Shirley Bassey

Tom Jones pays tribute to the musical contributions of The Beatles, and their ten years of musical innovations on the ABC Television Network's "This is Tom Jones," New Year's Day.

Joining in the salute are blues singer Shirley Bassey, singer-composer John Denver, and regulars The Ace Trucking Company.

An impressive production segment with Miss Bassey, John Denver and Tom, backed by the Norman Maen Dancers, features a Beatles' medley including "Let It Be," "Pool On The Hill," and "With A Little Help From My Friends."

HOLLYWOOD BEAT:

Hello, 'Dolly' your name's 'Dolle, 'ask Pres. Nixon

By BILL LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Neighborhood folk are wondering whether all of us have been wrong for all these years. Pearl Bailey, the most famous of all the "Hello, Dolly" stars, has received a set of District of Columbia license plates stamped "DOLLE," a gift from President Nixon.

A giant movie is on the script-planning boards now to star Diana Ross, with plans possibly to star the singer in a musical on Broadway.

Ron Miller, composer of "For Once In My Life," has also completed words and music for a projected Motown musical version of Bill Inge's "Bus Stop," for Broadway. Junius Griffin, Motown publicity head (still), got weather-bound in Newark, N.J., while working on a civic show project there featuring The Supremes.

SAMMY DAVIS, who hosted his birthday party at the Hughes-owned Sands Hotel in Las Vegas the other night, said to be direly in need of a long, long rest.

What's this about somebody wanting to take little Marc Copage out of the "Julia" TV shows? Anyway, his dad, John Copage, denied the rumors that he and his recent bride have cleaved. Marc's mom, Alibee, is reportedly still in Italy.

LYN ROMAN, the singer, opened at Izzy's in Vancouver, B.C., and slim and pretty Kim Williams doing singing bits now at Donte's in North Hollywood between TV appearances...Joe Louis says he's a new man now, and happy to appear in the TV "Sports Challenge" series with Archie Moore and Sugar Ray.

• • •

Motown planning a TV spec on "The Magnificent Seven," with The Supremes and Four Tops. To be shot in Detroit...Bob Lucas saw his new book about Jack Johnson, "Black Gladiator," go on sale nationwide, along with the Dec. 13 rerun on KNBC of his TV documentary about the city of Compton, Calif.

QUINCY JONES musicscoring "The Anderson Tapes" flicker, and in North Las Vegas, where most of the "brothers" live, they can now have topless shows, Federal Court says, All the time they were having topless shows on the Strip, and bottomless ones in other parts of the state, and in California.

And Godfrey Cambridge finally signed for that comedic T series with "Get Smart" Don Adams, where they both will play two wacky sleuths.

JACKIE BARNETT, who has produced more soul specials than anybody, says he goes for "the big open look" on screen, disdaining all those tricky camera fades and scenes impossible to believe.

He says many directors and cameramen are "zoom" crazy, zooming in and out on a scene like dream sequences.

Barnett produced the Dec. 18 Smokey Robinson special for ABC, and is now working on one for Shirley Bassey.

ROY WILKINS had a word for Afro-Americans the other night when he spoke at the L.A. NAACP's Freedom Fund banquet at the Biltmore. It was a word about those persons who say they'd rather speak "ghettoese" or Swahili, and make English a secondary language.

"They are just too lazy to try to learn English," said Wilkins, who is rumored near retirement, "and we must never forget that in 1965 the man who cannot read will not be able to find a job."

'Honeymooners' set to return Sunday

"Jackie Gleason and the Honeymooners," a series of selected rebroadcasts from some of the Honeymooners' brightest musical comedy hours, will be presented on Sunday evenings on CBS, beginning Jan. 3.

Jackie Gleason and Art Carney star in their respective roles of big-thinking bus driver Ralph Kramden and acquiescent sewer worker Ed Norton. Sheila MacRae is featured as Ralph's wife, Alice, Jane Kean as Norton's spurse, Trixie.

Paul Lynde guest stars on the premiere program in which Kramden and Norton pose as hippie songwriters and enter a contest offering a trip to Hollywood to the Person submitting the cleverest composition.

Drugs is topic on WBAL-TV

Marijuana and the facts and myths surrounding this most widely used illegal narcotic will be discussed on WBAL-TV's "Brass Tacks" Sunday, Jan. 10, at 10-11 p.m.

The program is part of TV 11's continuing series of 12 shows exploring all aspects of drugs and drug abuse. Appearing on WBAL-TV during the series will be people from all walks of life including medical experts, legal authorities, law enforcement officials, and people who have or have had drug problems.

On Sunday's program a second segment will deal with the history of drugs and drug abuse. Panelists appearing on the program will be named at a later date.

Brent O. Gunis, WBAL-TV vice president and general manager, will moderate each program in the series. Viewers wishing to submit questions to panel members may do so by dialing WBAL-TV's special "Brass Tacks" phone num-

'Diana' vetoed Move to block

LOS ANGELES — An attempt to halt the showing of an upcoming special starring Diana Ross, was thwarted here last week by court order.

The special, titled simply "Diana," was taped the weekend of Dec. 5, for showing on ABC-TV in March.

An injunction was sought against Motown Productions, Inc., and the star, by Winters-Rosen Productions. Attorneys for the latter held that WRP was entitled in the project on the basis of verbal agreements with Motown.

• • •

Motown, through president Berry Gordy Jr., contended that only exploratory and incomplete conversations had been carried on between the two promotion concerns, and that no firm commitments or written agreements exist.

Judge Jerry Pacht, sitting in Los Angeles Superior Court, Department 65, stated that there was not sufficient evidence to sustain the injunction.

In addition to Miss Ross, "Diana" stars Bill Cosby, the Jackson 5, and Danny Thomas.

"The Most Deadly Game" on ABC at 9:30 has "The Classic Burial Position." Investigation of the death of a girl found in an ancient Indian tomb.

In "Mannix" on CBS at 10 the detective helps a widow hunt her husbands slayer.
