Museum adds tours

Interest in the current "Matisse as a Draughtsman" exhibition has prompted The Baltimore Museum of Art to schedule regular gallery tours at 1:30 p.m., each Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday throughout the 7-week show, which closes February 21st.

Tour groups will be guided by volunteer docents specially trained by the museum's education division.

The tours are free of charge and no reservations are necessary. Anyone desiring a tour should come to the main entrance of the museum shortly before 1:30 p.m. and ask for the docent giving the tour of the Matisse show.

Hopkins probes early childhood

A symposium on early childhood education — a grave problem area in America's educational system — will be held Feb. 1-3 at The Johns Hopkins University.

The first annual Hyman Blumberg Memorial Symposium on Research in Early Childhood Education will include presentations by five nationally prominent experts in the field.

JANUARY 20

A general lecture tour of the Walters Art Gallery will be held at noon today. Conducted by the education department, the tour is designed to introduce participants to the most outstanding objects in the gallery's collection, and will be repeated weekly throughout the winter and spring. Those interested are asked to meet in the main court.

AFRO, Greyhound Lines seek '71 Woman of Year

The AFRO-AMERICAN announced today a contest aimed at selecting a 1971 Woman of the Year for the Baltimore metropolitan area.

The awards contest was the outgrowth of an idea that there are undoubtedly many women in the Baltimore area who possess outstanding qualities and have made substantial contributions to various aspects of community life but have not received public recognition.

And who is better qualified to find this outstanding person than our readers?

Your next door neighbor, friend, sister, daughter, aunt, or mother may be the winner in the Woman of the Year Program. You, the reader, must decide what are the qualities such a woman must possess. She must be outstanding, obviously, with accomplishments in some worthy phase of community activity.

Readers may explain their reasons for their personal nominations in space provided on the ballot below. If the additional space is required, readers may attach the information on a separate piece of paper.

* * *

The contest is sponsored by the AFRO-AMERICAN in cooperation with Greyhound Lines, Inc. The winner will be honored at a Woman of the Year Luncheon on Tuesday, February 9.

Joe Black, vice president-special markets, The Greyhound Corporation, or Denny Gordon, director-special markets, Greyhound Lines, Inc., will serve as toastmaster of the event.

Mr. Black, who has an outstanding record of leadership in community affairs, commended the Baltimore community and the AFRO-AMERICAN for its part in the furthering of the program. "I feel that this contest provides an outstanding community program whereby we may call attention to and recognize the many women in the Baltimore area who have rendered outstanding service to their fellow citizens," he said. "The AFRO-AMERICAN is to be lauded for lending its support to such a worthwhile project."

Now it is up to readers to send in their ballots for the Woman who they believe deserves the title of Baltimore Woman of the Year.

* * *

Fill out the entry blank, explaining why your choice should named woman of the Year.

Enclose the candidate's name and business or house address.

The contest is limited to women residing in the Baltimore, Maryland area.

Enter as often as you like. Remember that each entry must be on an entry blank from the AFRO-AMERICAN or on a reasonable facsimile.

The winner will be selected by qualified judges and be notified.

The awardee and two runner-up will be guests of honor at the Woman of the Year Luncheon, at which time she will receive an award. Other finalists and feminine civic and social leaders will also be invited to attend this luncheon.

The host for the luncheon will be Joe Black, Vice President-Special Markets, The Greyhound Corporation. The AFRO-AMERICAN will co-sponsor the Luncheon.

Sen. Beall to speak for Tuskegee alumni

Senator elect J. Glenn Beall will make his initial post-election appearance in Maryland as guest of the Baltimore Tuskegee Alumni Club Sunday, Jan. 17 at 5:30 p.m. at the Sheraton Baltimore Inn, Broadway and Orleans Sts.

Beall will discuss procurement of national support for higher education in predominantly black schools as the alumni group initiates a discussion series entitled "Tuskegee Alumni Meets the New National Leaders."

The dinner meeting will be attended by the president or representatives of the black colleges in Maryland.

Lt. Col. George L. Fountain, deputy director of the office of equal employment opportunity at Ft. George E. Meade, is president of the Baltimore Tuskegee club.

Druhs topic of Brass Tacks

An in-depth discussion of amphetamines and barbiturates will be featured on WBAL-TV's "Brass Tacks" program scheduled for Sunday, January 17, at 10-11 p.m.

The program is the third in a series of 12 special programs being televised by WBAL-TV in an attempt to provide Marylanders the opportunity to be better informed about drugs, drug abuse, and drug control programs in Maryland.

Appearing in the series will be medical experts, pharmacologists, legal experts and law enforcement authorities familiar with drug related problems in Maryland. Names of panelists appearing on the January 17th program will be announced at a later date.

WBAL-TV Vice President and General Manager, Brent O. Gunts, will moderate the discussion and relay viewers' questions to panelsits. Viewers may submit their questions during the telecast by dialing WBAL-TV's special "Brass Tacks" phone number 727-1722.

"Brass Tacks," seen in color every Sunday at 10-11 p.m., is a Community Service presentation of WBAL-TV.
