Md. State coach quits for AFL job

PRINCESS ANNE, Md. — Maryland State College is in the market for a head football coach and athletic director this weekend.

Joe (Sandy) Gilliam has tendered his resignation and will lead the local institution to accept a job as scout and public relations assistant with the Denver Broncos of the American Football League.

* * *

Gilliam held both positions with the Hawks, having succeeded Vernon (Skip) McCain five years ago when the latter gave up the dual assignment for reasons of health.

McCain will resume as athletic director but on a temporary basis. No one has been mentioned as yet to succeed Gilliam at the football helm.

Under Sandy, the Hawks won 25 of 37 games, lost ten and tied two.

Six of his products are playing in professional ranks and a seventh was a third-round draft choice the past winter.

* * *

Two of the six ex-Hawks now in the play-for-pay ranks are with the Colts — defensive backs Charlie Stukes and Jim Duncan. The others are Emerson (Rusty) Boozer and Earl Christy of the New York Jets and Art Shell and Bill Belk.

The Eastern Shore team's 1968 prize, defensive back William Thompson, was the high draft pick of the Broncos, coached by Lou Saban, former mentor at the University of Maryland.

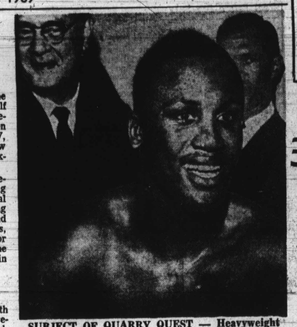
Kemper Open Golf on Sunday T-cast

The final round of the 1969 Kemper Open golf tournament will be televised live and in color on Sunday, by WBAL-TV, from the Quail Hollow Country Club on the outskirts of Charlotte, N.C.

Arnold Palmer is the defending champion, having won last year's first annual Kemper Open by beating out Bruce Crampton and Art Wall by four strokes, with a five-under-par 67 for a 72-hole total of 276, at the Pleasant Valley Club in Sutton, Massachusetts.

Change of adress

Some 7,500 checks worth about $655,000 were returned to the Veterans Administration last month because of the failure of veterans to notify both the VA and the Post Office of their change of address.



SUBJECT OF QUARRY QUEST — Heavyweight champion Joe Frazier contemplates knockout win over Jerry Quarry of Bellflower, Cal., when they meet Monday night in Madison Square Garden (NY) for the Philadelphian's share of split title. Bout will be shown in Baltimore on closed-circuit TV at Civic Center.

Frazier title tiff on TV at Civic

NEW YORK — Champion Joe Frazier and challenger Jerry Quarry moved into the final stages of training for their title showdown, with both confident of victory.

Quarry is seeking to wrest Frazier's claim on a share of the heavy weight crown, in a scheduled 15-rounder at Madison Square Garden, Monday night.

The bout will be viewed in Baltimore on closed-circuit TV at Civic Center, with Ell Hanover, proprietor of Sports Activities, Inc., as producer.

* * *

The two fighters engaged in a conference-telephone interview with Baltimore reporters on Wednesday afternoon, and both expressed optimism over the outcome of the fight.

Frazier repeated his assertion that Quarry "may be tough, but he'll go, too."

Quarry, on the other hand, dismised the fact that he'll enter the ring as the underdog. "Everyone I've fought has been favored over me," he said. "I like that way."

Handlers of Washington heavyweight Bobo Renfrow had their fighter available to participate, as they did at last week's similar telephone interview in D. C.

* * *

Renfrow issued a challenge to Frazier "for future reference." He warned the heavyweight champion to "remember my name."

Frazier's retort was: "Go back to school, kid, and get yourself an education. This is no place for a young man to be heading.

"Take my advice, and forget it."

"Just don't you forget," admonished Renfrow, "the name is Bobo."

Free-tix-for-Orioles program begins Mon.

"Summer Fun in Birdland", a program that enabled 35,000 under-privileged youths to attend Oriole baseball games free last year, will operate again this season under the co-sponsorship of the city of Baltimore and the Baltimore Orioles.

Morgan State head football coach Earl Banks will again direct the program which will run from June 23 through August 21. Banks will be assisted by Jesse Thomas.

During the "Summer Fun" period, arrangements will be made to accommodate approximately 1,000 to 1,500 youngsters at each of the Orioles' 34 playing dates at Memorial Stadium.

* * *

Baltimore City will furnish bus service to and from the stadium for young people living in the "inner city" area, while similar arrangements will be made for eligible youngsters in the counties and cities surrounding Baltimore.

The leftfield bleacher area will be set aside exclusively for the use of the program, and the Orioles in cooperation with their concessionaire, Maryland Sportservice Inc., will again provide each child with free food and beverage items.

Persons interested in bringing groups of underprivileged children to Orioles games can write or call Mr. Banks, c/o Morgan State College, Baltimore, Maryland (Phone: 322-2270).

June 23

The first summer session of the Corcoran School of Art, Columbia Division, will begin June 23 at the school's air conditioned Wilde Lake Branch. Registrations are being accepted now.

Morning, afternoon and evening courses are offered for adults and high school students.

June 30

Registrations are now being accepted for Camp Fellowship, a Day Camp sponsored by The Baltimore Fellowship, Inc., 3200 North Hilton Street. This program for children in the age range of 5 through 13 years will be held from 9:30 to 4:00, Mondays through Fridays starting today.

Regular Day Camp activities plus a variety of special interest or hobby groups and occasional trips will be offered to the campers.

June 20

Towson State College has announced a program of more than 20 cultural and recreational events during summer sessions, June 23 through August 27.

The events, most open to the public without charge, consist of three plays, ten film shows, three art exhibits, three concerts, two jam sessions, lectures, and social and recreational events.

Bear thinclads enter 3 events in NCAA meet

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — Morgan State College of Baltimore, will be represented in three events of the National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field championships, here at University of Tennessee this weekend.

The mile relay foursome of John Jones, Ben Lewis, Ed Madden and Greg Daughtery will seek to make its 3:12 clocking accomplished last week in the college division event, stand up against the tougher, big school competition.

Jones also will participate in the 440-yard hurdles, the event he won last weekend in 52.3 seconds, and Hartley Saunders, though finishing fourth in the college division triple jump, has high hopes here.

The useful Morganite's 50 feet, 9 ¾ inches is the best ever recorded by a Maryland athlete.

In other NCAA developments, the organizations rules committee has cleared the way for several stars, including sprint champion John Carlos, to enter the championships this weekend after a dispute for a time threatened their competition.

Carlos, America's fastest sprinter and Olympic gold medal champion, who runs for San Jose State, and athletes from eight other schools competed last week in one of two track meets not certified by the NCAA executive committee.

The NCAA rules committee voted Tuesday that it was up to the individual institutions to deal with violations or violators. Walter Byers, executive secretary of the NCAA, said the violation did not deal with eligibility, but rather with an institutional membership obligation.

* * *

The two disputed events, the Orange County meet in California and the Houston Striders Invitational, are certified by the U.S. Track and Field Federation, but not by the NCAA.

In addition to San Jose State, schools involved included UCLA, Louisiana State, Southern Methodist, Baylor, Prairie View A and M, Northeast Louisiana, Texas Southern and University of California at Santa Barbara.

Maryland dove banding program now under way

Off to an earlier start this year, game biologists and wildlife officers of Maryland's Department of Game and Inland Fish have high hopes of meeting their quota of 4,000 in the annual dove banding program.

Earl Hodil, upland game biologist, got his banding parties started on June 1, much earlier than they were able to take the field in 1968. Hodil feels that if they can band 2,000 birds this month, it will be possible to round out the 4,000 in August.

The banding program is part of a continuing study of the mourning dove sponsored by the Southeastern Association of Game and Fish Commissioners. The cooperative study was started in 1966 because the member states in the group realized that no controlled study of these birds ever had been made.

Data gathered by the various states should help in tracing migration patterns and learning other habits of the mourning dove, which is becoming increasingly important as a game bird. The ultimate aim of the study is to form a realistic basis for setting bag limits on doves.

ARTHUR ASHE
U.S. Open champ No. 5 at Wimbledon

Fellow-American blocks most coveted Ashe goal

WIMBLEDON, Eng. — Having won every other major title available in big-time tennis with the exception of the All-England Championship, Arthur Ashe regards victory in this one as his most coveted goal.

It is ironical, therefore, that the slender Richmond winner of the first U.S. Open tournament last September, should be meeting a tough, fellow-American in the opening round here Monday.

* * *

In Wednesday's drawings for the event, Ashe's name emerged paired with Marty Riessen, a pro player from Evanston, Ill., and one of Arthur's chief rivals during their undergraduate days in college.

Ashe, seeded No. 5 in the Wimbledon calculations, whipped Tom Okker of Holland, to win the U.S. title at Forest Hills last fall. Okker is seeded third for next week's competitions here.

Arthur has been having his troubles on the European circuit this spring, but he is considered at his best on grass courts, the surface used in the All-England round-robin.

* * *

Top-seeded Rod Laver will be seeking his fourth Wimbledon crown, and also striving to keep alive his hopes for a second "grand slam," a feat never accomplished.

Don Budge won all four major titles of Australia, France, Wimbledon and U.S. in 1938, and Laver turned the trick in 1962. He has already won the Australian and French opens this year.

Only three Americans other than Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Cal., and Ashe are in the top 10 seeds.

Davis Cup star Clark Graebner of New York was placed seventh, and Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Texas and Julie Heldman of New York are 8th and seventh, respectively, in the women's listing.

Blue Cross increase

Maryland Insurance Commissioner, Newton I. Steers, Jr. has announced that he has approved new rates to be charged by Maryland Hospital Service, Inc. (Blue Cross) for non-group subscribers covered by standard certificates. The new rates will be effective August 1, 1969.

A weighted average increase of 26.7 per cent was sought by the health care organization, however the Commissioner approved today a weighted average increase limited to 16.4 per cent.

Dr. Sheldon can fire Rose, Russell rules

City Solicitor George L. Russell Jr. cleared the air Wednesday in the controversy over whether Thomas D. Sheldon has the authority to remove by not renewing the contract of C. Michael Rose, teacher in dispute at Pimlico Junior High School.

Mr. Russell ruled that Dr. Sheldon has such authority, in that Mr. Rose was assigned under a provisional teacher category, and not selected from a graded eligibility list.

Dr. Sheldon requested the ruling from the city solicitor, after his announcement that Mr. Rose's contract would not be renewed drew considerable fire.

* * *

Mr. Russell cited several sections of the City Charter to uphold his contention and then stated in a letter aired in the City Council Wednesday:

"From a reading of all these Charter sections, it is clear that the word 'teachers' for whose appointment and removal board action is required is intended to mean those teachers who were selected from graded eligibility lists, and not provisional teachers.

"C. Maurice Rose was assigned to fill vacancies resulting from the absence of names on an eligibility list."
