Bill wants paddling in schools

AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — Paddling, a form of corporal punishment, will be authorized in the state's public schools, a bill introduced in the House of Delegates Wednesday wins General Assembly passage.

The HB 581 came in with 60 sponsors of the 142-member body.

It provides that paddling may be administered an unruly student, "when all other professional means of resolving such problems have failed."

It was referred to the Committee on Constitution and Administration Law.

Earlier, the same committee rejected another bill which would have authorized corporal punishment in public schools, administered by the principal or anybody he designated.

This new bill is something of a new effort by proponents in the same direction.

The committee is headed by Del. Charles J. Krysiak (1st Balto.). Black members are Delegates Arthur A. King (D. Prince Georges), vice chairman, Amy "J." Allen (R. Anne Arundel), Frank M. Conaway (4th Balto.) Kenneth L. Webster (5th Balto.).

Probation Depts. merger proposed

ANNAPOLIS — The Senate received Wednesday a House of Delegates approved joint resolution, asking a study of the Baltimore City and Baltimore County Proyation Departments.

The HJR 4, a Legislative Council measure, asks that the study be made to determine whether it would be more feasible to have both departments under the State Division of Parole and Probation.

To measure states that this would possibly eliminate much duplication by both departments.

Child protection bill moved over to Senate

AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — The House of Delegates passed and sent to the Senate Tuesday a bill designed to give the child added protection against any act of an adult which would cause the child to be brought within the purview of the juvenile causes laws of the state.

The bill is the outgrowth of cases in a county, where two women teachers were accused of seducing young boys.

The HB 149 sets these provisions and penalties for conviction:

"It should be unlawful for any adult willfully to contribut to, encourage, or tend to cause by any act or omission any condition which would bring a child within the provisions of this subtitle, regardless of whether the child is actually brought thereunder;

"Under conviction of a violation of the provisions of this section, the adult shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500, or imprisoned for not more than two years, or both fined and imprisoned."

This, the bill provides, would be added to Article 26 of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1970 Supplement), title Courts, subtitle Juvenile Causes and follow immediately after Section 70-26.

The HB 149 was introduced by Delegates Jacob M. Yingling, Richard C. Matthews (both R. Carroll), and David G. Ross (D. Prince Georges).

Commission proposed to regulate taxis

By MAX JOHNSON
AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — Two measures of special interest to Baltimore City residents are to be introduced in the House of Delegates today (Friday) and early next week.

One is a bill that would remove jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission over taxicabs, and establish a Taxicab Regulations Commission, as a part of the Governor's Executive and Administrative Department.

Sponsors are Delegates Lloyal Randolph and Calvin A. Douglass (both 4th Balto.).

Their proposed legislation would set up a commission with two commissioners and an administrative chief, with full powers over matters dealing with city taxicabs.

This bill, they said, would allow for the licensing and use of at least 200 more taxis in the city.

The other measure coming next week is a resolution asking Gov. Marvin Mandel to provide $3 million more for city's Drug Abuse Program.

This was the outgrowth of a subcommittee meeting Thursday afternoon of the Baltimore City Delegation.

Mr. Randolph is chairman of this subcommittee and Mr. Douglass is a member. Others are Delegates Joseph S. Bonvegna (1st), Walter S. Orlinsky (2nd), John J. Kent (3rd) and Steven V. Sklar (5th).

In other Assembly matters, the House is still stalled with the controversial abortion bill, as again today, with a new set of amendments proposed by opponents designed to kill the bill if adopted.

Speaker Thomas Hunter Lowe (D. Talbot) said he will not interfer with the parlimentary tactics of the opposition to delay passage of the bill, until after the 65th day of this 90-day session. The Assembly is now in its 40-odd day.

Meanwhile, the new salary hike for the lawmakers, from $2,400 to $11,000 a year, goes in effect Saturday.

House Speaker Lowe said Thursday the lawmakers under the new pay scale will be paid every two weeks like all other state employees.

Previously, they were paid quarterly.

A joint committee was still hearing testimony and wrangling over prison reform Thursday.

Latest to testify was Commissioner Joseph G. Cannon, who spent to some length to defend the institutions.

Its number — State Police J-14.

However, Del. R. Charles Avara (6th Balto.) and Sen. George E. Snyder (D. Alton), majority floor leader, were not impressed and questioned Mr. Cannon legany-Garrett-Washington), sharply.

tioned Mr. Cannon sharply.

Actually, Mr. Avara asked when the commissioner was going to resign. Mr. Cannon said he had no intentions of resigning.

A note to visitors to the Assembly during the day, watch how you park on the metered parking spaces. Be careful of the two-hour limit, regardless of whether more nickels have been put in the meter.

Annapolis police are slapharpy with parking tickets Thursday afternoon, one of them put an overtime parking ticket on a state police car on the south side of the State House.

3 bills in to protect consumers

AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — Housewives and bill-worried husbands will get some lawful relief, if two bills placed before the House of Delegates Tuesday eventually pass this General Assembly.

One is HB 551, which would prohibit the distribution of circulars or other advertisements to the general public unless through regular mail channels.

This would, if made law, halt the constant flow of throw-aways stuffed in doorways and on porches of homes, advertising various things.

The other is HB 552, which would prevent a creditor or those associated with im from unreasonably dunning or harassing any debtor, or person associated with or dealing with him.

This is designed to stop to some degree telephone cails, or in many instances personal calls to a home by a creditor about payment on some bills.

Both bills were introduced by Del William T. Evans (D. Baltimore) and referred to the Economic Matters Committee.

Still another bill of interest to housewives introduced Tuesday in the House is HB 553, which would require that milk and milk products be labelled so as to indicate a date after which the product should not be sold

It was brought in by Del. Richard Grumbacher (D. Washington) and referred to the Environmental Matters Committee.

Brailey measure asks for state labor board

AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — Del. Troy Brailey (4th Balto.) has a House joint resolution, requesting the governor to study the feasibility of establishing a state labor board similar to the National Labor Relations Board.

De. Brailey, a well known black labor leader on the East Coast, states in the resolution: "The General Assembly of Maryland recognizes that there classes of persons not included under the coverage of the National Labor Relations Act and the National Labor Relations Board.

"Certain state employees are not covered, as well as some small industries and non-profit organizations.

"Since there is a decided advantage to the protection afforded to workers covered by the NCRB provisions, the general Assembly expresses its desire to provide these same benefits to the citizens of the state of Maryland, who re not presently under the protection of the federal law."

The resolution, to become effective, would have to be passed by both the House and the Senate.

Apprentice plan offered in bill for embalmers

AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — A bill to authorize the State Board of Federal Directors and Embalmers to implement an apprentice program was introduced in the House of Delegates Wedensday, and referred to the Environmental Matters Committee.

The program, under provisions of the bill, would be open to graduates of a recognized college of embalming, who are citizens of the state.

It would furnish the equivalent of two years of practical experience for the participants.

The HB 578 is sponsored by Del. Lena K. Lee (4th Balto.), with co-sponsors Delegates Isaiah Dixon Jr. and Calvin A. Douglass (both 4th Balto.)

Mayor backs commissioner appointment bill

AFRO Bureau Annapolis — Baltimore's Mayor Thomas J. D'Alesandro III, has again announced his support of proposed legislation to autrorize the Mayor of that city to appoint the police commissioner, removing this power from the governor.

"The present law winch authorizes the governor to appoint the Police Commissioner of Baltimore City," the mayor wrote in a letter to Sen. J. Joseph Curran Jr. (3rd Balto.), "runs counter to the whole thrust of home rule and charter government reforms in our state over the last decades:

"That the political subdivisions should have the full measure of local control over basic local governmental functions."

"Sen. Curran is chairman of the Judicial Preceedings Committee, which is studying one of the two measures.

One is S.B. 162 introduced by Sen. Clarence M. Mitchell, III (4th Balto.), and the other is H.B. 68 introduced by Del. Kenneth L. Webster (5th Balto.).

Urge Lyric Theatre be historical monument

AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — Delegates John J. Kent Jr. (Balto.-3rd) and Sol J. Friedman (Balto-5th) introduced Wednesday a House Joint Resolution asking that Baltimore's Lyric Theatre be designated as an historical monument.

In introducing this resolution, Delegates Kent and Friedman stated:

"For almost a century, the Lyric Theatre in Baltimore City has consistently rendered cultural services of the highest quality to the people of Baltimore City and the State of Maryland, and every reasonable encouragement should be given to its management."

"We commend the members of the board of directors of The Lyric Foundation Inc. for having as one of its express purposes the preservation of the Lyric and the making of proper and necessary repairs and improvements for a more effective operation.

"In view of the historical and honorable tradition of the Lyric Theatre, we believe its preservation and continued operation are vital to the people of Baltimore City and the State of Maryland, and every reasonable encouragement should be given to its management."

AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — Del. Kenneth L. Webster (5th Balto.) wants to revise a practice used by insurance companies, in their acceptance or rejection of applications for motor vehicle liability insurance for private autos.

He introduced a bill Tuesday in the House of Delegates to restrict the prospective insurer to reviewing the driving record of the individual while driving the motor vehicle insured or to be insured.

The bill would provide that the individual's driving record while operating a motor vehicle not owned by him but driven by him in the course of his employment not be considered.

The HB 564 was referred to the Economic Matters Committee, headed by Del. Martin S. Becker (D. Montgomery). Black members are Delegates Hildagardeis Boswell and Isaiah Dixon Jr. (both 4th Balto.)

Committee hears pleas for more welfare $$

AFRO BUREAU

ANNAPOLIS — Some 200 members and well-wishers of the Task Force on Welfare Reform in Maryland gathered here Thursday afternoon to urge an increas in the Social Services budget to bring welfare payments within 65 percent of the state-set standard for a family of four.

At the public hearing held in an auditorium on St. John's College, several of a long list of spakers asked for support of a bill introduced in the House of Delgates last Friday, asking the governor to provid 100 percent funding in his supplemental budget for a family of four.

The HB 509 came in with 34 sponsors, and is now in the House's Appropriations Committee.

Gov. Marvin Mandel's budget now allows 60.7 percent funding for a family of four, which speaker after speaker said was far too inadequate in these times of rising living costs.

The hearing was before a Joint Committee on Natural and Human Resources of the General Assembly, with Sen. Verda F. Welcome (4th Balto.) and Del. John W. Douglass (2nd Balto.) the black members present.

The Rev. Vernon Dobson, of Baltimore, co-chairman of the Task Force, coordinated the testimony. He was also present in his capacity as president of the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance.

The Task Force is a permanent organization, representing some 53 Baltimore and state-wide organizations.

Baltimore And All That Jazz

By ARCHIE MANGRAM

One of the worst things that can happen to a writer is to miss his deadline. I was out of the city last week and could not get my copy back to Baltimore in time. My apologies. We try not to miss an edition if we can help it.

Had I written a column last week, it would have a undoubtably, started out with comments about Les McCann's soul-stirring concert. so I'll get right to the point.

The Left Bank Jazz Society concert for Sunday, February 13, featured Les McCann. If you are not aready aware of it. If you have ever heard any of Les' recordings, then you have an idea of what he is like in person, right? wrong.

Hearing Les McCann in person is an experience you are unlikely to ever forget. In the first place his music is so distinctly different. That foot-stomping, finger-poppin' hand-clapping gospel oriented approach is his trademark. And he raps too. Man does he rap

Anyway his in-person concerts are much greater and moving than he could be on record. The group certainly proved it during the concert. Incidentially, the group is intact from his last appearance for LBJS.

Jimmy Rowser is on bass; Donald Dean, drums; and Buck Clarke, congo drums. Les plays piano and sings.

The concert rocked, literally, for about four hours. It is difficult, if not impossible, to keep still during a Les McCann concert. Even the most staid members of the audience found themselves patting their feet or snapping their fingers.

That's the effect that he has on you. Pure, unadulterated and unexpurgated soul. That's the essence of Les McCann.

Last Sunday The Left Bank Jazz Society presented Baltimore to a rare treat indeed, in the person of Duke Ellington and his orchestra. It borders on the fantastic that one could live in the United States without ever getting the chance to hear Duke in person.

Yet that was exactly my lot until last Sunday. I had never seen or heard him in person. It was like meeting alegend. Heck, is a legend.

Duke has written hundreds of songs many of which have become standards. They are even too numerous to even try and list here. Yet at 70, he is still writings, and writing good.

His band reads like a who's-who in jazz. Guys like, Harry Carney, Paul Gonsalves, Russell Procope, and Cootie Williams, who have all been with The Duke over 30 years are almost legends in their own right.

Duke is surprisingly agile for his age, even though he seems aceless, it seems as though, through his music, he has found Ponce de Leon's famed Fountain of Youth.

The Concert was both an exercise in nostalgia and the current 'rock' scene. Duke, like all truly great artists, and he is just that, showed that he is constantly innovating and acutely aware of the trends of contemporary music. His latest composition, for example is called "Afro-Wuraian Ecclipse."

The band was a little late in arriving, but Duke, undaunted, played the first part of the concert with just a bassist accompanying him on piano. He played many of the old favorites that he composed.

The Concert was very well received, as might be exoected. There were two young vocalists that he just recently added to his band; Tony Watkins, and Bobbie Gordon (she said to be sure and spell it with an 'ie' so they'll know I'm a girl. Funny I didn't have that problem)

Tony has a deep baritone voice and sounds as though he has had formal training in the classics. Yet was as soulful as anyone I have heard.

Bobbie, in her first song, sounded like Billy Holiday. Later show showed her vergatility doing with ease, the old 'Standards' as well as Rock and Roll flavored numbers.

When asked how the like working with Duke she replied: "It's the most beautiful thing that ever happened to me. He is inescribable . . . . it's almost a sin the way I love him" Who said there was a generation gap?
