Provident Auxiliary scores at dansant

As almost everyone knows by now, the Annual Dinner-Dance of the Provident Hospital Auxiliary was its usual sparkling, smashing success.

Perhaps a little more smashing than ever because Friday, January 29th started out as a dismal, snow-swept, slippery evening but that didn't seem to deter anyone who was bent on attending this gay post holiday black tie affair held at Martin's West with music provided by the Sherman Lewis Orchestra.

The dance, which had been sold out weeks ago, was a tribute to the hard working committee composed of Mrs. Gloria Basfield, Mrs. Ceil Banton and Miss Dorothy Wiggins.

Among those who helped with this phenomenal success was Mrs. Vera Macer of the hospital's business office who was responsible for almost 200 reservations from the hospital staff and their guests.

Mrs. Macer, incidentally, was memorable in a one-piece azure blue jumpsuit of crepe. Pants were seen everywhere but it was very much a fashion individualist holiday. Mrs. Basfield chose a pants dress of cut black panne velvet, the tunic gently A-lined. Pants dresses black were also selected by Mrs. Beatrice Avery, President of the Auxiliary who chose accents of gold and Mrs. Muriel Cousin.

Hauntingly beautiful was Mrs. Ann Dyett in a spring green pattern on pattern one piece pants dress with narrow waist that became yards wide at the floor. A matching jacket edged all the way round with palest green ostrich feathers completed the ensemble. Mrs. Martha Holmes, Past President of the Auxiliary, also selected a pants dress in pale green with accordian pleated, widened pants. Demure, was the word for Mrs. Vivian Scott in a shirtwaist tailored white lace pants set.

Black crepe in a slim sheath of a gown with seaming detailed at the front and along the narrow, below the knee slits at back was the choice of Mrs. Bernice White. Stunning also in black was Mrs. Shirley Quillens with accents of brilliants and Mrs. Mary Claiborn in a black velvet mini.

• • •

A great, traditional ball gown of emerald brocade worn by Mrs. Ruth Love was regal as was Mrs. Josephine Short in white peau de soie, discreetly slit from knee to hem, the slit edged with softly glowing brilliants.

Elegant was Mrs. Loraine King in a double breasted evening suit with narrow skirt in tea rose satin. Floating through the crowd was a profusion of pinks ranging from palest tones to vibrant hot pink.

Spotted in gowns were Mrs. Fred O'Neal, Mrs. Charles Tildon, Mrs. Henry Whyte, Mrs. Thomas C. Jones in a brief dress with flutteryy wide skirt and Mrs. Robert Marshall in a pants dress.

The free wheeling mood of the dance was echoed in the free interpretations of fashion — all cuts — all colors — all styles. But even as fond memories of the successful fund raising dance lingers on for members of the Auxiliary, they're already focusing their thoughts on their next great fund raising-public relations project on behalf of the hospital — their annual fashion show at the Civic Center in May.

'Toothbrush Night' at Civic Center

On Saturday, Feb. 13, the Baltimore City Dental Society will again hold its popular "Toothbrush Night," at the Civic Center presenting free toothbrushes to the members of the Baltimore Clippers, their opponents for the evening, the Rochester Americans, and to all the youngsters who attend the event. "Toothbrush Night" is just one of several events planned for Children's Dental Health Week (Feb. 7-13).

Dr. Lawrence A. Fox, chairman of the committee overseeing "Toothbrush Night" as well as the other activities of the Week, emphasized that the yearly event is of serious nature, even though the activities are fun.

"One of the best ways to prevent dental problems is good home oral care," said Dr. Fox, "and the main purpose of this Health Week is to teach the children to always brush after eating, to cut down on sweets, and to get regular dental checkups."

• • •

As part of that program, the Society is presenting talks and demonstrations at school, as well as arranging to give apples to all youngsters, between the ages of 3 to 12, who visit the Department of Pediatric Dentistry at the University of Maryland School of Dentistry during the week of Feb. 7. Also on the "fun" side will be a "King and Queen of Smiles" contest, open to all children between the ages of six and twelve.

To enter, send the boys or girl's picture with name, address and age printed on the back, to King and Queen of Smiles Contest, 2118 St. Paul Street, Baltimore, 21218. Apanel of impartial judges will choose the winners. During intermission at the Clippers American hockey game on Feb. 13, the King and Queen will be crowned and will each be awarded a $25 U. S. Savings Bond.

There will be a Court of three boys and three girls, runners-up in the contest, who will be given award statues.

Open admissions for colleges out—Bishop

The Chancellor of the College Park campus of the University of Maryland Dr. Charles Bishop, told a Baltimore Rotary Club luncheon recently that one of the most pressing problems of the school will be controlling its growth in the Seventies.

"Education can no longer be regarded as for thelite," he said citing figures that compared the 4 per cent of the college-age group who attended college in 1900 with the 40 per cent enrolled today.

He said that increased demands for higher education will bring pressures upon the universities for "open admissions." He felt that such a policy would "seriously compromise the University and make it virtually impossible to maintain its academic standards."

• • •

Calling "open admissions" standards appropriate for community colleges but not for major universities, he added: "In the interest of efficiency, there must be specialization among institutions of higher education."

Warning that the financial crisis presently facing universities will intensify, Chancellor Bishop said a paramount concern of public universities is that "in order to operate within the limits of their budgets it may be necessary to sacrifice the quality of their programs."

"We must not permit this to happen," he concluded. "The investments made by the public in the universities has been too large and the significance of the universities to the society is too great to permit deterioration in the quality of their programs."

'Twas a wine-tasting, gourmet feast, pants-party that drew AGNN. Club members (including Mary Smalley from New York and Theresa Brown from Washington) to Helena Edmonds' session, Saturday afternoon.

Helena had casually invited guests, saying "You won't have to dress. I think most of the girls are wearing pants. So come on up."

Well, practically all of them did wear pants...but if that wasn't dressing then God didn't make little green apples!

From the hostess in a jump and floor length coat in flower print running in shades from pale pink to deep rose; to her house guest (Mrs. Smalley) in a bone wool, smartly tailored jacket and perfectly fitted trousers; to a guest, Iris Mapp, who topped her ensemble of pants and blouse with a patchwork leather vest, thronged up the front. Another guest, Deanna Brown's pants dress was in soft aqua, a combination of suede and knit. Another member, Gwendolyn Seaborne, was in slim black pants and tunic, lavishly decored in silver dicks.

Sherlock Grinage and Al Schudel did the wine bit...showing a film on grape growing, wine making...and served the Almaden wines, which ran the gamut from Golden Sherry, an aperitif served with a gallaxy of cheeses; through the courses with Mt. Nectar Vin Rose, Gewurtz Traminer and Brut Campaigne, to the Cream Sherry, a dessert wine...to the accompaniment of Mrs. Edmonds' seated luncheon.

In addition to Mrs. Mapp and Mrs. Brown, guests were Beatrice Nixon and Lula Mackay. And the good-looking AGNN's about were Mesdames Smalley and Brown, Ruth Brown, Anne Johnson, Alice Pinderhughes, Bertha Forte, Hermione Weaver, Elise Clatke, Bernadine Harrison, Maxine Higginbotham, Gwendolyn Seaborne, Thelma Moore, Ruth Robinson and Pauline Blackwell.

More than 200 friends gathered at The Belvedere Hotel, Saturday before, to pay tribute to Ruth Fegley, who for a number of years was director of Fellowship House. The testimonial carried all the warmth of a regular Fellowship meeting.

At the head table was Miss Fegley, her mother, Mrs. John Fegley; her sister, Mrs. Ellen Jorgensen; Mrs. Loretta Watty, Mrs. Naomi Camper, co-chairmen; Dr. Douglas Camper and Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Skinner.

The tables were decorated with dolls from countries of the world, and there was a skit "A Typical Day at Fellowship House."

And for the honoree there was a gift certificate which will allow her to add to a set of silver she has been collecting over the years; a guest book and a scrap book with pictures and clippings of events during her stay at Fellowship House.

Currently Miss Fegley is with HEW at the Social Security's Woodlawn office.

TJD cites black history week

Mayor Thomas J. D'Alesandro, III has designated February 7th through February 13th as "Afro-American History Week" in Baltimore.

In a proclamation presented to the William L. Moore Foundation and the Center for Afro-American Studies Thursday morning, the Mayor said that the history of Baltimore was incomplete "without true recognition of the many Afro-American leaders who have enriched its life."

He cited the "singular" outstanding contributions of leaders at: Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, Thurgood Marshall; Dr. Carl J. Murphy; Matthew A. Henson; Frederick A. Douglass, and Harriet Tubman.

He said, "The 1970 elections in Maryland and in the City of Baltimore decisively proved that black Americans are on the move within the traditional American political system through the election of Parren J. Mitchell as Maryland's first black Congressman, the election and re-election of numerous men and women to the State Legislature, and the city-wide victory of Milton Allen as Baltimore's first black State's Attorney."
