country.

Walter Y. Fredcricks, who had been class president at the time of graduation, came from Washington. So did Lena Allen Jackson, now living in the Capital. Muriel Gross Cooper was there from New York City, and Grace Johnson Gee from Chicago. From Yonkers, N.Y. was Arvene Gray West, and from Camden, N.J., Mildred Woodlon Jackson.

Octavia Waddy came from Pomona, Calif., and Lily Seaton Back from Philadelphia, Pa. Mary Mercer Perry was here from the Bronx, N.Y.; Willien Adams Barnes from Aberdeen, Md., Shirley Loggins Ross from Compton, Calif; Helen Alston Jones from Harrisburg, Pa., and June Burris Burroughs from Flushing, N.Y.

Major J. Timothy Boddie Jr., came from Tucson, Ariz., and Gilbert Brown (he's the brilliant young contractor) from Millersville, Md.

The arrangements committee, headed by Irvin West, had pulled together a pretty motif, which included a long cocktail hour, a luscious dinner, and an extended evening of dancing to the music of Jimmy Smith.

Other members of the committee included Shirley Moody Reddick (pretty as a picture in a purple frock, fastened diagonally across the back with big pearl button and worn with silver accessories), Preston Waters, Sara Dyce, Alease Lockley, Edna Johnson, Phyllis Banks, Fannie Thomas and David Echols.

Among those attending were:

Messrs. and Mesdames James H. Jackson Sr., Walter Y. Fredericks, J. T. Boddie Jr., Edgar L. Bailey, Conrad Johnson, Gilbert Brown.

Messrs. and Mesdames Joseph West, Robert Lockley, Bert Dyce, Jerome Deas, Goodwin DeLilly Jr., David Echols, L. A. Lewie, Oliver W. Green, Arthur K. Francis, Jr., Ernest Jackson.

Messrs. and Mesdames Harrison Greene, David N. Wilson, John D. Reddick, Thomas E. Nottage, Earl W. Warner Jr., Aivin Queensberry, George L. Banks, Dunbar Denby, Walter A. Reaves Jr.; Dr. and Mrs. Donald W. Stewart;

Mesdames Jacqueline Johnson, Marie W. Phillips, Lois S. Holmon, Marian Cromartie, Fannie Thomas, Alease Addison, Rebecca Clark, Brenda Burley, Lula Mackay; Misses Charlotte Lenke, Jeanne Tyler;

William Jordan, Herman Brogden, Joseph L. Washington, Charles Hellis, Freddie L. Jones Jr., and Irvin West.

Also marking an anniversary (their 16th Saturday, were members of the Modernistic Pals Club. Their celebration was a luncheon at Wilsons Restaurant, where Myrtle Jones extended the congratulations and the Pals exchanged gifts.

On Sunday the group was guest of the Brotherhood Breakfast Club at Har Sinai Temple, where they heard Dr. Harris discuss "Help wanted! My Daughter has Discovered the Pill."

The Pals include Martina Jones, Buena V. Prettyman, Mary Jenkins, Martha Thompson, Margaret Thomas, Malissa Fox, Grace Proctor, Virginia White, Juliaetta Harris, Mattie Jackson, Dorothy O. Moore, Gabrella McNair and Myrtle Jones.

As part of its week-long activities to celebrate its 35th anniversary, Emmanuel Christian Community Church will present a "Christian Cotillion" at the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel on May 25.

Ten young women, all members of Emmanuel Church, have been selected as the debutantes to be presented. They are either in their senior year of high school or college students and have been selected on the basis of their church and community commitments.

This will be the first time a cotillion of this type has been held in Baltimore. Mesdames Willia Bland and Cell Benton, of Flair Studio, will direct the affair. Mrs. Gladys Burke is general chairman for the anniversary celebration. The Rev. Sidney Daniels is minister of Emmanuel.

Dr. Williams speaker for Sigma Week

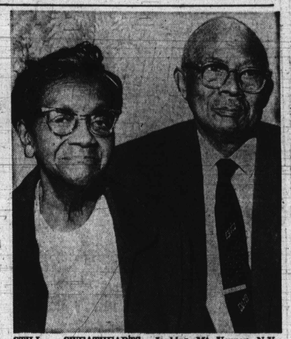
Dr. Lorraine A. Williams, grand basileus of Sigma Gamma Rho will speak here, Monday evening, when the sorority opens Sigma Week with a public meeting in Pullen Gymnasium of Coppin State College.

The program will begin at 8 p.m.

Dr. Williams is head of the department of social science at Howard University.

Four chapters of the sorority will join in marking the founding of the organization. They include Beta Tau, Morgan State College; Gamma Mu, a metropolitan chapter; the mother chapter, Alpha Sigma; and Gamma Phi, Coppin State College.

A Sigma Showcase will be on exhibit in the Percy Julian Science Hall at Coppin throughout the week. Sorors of Gamma Phi are distributing magazines to nursing homes throughout the city, this week.



STILL SWEATHEARTS after 61 years wedded life are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Spriggs, 1351 Woodyear St., who marked the day, March 3, quietly this year. Usually their more than 70 sons, daughters grand and great-grandchildren come for dinner, but snow prevented the gathering. Their five sons and daughters are Harry Spriggs, Jamaica, Long Island; Mrs. Naomi Jenkins, Mt. Vernon, N.Y.; Thomas Spriggs, Mesdames Lillian Moulden, Eleanor Mills, and Miss Mary Spriggs, all of Baltimore. Mrs. Spriggs is 83 and her husband, 81. They have resided in the Woodyear St. home since their wedding day March 3, 1908 and have been members of Metropolitan Methodist Church for 61 years.

Morgan women to hear Dean Calhoun

Dean Edna Colhoun, of Howard University, will be speaker for the dinner meeting which will climax the 13th annual Women's Week of Morgan State College, on March 14.

The dinner, to be held in the Lord Baltimore Hotel, will be preceded by a reception at which honorees will be Mrs. Marvin Mandel, wife of the Governor of Maryland; Mrs. Thomas D'Alesandro, wife of the Mayor of the city, and Dr. Calhoun.

Miss Carolyn Loney, senior, and president of the Women's Dormitory Council, will preside.
