Indoor Youth Olympics attracts 250 youngsters

The secind of a series of indoor Youth Olympic track meets was held Wednesday at the 5th Regiment Armory, with upward of 250 boys and girls, eight to 17 years of age, competing.

Youngsters from Easterwood compiled a total of 233 points, 1ar and away the the best in the competition.

In second place in the over-all count was Fairfield. But their aggregate of 108 points fell 145 tallies short of the winner.

Other centers followed: Edgecombe 88, Westside 57, Cherry Hill 56, and Douglass 21.

The third meet in the series is slated for Feb. 24 at the armory.

Questions concerning the meet should be referred to Ralph L. Durant, boys' and meets supervisor; at the Bureau of Recreation.

Bullets would continue 3-title drive vs. Knicks

Baltimore Bullets coach Gene Shue is entertaining hopes of bringing a triple sports crown to the Monumental City and hopes that his club will move in that direction in its game with the world champion New York Knickerbockers at the University of Maryland's Cole Field House Sunday at 2 p.m.

Just as the favored Baltimore football Colts lost to the New York Jets in Miami's Super Bowl two years ago and the baseball Orioles were shocked by the New York Mets, the Basketball Bullets have been eliminated twice by the Knicks in the last two NBA post-season playoffs.

"The Orioles came back to win a title by beating the Reds in the World Series and the Colts took the Cowboys in the Super Bowl," Gene reasons. "It would be magnificent if we could do the same kind of a job in the NBA's playoff championships — preferably against the Knickerbockers!"

Shue's bitterest disappointment, of course, was experienced two years ago when his Bullets won the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division championship, but were swept by the third place Knickerbockers in four straight games of the opening round of the post-season playoff series.

New York won the tough Eastern Division's title last season as Baltimore and the Milwaukee Bucks finished runner-up and third with winning records, but the Bullets rebounded, again in the league's first round playoffs, before barely losing to the world champions 4 games to 3.

Shue points out that the NBA's expansion into four divisions this season now finds the top three Eastern teams of 1969-70 substantially in front in three of the four divisions. New York is setting the Atlantic Division pace; Milwaukee leads the Midwest Division, and Baltimore the Central Division.

The Los Angeles Lakers, at last reports the Pacific Division's leader, was being challenged by the San Francisco Warriors.

CORE bags Frazier-Ali TV franchise

The Baltimore Chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality announced Wednesday that it has obtained the franchise for showing the closed-circuit telecast of the Joe Frazier-Muhammad Ali heavyweight title fight.

The long-sought "dream match" between the two claimants to the crown will be held March 8, at Madison Square Garden. CORE, working in conjunction with the Black United Front, will put on the local show at 5th Regiment Armory to live and in color on a huge screen.

* * *

Acquisition of the telecast rights is in the nature of a double victory for the two organizations. In the first place, it overcame the obstacle presented by the presence on that date of the circus at the Civic Center, normally the viewing site for closed-circuit events, and it marked the first time that profits from the venture will be earmarked for the betterment of the black economy.

Both CORE and the BUF are committed to the task of "creating and implementing meaningful self-help programs designed to cure some of the financial ills" which plague the black community, according to CORE spokesman Charles Cook . . . SAM LACY.

Court reserves decision on Flood baseball suit

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. Second Circuit Court of Appeals reserved decision on baseball's reserve clause Wednesday after arguments over Curt Flood's law suit to overturn the clause were heard for 90 minutes.

Presiding Judge Sterry R. Waterman, sitting with Judges Leonard P. Moore and Wilfred Feinberg, listened to argumenta by both sides and then announced: "We will reserve a decision on the reserve clause."

The three judges were listening to an appeal of the decision handed down by Judge Irving Ben Cooper, Sept. 12, in favor of baseball.

* * *

Flood, who is represented by former U.S. Supreme Court Judge and Ambassador to the United Nations Arthur Goldberg, began the traded by the St. Louis Cardinals to the Philadelphia Phillies in late 1969.

Flood asked baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn to be released from the provisions of the reserve clause so he could negotiate with other clubs but permission was denied.

* * *

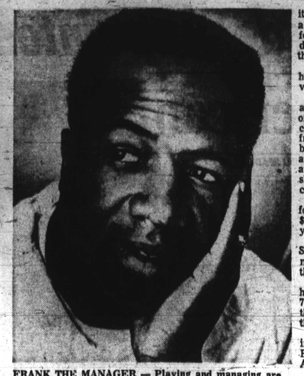
Flood, who sat out the 1970 season, has since been traded to the Washington Senators and has signed a contract estimated at $110,000 to play with them in 1971.

Both sides agreed Wednesday that Flood's decision to play this year will not prejudice his case in the annesl of Judge Cooper's decision.

* * *

Regardless of how the appeal court rules, the decision will be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court. Baseball has enjoyed immunity from federal antitrust laws since 1922.

In arguing Flood's case, however, Goldberg contended that a "player is tied for life" under the reserve clause and added, "Flood wants to be a free man, for which there is no substitute."



FRANK THE MANAGER — Playing and managing are entirely different propositions. Frank Robinson, who appears to handle the former so easily, spends much time thinking in piloting his Santurce Crabbers in the Puerto Rican Winter League. Crabbers have reached the finals and meet Caguas for the championship beginning this weekend.

Scholar-Athlete dinner plans set

Because one school so reverres the scholar-athlete idea, there are only 63 institutions represented in the 8th annual Scholar-Athlete dinner scheduled Feb. 17, at the Eastwind.

Sixty-four high schools of the greater Baltimore area were invited by the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame, to participate in the affair which each year honors young athletes who excel in the classroom as well as on the field of play.

* * *

"But one school felt that it had no one who could be a strong contender, therefore asked to be withdrawn," a spokesman told the AFRO.

"This seems to indicate how highly respected is our venture," he adde-

The NFL Hall of Fame and the Baltimore Chapter of the Quarterback Club collaborate on the dinner, from which the youngster boasting the best athletic and academic credentials is awarded a $2,500 scholarship to the college of his choice.

The Scholarship award for this year's winner is a $200 increase over last year's award.

Harry Shriver of Radio Station WFBR, will be master of ceremonies for the event.

It begins with a social hour 6 p.m. and dinner at 7 o'cock Following dinner is the awards presentations to the Scholar-Athletes.

And to close out the evening a speech by head coach Ben Martin of Air Force Avademy.

WBAL-TV will again cover one hour of the event which will include the scholar-athlete award and the main speaker's address.

7th weightlift meet at Attucks Sunday

The Bureau of Recreation's 7th annual city-wide Novice Weightlifting meet will be held on Sunday, 2 p.m., at the Crispus Attucks Recreation Center, 1601 Madison Avenue.

Three lifts to be contested are the clean and press, snatch, and the clean and jerk. Two trials allowed in each lift.

Trophies will be awarded to first, second, and third place winners in Pre-teen, teen and young adult divisions. Special awards go to the Best Team and Best Lifter.

Recreation needs baseball umpires

The Bureau of Recreation — Division of Amateur Sports is in great need of boys and men to umpire amateur baseball games in Baltimore City.

Umpires for amateur games are paid by the Bureau of Recreation for their services.

Anyone interested in umpiring, should contact the Bureau of Recreation office by calling 685-5826, Extension 19 and asking for Frank Sansosti.

Office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Interested persons may call from 5:30 p.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Friday and contact James O'Connor.

The Bureau of Recreation conducts instructional classes for umpires beginning Wednesday, February 3 and continuing each Wednesday through April 21.

Interested persons should attend these classes to obtain information concerning the rules of baseball and other general information.

FEBRUARY 16

A free course in principles of sailing will be held indoors at Red Cross headquarters, St. Paul and 23rd Streets, beginning Tuesday, February 16 at 7:30 p.m.

The course will meet on consecutive Tuesdays through March 16.

Clippers seek quick comeback

Terry Reardon's Western Division leading Baltimore Clippers hope to get back on the winning track this weekend after dropping consecutive games to Cleveland and Rochester last week, and the chance avenge these losses comes up almost immediately.

After travelling to Montreal for tonight's (Friday) visit in the Forum against the Voyageurs, the Clippers return home for back-to-back weekend games with Rochester and Cleveland.

Saturday's fuss with the pesky Amerks will be off at the usual 8:00 p.m. time, but Sunday's meeting with Cleveland is an afternoon affair to begin a 3 p.m.

Also, the Sabbath clash is T-Shirt Day in which the Clipper management will give away authentic clipper T-Shirts to the first 2,000 youngsters aged 14 and under, who attend.

'TIL NEXT WEEK — Oriole centerfielder Paul Blair, indignant over the contract sent him by the club, says he has no intention of signing "at the same salary" as last year. Player personnel director Harry Dalton told the AFRO he talked with Blair briefly on Wednesday and they agreed to go into more serious discussions when he returns from an out-of-town trip.

El Hendricks 2 others sign

Shortstop Mark Belanger, catcher Elrod Hendricks, and relief pitcher Eddie Watt have signed 1971 contracts with the world champion Orioles. Player Personnel Director Harry Dalton announced today.

The three signings bring to seven the total number of Orioles under contract for next year.

While Belanger's batting average fell to .218 in 1970, he led the Orioles in triples with five and continued to be one of the American League's outstanding defensive shortstops.

Hendricks had almost the same figures last season as he did the year before, hitting, 242 with 12 homers and 41 runs batted in. He also batted .364 in the World Series against Cincinnati.

Watt appeared in 53 games last year — the most on the Oriole staff — and recorded 12 saves. It marked the third straight season that he has pitched in more than 50 games.

The Deals Are Back! 1970 major motors Where East Meets West

Duster vs. Vega.

The big difference is not the $72.95.*

How we got the $72.95.*

	Duster	Vega
Base Car (2-Door Coupe)	$2313.00*	$2197.00*
Comparable Engine Horsepower	— (125 hp std.)	$ 42.35 (110 hp opt.)
White Sidewall Tires	$ 26.85	$ 26.20
Wheel Ornamentation	$ 25.15 (Covers)	$ 26.50 (Trim Rings)
TOTAL	$2365.00*	$2292.05*
Difference	$ 72.95*

Now that you know how we got the $72.95*, we'll tell you what you get for it.

Duster. The big difference in small cars.

We introduced Duster as the best transportation bargain in America. It still is. We designed Duster to be America's "small-enough-but-big-enough" car. It still is.

Small enough for easy handling in city traffic. Big enough for stability on the open highway. Small enough to give you great gas mileage. Big enough to give you a little more power than other small cars' smaller engines. Plus, you get the smoothness of a Six compared to Vega's four-cylinder engine. So before you buy a Vega, or any small car, look at our small car. Duster. The big difference in small cars.

Torsion bars. Here's why we make a big deal of having them.

Duster has a torsion-bar suspension setup in front. Whereas Vega uses coil springs.

A coil spring works by bouncing up and down. But a torsion bar works by twisting and returning to its original shape.

Duster has 14-inch wheels. Vega's wheels are 13 inches. And Duster has an 11-inch advantage in wheelbase.

Result: more smooth comfort, better handling and stability for Duster.

Room. For more people. More stuff.

Duster gives you eight more inches hip room in the front seat and 14 more inches in the back seat. And about two-and-a-half more inches shoulder room in front and six more inches in back. Duster's a five passenger car with a trunk that holds 15.9 cubic feet of things. Vega is a four passenger car with 9.3 cubic feet of room for hauling things. That means Duster can handle one more passenger and a lot more stuff than Vega.

Options. Over twice as many.

There's a healthy list of conveniences and extras that Buster offers and Vega doesn't.

It includes power brakes, V-8 engines, a vinyl roof, and many others.

A small economical car shouldn't have to go without some of the finer things in life unless you want it that way.

Record sales mean record resale value.

People are going for Duster in record numbers. Sales are up 88% over last year. And if you think we're loading the dice, last year they were 181% ahead of comparable sales the year before. Which is a big reason why, over the last four years, Plymouth's small cars have been leaders in their field in resale value.

Duster vs. Vega? Car for car, feature for feature, dollar for dollar, we don't think there's much of a comparison. Drive Duster at your Plymouth Dealer's. We think you'll agree: Duster's the buy among small cars.

*Based on a comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail prices for 1971 Duster and Vega 2-door coupes with equipment listed. Prices include Federal Excise Tax and exclude state and local taxes, destination charges, optional equipment other than that listed above, equipment required by state law, and on Duster, non-vehicle preparation charges.

Chrysler-Plymouth comes through for you...

Coming Through is not a slogan with us. It is a way of life. We build and engineer our cars with extra care. We test and inspect them against the most rigorous standards. We are committed to delivering cars to you with more exacting quality and enduring value than ever before. And that's why Chrysler-Plymouth is Coming Through For You.
